Five Youths Charged After Illegal Narcotics Purchase

By FRANK RYAN

Four Whitehall youths and a former Whitehall resident who now lives in Columbus will face court action on charges arising from the illegal purchase of "exempt" narcotic drugs. Four of the boys are juveniles.

Charges were filed by police from Columbus and Grove City after the youths allegedly purchased the medicine, a cough remedy, at drug stores in those communities.

The case is causing a storm in Whitehall, where some parents have complained that they must seek help from Columbus authorities in dealing with Whitehall juvenile problems.

(Editor's Note: The Spectator policy relative to publishing the names of juveniles charged with delinquency is governed by the seriousness of the charge, past record of the juvenile charged and court disposition of the case. In this case, we will withhold names pending the court hearing. If and when we use names of juveniles, the names of their parents will also be used.)

"Investigating 18 Months"

According to Columbus police, the youths signed as many as 40 to 50 names in purchasing a cough syrup containing the narcotic codeine. A Columbus vice squad officer said that spasmodic cases involving Whitehall youths have been under investigation for more than 18 months.

Whitehall police officers have denied knowing anything about the use of the narcotic drug by local youths. On Tuesday morning, the desk man on duty at the Whitehall police station told The Spectator that local police knew nothing about the cases "but what was in the (morning) paper."

The Spectator contacted Police Chief Ralph Walker more than a week ago concerning reports of drug use by juveniles in Whitehall. At that time, Walker confirmed that a cough syrup bottle was found near a Yearling-rd gathering place for juveniles.

At that time Walker said there was no specific investigation of narcotic use, except as it related to the one specific incident. He denied any knowledge of a rumored investigation by FBI agents, and gave a "no" answer when asked if his department was conducting any investigation in the area of juvenile drug activity.

However, arrest of the five youths included this information from sources outside the Whitehall Police Department:

Columbus police say they have worked in conjunction with Whitehall police on the problem. A Whitehall-Yearling High School guidance counselor had notified Whitehall police of one narcotic purchase incident as early as October, 1963. A Whitehall juvenile had made the purchase at a Gahanna pharmacy.

Whitehall police were sufficiently concerned over the problem "about one year ago" to make personal contact with local pharmacists to issue warnings of the problem.

While the present case involves three Whitehall students, school officials say they don't believe that the final number of students involved will reach more than four or five.

Signed Bogus Names

It was ponted out that investigation was made more difficult because the youths apparently signed names of student acquaintances as well as purely fictitious names.

The adult charged by Columbus police is Robert Rowland, 19, of 80 Fairway-blvd. His case is scheduled for hearing in Columbus Municipal Court on May 18. He is charged with use of a fictitious name to obtain narcotic drugs.

In a telephone conversation early Wednesday morning, Whitehall Safety Director Darrell Todd made the following statement:

"Our (police) department was the first to recognize the problem about a year and a half ago. We made arrests of Whitehall juveniles involved, and charged one adult with contributing to delinquency."

Todd said three of the juveniles were put on probation to a Whitehall police officer who worked with them and their parents. He also said that "at least three of the juveniles" now facing charges were among those Whitehall police had taken tc juvenile court.

"By checking narcotic signatures," Todd said, "we made druggists in Whitehall aware of the problem. In talking with the boys as recently as 10 or 15 days ago, they said they were not buying in Whitehall."

Todd said that Whitehall police have "exchanged names" with Columbus police and have offered "every bit of available information." He said Columbus police "would not have known about some of these kids if we hadn't given them the names and information."

Todd said that Whitehall pharmacists have not been selling narcotic drugs to the juveniles because of the "original check last year."

It's that time of the year when wasps, bees, bugs — and varmints in the home repairing, remodeling, painting and fixing business — are out to sting you, if you don't watch out.

There are plenty of responsible individuals and firms available for all these services. But, you will be safe, and not so likely to be sorry, if you insist on a guarantee—and then check up to see if the guarantee is any good!

Attention Churches!

I've long contended that the best way to get people to come back to church is to make them a part of the service while they are there. One of the best ways to accomplish this is to sing the songs the people know and love.

The May issue of Christian Herald covers the subject quite well under the title, "I Want to Sing."

Excerpt: "I want to sing. You want to sing. The church wants to sing. I think God wants us to sing. Then—let's sing!"

LIONS SELL LIGHT BULBS

WHITEHALL LIONS will be knocking on doors throughout the city this week, selling light bulbs to help purchase eye glasses for children in the Whitehall city schools. The Lions also donate to Pilot Dogs, Inc., have adopted three families in Whitehall at Christmas, and sponsor a boy from the Whitehall area to American Legion Boys' State. From left are William Pettit, director; Robert Sommers, first vice-president; Harold Wood, secretary-treasurer; Dennis Zody, third vice-president; Wiley Reed, chairman, light bulb sale.

Whitehall Postpones Action On Rubbish Disposal Survey

A resolution authorizing an engineering survey of Whitehall and surrounding areas, to determine the feasibility of installing a rubbish incinerator, was postponed until next meeting by city councilmen Tuesday night.

The delay will allow time for additional study of the measure.

The proposal, made by a representative of Pucel Enterprises Inc., of Cleveland, is for a comprehensive garbage and rubbish survey and would determine if installation of an incinerator in the area would be economically sound.

Cost of the survey would be $12,000, and would require four months to complete.

An application for a liquor permit for Byrne Pizza, Inc., 401 S. Hamilton-rd, drew a protest from Councilman Gil O'Shaughnessy on the grounds that the city was over-saturated with establishments selling liquor.

Council approved sending a letter to the State Liquor Control Department recommending that it not be granted.

But when informed by a representative of the pizza restaurant that the planned building would cost about $143,000, and would be of quality operation, councilmen reconsidered their decision.

They will consider the matter again after a meeting between the Byrne representative and the service committee.

'Milk And Honey' To Open May 15

The Gallery Player production of "Milk and Honey," one of Broadway's biggest musical hits of the 60's will open on Saturday evening, May 15 at The Jewish Center, 1125 College-av.

The story of this musical, set in modern Israel, was written by Don Appell with lyrics by Jerry Herman, both Americans who did some extensive touring of Israel before they wrote their show. "Milk and Honey" captures some of the lusty pioneer spirit of the state of Israel and tells an appealing story of romance.

Song hits include, "I Will Follow You," "Let's Not Waste A Moment," and the witty "Chin Up Ladies" and "Shalom."

Under the direction of Harold Eisenstein, the show will run for two weeks, with an 8:40 p.m. curtain time May 15, 16, 19, 20, 22 and 23, and 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 18.

There are still a few theater party dates available. For more information call the Gallery Players box office, BE. 1-2731.

REPUBLICANS TOP COLUMBUS COUNCIL RACE

School Levy Passes; Issue Three Defeated

By FRANK RYAN

Columbus school leaders are happy.
Bill Fornof is happy, too.
The Democrats face an uphill fight
(So tell me, what else is new?)
The TB levy made it
So did state issues one, two and four.
But on Issue Three the voters' decree
Was to reapportion once more.

Columbus and Franklin County voters mixed some surprises with the "expected," Tuesday, in casting a selective ballot. The 101,900 vote total for the county was 37,000 higher than election officials had predicted.

Worthington voters gave a 64 percent affirmative vote to a school tax levy calling for renewal of 2.2 mills and addition of 3.8 mills. In Upper Arlington, a 3.95 mill school levy increase was approved by a 58 percent majority.

Franklin County Democrats cheered the statewide and local defeat of the Republican-drawn reapportionment plan. Columbus Republicans maintained a commanding control of the non-partisan councilmanic race. And (as might be expected) each side saw the results as presaging victory for its respective team in November.

William R. Fornof led the seven-man council race with a 33,741 total. His fellow-Republicans — Councilman Carl J. Kegelmayer and candidate Charles R. Petree II—completed the GOP popularity sweep. Petree showed strong vote-getting ability, finishing only 2,928 votes behind Fornof and more than 3,000 votes ahead of Kegelmayer.

James Baumann paced the three Democratic candidates with 24,105 votes. There was a 3,570-vote gap between the lowest Republican and highest Democrat vote total. Democrats Donald Woodland and M. D. Portman garnered 23,323 and 23,252 votes, respectively.

Eliminated from the November runoff for the three contested council seats was Harold Hichman, an unendorsed Republican who garnered 10,320 votes.

The 3.9 mill Columbus school tax levy won a clear victory, although by a slightly smaller margin than had been predicted by school officials. The levy was approved by a 39,324 to 27,958 vote, just over three percent more than the required 55 percent affirmative vote.

The lone countywide issue, renewal of the Tuberculosis tax levy, won overwhelming support, 59,075 to 29,486. Franklin County voters followed the statewide pattern in balloting on the four State Constitution amendments.

The highly controversial reapportionment issue lost by more than 3,000 votes. But, as elsewhere in the state, the college loan guarantee proposal won an almost two-to-one approval. Passed by substantial margins were the other two Constitutional proposals —the $290 million bond issue and the loan program for industrial development.

Moling Will Face Haytcher In Whitehall Mayor's Race

Tuesday was "M-Day" in Whitehall as Republican voters picked an almost solid "Moling slate" to carry the GOP banner in November against a "united team" of Democrats.

Former Mayor Walter B. Moling gained an upset, 61-vote victory from incumbent Mayor William H. Holzhause, 709 to 645. The third mayor candidate, James C. Polzer, polled 245 votes.

Moling will face Democrat Paul J. Haytcher in the November General Election. Haytcher is serving his second term as City Solicitor. He will lead a full slate of Democrat candidates. There was no Democratic Primary because only one candidate filed for each office, thus assuring automatic nomination.

Holzhause had gained the mayor's office in a stunning 1963 upset win over Moling, who was seeking his fifth consecutive term. Holzhause ran as an Independent in 1963, when there was no Democratic candidate on the ticket, and won election by 49 votes out of a 4,300 total.

In an election battle tailor-made for 20-20 hindsight, Holzhause had been conceded the edge because he was the incumbent. But the election post mortems will probably dwell on two main points — the political switch of Holzhause (in late January) from Independent to Republican and the 245 votes for Polzer.

Apparently, rank and file Whitehall Republicans did not have sufficient time to fully accept Holzhause as a "member of the family." And Polzer's 11th-hour entry into the GOP mayoralty scramble figured to hurt Holzhause more than Moling. Polzer, a Holzhause campaign leader in 1963, resigned his appointment as the city's service director to run against his boss.

Here's what happend in the other contested GOP races:

Incumbent Treasurer Francis E. (Red) Shaeffer turned back the challenge of 22-year-old Larry Shipley, son of Ray Shipley, a councilman-at-large. The younger Shipley gave Shaeffer a surprisingly close race (618-814) in his first try for public office.

Walter B. Moling

Paul J. Haytcher

In the five-way race for the three council - at - large choices, former councilman Linn L. Hiatt led the pack with 922 votes. Ray Shipley polled 885 tallies, and political newcomer Theodore R. Harmony completed the slate with 774 votes. The two losers in the race were Joseph W. Shannon (697) and Alvin J. Hallas, Jr., (547).

The narrowest and widest victory margins, percentage-wise, occurred in the two ward contests. In the Fourth Ward, Charles R. Carroll won by two votes (158-156) over Fred C. Cooley, Jr., gaining a scant 50.3 percent of the vote. John Bishop amassed the widest margin of victory (73 percent) in a 224-82 victory over George W. Snyder in the Third Ward.

Incumbent Council President Walter J. Siemer led the GOP ticket, without opposition, totaling 1,114 votes in his try for a third straight term. In other uncontested citywide races;

Francis Eugene Cook polled 1,061 votes as candidate for auditor and James Maxwell, Jr., drew 1,046 tallies in his bid to return as city solicitor.

In uncontested ward races, Lester K. Ballenger drew 502 votes in the First Ward, and Roger R. Stahley polled 200 votes in the Second Ward. They are incumbent councilmen.

$1,233,265 Pacts Let For Sherwood

Contracts totaling $1,233,265.15 for the construction of the new Sherwood Junior High were awarded by Columbus School Board Tuesday.

Construction of 500-student school, on the northern edge of Shady Lane Elementary site, just north of Livingston-av, is expected to be completed by fall.

The building will incorporate all the facilities in Eastmoor Junior High, including a vocal and instrumental music complex, and facilities for home economics, industrial arts and metal woodworking.

Counselling rooms, cafeteria and gym are planned, as well as conventional classrooms.

The general contract was awarded to Ohio State Construction Co. for $799,000; the electric contract to American Electric Works Inc., for $133,720, and plumbing, heating and ventilating to J. A. Guy, Inc., for $236,900.

Construction of the school will relieve Walnut Ridge by housing the area's junior high students, and will allow Walnut Ridge to become a senior high school only.

HAD TO TURN DOWN ROOMERS

Mrs. Maude McCaffrey, of Ogden-av had so many calls on a "Sleeping Room For Rent" ad in the Spectator that she remarked "I had to turn people down. I could have rented to 25 people. Such wonderful luck!" For just such luck with your want ads call the Want Ad Department at BR. 4-1155 and let an ad taker help you.

Area Council Slates Meet

Southeast Community Council will meet Tuesday, May 11, 8 p.m. at Bishop Hartley High School, Livingston-av at Zettler-rd.

Warren Cremean, city service director, will be the speaker. A public forum with question and answer period will follow.

Public is invited.

IT'S A LONG, LONG ROAD FROM MACEDONIA

36 YEARS AGO A FAMILY PARTED

BUT TODAY THEY ARE REUNITED

By JANE ROBINSON

How many times have you said, "My, time simply flies?"

Does the clock often strike 12 and you can't believe the morning is gone?

Does it sometimes seem as if one day it's the Fourth of July and the next, the leaves are falling?

Was it "only yesterday" that the bride walking down the aisle was a toddler?

We all know "tempus fugit."

But for Koca and Stephen Temovick fleeting days became spent years and suddenly half a life time was gone.

Back in 1929 Steve set out for the New World, leaving Koca and their two sons on the little farm in Macedonia.

Koca knew that it was not really goodbye, but only "au revoir" or "Till we meet again." Stephen would either be back or send for her.

Neither dreamed it would take 36 years.

Last Wednesday when Koca walked toward her husband from the jet landing at Port Columbus, he spotted her immediately. It was not that she hadn't changed, but that she stood out from the crowd, in the simple, dark garb of a Yugoslavian farm woman.

The reunion, though heart-warming, was not all moonlight and roses.

After all, Mrs. Temovick is a woman. And many a man has felt the wrath of woman if he was merely an hour late for dinner.

"Where have you been?" she stormed.

Actually it was a tough

Whitehall, Bexley And Gahanna Scouts Hold Weekend Camporee

By CARL JAPIKSE

Camping was the main activity this past weekend as 14 troops from the Whitehall-Bexley-Gahanna area gathered at Camp Lazarus, the Scout reservation near Delaware, for the spring camporee of the Hetuck District.

The camporee placed emphasis on boy leadership. Scoutmasters were instructed to sit back as the patrol leaders ran their patrols, signed-in with the district and entered in competition.

Highlight of the camporee came at the campfire on Saturday evening when the Order of the Arrow conducted a calling-out ceremony. A total of 19 Scouts were tapped out and two were recognized.

Jeff Macklin, Larry Peters, Tom Storck, Al Swope, Wayne Bosserman, Craig Honts, John Ludlum, William Prentice, Steven Hines, Craig Garrelts, Bob Figley, Frank Uren, Randy Martin, Louis Carswell, Les Dillon, Major Robert Allen, John Bosserman, Steven Simms, Charley West and Mike Scholl were the ones who were tapped by the order as honor campers.

A feature attraction at the campfire was a performance of the flaming hoop Indian dance by Robert Eberhart. Four patrols also presented stunts.

All patrols participated in competition during the day on Saturday. A total of seven contests were held, including a compass course, fire by flint and steel, first aid, knot tying, string burning, flagpole raising and tent pitching.

Runoffs between the winners of the first aid and knot-tying contests were held Sunday morning. The rest of the patrols participated in a nature trail at that time.

An interdenominational church service was also held Sunday morning, led by Bob Eberhart.

Attendance at the camporee was 304 boys and 38 aduits. Troops represented were 98, 166, 192, 195, 234, 270, 278, 367, 369, 373, 403, 450, 475 and 700.

Posts 367 and 369 served as service posts, conducting the competition, building the campfire and providing song leadership at the campfire.

Frank Weir, chairman of the camping and activities committee of the Hetuck District, was in charge of the camporee. Assisting him were George Shaw, Joe Simms, Verle Tangeman, Bob Eberhart and Harold Mason.

Black profile portraits, popular in the 18th Century because they were inexpensive, were nicknamed "silhouettes" after Etienne de Silhouette whose drastic economies as public finance controller under Louis XV caused wits to use his name for anything cheap.

PATTERN FOR MISS AND MRS. AMERICA

North: She is the woman with the crisp "on the gogogo" personality.

South: Oh, she is energetic too, but there is a relaxed quality in her personal life that her northern sister never quite achieves.

East: She is the woman with eyes searching the sea for signs of . . . who knows! Perhaps she inherits this from the wives of old sea-dogs who built little cat-walks on the roof to watch for her man's return.

West: Here we find the pioneer woman who knows that tomorrow will be different. Her gaity is her outstanding characteristic.

North, South, East and West women of America are lovely and loving, dependable, and sure of the rightness of our men and the future they build for us.

QUINT EYES

Bold overwhelming eye makeup is gone (forever, we hope!) This season's emphasis is still on the eyes but the wizardry is in making them up to appear naturally noticeable.

No more brows extended incongruously or exaggeratedly too thick or too thin. Instead we try for soft shaping and pale, delicate shading.

False lashes, of course! Fortunately they are here to stay, but with this new subtle emphasis on eyes it becomes much more important to know how to make the most of your own shape and shade of eye.

Our staff has studied the new trends carefully and we are ready to guide you.

STRAGGLY ENDS — NECKLINE NUISANCE!

One of the most common annoyances amongst women of all ages is straggly hair around the neck and sides. We have a special permanent wave touch-up service that is guaranteed to please you. It only adds a few minutes to your regular salon visit and saves just hours of your home care time each week. Costs only pennies! Ask us about it.

GOP Sewer Plan Deficient

We should now be entering a period of political lull before the storm" of the campaign for three Columbus council seats in November elections. Hopefully, the Republican members of council will use this time wisely in settling the sewer issue.

The decision rests with the Republican officeholders for these two good reasons:

1. With a six-to-one majority on council, the Republicans will have the final say on just what sewer ordinance, if any, is passed.

2. Among those most acquainted with the total sewer picture and the available methods of meeting this serious problem, only the Republican-dominated council continues to deny the need to increase sewer rates.

Council President William E. Fornof continually stresses the difference between money needs for the city's sewer division and the problem which existed before the 1964 water rate increase. He says that the water division was "broke," while the sewer division is "operating in the black."

We wonder what he will say if the city is forced to stop letting sewer construction contracts this summer for lack of funds? That is precisely what is going to happen if something isn't done soon to assure more sewer rental revenue.

And the newest member of council, Carl Kegelmayer, wasted no time after his appointment in charting his course for his campaign to become an elected councilman. First, he let it be known that he was against any plan to increase sewer rates. Then he listened to Finance Director John Stanley explain two alternatives — each calling for an increase in sewer rates.

But, when he could not (or did not want to) understand Mr. Stanley's presentation, he came up with his personal solution to the problem: Abolish the city's Department of Finance. Mr. Kegelmeyer apparently has adopted the attitude summed up by the old saw; "My mind is made up, so don't confuse me with facts."

But the facts are important. They weigh heavily in favor of taking the advice of those who are more acquainted with the problem than individual members of council. We mean such people as the consultant, who prepared the sewer report for the city; the city's service director, who is responsible for administration of the sewer program, and the responsible civic leadership represented by the Development Committee for Greater Columbus and the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce.

All of these sources are agreed that a rate increase is needed if the city is to meet the challenge of present and future sewer needs. The argument of Fornof, Kegelmayer, et al., that a rate increase would force present users to pay for benefits to future users is nothing short of foolish.

This same argument was just as prevalent prior to the 1964 water rate increase. It did not hold water then — it will not process sewage now. In short, the city's Republican leadership had better start charting a more responsible course before the voters wise up to the phony ring in their cry "We're for the little people."

Suggests A Convention For Perfect People

To the Editor:

This really is an open letter to your columnist, Adeline Daley, who's annoyed by the "other women" in her husband's life. These women, says Adeline, are paragons of perfection; they're always home from shopping by noon; their homes are always spotless; they always have their husband's white shirts washed and ironed and there's always a drawer full of clean socks; their kids are better-behaved, etc., etc.

I'd like to tell her about the "other men" in my wife's life. These men keep an immaculate garage; their car is always polished, gassed-up and ready to go; they never accumulate valuable odds and ends in the basement; they always rake the lawn thoroughly before cutting the grass for the first time in the spring; everything that needs paint has it; their garden tools are gleaming bright with nary a trace of mud or rust; their garden hose is always neatly coiled; they never take off their shoes while watching TV and they never put beer cans on the coffee table.

I'd suggest Adeline's husband's "women" and my wife's "men" hire a ballroom at some downtown hotel and bore one another to death recounting their impeccable performances.

They might even display their gleaming garden tools, carefully coiled garden hose, debris-free grass-cuttings and freshly-ironed shirts.

Big Turnout At Show

To the Editor:

Thank you for the excellent front page coverage of our annual Easter Show in Franklin Park Conservatory.

Attendance this year far surpassed preceding years; the estimated figure of visitors is 28,000 people during Holy Week.

We firmly believe that the fine neighborhood newspaper publicity has brought this symbolical display to the attention of many, many families who have now made this visit a part of the annual Easter observance.

Campaign Successful

To the Editor:

Our 1965 Easter Seal campaign slogan was "Courage is a Crippled Child."

The Hartley Newspapers certainly recognized that courage, and added the stabilizing ingredient of a helping hand!

By furthering public understanding of the scope of our services to crippled children you have generously given our society the opportunity to fulfill these services.

We are most grateful. We are also deeply indebted to the thousands of your subscribers who served as volunteer workers during our campaign or who sent in a contribution to Easter Seals.

Your interest and encouragement has brought new hope to our handicapped children.

UNICEF Report Given

To the Editor:

It is my pleasure and privilege to offer you the "thanks" of the Interfaith Committee for UNICEF Campaign of 1964. We were very successful this year and have turned in a total of $5,435.88 which as anyone will agree is a lot of peanies.

The Interfaith Committee which is a part of our community has shown the interest and desire not only to work together but to make our community a better place in which to live. They have certainly put their heads and their hearts together in working for children all over the world in UNICEF.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

Probabilities Probably Will Increase

According to bridge expert Oswald Jacoby, there is one chance out of 158,753,389,899 that you'll be dealt 13 cards in one suit, one chance out of 378 that you'll get all four aces, and, fortunately, only one chance out of 1,827 that you won't pick up any face cards at all.

If you like poker, the odds against being dealt a royal flush are 649,739-to-1; against a straight flush 72,192-to-1; against a full house 693-to-1. It's almost an even shot, however, that you'll get one pair — 1.37-to-1.

Jones

Gamesmanship is the art of assessing probabilities. The catcher guesses how an individual batter will handle a slow ball or a fast curve at the knees, and calls the pitch. The football coach varies his mix of plays to most often confound an opposing star or cash in on a heavy lineman and a fast halfback. The Las Vegas casino management loves the sweating high-roller who is trying to get even by backing the hard eight or the hard 10, for there lie the sucker odds.

Yet, it is strange that although man has long been hurling himself at hazard and chance in gambling, in business, in love and war, a calm appraisal of the odds is almost his newest science. We may now be moving into an era where the ability of clever managers and strategists to make use of new tools for weighing probability will have an immense effect upon men, corporations and nations.

The theory of probabilities was born in 1652 when a French nobleman asked two mathematicians, Pascal and DeFermat, for a formula for dividing the pot in a suddenly-interrupted dice game.

Gradually the tremendous implications of scientific chance-weighing dawned on a few bright men, and the insurance business was born. The underwriters who gathered at Lloyd's coffee house after 1680 began to make ever-more-precise gambles over whether a ship would complete a voyage to the Indies. They figured the uncharted reefs, the storm tracks, the chances of piracy. . . They tried to find out something about the soundness of the ship and the sobriety of the captain. Then the owners made a small bet that the ship wouldn't get back and the insurors made a big bet that it would.

Life insurance is an even more radical concept, for here is a bet on a sure thing — death. Therefore, it is not an "if" but a "when" bet — the insured betting he'll die early and the insuror betting he'll die late. And, most oddly, both parties hope the insuror will win. But the actuarial tables worked out by the great companies have become marvels of probability.

Still, the human animal is an incurable romantic. He has a hard time disciplining himself to accept the odds. He remains a luck-worshipper and a hunch player.

In spite of the genius of many of its members, the Continental Congress couldn't get it through its head that 13 jealous colonies, each printing its own promises unbacked by gold, couldn't finance a long war. Swaddling America was on the point of financial paralysis when a French king bailed it out.

Yet, today you hear men of power and education arguing that America can solve balance of payments problems by reducing gold reserves and printing pure promises.

By all laws of logic the Confederate states could expect to be worn down by the populous, rich and industrialized North. But the South counted confidently on an unproven X-factor: one Southern boy could lick any 10 damn Yankees. When the X-factor failed to be quite that potent, what shouldn't have happened (from their standpoint), did.

The French roared into World War I firm in the belief that French "elan," that is, an indefinable quantity of dash and gallantry, would overcome machine guns. It couldn't, and in the grinding horror of trench warfare the French spirit drained away. What happened on the Somme led straight to Vichy, although the journey took 25 years.

We have now entered the computer age. A computer can only say "On" and "Off" or, to put it another way, "Yes" and "No." A stupidly-programmed computer will give stupid answers. Computers can do nothing that a human being can't do, but they can do it marvelously fast. Some of our newest machines can multiply 500,000 10-digit numbers in one second.

A computer is like a scale. Man feeds it a vast mass of facts and tells the computer to give these facts varying weights. Given a problem, the computer weighs the facts according to the rules man has given it. The results go far beyond bookkeeping. A computer in a Pentagon war game can "remember" much more than the wisest general can recall. Computers filled with past experience can suggest strategies for business. It is all a refinement in the 300-year search for laws of probability.

There is no substitute in sight for human intelligence. But man keeps falling into error because he forgets the lessons of the past. He draws to inside straights. He bets on hard tens. The computer remembers what happened the last time, or the last 10,000 times. It tells man he's a fool.

Do you suppose man is now ready to listen?

TATERS — "Potatoes, 8 Cts. a Peck" was a standard item in grocery store ads in the era established as a gauge for cost-of-living calculations.

I paid 40 cents the other day for five potatoes, the size we left for the hogs at diggin'-time when I was a boy.

LBJ keeps naggin' at us to avoid setting prices "that may tend to inflation" — like, for instance, changing the eight-cent potato ratio from peck to 'tater.

WIND — A tornado destroyed the pleasant mid-Indiana village of Russiaville. You have to be familiar with it to call it what its citizens do — or did — and to know why. It is pronounced "Rooshyville," to avoid confusing it with Rushville, a county-seat town farther south.

Is there anybody in the audience who remembers when Russia was spoken of, and properly, as "Rooshy"? I think "Rooshuns" is still right for that country's political leaders.

Frosting on the Cake
BY "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

"Managed economy" plus "managed news" add up to unmanageable chaos. People are so confused and bewildered today by both of these un-American follies, that no mystery remains as to why this once-free and proud country is so dangerously divided.

For 32 years, the Socialists have been trying to repeal the law of "supply and demand" and it can't be done. Farmers are in a bind that gets worse and worse. Basic industry is victimized by one silly and dangerous strike after another, yet the present crop of labor leaders seem utterly incapable of any genuine forward-looking economic statesmanship.

Speculative imbalance is already rearing its ugly head, same as in 1929, yet the mania to "get something for nothing" goes on and on. Every "fool's paradise" grows upon itself and seduces into ultimate tragedy those who are ignorant of the eternal verities of economics, or uses those who can be bought for a "mess of pottage."

There are many legitimate improvements so desperately needed now, and so long overdue, that thinking minds are wholly within the bounds of good old-fashioned common sense, asking for these fundamentals of genuine "common good" progress. Mass transportation of ballooning urban populations is still being operated on an outmoded horse and buggy logic. It just won't work without the ultimate stagnation of every city.

ONE MAN'S Opinion . . .

Some five years ago, I had occasion to return to my alma mater on N. High-st, Columbus.

Instead of ending up seated in Ohio Stadium, I found myself plopped on the floor with some 75 OSU students in a lounge at the Ohio Union.

Wittenmeier

We were the audience for one Daniel Ruben, the pronounced head of the Communist Youth Movement in the United States.

Mr. Ruben, as I remember, was a rather good-looking, silver-tongued traveling salesman. He was selling a national collegiate youth association which the FBI had reported was heavily infiltrated by the U.S. Communist movement.

After a short pitch, Ruben opened the floor for discussion and questions. His two student plants in the room became more and more obvious as the questions became more and more embarrassing for Ruben.

Try as he might to swing the center of discussion back to his commie student organization, his audience would not allow it.

Finally, with no one left to acknowledge but his 'plants' (you weren't called on again if you asked an "irrelevant" question), Ruben ended his personal appearance by distributing leaflets.

I can recall no other time — before or since — of which I was more proud of my university.

Recently small bands of students have been staging demonstrations at OSU, protesting what they describe as a denial of free speech — or more specifically, OSU's guest speakers rule.

With child-like fervor, they have engaged in this decade's most popular attention-getter — the sit-in.

The chief opponent of the speakers rule is an organization which smacks of Americanism — the Free Speech Front. It almost sounds like a 20th Century children's crusade.

The FSF has demanded that the university administration bow to their wishes and allow more Daniel Rubens to use our state-owned university as a platform for the party line.

I don't believe OSU will go "red" if the speakers are given the green light. Ohio University students ridiculed Nazi George Lincoln Rockwell a couple of weeks ago.

I have more faith in our American youth than to believe they would swallow Communism, hook, line, and sickle.

But the sickness lies in the principle, fast gaining impetus in this country, that the majority must bow to the whims of the minority.

Minorities have rights but they do not enjoy the right to impose their rule on the majority.

If the OSU administration backs off its affirmed stand on the speakers rule, it is merely placing a stamp of approval on this dangerous and irresponsible doctrine.

As for the sit-ins, we would suggest they spend less time seated on their fannies in corridors and more time in the dormitory boning up on some old-fashioned literature like American History.

We would also inform them that, as members of a still-free society, they have the right to pack up their beards and checkers and select a more liberal seat of learning.

We're sure Antioch College would be happy to supply brochures. We understand everything's freer over there. — JACK WITTENMEIER

Guest Pulpit . . .

Too many of us are suffering from "I" trouble.

We are all the time looking out for ourselves. We are not the least bit perturbed that our actions and attitudes offend God and others, rub them the wrong way, disappoint them or even disturb them. We are looking out for "No. 1" in our lives — the big "I"!

Rev. Swift

What is worse is that we do not do anything about it. If our physical eyes need correction, we will go to an opthalmologist, and wear prescribed glasses, but when "I" trouble affects us, we are not willing to have Dr. Jesus Christ improve the situation.

The Lord chose a good illustration in the Sermon on the Mount (Matthew 7). He admonishes us that we are not to judge others and try to remove the "sliver" from their eyes until we have removed "the 2x4 beams" from our own eyes. No longer can the Christian life be lived as formerly, "An eye for an eye" nor "An eye for an I". It must be lived by putting Christ and others ahead of self.

Let us consider three symptoms of "I" trouble:

(1) "I must be first"—This symptom indicates that all we can see is self. The private "I" and the public "I" are both self-centered. We have such a case on ourselves — if we had a chance we would carve a heart on the bark of a tree with the words inside — "I love me". We think we are self-made men, and thus worship our creator—ourselves. Consider how often in a normal conversation we use the first person pronouns!

(2) "I must have my own way" — This attitude is just as immature as the first one, as surely no mature, growing, adjusted person can believe that life will always go our way or run smoothly in our direction. Some persons want their own way so badly that, even though it is wrong and sought from the wrong motives, they expect God to move Heaven and earth to help them out.

A little girl, while saying her prayers one night petitioned God: "And please, God, make Boston the capital of Vermont". The shocked mother said, "Why, Marian, what made you say that?" She answered, "Cause I made it that way on my geography test today, and I want it to be right."

(3) "I must have it now" — We are impatient creatures, filled with a nature that needs redeeming. We desire possessions, privileges, popularity, passion, and prestige . . . at any cost. But

"Remember, Mortal, as you wat
Time passing in My golden sand
What you have in your heart y
keep,
But not what you hold in yo

Christ warns us "What shall profit a man if he should gain the whole world and lose his own so Or what will a man give in exchan for his soul?"

Dr. Jesus Christ prescribes for "I" condition tri-focals: so we look Upward to God, Outward others, Downward at self. We then trade in our wrong attitude must be first" for "Christ must first"; the thought, "I must have own way" for "Christ must have way in me"; the feeling "I must it now" for "Christ must have all".

There is an 'I' in "ChrIst", when we come to Him, we are in His great love. The "I" is use to Him.

Warrior, Scottie Nines 'Best' As Heavy Docket Prevails

Despite a heavy docket of diamond activity, it wasn't a very bountiful week for area baseballers (won 13, lost 20) with only Eastmoor's Warriors and Walnut Ridge's Scotties able to slip through above .500.

Marsh Mobberly's Warriors dropped one game off the pace in the City League by dropping a 10-2 verdict to Whetstone. E-M battled the Braves to a two-all tie until the fifth when Whetstone erupted for six runs and the ball game.

BUT THE Warriors racked up a pair of City League wins (14-0 over Aquinas and 8-2 over Brookhaven) and added two more non-league wins (11-0 over Franklin Heights and 7-5 over Hartley).

Tommy Cooper held Aquinas hitless until the final frame, winning on a one-hitter. Jerry Groves belted a three-run home to set the hitting pace.

Ron Bollie's five-hitter solved Brookhaven and Steve Brownstein's triple and single supplied the offense. E-M took a six-run lead against Hartley and then coasted on a five-hit effort by Bollie and Doug Cromer.

CROOK RHURLED a seven-hitter and got long ball support from Groves and Bollie to sink Franklin Heights.

Marion-Franklin scored five big runs in that final frame collapse as the Devils "burned" the Scotties, 9-8.

BUT EVERYTHING else was roses for Moe Cordle's Highlanders (5-3 over Central, 12-2 over Linden and 2-1 over Newark in "AA" tourney opener Tuesday).

The win over Central didn't come easy however, as W-R had to go into extra frames to secure it with relief pitcher Chuck Crook winning his own game with a double.

FEYH WAS again the hitting star (two singles, three RBI's) as W-R poured in 10 runs in the first frame against Linden. "Rip" Van Winkle (Gary) fanned 13 Panthers and allowed only six hits.

Whitehall did just fine in the CBL, downing Grandview, 2-1, to stay in a tie with Arlington for the loop lead but the Rams fell twice elsewhere, losing to Reynoldsburg, 4-3, and Gahanna, 1-0.

JOHN McQUAID'S excellent one-hitter earned the loop victory, making Whitehall's season-ending date with Arlington (May 28) look more and more like a pennant showdown.

John Turkle's three-hitter went for naught as Dave Bell and Gary Hardin allowed the Rams but two hits in Gahanna's win. Hardin came home on a walk in the sixth after tripling.

Eight errors, including two which let in the winning run, plagued the Rams in the extra-frame loss to Reynoldsburg. Stan Robinson's two hits paced Ram hitters.

GAHANNA ALSO racked up a 9-1 win over Bexley as Hardin and Mike Hensley checked the Lions on five hits.

But that was just about all the good news for the Lions who dropped out of Mid-Eight flag contention Saturday by dropping both ends of a doubleheader to Marysville, 7-3 and 2-1.

A four-run burst in the eighth routed Gary Hardin in the opener and Hensley lost a heartbreaker in the nightcap on a six-hitter as the Lions could accumulate only two hits.

More successful in a tourney opener was Bexley who topped Utica, 6-4, on Bill Meeks' seven-hitter. Batter y-mate Tim Greiner slugged a homer in the win.

The Lions were not so fortunate in loop play, however, dropping a pair to Arlington, 20-6 and Grandview, 11-3, to fall into the loop basement.

ANOTHER area winner Tuesday was Jack Ryan's Hartley Hawks who dumped East, 10-6.

Jim Keegan's three-run homer set the pace although Tom Schlager and Gary Plank each had two hits, the former hitting a four-bagger, the latter just missing when his drive broke a light bulb on a pole at the fence and rebounded back onto the field.

Scott French picked-up the win in relief.

THE HAWKS did drop a pair of Central Catholic tilts during the week, losing to Ready (12-1) and DeSales (6-5), the latter setback coming when the Stallions rallied for three big runs in the final frame.

St. Charles was the only area winner, taking its "AA" tourney opener as Kip Clager twirled a one-hit, 8-0 verdict over Madison South.

The Cards earlier cut down the tying run at the plate, snapping a four-game losing streak with a tight 7-6 win over Mifflin. Two setbacks came in CCL play, however, as Watterson won on Gene Roger's no-hitter and DeSales triumphed, 4-0.

EAST AND Academy each took a pair of setbacks — the Tigers dropping City League verdicts to North (5-1) and Marion-Franklin (5-4), the Vikings losing to West Jefferson, 3-1, in their "A" tourney opener and Reynoldsburg, 3-2, in a "probable" FCL title game.

In each case, the Viking setbacks were heartbreaking for pitcher Dan Fouche, who was given only one hit to work with in the loss to W-J and saw the Reynoldsburg tilt slip away when Academy committed four errors in the eighth inning as the Readers scored their winning run.

'Metro' League Formed

The South Suburban League will be no more as of September, 1966!

The four schools which formed the short-lived league just one year ago — Pleasant View, Franklin Heights, Teays Valley and Hamilton Township — will join Reynoldsburg of the Franklin County League and Whitehall of the split-up Central Buckeye League to form the Metropolitan (Metro) League.

The league will engage in all regular sports programs and begin with football in 1966.

It is anticipated that the league will be expanded to eight teams, possibly before the 1966 date.

Eastmoor Thins 'Come Of Age'; Bearcats Share Ram Relays

East lost a real "squeaker" and Walnut Ridge kept right on setting records but Vince Cahill's Eastmoor thins "came of age" Saturday to make the biggest news on area ovals.

The Warrior cindermen, who just hadn't been able to hit their stride this spring, came to life Saturday at the Cambridge Relays, sweeping to victory in the classy ten-school lineup and establishing four new marks in the process.

E-M (47) SPED past runner-up Lancaster (37) on the strength of record shattering performances by Ron Eiland (highs in :14.7), Gary Knaul (mile in 4:28.4), Leonard Willis (2:00.7 in the 880) and a shuttle hurdle quartet (Eiland, Doug Rodibaugh, Mike Abbott, and Jim Rutledge) which covered the distance in 59 seconds flat.

Gahanna, which finished in a fourth place deadlock with Zanesville (34 pts.), took home the individual high point honors in the person of Bobby Glover who garnered wins in the 220 and broad jump, besides picking up a third in the 100 and a second as part of the Lions' runner-up shuttle hurdle quartet.

WALNUT RIDGE set (or tied) more records (three) and got more firsts (four) than any other team but winner Brookhaven could finish no higher than fourth at Friday's Whitehall Relays.

Ken Schwartz (mile, 4:27.6), Rick Mettle (880, 2:05.3), Zeke Barber (440, :51.8) and the Scotties' two-mile relay team (Schwartz, Mettle, Jim Wallar and Mike Feyh) got W-R firsts with the relay team and Schwartz setting new marks and Barber's effort tying the existing record.

SECOND PLACE Gahanna accounted for two more of the seven new marks established at the Relays as Terry Robb pole vaulted 13' 4¾" and Bobby Glover streaked through the 100 in :10.2.

Glover and Mike Bokros garnered the Lions' remaining two firsts in the 220 and low hurdles respectively.

The host's Mike Boyer, who helped Whitehall to its third place (42½) finish with firsts in both the shot and discus events, picked off another Relays mark in the former effort with a toss of 52' 3¼".

BROOKHAVEN'S Chuck McNeal (highs) and Marinello (hop, step and jump) picked up the remaining two records.

Hartley's Dave Thomas picked up the area's only other first in the high jump event. The Hawks finished fifth (32½) while Bexley was sixth (26½).

In addition to Boyer's double win in the field events, Whitehall fans got another occasion to stick out their chests when the Rosemore Junior High 880 relay team (Mike Gillespie, Charles Powell, Clay Fuller and Alan Francis) won that event, setting a new school and meet record in the process (1:43.6).

COACH LEE Williams' East Tigers lost a real heartbreaker in the area's tightest dual match of the week—the Bengal thins bowing to Linden, 59½ to 58½.

Solomon Espie nabbed wins in the 100 (:09.8) and 220 while teammates Don Washington (BJ), Rod Jones (highs), Archie Allen (lows) and Willie Jackson (discus) and the Tigers' 880 relay team notched other firsts.

Walnut Ridge's "neighborhood" triangular with Reynoldsburg and Hartley went into the Scotties' win column as W-R (58) toppled the Raiders (45½) and Hawks (44½) by taking seven firsts.

SCOT WINS were recorded by: Ken Schwartz (880 and mile), Rick Mettle (440), Zeke Barber (220), Jack Brown (discus), Chuck Corbett (pole vault) and W-R's mile relay team.

Shadywood Loop Holds Headpin Tournament

The Shadywood Park Little League is sponsoring a Headpin Tourney at Main Lanes (4071 E. Main-st) this weekend (May 8-9) and the following weekend.

First and second place prizes for top men bowlers will be $100 and $50 respectively and $50 and $25 in the ladies' competition. Top junior bowlers will receive trophies.

Hartley outdueled the distance-strong Scots in the 880 relay event and picked up two more firsts in the high jump (Dave Thomas) and shot put (Mike Federson) competition.

In another triangular, Eastmoor (56 5/6) lost out to Brookhaven (74⅔) but toppled Westerville (16½).

GARY KNAUL set the pace for the Warriors with wins in the 880 and mile. Wayne Mixon (100), Leonard Willis (440) and Rick Lewis (pole vault) got E-M's other firsts.

GUESS WHAT? — You only get one guess as to what this quartet of Walnut Ridge runners did at Friday's Whitehall Relays. The foursome of (front to back): Rick Mettle, Ken Schwartz, Jim Wallar and Mike Feyh cracked Lancaster's '64 two-mile relay mark (8:39.8) by a whopping 12 1/10 seconds. Mettle and Schwartz also took firsts in the 880 and mile respectively, the latter setting a new record in that event (4:27.6).

CHS STUDENTS ARE 'IN' (THE ROUND)

SOMETHING RELATIVELY NEW in the field of high school drama will take place Thursday and Friday nights, May 6 and 7, in the Central High School Auditorium, when the Central High dramatics department presents the play, "Take Her, She's Mine," in the style of theatre-in-the-round. Audience will be seated at the back and sides of the stage, as well as in the front. Faculty director Dory Suddath said the medium is "A good thing for high school drama because it helps develop freedom of movement and expression in the young actor." First known use of the in-the-round technique by a high school in Columbus area was Hamilton Township High's production of "Our Town," last year. Performances are at 7:30 Thursday and 8 p.m. Friday. Tickets will be on sale at the door.

Philadelphia Orchestra Due At Vets' Memorial May 13

The Philadelphia Orchestra and its conductor, Eugene Ormandy, are old friends of Columbus audiences. Its appearance at Veterans' Memorial, Thursday evening, May 13, will be the 20th time in the past 40 years that it has concluded the series of concerts offered by the Symphony Club of Central Ohio. All but one of these have been under the direction of Ormandy. Next spring the Philadelphians will be on tour in South America and will not be available for the customary Symphony Club engagement.

Eugene Ormandy

The May 13 program consists of works by Hector Berlioz — the "Roman Carnival" overture and "Harold in Italy." After intermission, Ormandy will offer the Prelude and Love-Death from Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde," and the suite from Stravinsky's ballet, "The Fire-Bird."

Tickets are at the Symphony Club box office in Summers' Music Store, Gay and High-sts, and the Bexley Record Shop, and will be available at the auditorium before the 8:30 curtain-time.

Will Show "Last Prom"

The half-hour program begins with a young high school girl preparing for her first prom and develops into a grim tragedy of teenagers killed in a highway accident.

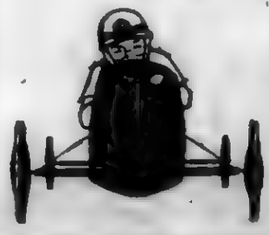
Southsider's Tribute To Walsh Published

An article telling of the "faith, courage and ambition" with which Jerry Walsh, former Aquinas athlete, overcame the crippling effects of rheumatoid arthritis appears in the spring issue of "Handy-Cap Horizons."

The author of the article is John Rogers, 393 E. Gates-st, who was recognized by the Spectator last year as a severely physically handicapped man who had "written a book with one finger."

In the quarterly newspaper published to "broaden the horizons of the handicapped," Rogers pays a handsome salute to Walsh who was named the 1964 Handicapped Man of the Year by the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.



The publication is currently running a subscription contest which Rogers has entered. He believes the Horizons, with the insight it gives to the activities and goals of the handicapped, will be of interest to many in the Columbus area.

The Wonderful World Of ANIMALS

By Frank Miller, D.V.M.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Ever since you wrote something about hypnotizing a rabbit, my father has been trying to do it. So far, he hasn't gotten any place, Harriet just looks him in the eye and wiggles her nose. What is the secret? Nothing is happening except Harriet is getting cross-eyed. —D. D.

DEAR D. D.: Assuming that Harriet is a rabbit, she should be very susceptible to hypnosis. To achieve it, simply place her gently on her back, hold her motionless for a moment, then slowly release the legs. She should remain motionless—in the trance—for about a full minute. (As already noted, giving a rabbit "the eye" is the wrong approach as far as hypnosis is concerned).

* * *

DEAR DR. MILLER: Siggie, our eight-month-old Pom, has two sets of teeth! Isn't this unusual? Does that mean they will last twice as long as one set? —L. E.

DEAR L. E.: No, all dogs have two sets; temporary and permanent. Siggie is different only because he didn't bother to lose his baby teeth when the adult set came in. Actually, his teeth will not last as long as is normal unless you have the doctor remove the surplus. (Now there are twice as many pockets for tartar accumulation and the start of gum infection. In addition, the teeth cannot wear evenly).

* * *

Does your favorite animal have problems, physical or emotional? Dr. Miller will answer all letters sent to him, care of this paper, provided a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

Now is the time that many college-bound students seek sources of financial aid in order to help pay for their higher education, The Columbus Public Library's wide variety of books and pamphlets on this subject is just the answer.

CALIFORNIA EDUCATOR (INSET) SPEAKS TO 1,000 AT YOUTH CENTER

DR. RAFFERTY TELLS COLUMBUS AUDIENCE:

Put America In Education

By FRANK RYAN

"Let's put more of America and Americana into American education. This, in essence is the message of Dr. Max Rafferty, director of public education for the State of California.

The education director of the nation's largest public school system addressed an audience of about 1,000 last Friday in the Youth Center of the Ohio State Fairgrounds. His Columbus visit was sponsored by the Watch Washington Club.

Rafferty, an outspoken critic of the so-called "progressive" education of the past quarter-century, has instituted what he terms an "in-depth" education program in California.

Dr. Rafferty's name is synonymous with the "three R's" as the most basic tools of education. To this he adds what might best be termed the "three H's." All preceded by the word "American," they are "History," "Heroes" and "Heritage." These six elements comprise the backbone of Rafferty's "in-depth" educational approach.

Using the story of Jack the Giant Killer as a case in point against "progressive" education, he said:

"The child psychologists and the progressive educationalists combined to outlaw Jack from the children's books a long time ago. The mere mention of his name suffices to send them off into a whole barnyard series of clucking remonstrances.

"Jack's hairbreadth escapes created anxiety neuroses. His magical weapon represented a flight from the reality which simply must surround us constantly, it seems. His violent reaction to unheard-of villainies served as a trigger to latent aggression on the part of the child.

"Baloney!", barked Dr. Rafferty.

Rafferty backed his faith in "Jack" by reminding them that his generation "grew up with Jack," and yet showed a decline in juvenile delinquency, compared with previous generations.

"In contrast," Rafferty said, "I would like merely to indicate in passing and without comment the delinquency record and the rate of violent crimes prevailing today among our teenagers — none of whom have ever heard of Jack."

Rafferty condemned the practice of psychological testing in the school systems as useless.

"This is quackery," he said. "No reputable psychiatrist would do it (mass test)," he told his audience.

Rafferty said that a teacher's primary duty should be to teach children. "We've got our hands as full as they can be just trying to teach children without psychoanalyzing them," he said.

Defends Report Card

Rafferty also opposed replacing standard report cards with an "ungraded" system of written progress reports. He said that children should have a semi-annual "day of reckoning." He defended the report card as the best means to let the parent know how the child is progressing in school.

Rafferty advocates a 50-50 financial partnership between the state and local communities for the cost of education. He said that the ratio in California in recent years had fallen to only 35 percent state aid. The imbalance, he said, is being corrected. (Ohio state aid to public schools is about 28 percent.)

When asked why states fail to meet their financial responsibilities in public education, Rafferty said:

"It is smarter, politically, to spend the money where the votes are and the kids don't vote."

Rafferty's call is for an emphasis on the fundamentals of education — the "three R's," with particular stress on reading. He advocates a renewal of "admiration for the truth and reverence for the American Spirit as evidenced in the written artifacts of our national history."

While calling for increased "trips to the woodshed" by parent and child, Rafferty says that teachers should concentrate on instruction rather than personality molding.

Accident Toll Given

Traffic deaths in Franklin County totaled 77 for the year 1964, as compared with 87 for the year 1963, it was revealed in a report by Warren C. Nelson, director of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety.

Franklin County has a total of 14,145 traffic accidents in 1964 as compared with 12,439 in 1963. Pedestrians killed in the county totaled 19 in 1964 against 26 in 1963. Total state figures show 334 pedestrians killed in 1964 as against 353 1963 and 337 in 1962.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Eggs, Honey, Prunes Are Plentiful

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Valencia oranges, bananas, grapefruit, dried prunes.

Other Foods — dairy products, honey, canned pears.

For the month of May, the U. S. Department of Agriculture lists only three foods on the plentiful list—eggs, honey and dried prunes. This does not imply that many other foods are not in good supply . . . they are.

Mrs. Franks

Eggs, in good supply since the first of the year, top the list and will still be offered at attractive retail prices in May. The mid-February farm price was down 12 percent from a year ago.

Supplies of honey for home use is substantially larger than a year earlier because of a reduction in exports.

Prunes appear on the plentiful list for the fourth time this year. California production is 34 percent more than last year. You'll find them at attractive prices during the next few weeks. For a flavorful springtime salad, try chopped prunes in chicken salad; good, too, combined with cottage or creamed cheese.

Beef Ample, Quality High

Meat to celebrate Mother's Day might be a beef roast and let mother's helpers prepare the meal. A roast is so simple to prepare — a little seasoning and a meat thermometer are all that are needed for an elegant meal. May is a good month for buying such cuts as roasts and steaks, too. High quality animals are coming to market at about the same rate as a year ago and retail prices are expected to remain steady.

Pork production for May will be approaching the seasonally low period and may run as much as eight percent below last year. But there will be enough to make your backyard parties a success on Memorial Day, and all the open air meals to follow. Broiler-fryers will be plentiful and retail prices attractive. Veal supplies will be a little above a year ago.

Asparagus, Berries Increase

A steady improvement in supplies of fresh vegetables is apparent. Homegrown asparagus will take over in local markets from now on; peak supplies come from mid-May to May 30 — the time to schedule it for heavy using and for freezing.

Greenhouse tomatoes are reaching volume production, and if we have plenty of sunshine they will be at their best the last two weeks of the month. May is also time for good lettuce of many kinds, cooking greens, cabbage, fresh peas, radishes, green onions and brings more snap beans, peppers, cucumbers and southern-grown sweet corn to market.

May and early June is the period to enjoy luscious strawberries, and at reasonable prices, we hope. They've had a rough time so far weatherwise, but with the right amount of rain and sunshine, there should be plenty coming soon for table and freezers.

Lake Central's new prop-jet NORD 262

The competition to develop a worthy replacement for the old reliable DC-3 went on a good long time. As you can imagine, the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board looked at many a plane before it commended one for its specific capabilities. The winner—by a good long Gallic nose—is the new French prop-jet NORD 262, to be flown first by Lake Central.

Anything the DC-3 does, the NORD does worse. It gets you there faster, and more comfortably. It's air conditioned. Pressurized. Sounds on the level. In short, the perfect short-haul carrier-to-the-fifty mid-century U.S.A. cities Lake Central flies to.

Car Owners Want 'Impartial' Inspection Stations In Law

By CHARLES McDERMOTT

Does Ohio need a motor vehicle inspection law?

Yes — according to several controversial bills being eyed by committees of the 106th Ohio General Assembly.

No—according to 60 percent of auto owners surveyed by a Spectator reporter.

Yes — according to a majority of employed auto mechanics who were contacted.

No—According to a Whitehall auto parts outlet.

Yes—according to a Columbus auto parts outlet.

Yes — according to a spokesman for IGO (Independent Garage Owners of Ohio) which recently moved its home office to Columbus.

Stella Altiere, secretary-manager of IGO, said the state office, formerly located at 1843 Stahlwood-av, Toledo had been moved to 15 S. Wayne-av, Columbus, to keep a closer eye on the legislature, as well as to provide a more central location for the convenience of members.

IGO membership totals more than 4,000 automotive maintenance and repair shops. These, IGO states, support compulsory motor vehicle inspection.

It sponsors greater highway safety through better auto maintenance, evokes better business practice among garagemen, and polices its own members, Miss Altiere said.

She stated press reports to date in Columbus have not been fair to the auto repair industry. Some of these have revealed unethical practices, such as unnecessary repairs and duplication of labor and parts.

Miss Altiere admitted she was aware this could and sometimes did, happen.

She said anyone contemplating car repair should contact the Better Business Bureau to check the integrity of the repairman. Her own organization follows up on reports of unethical practice among members, cancels their membership if proven, and reports to the Better Business Bureau.

Auto owners surveyed by The Spectator were 60-40 against ocompulsory inspection. Mostly, they eyed the auto repair industry with suspicion.

When asked if inspection stations were to be operated by state agencies such as the PUCO, highway patrol, or police agencies, the percentage against inspection dropped to 50 percent.

If the federal ICC (Interstate Commerce Commission) performed an inspection such as the trucking industry receives, more than 50 percent indicated they would vote for compulsory auto inspection.

In 1963 a Harvard University study drawn from scientific investigation of auto crashes on the highway revealed:

In nine out of 10 accidents, the driver is blamed; mechanical failure of the car is dismissed.

The most common single cause of the accidents the group studied was failure of some part of the car. Sloppy maintenance was nearly always involved.

"Half-trained mechanics insist on patching tires that just can't be patched," said Alfred L. Moseley who headed the group.

After tires, the report showed, the killers were brakes, steering mechanisms, exhaust systems and lights.

Many groups believe that licensing of auto mechanics should come before or be simultaneously with any compulsory auto inspection law.

Senator Edward J. Speno (New York) who was active in convincing the auto industry to install anchorage units for safety seat belts, said, "How much more important is it to test and license the man who services an instrument which killed 40,000 Americans that year (1962)."

In states requiring motor vehicle inspection, vehicles which failed averaged 80 percent in Hawaii, 15 percent in Delaware, with 18 other states ranging between the two extremes.

In 31 states without auto inspection laws, the average fatality death rate per 100 million vehicle miles was 5.75 compared to 4.80 in states having an inspection program. Ohio's figure was 4.3 compared with 5.0 for Indiana, 4.9 for Michigan, 6.5 for Kentucky.

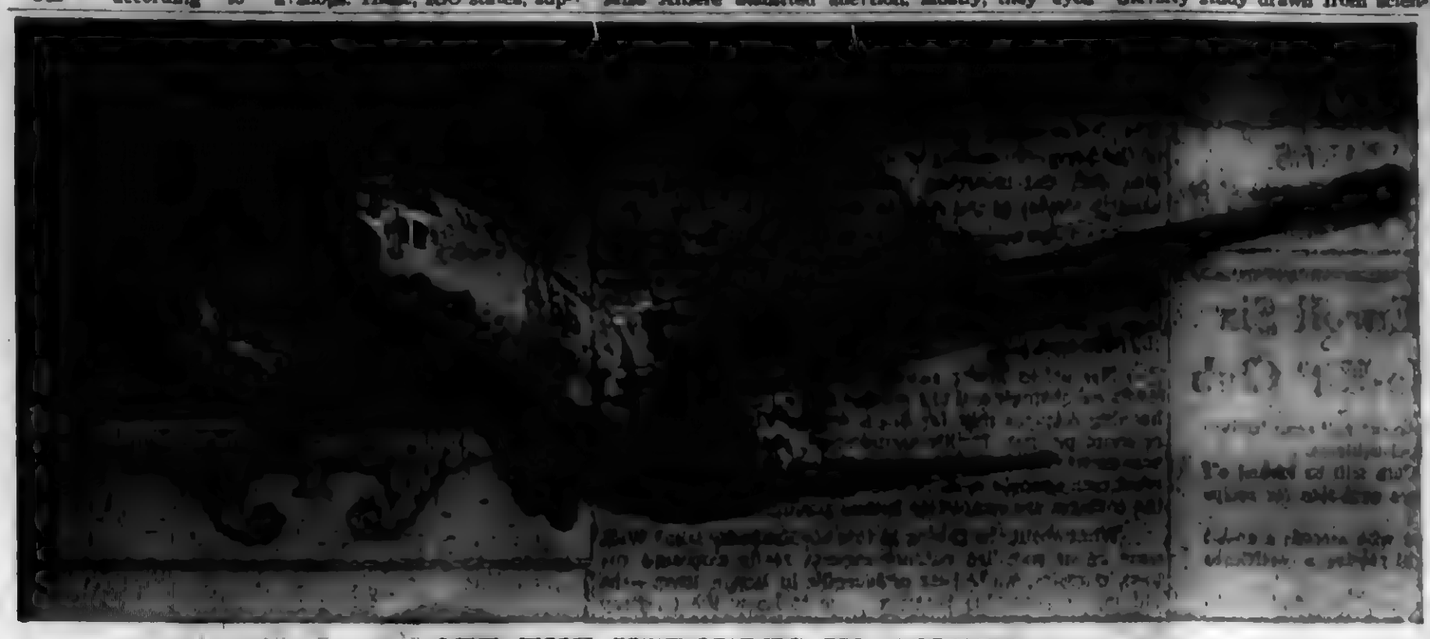
In a report compiled by the Automotive Service Industry Association, a public opinion research poll sponsored by the National Committee on Traffic Safety showed that 97 percent of people interviewed favored periodic inspection of all motor vehicles.



The report states that 18 states which have periodic motor inspection, in 1961 had a 50.54 percent lower fatality rate than states without inspection, based on a death rate per 100,000 population. However, when based on one hundred million miles, the fatality rate was 19.79 percent lower.

A 1961 report revealed 38,000 highway fatalities; disabling injuries, 1,400,000; pedestrian casualties, 242,800; cost $6,800,000,000.

Between 1900 and 1960, 1,300,000 persons were killed on the highway. By 1975 it is estimated that more than 700,000 more will die in auto accidents.

Columbus motorists surveyed by The Spectator were:

- Not impressed by statistics on highway fatalities.
- Vitally interested in their own safety and the safety of their family and passengers while on the highway.
- Sold on the highway safety of most newer cars.
- Convinced older cars needed inspection.
- Displeased that they were not being asked for their opinion on the legislative measures.

SEE THE HERCULES IN ACTION

WHEN LOCKBOURNE Air Force Base swings open its gates to the public at 10 a.m. Sunday, May 16, nine Hercules will be put through their paces with a formation take-off at 15 second intervals. The C-130's will also take part in mass, high-low speed fly-bys, a formation fly-by, equipment drop and assault landings and troop unloading exercises. In special paratroop demonstrations, 20 odd combat controllers of the 1st Aerial Port squadron will jump from the TAC aircraft. It is the C-130 of the 317th Troop Carrier Wing at Lockbourne that is assisting in shuttling supplies to the Dominican Republic during the current uprising. The Hercules performance is part of a day-long program celebrating Armed Forces Day which in addition to a two hour and 40 minute air show, will feature a parade, a band concert, artillery demonstrations, drill teams, judo demonstrations and a sentry dog show. The Army, Air Force, Navy, Marines, Reserves, National Guard and civic organizations will take part.

Goodwill Week Being Observed

National Goodwill Week has been set May 2 to 8 to call attention to the needs and services of Goodwill Industries in its program of job testing, training and placement of handicapped persons.

Goodwill Industries of Central Ohio, headquartered at 1331 Edgehill-rd, operates workshops at its Edgeville address, and in Chillicothe, Marion and Newark. It maintains outlet stores in the same towns as the workshops, with additional ones in Mt. Vernon, Jackson and Lancaster, and it serves about 1,000 handicapped persons a year.

Goodwill's principal means of support is from re-sale of clothing, and business and household items, donated from the community and processed by handicapped workers. Goodwill earns additional income from sub-contract work from local business firms, and receives a small subsidy from the United Fund.

STELLA E. ALTIERE, secretary-manager of IGO's state office recently established in Columbus, says she will probably lobby for passage of the proposed compulsory auto inspection laws now coming out of committees in Ohio General Assembly. The bills may be ready for hearing May 11. IGO has 22 member-units throughout Ohio. The Columbus unit presently is composed of 12 members. State president is John Papik, an Akron garage owner. Ray McBrayer of the Beeline Aligning Service at 986 Harmon-av in Columbus is second vice-president, Miss Altiere said. "I do not believe we (IGO) have been treated fairly by the news media in Columbus."

Local Soap Box Derby Scheduled For July 10

The Columbus Jaycees and WLW-C television will once again co-sponsor the annual Soap Box Derby race locally on Saturday, July 10.

A total of $30 thousand in college scholarships will be awarded to nine winners at the Akron race.

All boys 11 to 15 years of age, accompanied by a parent or guardian, must register at a sponsoring Columbus-area Chevrolet dealer to be eligible to race.

The Columbus Academy Summer School will again be in session this summer for seven weeks, starting on June 28. Open to both girls and boys of grades five through 12, the curriculum embraces courses at the different levels in English, mathematics and remedial and developmental reading.

The Summer School will open Monday, June 28, continuing five days a week, 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., and will close Friday, Aug. 13. Applications should be made to The Columbus Academy as soon as possible. Questions concerning courses, credits, fees, etc., should be directed to the school.

Senior Citizens Center

The art show at the Senior Citizens Recreation Center is open to the public and features original paintings by members of the center's painting classes. The show will last through Thursday, May 6, and will have class members as hosts. Demonstrations will be given. Assisting David Clark, recreation department instructor, with the show set-up will be painting representative for the program committee, Mrs. Elsie Gesch.

Safety Parade Starts At 2 P.M. This Saturday

Groups and individuals from all over Franklin County will take part in a parade in downtown Columbus, Saturday afternoon, promoting the Motorists and Pedestrian Safety Program's voluntary vehicle safety check.

The parade will form at 1:30 p.m. at Washington and E. Broad-sts and move out at 2 p.m. Marchers will go west to Marconi and north past the post office.

Included will be state, city and county dignitaries, MAPS committee, honorary queens representing safety and suburban communities, TV personalities, the military, floats and several bands, mounted posse, and industry.

Jim Steer will preside at ceremonies on the south side of the post office following the parade. Joan Loose of WTVN-TV will sing the National Anthem. Steer will introduce the dignitaries and Bill Doverspike will discuss aspects of the vehicle safety check program.

Columbus Postmaster Victor Bodish is honorary chairman of the MAPS program and Roy Salzgaber is program coordinator.

Being A Suspect Is Unnerving Experience

By JANET MICHAEL

How does it feel to be a suspect in a hit-and-run accident?

It doesn't feel good, even when you're innocent.

Although the facts of the Saturday night incident are still a little foggy (each report is different), the victim, Patrolman Robert F. Lisska, remained in poor condition at press time.

It began about 9:15 Saturday night when my date and I left my apartment on Central-av to go to a drive-in movie on W. Broad-st. We were going north on Central to W. Broad-st when we saw a police cruiser parked sideways on W. Broad-st to block off all traffic going west.

Being curious, I asked my date to circle around and go out W. Broad to see what was going on. As we passed Schultz-av, I saw a motorcycle lying against the curb, where a good-sized crowd had gathered.

After the movie we returned to the parking area behind my apartment. Several minutes later three police cruisers pulled up and began questioning us and examining the car.

We explained where we had been all evening and answered questions for half an hour. Finally one of the patrolmen informed us that eyewitnesses had described the auto that struck the patrolman as a light green one, either a Chevrolet or Ford.

My date's car was a light green Chevy.

The patrolman further stated that a man and woman had been in the hit-skip vehicle and that the license number began with the numbers 24.

Someone in the apartment building who had heard the broadcasted description had reported the car in the parking area and summoned the police.

While I applaud the citizen who made the report, I can also imagine how Richard Kimball of the TV series, "The Fugitive," must feel.

And I repeat, it isn't good.

Under Buckeye Skies

By KEN MACK McCREARY

South Of The Border . . .

The state of Kentucky boasts that is has the "nation's finest park system"—and if all 15 of the state vacation parks in Bluegrassland compare with the new Rough River Dam facilities, then our neighbor to the south surely is right in the thick of the competition.

McCreary

Ten days ago a group of 20 Ohio outdoor journalists, including this writer, accepted the cordial invitation of Kentucky to spend a fishing weekend at the Rough River State Park, located near Leitchfield, about 60 miles southwest of Louisville.

To put it mildly, we were impressed with the many resort facilities at Rough River—including the plush lodge and the fine southern-style food. Among the many other attractions of the party—swimming pool, bathing beach, tennis courts, boat dock and launching facilities, plus a 2500-foot paved airstrip almost at the door of the lodge.

The lodge rooms and vacation cottages at Rough River will stack up against the finest motel accoramodations. The lakeside cottages are paneled two-bedroom layouts, featuring TV, year-round air conditioning and phone. Each cottage is located in a woods commanding a sweeping view of the 5000-acre lake.

The prices aren't exactly cheap—the lodge rooms go for $9 a day single and $14 per day double. The deluxe housekeeping cottages rent for $18 a day, or $126 a week for 4 or more persons. If this seems steep, Park Manager Ransom Stout told us that these more plush accommodations are what many people seem to want these days; in fact, he says the cottages are completely booked through Labor Day.

What about the fishing in this big Kentucky lake? Well, none of us so-called outdoor experts really clobbered the bass, crappies, white bass or bluegills in Rough River—the old reason (or alibi) that you have to know the territory still holds true. At least, I had the best and clumsiest reason for not scoring big—and I won't even try to explain how I smashed my casting thumb in a window, even before seeing the lake!

At any rate, after a couple of Saturday morning hours casting a few of the 270 miles of fine-and-fishy shoreline, Outdoor Writers president Dick Paugh, my fishing companion, decided my thumb needed a doctor—and the throbbing digit agreed. Following the visit to the medic, the whole idea of fishing seemed brighter.

We took the advice of Ron Wallace, a friend on our Columbus Police force, and called his genial uncle, Wilson Lowrey, a native of Leitchfield who's been fishing Rough River since it opened four years ago. Wilson showed us that typical Bluegrass country hospitality, and agreed to show Dick and me where the real fishing territory was, about 20 miles uplake from the state park. We whipped the water to a froth during the afternoon and evening, but even though we caught several bass, none could be classified among the real "monsters" Wilson told us about.

Then, to complete the "lunker-less" weekend trip on Sunday with an "insult added to injury" note, we met and talked with David Lee Hayes, the world-record-holding smallmouth bass fisherman. The Leitchfield native showed us the mounted 11-pound, 15-ounce monster he hauled out of Dale Hollow Lake a decade ago. Knowing there are lunkers like that in Kentucky waters is certainly enough to make this fisherman eager to return to Bluegrass country, and accept the generous invitation of Wilson Lowrey and his lovely wife Mary to "come on down and see us when the big ones are biting!"

COFFEE BREAK

My Mother's Day Gift Might Be A Wheelchair

By ADELINE DALEY

Who invents all those cheery platitudes you keep hearing about love and marriage? Such as, "Two can live as cheaply as one." Not when both parties like to eat, unfortunately.

The cliche which puzzles me most, however, is the one which declares flatly, "Children keep you young."

I've never figured out exactly how, other than that they provide you with a daily workout about as strenuous as if you were training for the Olympics. The one thing I am certain of, however, as far as the "children keeping you young" tenet is concerned, is that you aren't talking about any of my kids.

Instead of slicing off any years, they add them on, thus making me feel about as "young" as Whistler's Mother—before she discovered the benefits of Lady Clairol. My kids accomplish this by continually referring to my youth as the "Olden Days."

I've never quite established the era this is supposed to include, because just the other day one of the younger kids wanted my "first hand" account of the San Francisco earthquake of 1906. I felt momentarily relieved when Diane exasperatedly exclaimed, "How would Mom know? She was probably still a little girl back in Minnesota!"

This has taught me never to relate far-fetched tales from my "past" which place me in World War I, singing "Good-bye Broadway, Hello France," and expect a disbelieving laugh from my kids. The pity of it all is that they accept everything.

Although our older kids know our correct ages (give—or mostly take—a few years), I think they succeed in making me feel even more ancient by their habitual embarrassment over every move we make. All I need do, for instance, is mention that we're attending a club dance, and they will ask hopefully, "But you're not going to dance are you — at your age?"

If they had their way, our kids would like my husband and me to resemble the old farm couple in the famous Grant Wood painting, "American Gothic."

I receive no moral support from my husband either. How can I lop off—or should I say, feel young at heart—when he is continually allowing age-revealing remarks to creep (if you'll excuse the expression) into his conversation, such as "There'll never be another Ruby Keeler."

Gardens And Flowers

By JIM GRUETT

Flowers make perfect gifts for Mother's Day. They have a special way of expressing love and appreciation, two things every mother certainly deserves.

The carnation is the traditional flower for Mother's Day. White is worn to honor deceased mothers. Red or any other color signifies that the mother being honored is living.

Red roses, spring cut flower or bouquets, orchids, flowering plants, such as azaleas, geraniums and gloxinias and mixed garden pots containing a colorful array of annual flowers make excellent gifts also.

Varsity Flowers will be making up a wide variety of beautiful centerpieces to be used at teas given by university students in honor of visiting mothers. Lulubell Florist will be making up colorful symbidium orchid corsages at a surprisingly low price. Westerville Florist will feature specials on carnation corsages this year. Avery Road Florist has the most beautiful variety of mixed annual pots for anyone who wants to give mother something she can enjoy outdoors. Bertha Peters will feature her famous corsages again this year at the Inez B. Williams Shop.

Local garden centers also have a number of appropriare are gifts for Mother's Day, especially a gift that mother can use and enjoy outside.

Torco Garden Center, 5737 Avery-rd, is displaying a number of choice geraniums, perennials, mixed pots of colorful annuals, artificial flowers used at grave sites, flowering trees and shrubs and striking fuchsia plants worth seeing. Torco also provides a home lawn care service and has a lawn program that works wanders on run-down lawns. Custom landscaping is another service they offer.

Looking over my notes:

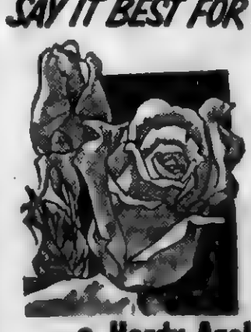
LAWNS — If you want to eliminate all those yellow eyesores in the front lawn consider having a lawn service firm such as Torco do it or buy a product containing 2,4D. Make sure you apply the material to moist weed foliage.

TREES — Pink dogwood trees are now at their best. Hopa and Flame are good flowering crab selections for outstanding color.

SHRUBS — Good time to buy Taxus evergreens and flowering shrubs.

BULBS — Start planting glads at two-week intervals.

ANNUALS — Petunias are now ready for planting.



PERENNIALS — Pansies were very slow to flower this season—get them in anyway.

ROSES — Get new plants in as soon as possible.

FRUITS — Plant strawberries as soon as possible.

FCL, Mid-8, SSL Meets Provide Final Sectional Warmups For Thins

Area schoolboy cindermen will be making final preparations in most cases for sectional track competition a week from today (see Metro sports) as they sprint through eight major events this week—four of them league meets.

Opener for a weekend full of cinder action is scheduled at Canal Winchester where eight Franklin County League teams converge for their annual loop running.

SUCH AREA notables as West, Whitehall and Bexley will join Arlington Friday for 6 p.m. finals at the Bears' 19th annual Relays. Finals begin at 6 p.m.

But the bulk of oval activity has been reserved for Saturday with loop battles set for Gahanna (Mid-Eight) and Franklin Heights (South Suburban).

Elsewhere, Hartley plays host for a 10-team lineup—each seeking the '65 Diocesan Track Meet crown. The red carpet will be rolled out as well at Eastmoor where the Warlors entertain their annual Invitational.

CARROLL, fresh from its victory at Saturday's Canal Winchester Invitational, journeys Monday to Lancaster for the Fairfield County Meet while the Central Catholic Meet attempts to get off the ground again Tuesday at Hartley after an earlier rainout.

• • •

The '64 title winner—Hamilton Township—has since pulled up stakes and moved over to the South Suburban circuit.

Few tears will be shed this spring for the Rangers' departure since H-T racked up four firsts and nine seconds last season enroute to completely dominating the meet (spread was 48 pts. between H-T and runnerup Canal Winchester).

RETURNING to enter their bids for the Rangers' vacated title will be: Canal Winchester, St. Marys, Reynoldsburg, Rosary, West Jefferson, Dublin, Academy, New Albany and University.

A coaches' meeting will be held at 3:30 with field events getting underway 15 minutes later. Running prelims begin at 4 with finals set one hour later.

Here are the existing FCL records:

HJ — Rice, West Jefferson (6'¾", '64); PV — Saylor, Canal Winchester (11' 7½", '39); D — Frank Peters, Hamilton Twp. (141' 10", '64); SP — Frank Peters, H-T (50' 7", '64); LH — Rice, West Jeff (:19.9, '64); HH — Binns, Gahanna (:14.75, '56'; 100 — Braudt, Academy ('61) and Skeen, Hamilton Twp. ('63) — (:10.1; 220 — Donaldson, C-W ('43) and Miller, Groveport ('42) — (:22.5); 440 — Kielmeyer, Reynoldsburg (:51.9, '48); 880 — Alspach, Winchester (2:03.2, '43); MILE — Doran, New Albany (4:41, '61); 880 RELAY — (Schoene, Kirk, Shepard and J. Larrimer), 1:35.2 ('64); MILE RELAY — Academy (Schoene, Kirk, Shepard and J. Larrimer), 3:-37.3 ('64); BJ — Moore, Marion-Franklin (22' 4½", '56).

ONLY EVENT winner in '64 who returns to the FCL meet this spring is Rosary miler Joe Smitberger, who also took a second in the 880.

Other returnees who could well move up to firsts this time are: Mark Sheaf, St. Marys (fifth in mile); Jim Burke, C-W (second), Bryce Bradford, Rosary (fourth) and Joe Bogner, Dublin (fifth) in 440;

Bob Hanko, Reynoldsburg (fourth in 880); Randy Beaty, C-W (third in 100); Wendell Bond, C-W (third) and Mike Hodge, St. Marys (fifth) in hurdles; John Manifold, Reynoldsburg (third in 220);

HODGE, ST. M. (third) and Chuck Taylor, West Jefferson (fifth) in broad jump; Scott Guller, C-W (fourth in pole vault); Carl Bundy, Reynoldsburg (fourth in shot); Nick Burgess, C-W (fourth in discus) and Larry Calvert, C-W (fourth in high jump).

The FCL Meet appears likely to come down to a three-team dogfight between the host Indians, St. Marys and Reynoldsburg.

Only records which seem within reach of competitors this spring are the 440 where C-W's Jim Burke excels and the broad jump where Mike Hodge of St. Marys has neared the mark.

Here's a rundown of the events and the entries most likely to succeed (times and distances not necessarily best effort):

HIGH HURDLES — Hodge (:16.0) again here. Should find top competition again from Reynoldsburg entry — Gary Schmidt (:16.5).

880 RELAY — St. Marys team (John Frebault, Preston Perry, Vic Perdue, Frank Morton) has best time (1:39) but Morton's status is doubtful. Reynoldsburg quartet (Steve Hague, Denny LeMaster, Dave Burrough and Manifold) next best at 1:39.1.

440 — C-W's Burke has as much as a three-five second edge on closest contenders — Dublin's Joe Bogner and University's Phil Ruden.

LOW HURDLES — Rams' Mike Hodge (:21.2) again. Although C-W's Wendell Bond has better time (:22.1), Hodge beat him recently. Reynoldsburg's Gary Schmidt (:21.7) another good prospect.

880 — Should be a tossup with St. Marys' Sheaf, New Albany's Jimmy Doran, C-W's Dave Hafey, Rosary's Smithberger, Reynoldsburg's Bob Hanko and Academy's George Lipovich all very much in the running.

220 — Another dandy with Reynoldsburg's Manifold, C-W's Beaty and St. Marys' Vic Perdue all flirting around the :23.0 mark.

MILE RELAY — Looks like Winchester's combo of Burke, Hafley, Bond and Jim Woodward (3:48). St. Marys strong here also (Mike Shawver, Denny Cruz, Jim Perone, Bob Leach) but Indians still look best.

SHOT — Edge to Reynoldsburg's Dave Harrington. Also consider St. Mary's Jim Maurer and C-W's Nick Burgess.

DISCUS — Harrington again (124' 1") but Rams' Denny Jones and University's Wood again to be considered POLE VAULT — No one seems able to go much over 10 feet. Should be a battle between C-W's Scott Guller and Dublin's Gary Kinniard.

HIGH JUMP — Could be Hodge (5' 10") if he competes here. Otherwise, take your pick of Reynoldsburg's Joel Gibson, C-W's Larry Calvert or Rosary's Jim Groce.

FCL awards will consist of a team trophy and ribbons for the first five places.

Admission for the meet will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children and students.

TWO-TIME defending champion Gahanna, who will host the Mid-Eight League Saturday, should find the going rougher this spring with both Hilliard and Grove City bringing some stiff opposition to the Lion oval.

The Mid-Eight records could have even more trouble maintaining a status quo with no less than half the marks in the 14-event meet looking a bit shaky.

Prelims get underway at 11 a.m. with finals beginning at 1 p.m. The regular "eight" will be present — Gahanna, Hilliard, Grove City, Marysville, London, Groveport, Mifflin and Westerville.

HERE ARE the existing Mid-Eight records:

SP — Johnson, Marysville (56' 6", '64); D — Johnson, Hilliard (13' 10¾", '62); HH — Shier, Hilliard (6' 15/8", '62); HJ — Glover, Gahanna (22' 6", '64); PV — King, Hilliard (13' 1¼", '62); HH — Shier, Hilliard (:15.1, '62); 100 — McCalla, Westerville (:10.0, '64); MILE — Russell, Worthington (4:36.2, '55); 880 RELAY — Gahanna (1:34.7, '63); 440 — McCalla, Westerville (51.7, '64); LH — Kirk, Hilliard (:19.9, '62); 880 — Gorman, Grove City (2:04.5, '57); 220 — McCalla, Westerville (:22.3, '63); (3:34.4, '64).

OF THE four league meets scheduled this week, the Mid-Eight battle seems to be the biggest tossup, although the defending champs should have the edge.

A rundown of events and entries most likely to succeed should read (times and distances not necessarily best effort):

BROAD JUMP — No one appears likely to bother defending champ Bob Glover of Gahanna (22' 7" this spring) who could likely break his own mark Saturday. Closest competitor seems to be teammate Terry Robb (20' 11"), Hilliard's Randy McCoy and Groveport's Dave Heil.

HIGH HURDLES — Hilliard's Bob Stoneking and Gahanna's Mike Bokros both have :15.5 efforts this spring and G-C's Terry Miller is right behind. Anybody's guess.

100 — Another dilly! Take your pick of Grove City's Jeff Weltzein, Gahanna's Bob Glove (both :10.2), Hilliard's Bill Humes and Jerry McAlister (both :10.3) and Groveport's Heil (:10.6). Record shaky here.

MILE — Hilliard's Tom Mogavero has a 4:40, Gahanna's Tim Horn in at 5:41, na's Tim Horn in at 4:41, Grove City's Jerry Docherty

880 RELAY — Hilliard quartet (Joe Weaver, Bill Humes, Jerry McAlister, Gene Burleson) look unbeatable here at 1:34.9. Close behind are Grove City (Terry Miller, Steve Ward, Don Feaster, Jeff Weltzein) and Gahanna (Glenn Martin, Ronnie Doran, Bob Clements, Bob Hunter), both slightly over 1:36. Record could fall in this event.

440 — No one looks able to challenge Hilliard's McAlister (:51.6) and Gahanna's Glover (:52.5). Record is shaky here and this event will be a key one for either aspirant.

LOW HURDLES — Try Grove City's Terry Miller (:20.9) with Gahanna's Bokros (:21.0) and Hilliard's Stoneking (:21.3) very, very close.

880 — Gahanna has two good times in Mike Haninger and Al Strickling (both 2:05). Grove City's Paul Rehder in a 2:04. Another shaky mark.

220 — Another Hilliard-Gahanna battle with Humes (:23.1) for the Wildcats, Glover (same time) for the Lions. G-C's Weltzein (:23.4) and Groveport's Heil (:23.6) close enough to win. Record unsafe here also.

MILE RELAY — Grove City (Walker, Feaster, Dorcy, Badgely), Gahanna (Bokros, Strickling, Clemens, Doran) and Groveport (Larry Stimpfle, John Jordan, Mike Genoozis, Tom Reichelderfer) all around 3:40 mark this spring. Take your choice.

SHOT — Gahanna's Nelson Bobb and Rick Morris toss around 50' mark but then so do Hilliard's Rick Meadows and Bruce Adams.

DISCUS — One of few apparent runaways at meet with Hilliard's Pete Miller (over 160 ft.) head and shoulders above all competition.

POLE VAULT — Gahanna's Terry Robb (13' 6") isn't too much under the record. Closest competitors (better than a full foot below) are London's Larry Rae and Grove City's Tom Hensley.

HIGH JUMP — Hilliard's Harry Bremner and Gahanna's John Marsch and Bill Duffe are all over 5' this spring. London's Barth Royer just under that mark. Record looks weak here.

Besides the team trophy, medals will be awarded to individuals finishing first, second and third. Ribbons go to fourth and fifth placers.

HAMILTON Township coach Ray O'Dell promises a better showing in this week's South Suburban League meet for his Rangers than the one H-T made last week in a dual meet with Franklin Heights.

The dual battle, which many considered a preview of things to come in the SSL scrap, was won handily by the Falcons (69-49) but O'Dell believes his Rangers can do better than that Saturday, starting with the 12:30 prelims.

The Falcons do have depth; the Rangers do not — and the meet will be run on F-H's home oval. These two items would have to make Jim Fern's talented crew favorites.

EVERY WINNER will cart home a record since this is the first running of the SSL meet. Those records will begin to be recorded shortly after 2:30 when finals get under way.

Here's a rundown of the events and the entries who seem most likely to succeed (times and distance not necessarily best):

HIGH HURDLES—Flip a three-sided coin between H-T's Steve Knorr, Pleasant View's Tony Beaver and F-H's George Roach (all around :16.0). Teays Valley's Tom Ray goes around :17.00.

100—Hamilton's Paul Keller has better time (:10.2) but F-H's Vaughlin Laughlin beat him in the dual meet last week.

MILE — Another face-off between F-H's Jerry Roach and Hamilton's Charlie Hart (4:47):

880 RELAY — Another strong event for both Falcons and Rangers. Both H-T (Rinehart, John Gorczyca, Ralph Morgan, Bill Hayes or Jerry Hammond) and F-H (George Roach, Dan Douglas, Laughlin and Cummings) teams run just over 1:36 here.

440 — Keller (51.5) looks tough to beat here but F-H's George Roach would be the most likely prospect to do it.

LH — Edge to Panthers' Tony Beavers (:21.2). Rangers' Rinehart and T-V's Ray not far behind.

880 — Should be another tossup between Falcons' Jerry Roach and Rangers Bill Hayes (both in vicinity of 2:12).

The South Suburban champion will receive a team trophy while first placers and runnerup individuals will gain medals. Ribbons go to fourth and fifth place individuals.

SSL Meet charge will be 50 cents for everyone.

AS MANY AS eight records look like they might have new owners Saturday after the tenth running of the Diocesan Meet at Hartley.

Just as unsecure might be defending champion Marion Catholic, who just might get knocked off this spring after reigning as Diocesan champ for the past five years.

St. Marys, Mt. Vernon St. Vincent and the hosts share the role of favorites at the event which sets running prelims at 2 p.m. with field events getting under way at 5:30 and running finals beginning at 7 p.m.

THE HOST Hawks will unfurl the welcome mat for Rosary, Zanesville Rosecrans, Marion Catholic, Mt. Vernon St. Vincent, Bishop Ready, DeSales, New Lexington St. Ala, St. Marys and St. Charles.

Here are the existing Diocesan Meet records:

HJ—Bill Barrett, St. Marys (6'⅛", '58); BJ—El Colston, St. Marys (20'9¼", '57); SP—Jim Rish, Marion Catholic (49'8", '61); D — Jim Rish, Marion Cath. (135'7", '61); PV — Pat Nicolosi, Marion Cath. (13'0", '64); HH—Terry O'Hare, New Lexington (16.1, '61); 100 — Bob Robbins, Marion Cath. (:10.2, '64); MILE — Dick Elsasser, Marion Cath. (4:39.3, '61); 880 RELAY — St. Charles (1:36.9, '64); 440—Ken Studer, New Lex. (:53.1, '60); LH—Terry O'Hare, New Lex. (:20.9, '61); 880 — Tom Kempton, Mt. Vernon St. V. (2:03.8, '63); 220—Ted Anderson, Marion Cath. (:22.6, '58); MILE RELAY—Marion Catholic (3:40.5, '60).

Records appear to be shaky in the following areas: high jump—Hartley's Dave Thomas has jumped 6'3½" already this spring; broad jump—St. Marys' Mike Hodge has been recently credited with a leap of 21'1½". St. Charles' Andy VanCamp has come close to the 20' mark; shot put — St. Charles' Joe VanBalen has tossed just under the 49' mark this spring; discus—DeSales flinger Bill Kearns has surpassed the 133' mark; high hurdles — The Rams' Hodge again (:16.0); 100 — Hartley's Mike Santy (:10.3).

880 Relay—Hartley's foursome of Joe Wicks, Rick Marcum, Joe Kuhner and Mike Santy already under the mark (1:35.4); 440 — Hartley's Larry Ziccardi under time with a :52.3 this spring; 220—St. Marys' Vic Perdue near that time.

Awards, which will be presented by Hartley's Homecoming Queen and court, will consist of a first-place trophy and runnerup team trophy, a "high scorer" individual trophy and ribbons for the first five places.

There will be no admission charge at the Diocesan Meet.

A CLASSY field of 11 will battle Saturday for Eastmoor's sixth annual Invitational title.

Joining the host Warriors will be: defending champ South, Marion-Franklin, East, Central, Walnut Ridge, Brookhaven, Whetstone, Whitehall, Lancaster and Fairfield Union.

Field finals and running prelims will start at 2 p.m. with the track finals going under the lights at 7 p.m.

THE INVITATIONAL has a reputation for tight finishes and this one doesn't look like it will break style. (South's margin of victory over runnerup Central last spring was a scant one-half point!).

Here is the existing list of records for the E-M "Invite": HJ — Denshan, Whitehall (6'1¼", '62); BJ—Owes, Cleveland East (22'6⅛, '62) D — Rybolt, Delaware, (153' 4½", '63); PV—Clark, Eastmoor (12'6¾", '63); SP — Hamilton, Linden (54' 1",); HH — Millington, Whitehall (:15.0, '61); 100 — Trammell, Central (:09.7, '64); MILE—Maddox, Central (4:28.5, '64); 880 RELAY—South (1:34.-3, '62); 440 — Trammell, Central (:49.9, '64); LH—Robinson, Cleveland East (:19.8), '62); 880 — Maddox, Central (1:59.0, '64); 220—Trammell, Central (:21.4, '64); MILE RELAY — Central (3:30.8, '64).

TROPHIES will be awarded for first, second and third places and medals for fourth and fifth places. The winning and runnerup teams will also receive trophies.

Here is a rundown of the events and the entries most like to succeed (times and distances not necessarily best):

HIGH HURDLES—Should be dandy with three of the area's top competitors—Eastmoor's Ron Elland (:14.7), Whetstone's Dean Marple and Brookhaven's Chuck McNeal both (:15.0) running best in an event which could see a new record.

100—East's Solomon Esple has the best time (:10.0) but the Tiger speedster will have plenty of competition in Central's Kenny Fenderson and Ron White, South's Tony McQueen, Eastmoor's Wayne Mixon, Brookhaven's Marinello and Whetstone's Marple (all under :10.3).

MILE — In most instances this would be a one-man race since Walnut Ridge's Kenny Schwartz is competing (4.26.-8) but E-M's Gary Knaul ran a 4:28.4 at last weekend's Cambridge Relays and should let Schwartz know he's in a race. (Both times better than existing record).

880 RELAY — Four teams have already neared or broken the present time here. Central (Ken Fenderson, Herb Winton, Ron White, Ron Lyons) has the best time (1:31.5) but Lancaster, Brookhaven (Ron Dean, Steve Kesterson, Jerry Sullivan, Marinello) and South (Gene Lawhorn, Bill McCall, Kenny Latham, Tony McQueen) are all close enough to press the Pirates to the tape.

LOW HURDLES — Looks like a head on collision between Brookhaven's Marinello (if he competes in this event) and Whetstone's Marple (best time, :19.8, ties meet record) although South's Latham and Marion - Franklin's Jim Brown will be contenders.

880 — The existing mark isn't very secure here with Eastmoor's Leonard Willis turning in a 2:00.7 at Cambridge and W-R's Schwartz often running around the two-minute mark.

220 — Again the nod to East's Esple (22.1) with Scotties' Barber and South's John Turner (both :23.2) right behind.

MILE RELAY — Three teams — Lancaster, Walnut Ridge (Schwartz, Barber, Rick Mettle, Jim Wallar) and Whetstone (Gary Kipp, Gary Thomas, Dale Cook and Rogers) — have already bettered the existing time this spring with the Braves clocking a swift 3:27.8.

SHOT — Lancaster looks like the best bet for a record here although Whitehall's Mike Boyer (52' 3¼" at Whitehall Relays last Friday) and Whetstone's Bob Swanson (52' plus) will be in there pitching.

POLE VAULT—Eastmoor (George Ross and Rick Lewis) looks strong here along with Brookhaven's Dave Zeller—all three clearing the 12' mark this spring. Fairfield Union has a contender.

HIGH JUMP — The event and the existing record should go to South's Smokey Wilson who isn't unfamiliar with the 6'3" bar. East's Don Washington should provide competition.

You can flip a coin to establish the favorite at this one with Brookhaven, Whetstone and Central probably sharing a slight edge over most of the rest of the field.

Admission for the E-M Invitational will be $1 for adults and students. Children under 12 will be admitted for 50 cents.

EAST COLUMBUS Recreation Center

In the recent city volleyball tournament, East Columbus Recreation Center's Junior Boys beat Cook 15-0, 15-3; Linden, 15-9, 15-11, and Barack, 15-6, 11-15, 15-8.

This fine play advanced them to the city finals where they lost to Windsor, 15-11, 15-4; for second place in the tournament.

Members of the team were: Don Johnson, Mike Swann, Butch Price, Phil Byers, Mike Priestas, Gary Swann, Bill Pitt and James Grimes.

Senior Boys' volleyball team won its first tournament game against Cooke Recreation, 15-3 and 15-2, but were disqualified. Members of the team were: Steve Jones, Germa Roach, Doug Young, Joe Clark, Bill O'Neill, Bob Axline and Paul Goldsbery.

Now that spring is here many activities have been added to the center's program. Among them are softball, track, tennis and badminton.

The center will be closed on May 18, due to the monthly PTA meeting.

Summer School Sessions Scheduled For Whitehall

Students, formerly eyeing summer school as an experience to be avoided at all costs, are now viewing the classes as an opportunity to be sought, much to the surprise and delight of educators.

Enrollment in the past few years has been comprised chiefly of those who wish to take advance work, or deepen their knowledge in an area of interest.

And in Whitehall, summer school will be held at Whitehall-Yearling High from Monday, June 21, through Friday, Aug. 13. High school credits are offered.

Registration, limited in most cases to Whitehall residents, may be made through May 22 at the school.

Courses to be offered, their hours and their fees are:

Personal typing, 1 to 3 p.m., no charge for residents; Typing I, 8 to 11 a.m., no charge to residents; driver training, 8 to 10 a.m., no charge to residents.

English I, 8 to 11 a.m., $20; English II, 1 to 4 p.m., $20; advanced math, 8 to 11 a.m., no fee; general science, 8 to 11 a.m, $20; hobby and crafts, 8 to 11 a.m., no charge to residents.

A "how to study" course will also be offered in two sessions — 8 to 10:30 a.m., June 21 to July 17, and July 19 to Aug. 14. No charge to residents.

Samuel Buck

Area Teacher Wins Honors In Chemistry

Samuel Buck, chemistry teacher at Eastmoor High since the school opened ten years ago, was named "Outstanding Chemistry Teacher Of The Year," by the American Chemistry Society at its Apr. 19 dinner meeting held at the Seneca.

He received $50 in addition to a plaque, and $50 was awarded to the school for the purchase of library books.

Buck taught junior high school mathematics in Columbus, Ind., for five years before coming to Eastmoor.

He received his AB degree from Evansville, (Ind.) College, and an MS Degree from Indiana University.

Girl Scout News

A luncheon for adult volunteers of Turkey Run Girl Scout neighborhood has been planned for June 3 at 1 p.m. at Kuenning's Restaurant.

Plans were made at the recent neighborhood meeting, presided over by Mrs. Robert Taylor, chairman.

A total of 402 Easter baskets was prepared by 19 troops in the neighborhood and presented to the Columbus State Hospital. Mrs. Don Smith was in charge of the presentation.

Reunion—

one to answer. After 36 years, old standby's such as "My watch stopped" or I missed the boat" just don't ring true.

Years Fade Dreams

For many years he believed he would return to the old country, and as this dream faded there was never quite enough money to bring Koca here, or a home to which to bring her.

Too, Koca's ties to her native land were strong.

In 1937 John, the couple's older son who was then 17, joined his father who was living in New York State and working in the steel factories.

The second son remained with his mother until he was killed in World War II. He is standing between his mother and father in the 1928 picture and John is on the left.

It was John who first came to Columbus in the late forties and a few years later brought his father here. For the first time, concrete plans to bring the family together were laid.

This winter, father and son rented a two-bedroom apartment at 1228 Brookway, furnished it and wrote to Mama to come flying.

Although she wept as she left her modest home where she had eked out a living for so many years, she was now ready to brave a new life.

"And the sooner, the better" the 68-year-old reports she thought when plans were begun.

A Handful Of Memories

But it is a strange world she has entered, bringing with her only a few clothes, a beautiful woolen blanket she had made, her quaint and lovely engagement ring, handmade gifts, a large picture of her lost son and a huge jug of her private stock of plum brandy, reputed to be smooth as silk and 150 proof.

Until she left the village of Krieven this spring to apply for a passport, she had never seen television, but she quickly associated it with the one movie John had taken her to in 1929.

Accustomed to relying on "shank's mare" to get her wherever she wanted to go, (which was never very far) automobiles, buses and noisy jets are a revelation to her.

A trip to Northland is a far cry from the village store where she spent the few dollars John and Steve have regularly sent her over the years.

But in a day or so, she seemed to be taking it all in her stride — except for one thing.

That is her new-found leisure. She even attributes a puffiness in her feet and legs to "all this sitting."

Where's My Hoe?

Not speaking even a word of English, she made it clear to The Spectator reporter what she now wants more than anything else.

Pantomiming the actions of a woman on the business end of a hoe, she indicated she wants, not an apartment with all its fancy conveniences, but a house with a garden where she can get back to work.

But strange as Columbus itself may be, Koca is not among strangers.

When she attends services Sunday at the new Greek Orthodox Church at Broad and Napoleon she'll be flanked by her husband, her son and her husband's sister, Mrs. Diana Suclescy, Southampton-av, a friend since childhood and her niece and nephew, Mrs. Carol Elioes of the Southampton home, and Rosta Sulensky, 4184 Sigmund-av, in Whitehall, and his family. Suclescy is better known as "Chris" who owns the Thurman Cafe near Bruck and Thurman.

And when she makes her first visit to the Macedonian meeting house, Alexander the Great, on Front-st, she'll find friends who literally speak her language. She is already planning to dazzle them with her dancing.

'Best in Macedonia'

When she boasted that she had been "the best dancer in Macedonia," her spouse teased her that she probably "dances backward" after all these years.

But then he chuckled, and with a twinkle of pride and mischief in his eye claimed, "Don't worry, she'll get up," indicating he believed she was still the best dancer in Macedonia.

When it was time to have her picture taken, Koca removed the kerchief with which she has covered her head ever since the death of her beloved son.

Her family was glad.

It looked like Mama will be an American before you know it.

She's even willing to tackle the mysteries of a gas stove to prepare that old Macedonian favorite of lamb and eggplant stew and is determined that she'll learn English.

But someone better get her that garden. Or the Tamovich boys may find themselves batching it again.

More U.S. Money For Dams Seems Certain

By FRANK EVAN

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A concerted and united effort by Columbus government and civic leadership apparently is winning necessary Congressional support for the vital Alum and Mill Creek Dam and Reservoir projects.

A 12-member Columbus delegation, bolstered by Ohio Congressmen Robert E. Sweeney and Samuel L. Devine, appeared Tuesday afternoon before the Public Works Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee. The group sought an increase in funding already obtained in the President's Budget for Alum Creek, plus an initial funding for Mill Creek.

The Ohio delegation was cheered by the response of Rep. Michael J. Kirwin. Kirwin, chairman of the subcommittee, cut off the testimony after only 15 minutes, a good indication that he had a favorable feeling for the requests. "We came 574 air miles for a 15-minute hearing," one of the delegates said after the hearing, "but we know it was an important 15 minutes for Central Ohio."

One request was to increase the Alum Creek appropriation from $150,000 to $200,000 — the amount of capability listed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The group also asked for a $175,000 initial appropriation for Mill Creek, which would give the Engineers a start on that project this year.

Devine joined fellow Ohio Congressman Sweeney in pleading for favorable action on both requests. "I cannot impress upon this committee too strongly the urgent necessity for prompt and expeditious action for a number of reasons," Devine continued.

"Traditionally and historically, my people in Central Ohio have been quite independent, and take great pride in handling local problems with local solutions. Rarely have they asked for outside help or intervention. In fact, on this problem, we're discussing delays that have occurred because, as the well-known TV commercial says, 'Please ... I would rather do it, myself.'

"The Corps of Engineers places priority on the Alum Creek project, and we are here today to urge your thorough consideration and hopefully favorable action," Devine finished by saying that Mill Creek is of equal importance to Columbus and Central Ohio.

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner introduced members of the delegation and told the committee, "Our objective here today is to present factual information. Far-sighted members of Congress previously authorized a report to be made on the Scioto River Basin, and this action was dramatically substantiated by the ravages of a devastating flood throughout this watershed area in 1969. A comprehensive plan was submitted to Congress in 1962."

Sensenbrenner called on Service Director Warren J. Cremean to present testimony for the city. Cremean reviewed the history of flood control measures in Central Ohio, particularly the report of the Corps of Engineers and the work of the ill-fated Scioto Conservancy District.

He said SCD work "was completed to a point where bids could be taken, and our belief is that only minor revisions may be required for adaptation to the Army's requirements." Cremean told the subcommittee that this could permit acceleration of the projects by the Engineers. He emphasized the importance of the water supply feature in the Alum Creek project and reminded the subcommittee that 48 percent of the project cost would be forthcoming from Columbus. He said that the city would be willing and able to advance monies to start land purchases ahead of normal scheduling. Cremean also pointed out Mill Creek's importance in alleviating stream pollution.

Although recreational aspects were touched upon briefly, testimony went so smoothly that no mention was made that the state has set aside $1.6 million for reservoir recreation facilities.

The delegation also emphasized that the Chillicothe flood wall project (recently approved) cannot proceed until both Alum and Mill Creek are completed. A letter from the mayor of Chillicothe was introduced, expressing this interest. That city plans an increase in its income tax to meet its financial obligations to the flood wall.

The delegation left, realizing that they may not know the outcome of their appeal until June 1. There is some possibility that Sweeney's office will release it earlier. They felt assured that Kirwin, an Ohioan himself, seems to have his mind made up, and that his recommendation is tantamount to approval by the House Appropriations Committee. He is a nationally-recognized conservationist and has considerable power in Washington.

Others making the trip from Columbus Tuesday were: Councilman Robert T. Southwick; Bernard LaCour, attorney and president of the Near East Side Council; Mrs. Robert Platt, Mrs. David Templeton, and Mrs. Sidney Voris of the League of Women Voters; Kline L. Roberts, Robert D. Keim and Dr. James Jennings of the Chamber of Commerce; Jack Different, executive secretary of the Development Committee for Greater Columbus, and Trent Sickles.

Mayor Sensenbrenner is staying over until today but expected to be back in time for the sewer rate hearing this evening.

'AMAZING' RESULTS

Mrs. James E. Daniel, 554 Scioto-Darby-rd, Hilliard, ran a two-line ad in The Spectator saying she wanted to buy an Ironrite mangle. When asked about the results of the ad, she said, "It was amazing ... We had so many calls on an ironer that I got just what I wanted at the price I wanted to pay." The Spectator Says:

By C. C. Hartley

Read it in The Spectator

Colorado Springs, Colo., Tuesday, May 11—I thought when I left home last Saturday morning to attend the convention of Accredited Home Newspapers of America that I would pass up writing a column this week.

But my newspaper friends back in Columbus prompt me to say a few words. Seems as how in my absence I've made the local daily [illegible].

On a trip up Cheyenne Mountain Monday morning we visited the Will Rogers Memorial and I was reminded of Will's famous expression "All I know is what I read in the papers."

A lot of people, I am sure, agree with me that it is sometimes kinda hard to believe all one reads in some papers today.

While standing on top of the mountain 10,300 feet high I remembered that I should have returned the call from George Embrey of the Dispatch. I hope he isn't still waiting for me to call.

And thanks to the Citizen-Journal's Bill Worth for his pretty accurate report of my telephone conversation when he reached me here Sunday evening. It was nice to know he told my friends back home I was enjoying the fine weather out here.

But he failed to tell you that what I am really doing out here is prospecting for gold near Cripple Creek and when I stake out my claim I'm coming back home to start a morning and an evening daily.

But, returning to Will Rogers—another of his famous expressions was "I never saw a man I didn't like." That's the way I feel, too, and especially about newspaper men.

Now, about that bit of "news" in the dailies—just as I reported to the CJ—if, and as, and when I have any news — you'll read about it in The Spectator.

THEY USED CRAYONS . . . AND LOVE

"PORTRAITS" of their mothers decorated one wall of the Dominican Pre-School, 2421 Johnstown-rd, when the four and five-year-olds entertained their mothers at a party last Friday. And, although they were sure that each mother would immediately recognize herself, the tots thoughtfully identified their pictures — just to be sure. The pictures were as varied as are the imaginations of so-young artists, but all had one thing in common. Each mother was pictured with a happy, smiling face. Proudly showing the exhibit to his mother is little Jimmy Mazza, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Mazza, 3553 Kirkwood. (Additional photo on page 6.)

Signs And Sidewalks Occupy Bexley Council

Bexley Council's recognition of an unusual situation and its agreement to permit a variance from the city's rigid size restrictions on signs, was followed closely by a second request for the same leniency at Tuesday night's council session.

And Council President Charles Krutz's prophetic jest, "this may haunt us," was surprisingly proven true.

Council also heard Mayor William Schneider issue a stern warning stemming from reported overcrowding and rowdyism at a gathering at the Jeffrey Mansion last week. "I'll clean house, I'll close the place," he said, if groups using the mansion didn't conform to regulations.

And council passed a resolution of necessity requiring the immediate installation of side walks on the south side of E. Broad-st, between Merkle and Gould-rds.

A request by the operator of Bexley Fabrics, 2476 E. Main-st, that she be allowed to replace an existing sign with another of the same size but exceeding the square footage now permitted under the city's ordinance, was granted because the sign would be flush to the building.

The ordinance was passed after the sign, and others in the business strip, were installed.

It was council's opinion that the action would not set a precedent to be challenged by other merchants, because the sign would not protrude from the building.

And the Kurtz's cautious "this may haunt us," was quickly followed by a similar request from Ken Davis of the ice cream store next door, 2474 E. Main-st.

He wanted a larger sign, to be placed flush with the building, in addition to the oval in front, already agreed to. He was advised to return to the next council session for an answer.

Mayor Schneider, in discussing a gathering sponsored by Explorer Scout Troop at Jeffrey Mansion last week, reminded council that insurance underwriters had specified 250 as the maximum number the building could accommodate safely.

"I hear there were about 360 there," the mayor said, "and residents complained of rowdyism outside although there was no trouble inside. I also heard that admission was charged," he continued.

It was suggested that an agreement form be drawn up and that signatures on the form be required from groups wishing to use the facilities in the future.

Bexley Mansion is the city's recreation facility, and its use is limited to Bexley residents.

Whitehall Firemen's Association is sponsoring the event to raise funds to finance the group's community projects.

Everyone is invited. A professional auctioneer will conduct the sale.

GRAND PRIZE WINNERS Elzie and Hazel Radcliffe show a Spectator reporter the newspaper's Happier Living edition and the official coupon which won them a Spectator Holiday at the New York World's Fair and a $100 bonus. They may, under rules of the contest, substitute an equivalent holiday at some other place. They have not decided yet where they will spend their prize.

Magic Words Win New York Holiday For Hilltop Couple

"That's great news!"

The three words were screamed in delight by Mrs. Elzie Radcliffe, 749 S. Richardson-av, at 9:32 a.m. Tuesday, May 11.

A moment before she had been informed she had won the big prize in The Spectator's "Magic Words" contest featured in the Apr. 29 "Happier Living" edition.

"Yes, indeed, your 'Happier Living' Spectator has given us some happier living," said her husband, Elzie, who will share a four-day all-expense paid trip to the New York World's Fair.

As an added piece of good news, the Radcliffes won a bonus of $100 by submitting their contest entry on an official blank picked up at one of the "Happier Living" stores which advertised in The Spectator.

The Radcliffes got their blank at Montgomery-Ward's downtown store.

Elzie Radcliffe is a retired school principal of Prairie-Lincoln and Franklin Township schools. A Hilltop resident for 25 years, he has sung in many church choirs and glee clubs, and is well known for his performances with the Hilltop Minstrels.

Elzie and his wife, Hazel, have two children, Clarence and Mrs. Elaine Bowman, both living in Circleville.

Besides the grand-prize-winning Radcliffes, 19 other contestants won prizes in the contest. They are listed on page 6 of the Metropolitan section.

The contest's five magic words were "Home, No Place Like Home."

Whitehall Students Sing, Play 'Song Of Spring' Concerts

Second in a series of three spring concerts, presented by Whitehall Schools' music students, will be held Friday evening, May 14, at 8, in the auditorium of Whitehall-Yearling High.

The public is invited.

The school's vocal and instrumental departments will present a program in the lighter vein, with numbers ranging from musical comedy and marches through classics.

The final concert will be presented Friday, May 21, 8 p.m. at Rosemore, by the Junior High Music Department.

Fifth and Sixth Grade bands and the Training Band played the first spring concert last Friday evening.

The May 14 program by Whitehall-Yearling's orchestra, choir, boys' and girls' glee clubs and mixed ensembles will also feature selections by the brass section of the band and by the woodwind section.

Soloists will be Diane Jewell, bassoonist, and Kathy Suphen and Sharon Pugh, vocalists.

Tickets are available from music students or at the door, at 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for students and children.

Concerts are directed by Lawrence Griffin and J M Day. Richard Neikirk conducts the choir. Student teacher, Miss Norma Richcreek, assists the directors.

Bikes Must Be Licensed In Whitehall

Residents are reminded by the Whitehall Police Department that all bicycles with 20-inch or larger wheels must be licensed under city ordinance.

Those not complying are liable to a fine.

License applications may be picked up at the Police Department on Yearling-rd, and license purchased, at any time of the day or evening Monday through Friday, except between 6 and 7 p.m.

Cost of the licenses is $1.

Whitehall Ponders Disposal Survey

A resolution to authorize an engineering study to determine the feasibility of installing a rubbish incinerator to serve Whitehall and nearby communities, was heard by Whitehall Council in a special meeting Monday night.

The measure, originally slated for council's attention at last week's regular session, was postponed to allow further study.

The proposed survey would be conducted by E. S. Preston Inc., an engineering firm headquartered here and represented by Pucel Enterprises Inc. of Cleveland, would take about four months, and would be financed by federal funds.

The $12,000 cost of the study would be repaid on a long term basis only if Whitehall goes ahead with construction of the incinerator.

The survey, according to a representative of Pucel Enterprises, would determine if the installation would be economically practical, and site recommendations would be made.

Actual construction of the incinerator would take from nine to 12 months.

A number of surrounding communities have expressed their interest in such a facility, and indicated they may prefer it over the county-wide disposal system.

Whitehall has been studying the feasibility of installing an incinerator for many months.

BEXLEY SUMMER SCHOOL SLATED

A summer study program will be offered by Bexley Schools beginning on June 21.

Enrollments are now being received from residents at the Bexley Board of Education office, second floor, south side, High School Building, at 348 S. Cassingham-rd.

Non-residents may enroll after May 14 providing space is available.

Courses are being offered in primary and intermediate remedial reading and rapid reading for elementary and high school students during a six-week period, closing July 30.

Courses in typing, intermediate algebra, general mathematics, driver training and beginning French will be available for the eight-week period closing Aug. 13.

Registration must be accompanied by full payment of fees. Further information is available from the Board of Education office, or from any elementary or high school principal's office.

GRACE UNITED MARKS 75TH

GRACE UNITED CHURCH of Christ will be the scene of a celebration this Sunday, May 16, when the congregation gathers for its diamond anniversary. One worship service — 10 a.m. — will be held at the church, 1226 Shady Lane-rd, followed by a 12:30 p.m. covered dish luncheon. The church began in 1890 when a group of members of Reformed Churches from parts of Ohio and Pennsylvania formed a church in Columbus. The congregation met briefly in a building on S. Third-st and then occupied a structure at Wilson and Fair-av. There have been only eight pastors in the history of the church. Rev. William H. Banks occupies the pulpit at the present.

Allen, 14, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ehlert, 244 Revere-rd, is an eighth grader at the Walnut Ridge school. At present, he holds the post of assistant senior patrol leader in the troop.

The Eagle charge was given by Richard Hawkins, vice-chairman of the White Oaks District, assisted by Randy Lichtenstein, district advancement chairman, and Lloyd Douglas, neighborhood commissioner.

The court of honor was conducted by E. M. Richards, scoutmaster of Troop 277, and Albert Faust and Charles Bunch, assistant scoutmasters.

A total of 103 troop officers from various troops in the district attended, plus 27 adults. They were trained in the second and first class requirements.

The purpose of the weekend was to help train boys and adults in the patrol method of camping.

District Commissioner Bill Kane was in charge of the affair. James Cypher, scoutmaster of Troop 68, handled the reservations.

Newark AFS To Hold Open House On Sunday

New construction, aircraft flyovers and aerospace will be featured exhibits when the Newark Air Force Station opens its gates to the public 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday, May 16.

The annual open house, in observance of Armed Forces Week, will give area residents an opportunity to inspect the station's new $3.2 million construction program.

Scheduled for action at the event are close formation flyovers by Lockbourne Air Force Base aircraft and a K-9 show of three Air Force sentry dog-handler teams. An Agenda "A" spacecraft, the first orbiting vehicle to return consules from space with successful sea and mid-air recoveries, will be exhibited outside the main industrial plant.

A number of inside displays depicting the work and mission of the $85 million facility will also be set up and the station's new maintenance display will be exhibited for the first time to the public.

For the third year, the station will honor selected young scientists from Newark, Granville, and Licking County schools with a Science Fair and presentation of United States Air Force certificates for outstanding projects in related scientific fields.

Numerous area organizations are cooperating with the station in celebration of the national event, including the Air National Guard, Civil Air Patrol, and Heath Fire Department.

Ample parking will be provided for visitors, and rest and refreshment areas will be open. The Red Cross first-aid mobile unit will be stationed on the grounds.

The $327,000 Police Training Academy will be dedicated Saturday, May 15, with a memorial service to Lt. Allen Fraley who lost his life in September during a gun battle on the near North Side and to other policemen who have died in line of duty.

The 1:30 p.m. Peace Officers Memorial will highlight the open house of the new facility located at 2609 McKinley-av which opened formally Mar. 15 to accommodate the first class of policemen training for duty with the City of Columbus.

Boy Scout News

By CARL JAPIKSE

Two Reynoldsburg boys, Paul Grimstad and Allen Ehlert, were awarded the Eagle Scout badge at a court of honor held by Troop 277 at the Reynoldsburg Methodist Church last Monday night.

Paul, 14, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grinstad, 5207 Bagley-rd. A ninth grader at Walnut Ridge High School, he is currently serving as senior patrol leader in the troop. Paul is a Brotherhood member of the Order of the Arrow, honor scouting society.

Grimstad

Ehlert

Allen, 14, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ehlert, 244 Revere-rd, is an eighth grader at the Walnut Ridge school. At present, he holds the post of assistant senior patrol leader in the troop.

The Eagle charge was given by Richard Hawkins, vice-chairman of the White Oaks District, assisted by Randy Lichtenstein, district advancement chairman, and Lloyd Douglas, neighborhood commissioner.

The court of honor was conducted by E. M. Richards, scoutmaster of Troop 277, and Albert Faust and Charles Bunch, assistant scoutmasters.

Junior Leader Training

A Junior Leader training program was held by White Oaks District at Camp Greenhills, a Boy Scout reservation near Logan, O., on May 1 and 2.

A total of 103 troop officers from various troops in the district attended, plus 27 adults. They were trained in the second and first class requirements.

The purpose of the weekend was to help train boys and adults in the patrol method of camping.

District Commissioner Bill Kane was in charge of the affair. James Cypher, scoutmaster of Troop 68, handled the reservations.

General Assembly Set Here

A position paper on racism, a revised statement of faith, and reports on ecumenical relations with the Roman Catholic, Orthodox and Protestant churches will be among major issues to be considered by the 177th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. when it meets May 20 through 26 at Veterans Memorial.

The assembly, which convenes annually, is the highest governing body of the 3.3 million member denomination. It will bring together close to 2,000 persons from across the nation, including 935 commissioners (voting delegates).

The first business to be transacted by the assembly will be the election of a moderator to succeed the Rev. Dr. Edler G. Hawkins of New York City.

Prior to the opening of the assembly on Thursday, May 20, pre-assembly conferences on evangelism and stewardship and mission will be held May 18 and 19. All pre-assembly sessions will be held in Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

Among speakers at the assembly will be Dr. Aaron Henry, president of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party; Jackie Robinson, former baseball star and president of United Church Men of the National Council of Churches and the Rev. Dr. Robert W. Spike, executive director of the National Council of Churches' Commission on Religion and Race. Mrs. Martin Luther King on May 18 will present a concert of words and music.

I do not see any way of realizing our hopes about world organization in five or six days. Even the Almighty took seven.—Winston Churchill.

Newark AFS To Hold Open House On Sunday

New construction, aircraft flyovers and aerospace will be featured exhibits when the Newark Air Force Station opens its gates to the public 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday, May 16.

The annual open house, in observance of Armed Forces Week, will give area residents an opportunity to inspect the station's new $3.2 million construction program.

Scheduled for action at the event are close formation flyovers by Lockbourne Air Force Base aircraft and a K-9 show of three Air Force sentry dog-handler teams. An Agena "D" spacecraft, the first orbiting vehicle to return consules from space with successful sea and mid-air recoveries, will be exhibited outside the main industrial plant.

A number of inside displays depicting the work and mission of the $85 million facility will also be set up and the station's new maintenance display will be exhibited for the first time to the public.

For the third year, the station will honor selected young scientists from Newark, Granville, and Licking County schools with a Science Fair and presentation of United States Air Force certificates for outstanding projects in related scientific fields.

Numerous area organizations are cooperating with the station in celebration of the national event, including the Air National Guard, Civil Air Patrol, and Heath Fire Department.

Ample parking will be provided for visitors, and rest and refreshment areas will be open. The Red Cross first-aid mobile unit will be stationed on the grounds.

Academy Memorial To Lt. Allen Fraley

The $327,000 Police Training Academy will be dedicated Saturday, May 15, with a memorial service to Lt. Allen Fraley who lost his life in September during a gun battle on the near North Side and to other policemen who have died in line of duty.

The 1:30 p.m. Peace Officers Memorial will highlight the open house of the new facility located at 2609 McKinley-av which opened formally Mar. 15 to accommodate the first class of policemen training for duty with the City of Columbus.

The open house from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. is part of the week-long observance of Police Week which began Sunday, May 9. Special guests will be the men of the 14 law enforcement agencies in Franklin County and their families.

New equipment will be displayed, finger printing exhibitions will be set-up and the officers will demonstrate their skills on the shooting range.

NCSW, Headed By Isaac, Plans National Social Welfare Forum

Over 5000 persons are expected to attend the annual forum of National Conference on Social Welfare, to be held in Atlantic City May 28-28.

A number of Columbus people will address the forum, the first in the 92 years of National Conference history when two professions—law and social welfare—have sat down to confer about common problems.

Sol Morton Isaac, 222 Ashbourne-rd, president NCSW, will address the opening general session Sunday night, and preside at several of the general sessions including the closing one Friday, May 28, when Hubert H. Humphrey, vice-president of the United States, will speak.

Isaac, associated with the law firm of Isaac, Postlewaite, O'Brien and Owen, is past president of the Family Service Association of America, Columbus Bar Association, Ohio Citizens' Council for Health and Welfare, and the Family and Children's Bureau.

Presently, besides being president of NCSW, he is co-chairman of the National Conference of Lawyers and Social Workers, and serves on many local boards and committees.

Other Columbus people who will speak at the forum include Dr. Hugh Missildine, Ohio State University's School of Medicine, and Wilson H. Posey, executive director, Ohio Citizens' Council for Health and Welfare.

Requiem Today For J. Lyman

Requiem mass for John Lyman, 36, of 4761 Ellery-dr, fatally wounded by a gunman in Gray's Drug Store at Broad and High-sts Monday, was to be offered Thursday, 9:30 a.m. at St. Phillip Church.

Lyman, manager of the drug store, died at Mt. Carmel Hospital almost six hours after being shot in the chest.

Also wounded in the shooting was Robert Aylor, 37, of 2702 Maplewood-dr, Minerva Park, district manager of the drug firm. He was reported in "fair to poor" condition at Mt. Carmel Tuesday.

Captured by police Wednesday for first-degree murder in the death of Lyman was Richard Howard Jemison, 56, of 41 W. Columbus-st.

The body of his wife, Virginia Ruth Jemison, was discovered by police Tuesday. She had three bullet wounds about her heart, and was apparently slain Monday morning, before the shooting at the drug store about 12:30 p.m.

It is surmised that the shooting might have been prompted by revenge on officials of the store, stemming from dismissal of Mrs. Jemison recently after about 15 years' employment at the drug store.

Jemison escaped by running through the door leading into the Deshler-Cole lobby.

Lyman is survived by his wife, Ruth and six children, Patricia, Mary, Lawrence, Gerold and Frederick; and sister, Mrs. Marie Vache.

Burial was to be at St. Joseph Cemetery by Egan-Ryan Funeral Home.

to claim five other first, leaving little to spare for the rest of the field who should engage in quite a battle for the next six spots.

The prospectus includes:

BJ—Arlington's Jim Wilce has already bettered the mark here with a leap of 21' 11¾" at UA's Relays Friday.

PV — No one should be able to match Carl Watkins of the defending champs who has already topped the existing mark by going over 13 feet this spring.

Mile—Worthington's Bill Syverson already possesses better time than the record (4:25.9) but Urbana's Willis is strong in this event also.

880 Relay — Worthington's quartet (Bill Hicks, Tim Norman, Jerry Fields, Denny Huelsman) ran a 1:30 flat at UA Relays, could claim new mark if they duplicate feat Tuesday. Arlington will be pressing here.

Mile Relay — Worthington again has better time than existing record (Hicks, Fields, Huelsman, Craig Swenson, 3:23.1). Arlington again a strong challenger.

E-M THINS PREP FOR LEAGUE MEET

Two of the meet's oldest existing records are among seven which could handily fall Wednesday at City League finals competition.

John Blitz's Central cindermen will try to extend their habit of winning City League titles to four in a row and Blitz's pre-season prediction that the meet points should be pretty well split up looks more and more realistic with each passing day.

IT WOULD be foolish to try to pick a winner in this one although Central, Brookhaven and East would have to be given the longest look.

The 46th running of the City event will get started Tuesday at 4 p.m. with running prelims and field finals the order of business.

Running finals are scheduled the next day beginning at 5:45 p.m.

AWARDS include a team trophy, belt buckles for winning individuals, silver medals for second, bronze medals for third and ribbons for fourth and fifth placers.

Admission will be 50 cents (everyone).

HERE ARE the existing records for the City League track meet: 100 — Grimm, South ('25), Johnson, East ('45) and Eitel, West ('49), :09.9; 220 — Smith, Central (:21.4, '49); 440—Trammell, Central (:48.6, '64); 880 — Maddox, Central (1:59.9, '64); mile—Rupert, Central (4:27.5 '36; HH—Angel, East (:14.9, '51); LH (curve)—Weinrich, North (:20.8, '32); LH straight — Riffle, Linden (:20.1, '55; 880 relay — North (1:30.9), '45); Mile Relay — East (3:25.7, '64); SP — Marshall, East (54' 6", '55); D — Martin, East (151' 10", '58); PV — Clark, Eastmoor ('63) and Kozobarich, Whetstone ('63), 13' ¾"; HJ —Furry, West (6' 3⅛", '55) and BJ—Thompson, Central ('35) and Hairston, Central ('50), 22' 10¼".

Here's the prospectus:

880—Walnut Ridge's Rick Mettle has already bettered existing record here (1:58.1). Look for Mettle to be shadowed closely by Eastmoor's Leonard Willis.

Mile—If that old 1946 record is going to crumble, this should be the year with W-R's Henry Schwartz speeding through a 4:22.9 at Eastmoor's Relays last weekend and setting a new mark just about everywhere he runs. E-M's Gary Knaul should press Kenny to new mark here.

High Hurdles — With the top-notch competition here another mark should fall. Winner? Take your pick of Brookhaven's Laird McNeil, Whetstone's Marple, E-M's Ron Eiland and West's Don Tidwell—all under :15 flat.

Shot Put — East's Grady Bobo (55'2¾") has bettered the present CL mark but should get plenty of competition from Whetstone's Bob Swanson.

Pole Vault — Try E-M's Rick Lewis or W-R's Chuck Corbett here.

High Jump — Looks like South's best bet for first with Smokey Wilson entered here. "Smoke's" 6' 5¾" is well above that needed to break the ten-year-old record here. East's Don Washington looks next best.

Broad Jump — They better be knocking that 30 years of dust off this record because Brookhaven's Ralph Marinello (23'6") looks like he's ready to take it home. South's Tom Wright (22' 11¾") also has bettered the existing distance this spring.

Discus — Unlikely that anyone can match Brookhaven's Jack McKenna (150' 6" last weekend) in this department although East's Willie Jackson should finish high in the event.

* * *

FRIDAY'S Arlington Relays might well have provided a sneak preview to the final tabulations at Grandview Tuesday when the Central Buckeye League teams congregate for what appears to be their final meet.

If anyone is strong enough to catch Arlington, it would be Worthington who finished second to the strong Bears last weekend — but this is pretty doubtful.

PRELIMS GET under way at 2 p.m. with finals scheduled two hours later. The league trophy, medals for first, second and third and ribbons for fourth and fifth constitute awards at the meet where everyone contributes 50 cents to gain admittance.

HERE ARE the existing records for the Central Buckeye League track meet: 100 Miller (UA), Knerr (Mt. V.), Payne (Del) and Halliday Bexley, :10.1 (most recent tie was Halliday's in '55); 220 — Payne, Delaware (:22.2, '54); 440 — Eckert, Worthington (:50.4, '63); 880 — Eckert, Worth. (1:58.5, '62); mile — Smith, Whitehall (4:31.4, '63;) LH — Jones, Worth. (:20.4, '60); HH — Lewis, Bexley ('46) and Riepl, Worth. ('62), :15.2; mile relay — Arlington (3:31 flat, '64); 880 relay — Arlington (1:32.6, '63); SP — Short, Whitehall (52' 10", '63); D—Rybolt, Del. (16' 10½" '63); PV — Neutzling, Whitehall (13' 0", '62); BJ — Densham, Whitehall (21' 8", 62); and HJ—Densham, Whitehall (6' 3¼", '62).

THE GOLDEN BEARS should rate as favorites in no less then seven events with with Worthington looking also

Hawk, Lion, Tiger Cindermen Capture Major Track Events

Hartley, Gahanna and East are sporting titles this week after capturing major cinder events last weekend to highlight action on area ovals.

Jim Palmer's Hawks didn't have much to spare but they sent the home fans away happy by eking out a 57-56 win over Marion Catholic to emerge Diocesan track kings.

On the other hand, it was hard to find anyone anywhere near Mid-Eight champion Gahanna as the Lions left everyone in the dust while gaining their third consecutive loop crown.

AT HARTLEY, the Hawks captured four big firsts, claiming two or four new meet records in the process.

Dave Thomas went 6' 3¼" to easily snap the existing high jump mark by almost three full inches. Hartley's winning 880 relay quartet (Joe Wicks, Dick Tomko, Rick Marcum and Mike Santy) set the other mark, bettering the old time (1:36.9) by 1 1/10 seconds.

Santy claimed the Hawks other two first (100, 220) to pace Hartley scoring.

The Lions piled up nine big firsts on a meet which figured to be much closer. But Gahanna scored 96¼ points and the closest competition was Grove City and Hilliard, deadlocked for second with 37¾ points apiece.

Undisputed standout at the meet was the Lions' Bob Glover who recorded firsts in the broad jump, 440 and 100 (:09.9, new record) besides taking a second in the 220.

GAHANNA figured in three of the four remaining new marks established Saturday.

Nelson Bobb's 50' 7⅛" shot put effort, Mike Bokros' high hurdle dash (:15 flat) and Gahanna's mile relay quartet (Bokros, Larry Barth, Bob Clemans and Ron Doran — 3:36.8) all qualified for new entries in the record book.

ALTHOUGH East could claim only one of eight new records at Eastmoor's Invitational, the Tigers amassed three firsts (Grady Bobo, new shot mark, 55' 2¾" and Espie, 100, 220), one second (Don Washington, high jump) and four thirds to claim the title.

Walnut Ridge, who tied the hosts for fifth (25 pts.), nabbed two record as Kenny Schwartz finished the mile in 4:22.9 and Rick Mettle went the 880 in 1:58.1.

EASTMOOR'S lone first came in the pole vault (Rick Lewis).

EASTMOOR'S best effort of the week came at the Hilltop Relays where the Warriors took second place behind champ Whetstone on the strength of firsts in the pole vault (Rick Lewis) and shuttle hurdler (Mike Abbott, Doug Rodibaugh, Ron Elland, Jim Rutledge, :58.9, ties meet record) and seven big seconds.

Walnut Ridge, who placed fifth (41), set two of three new records as Rick Mettle covered the 880 course in 1:58.3 and the Scotties two-mile relay quartet (Mettle, Ken Schwartz, Jim Wallar and Mike Feyh) came home in 8:13.8.

Elsewhere, Don Washington's twin win (broad and high jumps) couldn't prevent East from taking a dual loss from Central, 64-56.

Dave Thomas took firsts in the broad and high jumps but Walnut Ridge (53⅓) downed North (49½) and the Hawks (45) in a triangular.

Walnut Ridge Nine Lone Area Survivor In District Tourney

And then there was one.

That was the area district tourney line-up yesterday as Moe Cordle sent his Walnut Ridge nine into semi-final play against Pleasant View (results too late for deadline).

THE SCOTTIES remained as the area's lone hope for a district berth after Whitehall and defending champion Eastmoor got knocked off in quarter-finals earlier this week.

The Scotties actually had two days to work on their win over Reynoldsburg (7-6) Tuesday. Rain halted play Monday with W-R leading 4-0 after 2½ frames.

An OHSAA ruling which overrides the one in the baseball book ordered play resumed from the point of interruption Tuesday.

REYNOLDSBURG, unbeaten in nine games going into the contest, charged back to knot the score at 4-all in the fifth.

A walk, two singles and an error sent the Scots back into the lead in the sixth but what proved to be the winning tally came one frame later when Cordle called Jim Hill from the W-R bench to pinch hit.

THE RUN became decisive as Reynoldsburg rallied for two runs in their half of the frame, almost tying the score when catcher Dave Feyh let one of winning relief hurler Dennis Anderson's pitches slip away with a Raider runner on third.

The ball ricocheted back to Feyh who flipped to Anderson covering home and the W-R pitcher ended the game and Reynoldsburg's rally by slapping on the tag.

W-R PCIKED up an earlier 4-8 tourney win over Groveport as Rom Remy's double drove in the tying run in the final frame and Groveport's catcher failed to tag out the winning run at the plate.

Don Meuser and Darrell Jones teamed up to eliminate Whitehall Tuesday as red-hot Marion-Franklin downed the Rams, 6-3, in the tenth.

MEUSER AND Jones stroked doubles as M-F scored their winning runs and the pair teamed again in Whitehall's half with Meuser making a circus catch in the outfield on Mitch Joseph's bid to bring the Rams back.

Whitehall had to go one extra frame to beat Hamilton Township, 7-6, earlier in the week in tourney play.

STEVE SHAFFER picked up the win in relief when Mike Fleming's sacrifice fly plated Harvey Eader with the winning run. Dan Arnold had a homer and three other hits for the Rams.

Eastmoor bowed out of the competition Monday as Brookhaven's Jack Hoopes recorded a three-hit, 4-2 win over the Warriors.

THE WARRIORS had advanced late last week as they pounded out 16 hits, including homers by Jerry Groves and Mike Gornell, to supplement seven-hit hurling by Ron Rollie and Doug Gromer in a 13-5 verdict over DeSales.

Elsewhere in tourney play, Hartley's Scott French lost a heartbreaking 3-2, 11-inning verdict to Reynoldsburg. Bexley was eliminated by Brookhaven, 9-1, Mt. Vernon clobbered East, 16-4, and Dublin bounced St. Charles, 6-3, in "A" competition.

Doug Cromer's six-hitter and an eight-run third inning kept Eastmoor alive in the City League race with an 11-3 win over East.

HARTLEY SCORED early to gain a 7-3 CCL win over St. Charles, St. Marys, behind Mike Potochina's bat and arm, wiped out Academy's last FCL hopes, 3-2, while Whitehall stayed aton the Central Buckeye League race with a pair of wins.

The Rams downed Bexley, 4-1, with Jim Dildine going all the way on the mound. Also victimized was Urbana who felt the batting punch of

Gardens And Flowers

By JIM GRUETT

GARDENS THIS WEEK—Flowering crabs, almonds, dogwoods and red buds are at the height of bloom. Soon their colorful flowers will disappear for another season. Lilacs, viburnums and mock orange are taking their place.

LAWNS — Mowers are in full gear. The average homeowner mows his lawn 25 to 30 times each season — one reason to consider a quality mower that will last at least three to five years. It's still not too late to apply pre-emergent crabgrass controls. It's also time to consider a second fertilizer application and broadleaf weed controls. Remember, broadleaf weed controls must be applied to moist foliage.

TREES—Few trees remain in the bud stage. Green leaves are evident everywhere. Have a professional tree service specialist give you advice before doing any drastic trimming. Never pound copper nails in trees.

SHRUBS — Even though forsythias have dropped their flowers along with magnolias, it's certainly not too late to plant these lovely flowering shrubs along with purple leaf plubs, lilacs and mock orange for picturesque beauty next season.

ANNUALS, PERENNIALS —Time to visit Torco Garden Center, 5737 Avery-rd for unlimited varieties of annuals and perennials. Call if you wish—889-1988.

ROSES—Good time to shop for new selections and old favorites. The June flowering period is soon at hand. Fertilize roses monthly.

VEGETABLES — Big Boy tomatoes are good this year. Time is right to plant vegetable seed and onion sets in your garden.

FRUITS—Why not try a dwarf fruit there this year? Consider a dwarf apple which produces five varieties of apples on one plant.

FLOWERS THIS WEEK—Beautiful Mother's Day flowers were proudly displayed this past Sunday by scores of happy mothers. Carnation and cymbidium orchid corsages were particularly outstanding this year. Long stem roses and mixed garden pots also were enjoyed by many mothers.

To those of us who work in the floral business, it was certainly a warm hearted feeling to see so many youngsters proudly buying a red geranium or a bouquet of cut flowers for their mothers.

JUNE BRIDES—All brides-to-be this coming June should contact their florist as soon as possible concerning their wedding flowers. He will be happy to discuss design, type of flowers and prices with you.

WEDDING FLOWERS — More wedding bouquets are made in the month of June than any other month. Brides-to-be should ask to see pictures of phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis, white roses and lilly of the valley used in colonial, cascade or crescent designs.

OUTSIDE HOUSE PAINTING
NOW ELIMINATED

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is asbestos KENITEX.

The Atomic Energy Commission has used KENITEX textured Coating for several years at Los Alamos, New Mexico, atomic plant. Thousands of gallons of this remarkable exterior surfacing have been applied to meet the heat requirements, (over 1500 degrees F.) for insulating and protecting supersonic rockets; a special Kenitex formulation was developed that met and surpassed all specifications for this extremely critical application.

Over 500,000 KENITEX applications on homes, commercial and industrial buildings throughout the world, 5000 in Southern California alone, remain in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all weather extremes.

The Veteran Administration, Sawtelle, in Los Angeles, has applied KENITEX to the exteriors of their buildings. The Kenitex coating is applied in one quick spray application without muss, fuss, or odor—at a thickness 20 times that of ordinary paint. It fills holes, cracks and hides building defects, yet does not conceal the original architectural lines.

Homes and Guided Missiles

Unique among KENITEX applications is the use on guided missiles where its insulating properties shield the missile from extreme temperatures. KENITEX obtains these qualities from its basic components of asbestos, mica and perlite, which are noted for their insulation and durability.

Shot from a Gun

KENITEX is written factory guaranteed for 10 years against chipping, flaking or peeling . . . it is extremely flexible and withstands all normal building expansion and contraction. Actually "Shot from a Gun," KENITEX fuses to the sidewalls of the home. It is available in a variety of beautiful decorator colors.

FCC STEPS IN

Cities Take A Second Look At Cable TV

By CHARLES McDERMOTT

CATV operators appear to be meeting cautious resistance to the early promotion of community antenna television service in Columbus and surrounding cities.

This was indicated this week in a roundup of opinion expressed by city officials.

A number of cable companies have been seeking franchises in the Greater Columbus area which would permit them to sign paid subscribers to all-channel television service.

Mayor Stephen G. King of Hilliard said he had submitted a note to council advising a "wait and see" policy.

City Solicitor Paul Haytcher of Whitehall has advised council to wait "till all facts are in."

Whitehall had previously indicated interest in being first to introduce the rapidly expanding CATV service here.

Says Vote Necessary

In Columbus, City Attorney John C. Young issued an opinion that a vote of the people is required if council wishes to issue a franchise for CATV.

In Kentucky, Lawrence H. Rogers II, president of the Taft Broadcasting Co., told the Kentucky Broadcasting Association:

"Columbus is being subjected to a large-scale organization campaign for CATV franchises in the principal city as well as a dozen or more suburban communities."

Reynoldsburg has not scheduled a CATV hearing before council but is expected to do so soon. Meantime an informed source has indicated that Channel 6 newscaster Jim Steer, safety director of Reynoldsburg, and Mayor G. W. Twyford will listen to a presentation on May 20 by Richard A. Borel, chairman of the board of Capital Cablevision Co.

The presentation will follow a dinner at the Wigwam, a Wolfe Industries employes' club. Capital Cablevision is affiliated with WBNS-Radio.

After seven formal petitions and many informal requests from the standard "free" television industry, FCC last week assumed jurisdiction over the, until now, relatively uncontrolled CATV industry, including both microwave and cable transmissions.

If the CATV industry is perturbed by FCC's new interpretation of its regulatory power, it has given no indication.

One CATV operator has announced he will spend $40 million in the development of a Philadelphia area system.

The Mohawk Valley Community Antenna Company has signed a contract for 60,000 possible subscribers.

A 40-channel CATV system is now on the drawing board in an eastern city.

CATV franchises granted or sought have averaged one a day during the past 10 months in 345 communities in 40 states.

About 1600 systems are operating today servicing about 5.6 million subscribers. Rates and installation fees vary from company to company as does the percentage of their profit which they pay towns that grant them franchises.

In Washington, FCC Chairman E. William Henry said the agency will move with determination to get all CATVs covered, thus serving notice to cities contemplating CATV that complications may be in store.

Locally, WLW-C TV General Manager Richard E. Reed indicated as much in letters to Reynoldsburg and other cities. "It is our feeling that any action by the cities relative to CATV at this time would be premature," he said.

In Congress, Representative Oren Harris has jumped into the CATV imbroglio by introducing a bill which would establish a "national television policy" and provide for congressional review of future CATV regulations.

Thus, as the tug-of-war between CATV and "free" television picks up widening interest, cities in the Greater Columbus area have apparently joined in a "wait and see" policy.

BOOST VETERAN EMPLOYMENT

MAYOR M. E. SENSENBRENNER, joined by Columbus-Franklin County veterans groups, has proclaimed the week of May 16 to 22 "Hire A Veteran Week" in the Columbus area. By proclamation of Governor James A. Rhodes, the week will be simultaneously observed throughout Ohio. Pictured with Mayor Sensenbrenner (l. to r.) are: Robert Niharl, Marine Corps League; Bill Peterson, Veterans Employment Service; Haskell Brands, American Legion; Charles Copas, DVA; Jack Rafferty, VFS; Paul C. Welsh, AMVETS; E. J. Troesmar, American Veterans of World War I; Dr. W. S. Kissinger, Military Order of the Purple Heart, and David Wallace, VFW.

City Pools Open June 11, 25; Four Playgrounds Added

Swimming will play a big part in the program. Maryland Park and the city's year-old Sunshine pool will open June 11. Construction of two new pools is right on schedule and the department hopes to open them about June 26. Indian Village pool will be put into service the week of June 21. The indoor pool next to Thompson Recreation Center is expected to be started next fall.

Charges at the city pools will remain at 10 cents for children 12 and under; 25 cents for teenagers; and 50 cents for persons over 18.

June 16 is the official opening date at 35 city-supervised playgrounds. There are four more than a year ago. Locations will be announced as soon as contracts are signed with the school system.

The Wonderful World of ANIMALS

By Frank Miller, D.V.M.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Our pet skunk, Essence, is giving us odor trouble. It can be very embarrassing when we have company which is getting less lately. My husband suggested that we have Essence descented, but will the descentilation last? —B. F.

DEAR B. F.: Once the anal glands of the skunk are completely removed, they cannot regenerate. The operation is quite effective, though it might be somewhat hazardous —especially for the surgeon— if Essence is mature.

* * *

SPRING IS THE TIME

When many wilderness creatures become vitally interested in romance and its consequences. This is also the time when those desiring the more unusual pets (such as raccoons and skunks) should place their orders.

Of course, these orders won't greatly influence the reproductive rate of the animals involved. However, it will give your pet shop a chance to obtain (from game farms or collectors) healthy young stock at the proper age for taming.

* * *

DEAR DR. MILLER: It's my turtle, Howard. He is eating, and is a little lively, but his bottom shell is soft. His top shell is still hard. Is a soft bottom shell a bad sign or is this all right? I know that a soft top shell is bad unless it is a soft-shelled turtle. But Howard is a hard-shelled turtle. At least on top. How about his bottom?—A.M.

DEAR A. M.: Howard's bottom (shell) should be hard too. The fact that the plastron (undershell) is soft indicates a condition that will probably spread to the carapace (uppershell) if untreated. As long as Howard is eating, all that may be required is a drop or two of cod liver oil in his food, though a commercial product containing calcium may be even better.

Spending an extra hour or two out of water every day is desirable, especially if Howard can slip a short sun-bath into the schedule.

Of Antonius Stradivarius' 3,000 instruments, approximately 540 violins, 11 violas, and 50 cellos have survived.

Solve School Tax Inequities

Passage of the Columbus school tax levy brought to our desk a letter scalding us for our editorial endorsement of the levy. The same letter contained a suggestion we consider worthy of serious discussion.

The letter said in parts:

"I hope whoever wrote your school levy editorial is now satisfied. He must have been a man with children in school, and wanted other people to help with their education. I have no children.

"I am a widow on a small pension. My property is assessed at $5,000, and I am told this (the levy) . . . will increase my taxes $37 a year . . .

"Why can't your paper boost some bill to have the county consider the property taxes of old people who are on pensions?"

We admit to being "satisfied" that the school levy passed. Our stand was based on the belief that education is the backbone of our entire social structure.

The purpose of providing an adequate educational program is not limited to the children and parents directly affected. The total community will prosper or suffer as education is supported or neglected. That is why the cost of education is everyone's responsibility.

We must point out to our letter writer that she was misinformed, or misunderstood information relating to the increased tax she will pay. The 3.9 mills of additional tax on property assessed at $5,000 is $19.50 annually, not $37.

We agree with our critic that inequities exist in the present manner of supporting public school education. We do not agree that the solution rests with denying children the benefits of an adequate education. Even those who are paying disproportionate taxes could not afford such a choice in the long run.

The answer must come from our state legislators. It is sheer folly to think that we can continue to widen the gap (28 percent state and 72 percent local) between state and local school financing. On the contrary, the gap must be narrowed — and considerably.

We cannot in good conscience recommend any school tax relief at the expense of the children. We would happily support tax relief for older persons on limited, fixed incomes if such a plan first meets educational needs.

We will contact our legislative representatives for their feeling on the matter, and will welcome opinions from our readers.

Salvation Army: A Century Of Service

The 100th anniversary of the Salvation Army (May 16-23) should serve as proof that organizations of real substance and merit will survive and flourish.

From the "humble beginning" trademark, this religious-centered group has steadily gained in its good works and public stature. Columbus is fortunate in having an active Salvation Army program under the direction of Brigadier Albert E. Avery.

The three corps in Columbus are augmented by a Men's Social Service Center and a Women's Lodge. The organizational staff of about 20 people is backed by 1,000 volunteers.

Born in a time of social upheaval 100 years ago, The Salvation Army has changed with the changing times, being shaped by the needs that arise— and changing by its accomplishments the face of the world, the nation and our community.

National Salvation Army Week is a fine time to honor the past accomplishments of this religious and multi-faceted social welfare organization, give recognition to the current programs being implemented, and see how each of us can help The Salvation Army meet the challenge of tomorrow.

'THE GRIST'
Ground Out by Dusty Miller

TOWNS — Citizens of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., like for visitors to pronounce its name like they do. This requires several visits and considerable coaching.

I have a friend in Wilkes-Barre who is rector of an Episcopal church. He tells this story:

Dusty

Walking one morning, he met two boys. One was a member of his flock; the other a Catholic. They greeted him — one with "Good morning, Mr. Smith;" the other with "Good morning, Father."

As he walked on he heard the ram lamb of his fold saying to his companion: "He ain't no 'Father' — he's got five kids!"

• • •

The Massachusetts city, spelled "Worcester," is pronounced like an all-wool suit with two pairs of pants. Citizens of its namesake city, Wooster, in Ohio, scorn a pronunciation that rhymes with "rooster." Kindly, but firmly, they say to those who chicken out on the name: "We had hoped you would have learned by this time to pronounce the name of our town correctly."

• • •

The untutored, who slip up on Conneaut (Conneyott) and Meigs (Megs) County, and who get Piqua too Indianized, should be allowed time to learn to pronounce the names like home-towners do. And there is Wapakoneta — a nice town with distinctive citizens' names and a remarkable community spirit. They shorten the name, which helps.

• • •

POLITICAL TRADITION

Darius I was king of ancient Persia in the Sixth Century B.C. He invaded Scythia and Greece, but his career of conquest ended in his defeat at Marathon in 490 B.C. at the hands of the valiant Greeks. But already in 516 B.C., he had carved in imperishable stone his account of his own valor.

The Behistun Rock is a steep ledge in western Iran, the land that was Persia until 1935. On its face, even yet, appear the words spelling out Darius's self-adulation. It has been called the symbol of "The Reign of the Lie."

True or not, we now call such declarations propaganda. Foreign offices call them White Papers, or declarations of policy. When used by Nazis, Fascists, or Communists, we call them "The Big Lie."

Lord Acton once spoke of how power corrupts those who hold it. Niccolo Machiavelli, 400 years ago, defended the policy of expediency in government in lieu, if necessary, of integrity.

But still there is too much self-deception in government where too often idealism gives way to selfishness, wisdom to folly, statesmanship to demagoguery, and virtue to duplicity. Let's keep more good men in office than bad.

Voluntary discussion and cooperation make democracy work.

Guest Pulpit . . .

Jesus once said: "If you have faith as a grain of mustard seed ye shall say unto this mountain, remove hence to yonder place, and it shall remove . . . and nothing shall be impossible unto you." I wonder if we have this kind of faith to meet the tests of everyday living?

Haubrich

I believe Jesus revealed three different ways we can all obtain mountain-moving faith in our lives. In the first place, we must have a faith that has a clear vision of itself. The faith of Jesus was a great deal more than pious belief that everything would eventually turn out all right. And we know ourselves that many times situations do not turn out all right. When this happens our faith must be strong enough to meet the times when God says, "No". We cannot acquire mountain-moving faith for one particular crisis if we do not have it as a part of our very life.

Faith must be a friend to us in all areas of life. It must be demonstrated in more than a nodding acquaintance with God. If we are going to know God at all, we must first meet Him in the sunshine of our lives. If we do not have His presence in happiness, it will be most difficult to find Him in storms.

Then, if we are to be mountain movers we must understand that the mountain really exists. We cannot hide our eyes and expect the mountain to go away . . . it will not. So, we must face it squarely and then rely upon God's grace. We must not become so burdened with fear over the mountain that we are powerless to scale it even with God's help. Instead, we must learn "to wait patiently upon Him". A wise man once said: "As long as a man stands in his own way, everything else seems to be in his way." To be a mountain mover we must admit that the mountain exists.

Another way to be a mountain mover is to lean heavily upon the limitless resources of God. We know we have a God so powerful and wonderful that He could create the vast universe out of nothing. Why do we fail to believe that He can create within our lives the qualities of peace, faithfulness, harmony, and health just as easily? The faith that removes mountains is a powerful faith. It is powerful because it has learned to rely upon God's limitless resources.

We have all recently stood before the open tomb of Easter Sunday morning and have witnessed God removing the mountain of death from the Lord Jesus. Here is evidence of God's power, and that same power can be ours whenever we are willing to turn over our struggles to God who has the ability and the desire to carry us through all mountain experiences in perfect serenity, peace, and joy.

In Him, you can remove any mountain . . . alone, you will not even get started.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

No Room For Negotiation In Viet Nam

America is divided over Viet Nam.

Are we marching to victory or wading into quicksand?

Will our new determination halt the Communist drive to seize southeast Asia, or will the widened war be futile and will we lose all our frightened friends, as well?

Jenkin

Americans never wanted war less than they do today. The memory of our booted struggle for the "Four Freedoms" in World War II and the dull pain of Korea is still fresh. Flabby with creature comforts and fat with overtime, we have been given a funicular ride up the mountain and shown broad vistas of the "Great Society." Who wants to die in a rice paddy?

So Senator Wayne Morse is telling college audiences that we must "negotiate." And Senator Church of Idaho is crying "Withdraw!" And a number of college professors are embarked on "teach-ins" — nightlong harangues in college buildings urging "disengagement."

These are comfortable words to apply to a grinding struggle in an overheated jungle halfway around the world over a people with whom we have no common traditions and a state remarkable for its instability.

But "withdraw" and "disengage" are synonyms for "surrender." And America doesn't like to surrender — not even in a boom time when it is experimenting with $200 wigs and monkeying with tap beer in the refrigerator.

"Negotiate" is a nicer word. It connotes a meeting of minds, an end to unfortunate misunderstanding. It is the kind of a word that exerts a lodestone pull on gentle souls and men of good will. It nets the preachers and the profs.

But what is there to "negotiate" in Viet Nam? The ill-starred Geneva agreement provided: "Each member . . . undertakes to respect the sovereignty, the independence, the unity, and the territorial integrity of the above-mentioned states and to refrain from any interference in their internal affairs."

The Communists kept right on infiltrating, seizing villages, murdering officials and supporters of the South Viet Nam government, and shipping in Russian and Chinese weapons. And the Polish member of the so-called "truce commission" doggedly refused to allow any investigation of truce violations.

There is now no secret of Communist aims in southeast Asia. Hanoi, Peking and Moscow have all called for a "reunification" of all Viet Nam on Communist terms. What can we negotiate in the face of these demands except the hour and place of our capitulation?

But, say the peace-criers, suppose we do lose South Viet Nam. At least we will stop the bloodshed. And we will get out from under a war fought under most difficult conditions.

Stop the bloodshed? When the Reds took over China between 25 and 50 million "unreliable and reactionary" persons were liquidated. Who thinks a little genocide in South Viet Nam would worry Chou or Mao or Ho Chi Minh? The day we walk out will be death-sentence day for millions who have trusted us. And in no nation threatened by Communist pressure will the lesson be lost.

Which takes care of the second part of the hope — the belief that by retreat we will be able to cease fighting in remote and difficult parts of the world. In Thailand "liberation" forces already are terrorizing the countryside. In the Philippines the Huks are rising and now control part of Luzon. The Castroite build-up in Venezuela continues. One Red conquest will produce a half dozen new brushfires. You don't buy off a policy of aggression by a series of retreats. Remember Adolph Hitler?

The thing that make Communism so deadly dangerous is that it is a lousy economic system. And it is not working well in China. China's 700 million live perpetually between want and starvation. The population is growing. Southeast Asia has surplus rice.

If Communism worked well, China might have an industrial surplus to trade for food, as Japan has. But it doesn't. It cannot wait for time to prove the superiority of a Marxist theory that doesn't exist. So the rice must be seized. Viet Nam is not the disease. It is merely the current ulceration caused by the disease.

The inability of a desperate mass of human beings like the Chinese to feed themselves eventually may bring on World War III. But if we back away everywhere, World War III will be a cinch. For somewhere, as Winston Churchill understood, and Neville Chamberlain didn't, a line must be drawn against raw aggression.

Can we win the Viet Namese war? It's far from certain. The riots against our embassies are reaching serious proportions. The "Asia for the Asiatics" syndrome, begun by the Japanese in World War II and now heavily exploited by Peking, may really convince millions of unsophisticated people that the U.S. is trying to occupy South Viet Nam in order to return white colonialism to Asia. Our stay could become untenable through sheer hysteria, which is the Red plan.

But if we walk out now, in how many other Viet Nams will we be fighting three years from now? Let the peace-marchers explain the dividends of surrender.

Frosting on the Cake
BY "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

The "adult-infantalism" in the news at Ohio State University is both laughable and pitiful. It is laughable because it represents so small a percentage of the honest, literate student body. It is pitiful because it but goes to show how many of these "wet-back-of-the-ears" kids have no business being there at all.

The only reason anyone should ever go to school is to learn something that will advance their own self-interests in life. I doubt very much that you see any of the dedicated students in med school, or the vet college, or ambitious engineering students, wasting any time on such hokum.

Year by year, dedicated professors who are long on wisdom and short on theory are giving more hungry-minded kids a real "smell of fire" about what genuine education means.

Young medics come out of school today with two basic credentials. First of all a four-year course in basic natural sciences. Then four years in med school. Then two to three years clinical exposure under able practitioners who have made a greatest discovery of all about the healing arts. That is the fact of eclectic choice. If it is in all of the books and works, fine and so be it. If it is in all the books and doesn't work, out with it. If it is in no book and works, thank God some unafraid mind had vision and courage enough to find it out.

Beyond a doubt Ohio State has one of the top-rated vet colleges of this country. These graduates with small or large animals, depending on their personal area of interest, continue their study and research in genetics, nutrition, immunization, and environmental secondary factors; and today it is almost unbelievable what has been accomplished in the last 20 years.

This is also usually true in engineering. The waste of time by the professional "longhairs" mostly happens in the synthetic fields of "principles of education."

The present rash of "leftist nonsense" at Ohio State is but an example of education way off the beam.

Questions Urban Renewal Worth

To the Editor:

Almost everyone over the age of 40 is aware of the fiasco, manufactured just prior to 1936, by "economic planners" whose messiah was G. Rexford Tugwell. Despite government meddling, and to the amazement of completely befuddled administration economists, the free enterprise system had commenced to right itself, the economy had outgrown fear and was on the way to recovery when Hitler's legions provided the "answer" to final economic questions.

Urban Renewal, designed to further constrict the authority of lesser seats of power, has "flopped" miserably. Billions of our dollars have been squandered in a foolish attempt at curing the ills of our citizens through removing slums. The poor have escaped notice in a blind rush to scatter "benefits" where no benefits sifted down to the deserving. Displaced older people have been harmed, and have been largely ignored in their plight.

It is one thing to spend billions "planning and condemning"; it become shameful planning when less than one-half of one percent of the 2.2 billions spent have been applied to problems related to relocation of the displaced citizens.

Let's take a long hard look at future government "planning" which involves the right of the citizen to choose his neighborhood and his neighbors. Urban Renewal contains more than economic pitfalls, as more than one American municipality has discovered to its sorrow.

The Poor Are Still With Us

(Letter to Jenkin Jones)

Your column "An Editor's Outlook" of April 22, disturbs me. "The affluent society has meant an end to the cruel 60-hour weeks and no longer are children sent out to grub along the railroad tracks for bits of coal . . ."

The statement is true but the inference that everything is "just dandy" bothers me. Children are not sent out to grub along the railroad tracks because coal stoves no longer exist in tenement and slum homes, not because the children of the poor are warm and comfortable.

The average grant of public monies for children on the Aid to Dependent Children in Ohio is $29—which includes the rent and the cost of utilities. Mothers have to make the decision about paying rent IN FULL and utilities in FULL before they can consider FILLING the stomachs of children or buying a cheaply made coat or pair of shoes.

Poverty begets poverty, hopelessness and "poor motivation." There is no freedom of choice for our welfare recipients. Less than a dollar a day for all of living's expenses does not allow much freedom—of movement in our cities, of choice in recreation, food, shelter and clothing. The decisions are in terms of "What must we have to go on?"

Continuing your quote, (parentheses mine):

"The affluent society is very nice (for those in it but not for Ohio's poor). It could mean money for books, time to develop hobbies, opportunities for wonderful trips with the family, leisure to work for the good of others (except for the 248,000 men, women, and children on ADC and ADC-U who are trying to exist on money which averages 70 percent of the amount set by the State Department of Public Welfare in 1959 as the minimum for health and decency)."

I urge you to look into the lives of our community's poor — and to tell your readers of those who are beyond the "circular movement of our affluent society."

'Founding Fatherism' Is Needed

To the Editor:

In all this "intellectual ferment" and revival of so-called conservatism upon which the whole Goldwater Movement was based, we didn't have a responsible force in this nation clamoring for a reperusal of basic American Constitutional Founding Fatherism, such as is represented by Madison's (verbatim) Notes of the U.S. Constitutional Convention, 1787—a greater, more profound treatise on government, I think, than Plato's "Republic." "Republic" intrigues the collegians, mainly, I believe, because it promises in essence benevolent dictatorship!

I would trust these so-called rightwing movements more if they intelligently showed that they truly understood the real Americanism, such as in Madison's "Notes." The world had been overloaded with voluble reactionaries and leftwingers, neither of whom love representative democracy, it seems. If we would understand power, and America's rightful place in the power structure of the world, we must be well schooled. Otherwise, we will get bogged down by meaningless sallies leading but to nowhere, and causing a lot of trouble in the meantime!

This is a truly great nation, the greatest yet, and we can keep it so only by understanding the geniuses who created it!

Step Right Up, Dear—Now It's Your Turn

By ADELINE DALEY

After struggling for six years trying to help three of our daughters receive passing grades in Sewing (without too much luck), you can't blame me for eagerly awaiting the day when my husband has to assume similar responsibilities. That is, do the same for Brian when he starts taking manual training in junior high school.

It isn't that I haven't attempted to focus his interests in the direction of handymanism. When we were buying our present home, which has a full-size basement, I pointed to a nicely lit corner of the garage and suggested, "And there's where you can have your workshop."

"What workshop?" he wanted to know, adding, "They laughed when I sat down in front of my power saw. But they stopped when they noticed I was missing three of my fingers." This comment nipped in the bud all my plans for having him build all of those clever ideas pictured each month in "Better Homes and Gardens."

Turning then to Brian, I began to buy him junior-size tool chests, starting when he was about two years old. But about the only use he had for them was using the hammer to break walnuts or sometimes the heads of playmates.

Nor did it do much good when I handed him a non-running alarm clock and told him he could "tinker" with it, believing he would be overjoyed, like all little boys are supposed to be. He handed it back and suggested that I have it repaired.

Thus as a working "team," I am not too optimistic about the grades Brian will probably receive in shop with his father providing both advice and counsel. I don't think Brian can look for much help from someone who, after two years of compulsory industrial arts, managed to complete a matchbox and a sugar scoop.

I'm not complaining, because I still use the sugar scoop regularly, and I doubt there is a sturdier, braver-looking "Little Match Box" than that constucted by my husband.

It's only that most of the other students had to hire trucks on the last day of school to haul away the things they had made—cedar chests, dining room cabinets and heavy metal incinerators — while my husband could carry his output away in a paper bag.

Albee's Pre-Season Home Show Is Sunday

A carnival atmosphere will prevail this Sunday, May 16, when Albee Homes, 5585 Cleveland-av, launches its pre-summer selling season with "The Greatest Home Show on Earth."

Twenty-five of Albee's offices in the east and midwest will participate in this promotion which features the "wackiest" contest ever held anywhere, according to Albee's National Advertising Director Howard Senor. The object of the contest is to see who can drive the most 16-penny nails into a 2-by-6 or 2-by-8 piece of lumber in 30 seconds. Each office winner will receive a name-brand kitchen disposal. Albee will then select the top winner in each of its four regions. These men, along with their wives, will be Albee's guests for the national finals in Youngstown, Ohio. There, the contestants will compete for a prize valued at $500.

Albee's family "funday," this Sunday from 1 to 8 p.m. will also feature free gifts for the youngsters and their parents, including circus canes, balloons and Albee home catalogs. Refreshments will be served to the visitors during the hourly screening of Albee's 20-minute full-color movie, "The New Breed of American."

Albeemen, dressed as carnival barkers, will greet visitors.

Northland 'Sun-N-Fun' Show Will Display Florida Home

Lehigh Acres "[illegible] on wheels" will be visiting Northland Center, one mile east of the North-South Freeway (I-71) at Morse and Karl-rds, as part of the Center's first "Sun-N-Fun" Show.

Although the actual week-long program of fun and style doesn't begin until May 17, the two-section 25-ton Lehigh Florida home will be open to visitors the week of May 10.

A brain-child of Lee Ratner, developer of Lehigh Acres, Fla., the home, constructed of solid steel, has been on tour only since late 1964.

Bev Sims, promotion coordinator for the new Florida community, said, "The home was built exactly like one of the landlocked models in Lehigh Acres, except it was designed specifically to travel. The homes built by the developers in Florida are built of concrete block and are priced as low as $7800 for a two-bedroom home. The home's original cost was $50,000 and was designed by Harold B. Davis of Ft. Myers, Fla.

The Florida home is completely landscaped with lush tropical foliage and in the winter is heated on the exterior to give people the actual feeling of "walking into Florida." The home contains a kitchen, bedroom, living and dining rooms, vestibule, garage and bath.

The Spectator Says:

By C. C. Hartley

Springtime in the Rockies

The poets have written much and the song writers have made the subject famous and so, little can I add about springtime in the western mountains, except that I had the pleasure of being there last week and can attest to the beauty of the spot.

The beauty of the mountains reminds one of the stature of man . . . Some stand out because they are giants. They look down on the lowly from above, but the real giant of the mountain is a gentle, relaxed thing of beauty and adds to the beauty of the world because of its presence.

And down below are the lowly common plants but in their own right filled with a beauty and serenity that makes them warm and comfortable and kind.

Beauty is where we find it and all we have to do is look!

Travel Notes. We thought it would be fun to take a train west to Colorado Springs from Chicago . . . for daytime travel it has some merit but the rock and roll at night is not the best for sleeping . . . High water in the Mississippi River caused our Burlington Route train to be backed across a long section of the Santa Fe Route . . . Sandbags were packed high along the railroad over a short section . . . A trip by auto and train that took some 30 hours or more was cut to a total of less than five hours of flying time on the return . . . As one looks down on the many patterns of regularity laid out by man where he has developed cities and highways below one wonders how much of his handiwork on earth will withstand the tests of time.

Consider the Poor Editor

We are indebted to Miller Heddon up Olentangy-st way for the following contribution written by Miss Margaret Cousins, a book publisher's editor. It aptly applies to any editor. Thanks.

"The editor thinks of himself as the friend and advocate of the author. The author thinks of him as a necessary evil. The editor thinks of himself as the ambassador and steward of the publisher. The publisher, especially if the editor has made a few costly mistakes, may think of him as a long-haired, wide-eyed dreamer. The public, whom the editor seeks to serve, doesn't know he's alive."

Whitehall Eyes County Rubbish Survey Plan

Whitehall Council, until now showing a marked disinterest in joining a county-wide garbage and rubbish disposal system, Tuesday night cast a speculative eye on the plan.

An ordinance was introduced authorizing participation in the county's disposal survey, and payment of Whitehall's proportionate share of $870.

And at the same time, second reading was heard on a measure introduced at last week's special meeting that would authorize a $12,000 private engineering study to determine the feasibility of installing a rubbish incinerator to serve the city and surrounding municipalities.

Also at Tuesday night's meeting, council passed an ordinance placing indoor motion picture theaters in special permit classification, as a safeguard for control.

A rezoning request that would have permitted the construction of a nursing home on E. Broad-st at Bernhard-rd was denied, on the grounds that it had been wrongly advertised for public hearing as being located on the northwest corner, rather than the northeast corner.

And an ordinance that would grant a franchise to Multi-Channel Cable Co. of Whitehall was read for the second time. Hearings have been slated for other interested companies to present their proposals.

Several surrounding communities had expressed an interest in Whitehall's plan to install a rubbish incinerator, and indicated they would prefer being served by such a facility rather than by the county-wide system.

Gahanna and Reynoldsburg have both declined so far to pay their proportionate cost of the county study, and have watched Whitehall's plan with interest.

If approved by council, Whitehall's proposed survey would be financed by an advance from federal funds, to be repaid only if the city constructed the incinerator.

Service Director Joseph Shannon, at Tuesday night's meeting, urged council's consideration of the county plan, on the grounds that "the cost of $870 is more pleasing since the end results are the same.

"We are part of the metropolitan area," he continued, "and I think we should go along with the others. We don't need a private engineering study."

The eastern municipalities are among the very few who have not adopted the county proposal and paid their share of the cost.

Pictures Worth Thousand Words . . . And A Prize

Groom

Once again The Spectator has won national recognition! The sole prize for photo journalism was awarded to the newspaper May 13 during the national convention of the Accredited Home Newspapers of America, Inc. in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The winning entry was a page of candid pictures entitled, "Milady Buys An Easter Hat." The humorous sequence was shot at Lazarus West by Spectator Chief Photographer Harley Groom, working with staffer Jack Wittenmeier. A page from the South-East Rural-Urban edition was entered.

Other editions of The Spectator also scored four honorable mentions. They were in the categories of: outstanding community service (Hilltop-West Side edition — "The Army vs. SCD Flood Control Plans"); best typography (Reynoldsburg edition); letterpress color printing (South Side edition); and best newspaper promotion (West Rural-Urban edition —Homemaker Section).

In Ohio Newspaper Association competition last February The Spectator won the general excellence plaque and the community service prize for its coverage of the flood control controversy. A year ago, the South-East Spectator won the top national AHNA community service award for its coverage of Madison-Local School District bond issue difficulties.

The 1965 AHNA Best Newspaper Contest was judged by the faculty of the University of Missouri School of Journalism.

The awards were accepted by Publisher C. Carlton Hartley.

A NEW DRAINAGE system, complete with storm sewer and lateral lines, will provide full drainage for the park's boggy grounds. Other improvements include drinking fountain and a hard-surfaced road.

BALL DIAMONDS in Whitehall City Park will be ready in plenty of time for the "play ball" signal when the WBBA league season officially opens on June 14. City crews and heavy equipment were hard at work in the park last week, and 15 volunteers from Whitehall Baseball Association are spending Saturdays putting backstops and diamonds in shape. The grounds-keeper at Jets Stadium is serving as a consultant to prepare the diamonds according to minor league specifications.

SET FOR SUMMER SEASON

All Systems 'Go' At City Park

A spruced-up park with new drinking fountain, hard-surfaced road, drainage system and quality ball diamonds promises a better season ahead for Whitehall residents, ball leagues and surrounding property owners.

Problems that have plagued the park's adjoining residents on Rosemore and Country Club-rd will be gone — dried up along with the standing water that was a constant source of irritation in wet weather.

The newly-installed storm sewer and lateral lines will provide full drainage for the park's marshy areas.

And city crews and volunteers from Whitehall Baseball Association have been hard at work putting the diamonds in prime condition before opening of the WBBA season June 14.

The badly-needed drinking fountain is now operating, portable toilet facilities will be installed at both ends of the park, and the refreshment stand will be moved to the more convenient location in the center of backstops for the four main ball diamonds.

The new hard road is also expected to be completed by the middle of the month.

In the planning stage for this summer is the construction of an open shelter house with a concrete floor suitable for dancing.

The new drainage system was installed at a real bargain price to the city, by tapping into the Hamilton-rd storm sewer while the street was already torn up.

Under a "time and material cost basis" with the contractor, and an easement arrangement with Todd Tibbals, developer of Fairway Oaks, the city was able to tap into the Hamilton-rd sewer and extend it east in Etna to the park.

Cost of the project, according to Safety Director Joseph Shannon, was $1700 for the extension across Hamilton, $13,000 for the storm sewer installation, and $1600 for lateral lines in the park.

HOW TO BUY A GRAPEFRUIT

Little brown spots and a greenish glow are said to be signs of goodness . . . on a grapefruit . . . but not on a well-groomed woman. As we grow older our skins are apt to take on a drab lifeless look with an odd greenish overtone as viewed through a spectroscope. Nothing could be more aging. A Cosmetologist knows how to select the correct cosmetic to mask and sometimes even to change the discolorations of skin and hair caused by aging. Whether it is a makeup foundation or a hair coloring product you need her experienced eye.

ONE STEP

Confuscius said (He really did!) that a 1,000-mile journey must start with the first step. In the same way a beauty program begins with the making of a plan. This must be tailored to each woman's personal needs whether it is to ensure young beauty lasting and growing more lovely with the years, or recapturing lost loveliness. The first and most basic requirement to fulfill any beauty program is regular visits to a beauty salon where expert Cosmetologists can check and guide your progress.

BEAUTY COMES FULL CIRCLE

We have been trying for a long time and at last fashion permits it—permits us to wear our hair the way it is most becoming without adhering rigidly to a trend in order not to look as out of place as an eskimo parka in Miami. Now at last, with perfect propriety, we may wear our hair straight, softly molded, or even frankly curly. The curly look is back mostly by masculine request. They've always been pushovers for irrepressible little curl pop-ups. I don't mean mere waves flipped slightly at the end or bits of fluff at the back or bang, but lovely ringlety full-circle curls. This really provides a brand new look for most of us.

EVERYTHING'S COMING UP PEACHY

Fashion is partial to peach tones this year. Skin tones are peach not pink, and we have some interesting new hair tones with soft peach overtones. There's a softness to peach which is charming for people of all ages but it's especially kind to the "Middle aged Marvelous."

FROM UNDER THE DRYER

We have one to these new, all-electric homes — everything is charged.

Board Needs Money, Plans And A Name

The five-man board of the Eastern Franklin County Joint Vocational District held its organizational meeting last Thursday.

It elected officers, and faced its problems.

The officers are James Dugan, president; Wayne Davis, vice-president, and Willard Brenning who volunteered to serve as clerk-treasurer without salary.

Dugan represents, with William Hockman and Kenneth Foley, the Franklin County Board, and Davis and Brenning the Whitehall Board.

Among problems of the legislative body of the district, formed by action of the Canal Winchester, Groveport, Whitehall, Reynoldsburg and Gahanna Schools is a name that is "a mouthful."

That matter can be rectified and will be. However, the board needs money and planning, and it isn't easy to get either without the other. As one spokesman admitted, it is like the chicken and the egg—which comes first?

But preliminary steps were taken towards shaping up a program that hopefully will offer under one roof a broad scope of vocational study to students from the participating districts.

The first of these was to direct Tom Quick, county superintendent, and Robe Crabbs, Whitehall superintendent to contact Dr. Marion Conrad.

Dr. Conrad is with the Division of School Plant Planning of the Bureau of Research and Services at Ohio State. Crabbs and Quick are authorized to enter into contract with this agency for a study of location and educational specifications for the proposed structure.

Quick and Crabbs will also confer with Dr. Byrl Shoemaker, director of Ohio vocational education, to review and update the curriculum under consideration.

Next Wednesday, May 26, the board will visit the Penta County Joint Vocational School south of Toledo.

This district was set up last year with 15 school districts from five counties participating. Not yet in operation, is well under way.

Although the third Monday of each month has been set for regular meetings, the new board will meet Tuesday, June 8 in the chambers of the Whitehall Board of Education.

At this meeting, members of the boards and the administrators of participating school districts will be invited to review the progress made to that date.

Eventually an advisory committee, made up of boardmen or laymen from the five districts, will sit with the vocational board.

It has not been appointed because, Crabbs said, "There's nothing to do, yet."

Before the program gets off the drawing board, local funds must be voted. Matching federal funds are usually available for this type of operation.

The contemplated program evolved from the hard-core interest shown in a joint vocational effort after nine other schools backed down on a county-wide program.

NCSW PLANS NATIONAL FORUM

To Recount 4th Ward Vote Friday

A recount of votes for Fourth Ward councilman, cast in Whitehall's May 4 Primary, will be conducted by Board of Election officials Friday.

Request for the recount was filed last Friday by Fred C. Cooley, Jr., 5110 Dimsondr N., who lost to Charles Carroll by two votes. The official count was 158 to 160.

Cooley asked that all four precincts in the ward be counted, in the specified order of B, C, A and D. He may call a halt at the end of any precinct only if the count shows he is losing votes, and would not be charged for the remaining precincts.

A deposit of $10 a precinct is made at the time the request is filed. In the event he gains four per cent or more votes in any precinct during the recount, the deposit is refunded.

Cooley, vice-president of Carlyle Construction Co., was in his first bid for public office. He supported Walter Moling in the election.

He explained he had asked for the recount "because many people had urged me to. And," he continued, "if the outcome remains the same, Carroll has my full support and backing in the fall election."

Gas Container Must Be Marked

A number of violations of the Whitehall City Code on the storing and handling of gasoline have prompted Fire Chief Arthur Reddy and Fire Inspector James Soteriades to issue a reminder to residents.

Under city law, no sale or purchase of gasoline for use in power mowers, boats or in any other manner, may be made unless the container is clearly marked with its contents.

The law pertains to gasoline and kerosene.

Service station operators have been informed that they may not sell gasoline unless the purchaser's container is so marked.

Legislators Tackle School Foundation Formula Overhaul

Legislators in the Ohio House of Representatives began hearings last night (Wednesday) on a bill designed to overhaul the State's school foundation program. This is the formula which divides the state's "public education pie" among all school districts.

This much can be said with certainty about the school foundation bill (House Bill 773):

1. It is one of the more cumbersome and most complicated measures before this or any other session of the legislature.

2. Even if the lawmakers hammer out a final bill gaining 100 percent bipartisan support, it will not serve as a "cure-all" for the public school financial dilemma.

3. Passage of a well-framed bill could assure Ohio of about $120 million of federal aid-to-education money in the first biennium of its operation.

The bill, drafted by the State Finance Department, was co-sponsored by nine Republican members of the House Education Committee. Its purpose — "simplification of administration." But behind this three-word purpose lies the work of literally dozens of experts in finance, law and education.

The road ahead of the measure is a mixture of "chuckholes" and "detours," and a number of head-on collisions can safely be predicted. Hopefully, the finished product will be a sleek, new vehicle for educational progress, and a road that is smooth and well delineated.

Trims Special Instruction

The proposed foundation program will feature several "major" and many minor changes. But the one currently causing the most concern deals with the elimination of some "special" instructional units. Presently marked for loss of guaranteed state support are slow learner units and child study units — basically school phychologists and speech and hearing therapy.

There is nothing in House Bill 773 that provides for the continued financing of these programs. But staunch supporters of the bill "in principle," point out that such programs could be re-introduced through amendments. In fact, some administration sources indicate that the special programs will be staunchly defended by witnesses from the State Department of Education.

One source explained that the bill was drafted as a "working vehicle," and that some major changes may be written into it. He said it was necessary to push for introduction of a measure before the Apr. 30 "cutoff" date for introduction of legislation.

While the proposed bill eliminates specified "special" units, there is no reduction of funds to the affected school districts. The money ordinarily allocated to these units is returned in the form of increased amounts to "regular" class units.

In Line With Federal Wishes

Howard Collier, deputy state finance director, said a main purpose of the measure is to place more authority in the hands of the State Board of Education, the state superintendent of schools and local school districts. He said such new authority is necessary to gain optimum benefit from the recently enacted "Federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965."

"In the federal concept," he said, "everything must be program oriented at both the state and local levels. We are going to have to give the State Board of Education unprecedented powers so they may see to getting federal aid for the various programs."

Collier said the measure represents a $91 million increase in state support to public education over the next two years. He said about $41 million will be costs of enrollment growth and operational costs, with the additional $50 million being used for "betterment" programs.

Chief among the "betterment" items is the $200 annual pay raise for teachers — a $43 million expenditure. Vocational education programs are scheduled to get about $7 million of state funds.

'Could Narrow Gap'

Collier stressed that the first major overhaul of the school foundation program since 1956 is "mechanical" in nature. He said there is "nothing in this bill that would force any local increase" in education costs. He said the measure, if passed, would "narrow the gap" between state and local shares of the total cost of education.

Collier said that the basis problems of financing cannot be solved within the framework of any school foundation law. Such money problems, he indicated, must be met by eliminating present inequities in the state's total tax structure.

The legislature is currently considering such a tax reform measure (House Bill 261). If enacted into law, the measure would create a commission of legislators and private citizens. They would be charged with responsibility for drafting a tax reform bill for the next legislative session.

Merchants Plan Square Dance

Merchants of Great Eastern Shopping Center will sponsor a square dance in the area between Woolworth's and Gray's Friday night, May 21, from 9 to 11.

Dancers in costume and a professional caller will be on hand to entertain and instruct. Public is invited to participate, and there is no admission charge.

The Braves Neil Costello struck out six, going the route to pick up a 7-3 win over the Ramblers.

JOHN BASS and Pat O'Neil combined to lead the Athletics to a 3-2 win over the Indians. Bass fanned 11 in 5 1/3 innings while O'Neil struck out the only two men he faced. Bill Hilt stoked a homer for the Indians.

Mike Doctor went three-for-three and Mark Byrum pounded out two triples to help the Dodgers outslug the Yankees, 9-5.

As expected Arlington and Worthington made Tuesday's CBL Meet a two-team dual, the winning Bears (80½) nabbing seven firsts, the runnerup Cards (67 1/5) picking up six of the seven remaining events.

The area's two CBL entires —Whitehall and Bexley — each scored 12 points to tie for fourth.

IT'S ALL IN KNOWIN' HOW, FELLOWS!

SCHWARTZ, ESPIE, GLOVER CHAMPS:

East Area's Best At District; Hartley Captures CCL Crown

Hartley won its second major track crown in less than a week, Gahanna battered Bexley in the week's lone dual match and East topped all area teams in District competition to highlight the week's activity around area ovals.

Jim Palmer's Hawks took five firsts and seven seconds to eke out a 78-74 Central Catholic League Meet victory over runnerup DeSales, who decisioned Hartley by even a lesser margin the year before.

DAVE THOMAS sparked the Hawks, taking firsts in both the broad jump (19' 1½") and high jump (6'2"), both record CCL efforts.

Mike Santy (100), Steve Grier (lows) and the Hawks' mile relay quartet (Ray Posey, John Ucker, Joe Kuhner and John Carrillo) gained other Hartley firsts while Rick Marcum (hj), Carrillo (mile), Kuhner (440), Craig Wingo (lows), Gregg Hon (880), Santy (220) and Mike Reiser (highs) copped seconds.

The CCL championship came on the heels of a Diocesan Meet victory scored by the Hawks only four days before.

BOB GLOVER (firsts in the broad jump, 100 and 220) paced Gahanna to its win over Bexley as the winners took 11 to 14 possible firsts.

Bexley firsts came in the 440 (Dan Vogel) and both the mile (Vogel, Rick Weber, Paul Shultz, Paul Davis) and 880 (Shultz, Davis, Weber, Mac Albin) relay events.

The area produced three District champions — Gahanna's Bobby Glover in the broad jump (23' 6¾"), East's Solomon Espie in the 100 (:09.8) and Walnut Ridge's Kenny Schwartz in the mile (4.22.1, new District record).

ALSO QUALIFYING for Saturday's Regional running at Worthington from the area were: discus — Willie Jackson, East (fourth) and Mike Boyer, Whitehall (sixth); shot put — Grady Bobo, East (second) and Boyer, Whitehall (fifth); broad jump — Don Washington, East (third); pole vault — Rick Lewis, Eastmoor (sixth); high jump — Dave Thomas, lea — Doug Rodibaugh, Eastmoor (sixth); 180 — Glover, Gahanna (third); mile — Gary Knaul, Eastmoor (sixth); 880 — Rick Mettle, Walnut Ridge (second) and Leonard Willis, Eastmoor (fourth); 220 — Espie, East (second) and Glover, Gahanna-Hartley (third); high hurdna (fifth) and 880 relay — East (second).

Other area teams finished as follows in the District competition: Gahanna and Walnut Ridge, 10 points each (tied for sixth place); Hartley, 2½ points, (19th); Eastmoor, 2¼ points (20th) and Whitehall, one point (22nd).

BEXLEY'S TOP '65 CINDERMEN

MOE'S HAPPY HE'S GOT THIS CROOK!

No (Winning) Joy On Area Diamonds

Baseball wins came few and far between on area diamonds during the week's activity with only Eastmoor and Bexley able to add up double victories.

The Warriors placed City League wins over East (11-3) and Walnut Ridge (2-1) on either side of their lone loss —4-1 to CL co-leader West.

LEON COACH Perry Smith's only wish could be that his baseballers carry their non-league play over into CBL action.

Bexley took a pair of non-loop encounters — 2-1 over Walnut Ridge and 3-2 over East—but dropped a 7-2 verdict to Worthington in the CBL.

Darrell Rohrer's six-hitter cooled off E-M in the West match and the Warriors could produce only seven hits off W-R pitching.

HOWEVER, three of those hits (Bob Farus, Ron Bollie and Mike Gornell) came in the tenth frame to provide Bollie with the mound win.

Five Lion errors didn't unnerve pitcher Bill Meeks who calmly shackled East on three hits. Meeks and Wayne Smith fired an identical job at Walnut Ridge to nab Bexley's second win.

Hartley split a pair of Central Catholic League contests, downing St. Charles, 7-3, on Dave Roger's seven-hitter and losing to flag hopeful Ready, 5-4, on a costly error.

EAST SUFFERED setbacks at the hands of City League mates Eastmoor and Whetstone but helped heal the wounds with a "comeback" 5-4 verdict over Brookhaven Tuesday.

Harry Hagans got the win on a six-hitter, as East overcame a 4-0 deficit on three hits and six glaring Bearcat bobbles.

It certainly wasn't "the" week for Moe Cordle and his Scotties as Walnut Ridge dropped two CL battles (Eastmoor and North), a non-leaguer to Bexley and got bounced from the "AA" District tourney by Pleasant View, 3-1.

NO HAPPIER was Whitehall's Ted Georgeff who saw a seventh inning rally fall short as his Rams swallowed their initial CBL loss, 9-8, to Delaware.

Dave Bell's five-hit, 4-3 win over London in the opener off a Mid-Eight twin-bill Saturday salvaged Gahanna's lone loss of the week.

LONDON RIPPED into Lion ace Gary Hardin in a six-run first to take the nightcap, 6-1, and Worthington roared early to pile up a 9-2 non-league win earlier in the week.

Kip Clager's four-hit, 6-3 win over Hamilton Township was the Cards' lone victory of the week. H-T took the nightcap, 8-7 in extra innings.

Besides their setback to Hartley, the Carolians also dropped two more CCL contests—6-0 to Ready and 10-0 to Watterson — to drop deeper into the loop basement (0-8).

Elsewhere, Academy suffered a pair of FCL losses as New Albany (3-2) and Rosary (5-3) downed the Vikings.

Vandals Take Extinguishers From Apartments

Pranks of vandals who are taking fire extinguishers from apartment buildings could lead to disaster, warns Whitehall Fire Inspector James Soteriades.

Theft of the soda acid extinguishers not only endangers the apartments and their residents, but their contents can cause blindness if the sulphuric acid spray enters the eyes.

Two extinguishers have been taken in Whitehall, and 12 others from an apartment near Livingston-av and James-rd.

Theft of a number of extinguishers, worth $25 or $30 each, could also involve grand larceny.

Some of them have been found, emptied of their contents, discarded on the ground or in the creek.

OUTSIDE HOUSE PAINTING
NOW ELIMINATED

Another boom of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is asbestos KENITEX.

The Atomic Energy Commission has used KENITEX textured Coating for several years at Los Alamos, New Mexico, atomic plant. Thousands of gallons of this remarkable exterior surfacing have been applied to meet the heat requirements, (over 1500 degrees F.) for insulating and protecting supersonic rockets; a special Kenitex formulation was developed that met and surpassed all specifications for this extremely critical application.

Over 500,000 KENITEX applications on homes, commercial and industrial buildings throughout the world, 5000 in Southern California alone, remain in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all weather extremes.

The Veteran Administration, Sawtelle, in Los Angeles, has applied KENITEX to the exteriors of their buildings. The Kenitex coating is applied in one quick spray application without muss, fuss, or odor—at a thickness 28 times that of ordinary paint. It fills holes, cracks and hides building defects, yet does not conceal the original architectural lines.

Homes and Guided Missiles

Unique among KENITEX applications is the use on guided missiles where its insulating properties shield the missile from extreme temperatures. KENITEX obtains these qualities from its basic components of asbestos, mica and perlite, which are noted for their insulation and durability.

Shot from a Gun

KENITEX is written factory guaranteed for 10 years against chipping, flaking or peeling . . . it is extremely flexible and withstands all normal building expansion and contraction. Actually "Shot from a Gun." KENITEX fuses to the sidewalls of the home. It is available in a variety of beautiful decorator colors.

Lake Central's new prop-jet NORD 262

The competition to develop a worthy replacement for the old reliable DC-3 went on a good long time. As you can imagine, the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board looked at many a plane before it commended one for its specific capabilities. The winner—by a good long Gallic nose—is the new French prop-jet NORD 262, to be flown here by Lake Central.

Anything the DC-3 does, the NORD does newer. It gets you there faster, and more comfortably. It's air conditioned. Pressurized. Boards on the level. In short, the perfect short-haul carrier to the fifty mid-central U.S.A. cities Lake Central flies to.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Homegrown Produce Increasing

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

For your market basket this week you will find homegrown asparagus, fresh cooking greens from southeern Ohio, greenhouse tomatoes at their best, increased supplies of strawberries and lots of watermelons.

Mrs. Franks

It's also peak season for fieldgrown rhubarb to make that rosy sauce that most people still regard as a "spring tonic." Artichokes, a vegetable too many homemakers shy away from, are most abundant now — a good time to try them. Beans are increasing toward summer peak, cucumbers are cheaper, and both the new and the dry onions are bargains. Both the supply and quality of lettuce make head lettuce the "problem" vegetable right now; buyers say they have trouble finding good heads at any price.

Because of light supplies of old-crop potatoes, prices continue high. However, harvest of spring crop is under way; marketings will increase rapidly in coming weeks, with heavier volume expected in June. But no big change in potato prices is likely until the late summer and fall crops are harvested.

Florida Valencia oranges are well worth the time to make fresh orange juice—the five pound bag is probably the best buy. Good supplies of pineapple are coming from Hawaii and Puerto Rico, and Barbinka grapes from Argentina are cheap enough for all of us to enjoy a few. Apples from controlled atmosphere storage are holding good quality this year, but you need to keep them refrigerated and use them soon.

Beef, Pork Supply Shrinks

If you find you are paying more for beef and pork, don't be surprised — the general supply picture warrants such a situation.

A week ago cattle receipts were down 20 per cent from the previous week and the cattle are lighter in weight, further trimming the supply. Prices on choice steers are quoted at the highest level since 1958 and may still increase another five percent, meat men say. Wholesale and retail prices are reflecting only part of this increase which tail features are good buys.

Pork supplies are even tighter than beef. Hog marketings in the April-June period are expected to be about seven percent below a year ago because of a cut in production. Specials are most likely to be in smoked meats — frankfurters, luncheon meats and bacon, with only scattered features on fresh cuts.

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruit — Strawberries, Valencia oranges, rhubarb, bananas, pineapple.

Meat and poultry — Broiler-fryers, eggs, beef "specials," ground beef, hams, beef liver.

Other Foods — Dairy products, honey.

Gardens And Flowers

By JIM GRUETT

LOOKING OUTSIDE — With the showers of winged maple seeds comes evidence of late spring: the fragrance of lilac blooms; the beauty of fresh red geraniums, petunias, marigolds and phlox; the seeding lawn grasses, tree buds and crabgrass.

LAWNS — The wire-like stems of seeding lawn grasses will make mowing more difficult in the next two weeks. These seedheads appear each year about this time and lend a grayish color cast to the lawn. To those who wonder where grass seed comes from, a close inspection of these seed bearing stems reveals the answer. Time to get the hos and sprinkler out and use them. Watch for leaf spot disease.

TREES—The striking scarlet colored leaves of crimson maple trees are now abundant. Time to consider spraying birch trees, elms; oaks and other insect - prone trees with an all-purpose insecticide such as Isotox.

SHRUBS — Spirea, lilac and honeysuckles are displaying their true beauty this week. Still time to plant shrubs.

BULBS — Tulips will soon give way to the bright-colored blooms of tuberous begonias, caladiums and glads. Remember tuberous begonias and caladiums do best in partial shade. Glads love sun.

ANNUALS — Petunias, geraniums, snaps, asters, marigolds and numerous other sun-loving annual flowers are being sold rapidly. Outstanding varieties of petunias are: Capri, a deep purple; Pink Magic, a pure pink; Red Diamond, a bright red; White Magic, a pure white, and Maytime, a salmon color. If shade is a problem, try colorful, Yellow Lantana plants or pink impatiens.

PERENNIALS — Bleeding hearts are blooming along with poppies and phlox. Time to plant lily of the valley, sweet williams and English daisies and corn flowers, to name a few.

VEGETABLES — Lettuce, onions, cabbage and beets are evident already in a number of gardens. Those who want good eating tomatoes plant Big Boy. Those who also like to can tomatoes plant Marglobe.

LOOKING INSIDE — As the day period becomes longer you will notice house plants growing faster. Most house plants can be thinned without injury to the plant. It's a good idea to cover the freshly-cut sections with vaseline or lanolin paste to eliminate excess water loss from the plant. Water most house plants about every third day.

MOVING house plants out—To those who have the facilities and the time, move your foliage houseplants outside. Ferns and palms seem to benefit particularly well from outdoor exposure in semi-shaded areas. Tropical plants benefit from direct sunlight and humidity.

GROVE CITY FLORIST—Recently acquired a large stock of new house plant varieties. Manager Ella Ware will be happy to suggest compatible plants to replenish run-down household plants. She is a specialist in hospital planters combining green foliage with fresh-cut flowers—a cheerful gift to a loved one in the hospital.

Highway 'War' Is Tragic

Columbus and Franklin County officials are justifiably shocked and concerned with the tragic upsurge in traffic fatalities. In a period of only 80 hours between May 8 and 11, seven persons died in Columbus traffic—seven in other areas of the county.

Mayor Sensenbrenner is considering a reorganization of the Traffic Engineering Division. One of the prime objectives will be to pinpoint locations of high accident occurrence and make appropriate engineering corrections.

Safety Director Fred Simon and John Gallagher, the city's chief traffic engineer, are to pool their efforts. City Engineer Robert Werner can assist in those road projects proposed to eliminate or minimize traffic hazards.

But all of these people and their departments will work in vain if the individual pedestrian and motorist does not become more safety conscious. Here is a sad statistical fact to illustrate our point.

As of May 13, 266 persons were traffic casualties in Columbus. Eight of the dead were pedestrians. In 154 cases the accident occurred when the pedestrian either "jaywalked" or disregarded a traffic signal. The most serious offense committed by the motorist is traveling too fast for road conditions.

As the Memorial Day weekend approaches, law enforcement officials throughout the nation are doing what they can to prepare for the battered bodies and blood-stained highways. They remind us that more people have been killed on our highways than in all of our wars.

We are told that alcohol and gasoline don't mix, not to "over drive" ourselves into a state of exhaustion, and to keep our lights on as a safety reminder to others. The National Safety Council has done everything but offer "green stamps" for safe driving records.

What will it take before the motorists and pedestrians call a halt to this most tragic and senseless of all "wars?" It is a question for each individual to answer.

Housing Inspection Plan Had Good First Year

Tuesday (May 18) marked the first year of Columbus' systematic housing inspection. The effort, under the direction of the Department of Urban Renewal, has been both successful and productive.

The inspection teams have received almost universal cooperation from residents of the 5,000 dwelling units checked to date, and well they might. Their job is to spot hazards to health, safety and the general welfare.

The original staff of 10 inspectors has been bolstered by six who were added last March. The program has been broadened in the two "pilot" areas where it began — the near West and East sides. On Aug. 1, yet another part of the city will be inspected.

Teams of city inspectors will visit the Milo-Grogan area—a northeast pie-shaped section between Cleveland, Leonard and Fifth-ave. An approximate 4,000 units will be checked, and about 20,000 people will benefit.

The goal is to prevent neighborhood blight and deterioration.

The first year of the program has proved that the job can be done, and much of the credit must go to community leaders and neighborhood groups. The results to date tend to prove that the City plus the Citizens plus cooperation equals the solution to any problem.

A Time and Place for Everything

Frosting on the Cake

BY "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

In 1958, Ohio had the hottest election ever in an off-year contest. The great issue was the "work" law, in which the entire labor movement marshalled the greatest show of force many of us ever witnessed. The effort was successful that time against the "right to work" amendment.

Now, after six years, the same issue has moved up to the national Congress and again the "chips are down." This new endeavor of organized labor to "outlaw" this part of the Taft-Hartley Law is going to generate more heat and less light than happened in Ohio way back in 1958.

The opposition will have a larger area of attack than before because it has now become a nationwide testing of the whole labor philosophy.

If it becomes national law that every worker must belong to a union in order to gain and keep employment, that will mark a dark day for millions who are instinctively opposed to the gradual encroachment of government upon every phase of our existence.

Another aspect of this struggle that the leaders of labor seem to have overlooked is that workingmen's wives are fed up on one silly strike after another that gains nothing except proof that the "lunatic fringe" of the labor movement is still in control. These fine women who are interested in the welfare and security of their own children, are finding out the sad truth that the so-called gains are never enough to compensate for the lost money.

But, it is part of the American system that this whole question comes to a head. The decision the present Congress must make is whether or not it wishes to see the United States go the way England has — to a third rate world power.

If this "fool's paradise" has to be played out to the bitter end, the hard way, so be it. Then labor will have to reap the whirlwind of all governmental domination of everything. God forbid.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

A Bum Is A Bum Is A Bum Is A Bum

Yes, Virginia, there are such things as bums.

Not "deprived persons." Not "socially wounded." Not "members of a sub-culture." Not "underprivileged" or "disadvantaged." Just bums.

You can pick them up, but they'll fall flat again the moment you let them go. They work only under the compulsion of hunger. Opportunities do not interest them. "Self-improvement" is for the birds.

Jones

We are beginning to get into deep water because both politicians and our academic sociologists stubbornly refuse to recognize the bum factor. Under the New-Think it is heresy to suggest that bums might exist. For such an admission complicates the clear and simple orthodoxy of the moment, namely that all people who are not supporting themselves and their children are victims of a cruel and unfeeling social system.

This orthodoxy appeals to the political mind, for it provides the rationale for vastly enlarged government in the name of humanity. And it appeals for a variety of reasons to that segment of the academic world that carries the gonfalon of "social science."

Many sociologists are bleeders for the poor in the abstract, although most of them wouldn't be caught dead spending the evening with a Puerto Rican family in a cold-water flat. And many resent a free market system in which bubblegum manufacturers and comic strip cartoonists usually make more than PhD's. They are always alert for ways to tax-up the "under-endowed" and tax-down the "over-rewarded" in the interest of social justice.

So the dogma, at least until recently, has gone like this: poverty is the result of society's coldness to individuals or groups of individuals. If society will only loosen-up with more relief money, more low-cost housing, more special schools, more medical services, more job opportunities, etc, the poor will cease to be poor. They will, in fact, all become self-supporting taxpayers, to the profit of everyone.

You can see that if you hold to this dogma the admission that bums exist becomes a distressing qualification of the dogma itself. And no dogma can tolerate "ifs" or "buts."

But in spite of record employment, and the highest Gross National Product in history, relief costs keep soaring. In the past ten years, with U.S. population up 18 percent, the number of persons on relief has risen 42 percent. Many of these are illegitimate children fathered by men who wander from woman to woman, unworried about who will care for their offspring because they know that Aid to Dependent Children payments will.

The New-Think explains that these fathers are confused men, many of them automated out of their old jobs, who have been driven into delinquency by the agony of being unwanted. This is a comfortable theory, and suggests even more spending.

But when an effort was made to recruit Los Angeles reliefers to help get in the California truck-garden crop this winter, there were few takers. And one Florida grower, who brought jobless New Yorkers down to his farms at his own expense, found to his dismay that most of them took off for the beaches.

So the dogma is being revised a little. The new theory holds that no one should worry if some people never work at all, for the idea that all should labor is old fashioned. James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, recently hit at "overworking and oversaving." "I say that what the individual can offer no longer can or should determine the measure of his reward," said Mr. Patton. "His reward should and must be measured by his need."

And Professor Martin Rein of Bryn Mawr College has come out in favor of "income guarantees unrelated to previous wages earned so that the retired can maintain a standard of living much higher than known during their working years." And he advances "higher family allowances, even above the guaranteed income level (or the prevailing wage scale) for poor parents with very large families."

Mr. Patton must surely remember that it was Lenin who promised "From each according to his ability, to each according to his need." The Communists quickly found this theory so crazy that they inaugurated the cruelest of piecework systems and sent the drones to the "New Lands" in Siberia.

Professor Rein's plan holds little allure for working hard if, upon retirement, you'll get a guaranteed income unrelated to your earnings. But it might put a stop to unclaimed illegitimate children, for every tavern derelict will claim as many as he can to qualify for higher family allowances.

If there were no such thing as bums, if everyone were fired by ambition to do his level best, such schemes might be manageable.

But, alas Virginia, there are bums, indeed. Just plain loafing child-deserting, rent-money-drinking bums. And until we learn to distinguish between them and the upliftable unfortunate, we'll simply decrease the motivation of the weekly-motivated. That's not the road to Utopia.

ONE MAN'S Opinion . . .

With the increasing wave of smutty and perversive entertainment being turned out by Hollywood's bilge pump in recent years, it is understandable that some of the mucky flow would eventually spill over into this city's downtown theaters.

Wittenmeier

Perhaps the season's prime insult (it's hard to judge these days) to the American movie-going public is scheduled for the RKO Grand June 15 in a piece of "arty" celluloid tabbed, "Kiss Me Stupid."

The movie comes to town with an enviable (in Hollywood's eyes) preface of adverse comment which includes a "condemned" sticker by the Catholic Church's Legion of Decency, a horrified "nay" by the local interfaith film listing board and deep, red blushes from such liberal magazine publications as "Life" and "Playboy."

Individual efforts locally on the part of members of the Council of Catholic Women, Christian Family Movement and the United Church Women helped get the word across to the Loew's Ohio (which had scheduled the movie early this year) that the film was certainly undesirable.

The Ohio bowed to public protest, postponed and later cancelled the booking. For this, the management is to be commended.

The RKO chain will soften the blow of "Kiss Me Stupid" by opening "Mundo Pazzo," another film condemned by the Legion of Decency, at the Grand's sister theatre, the Palace, the week before.

RKO apparently believes that everything will be "A-OK" by sending to Columbus "The Greatest Story Ever Told" later this year.

It is unfortunate that films like "Kiss Me Stupid" ever get out of the can for public consumption but more tragic is the position of local movie managers like RKO's Edward McGlone.

It is understood that McGlone has no wish to introduce "Kiss Me Stupid" to local movie-goers. But McGlone must answer his superiors in New York who argue if it's good enough for New York, it's good enough for Ohio.

Which brings up a curious question for those who would consider the banning of this or any other movie from local screens as a breach of their personal liberties.

What great inherent right provides New York and Hollywood with the right to decide what Columbus and Ohio must view — based on the leaky theory of "What's good enough for me is plenty good enough for you."

"May theaters such as the Ohio and Northland (Mary Poppins, Sound of Music) be commended by patronage for their examples of "common sense" and responsible actions.

Perhaps a note sent in Mr. McGlone's direction might be passed on to New York to let Hollywood know that Columbus can get along without this "entertainment." — Jack Wittemeier.

Guest Pulpit . . .

"I know in Whom I have believed."

It has been said that ours is a difficult age in which to live, that more than ever before we are faced with one decision after another, and that most of our decisions end in indecision.

Rev. Hoppe

Our young people are characterized as "troubled and filled with doubts." Our nation is torn by strife both nationally and internationally. Many people are so confused about the "right" of any action that they divorce themselves from any decision and from the necessity of taking sides in any issue. Uninvolvement becomes the password into the society in which far too many Americans and too many American Christians "live and move and have their being."

Yet, Jesus' whole life was one of involvement. Involvement to the extent of dying and perhaps the greater sacrifice, involvement in the process of really living! He did not set an example for anyone to follow in how to avoid an issue—how to get by with the least requirement.

He did set an example and demand of His disciples "decision." It required decision for them to believe in Him as the Son of God and to begin to follow Him. It demanded decision when they found He required total service and total obedience and total submission to His will.

To be a Christian today requires decision. It requires of us our greatest certainties. Too much of the doubt can be credited to Christians who have have not known in whom or in what they have believed. Too many are ill equipped for any challenge that might come to their faith because they are not grounded in either the Word of God or the beliefs of their church. Too many have never experienced a personalized religion and thus have missed knowing personally the risen Christ as He moves in the world today!

The greatest challenge in the world is to share with others your certainties concerning God and the redemption that Christ brings to man as He redeems the whole man. The man who must live and work and experience inequalities, competition, scientific progress, hatred, love, morality and immorality, all of which are a part of life. The man who is redeemed in his total being by Christ is the man who has experienced redemption in every one of these areas, to say nothing of a host of others. The man who will be most used by the Spirit of God is the man who will go forth saying "I am persuaded." Someone said, "share with me your certainties, I have enough doubts of my own."

May those who know in whom they have believed share their certainties, and may those others who have no certainties not let a moment pass until they begin a work within their lives to build their faith, know their God, dedicate themselves to the Saviour and get on with the business of confronting the issues of life for God, that others might know Him, for to know Him is life eternal.

Prom Getting Out Of Hand

To the Editor:

At the risk of being called old-fashioned, I would like to protest the "staging" of the Reynoldsburg High School Junior Prom.

It would seem nothing is too good for our 16, 17, and 18 year olds (and even younger, when invited). Dinner and dancing at the best downtown hotels, $6-$10 rented dinner jackets and even boutonnieres for the boys—all these are take as matter of fact. How did such extravagance get started and what supervisors let these grand ideas of teenagers materialize? Prom time is, and should be, a very memorable and exciting time but certainly it can be done on a simpler scale.

What has happened to the old high school gym dances? Could this push into adult life be brought about because the school board will not allow dancing in our sacred new gym? Why can't the gym be multipurpose instead of strictly for athletics? Granted, maintenance of the floor would increase greatly, but many schools have managed for many years.

There is much talk of our children being too "old" and doing things far beyond their years. This is one of the better examples of too much, too soon.

At the instigation of some school officials, there has been a committee appointed to set up a code of ethics. (Can't parents say "no" unless all parents are pledged to say it?) As I understand it, much of the code is set up to discourage too-early participation in dating and social events. The school's sponsoring of this dance, as is, would seem quite contradictory to what it is trying to do with the code. An event like this would even be a big evening for the more mature college student.

Does the school board condone this indulgence? Such things as this may have been partly responsible for the school bond issue failure at the polls. According to many, this vote was one of lack of confidence and of protest of action of the school board, and not apathy.

Support OSU Speaker Rule

May 9, 1965

We, the members of the Capital City Barracks No. 461, Veterans of World War One, USA, Inc., wish to state that we support the speakers rule to prohibit subversives and those who seek to destroy the American way of life from speaking on the campus of the tax-supported Ohio State University.

We, also, wish to express our disapproval of the impudent, arrogant manner with which a very small minority of the students have abused the privileges which are theirs in our great university.

We abhor the dictatorial manner of an apparent "show-off," who puts himself and his destructive ideas above the rules and regulations of the university, which have been adopted for the good of all students.

We hope that those in authority will continue to stand firm and maintain standards that will be to the advantage of all in our greatest of countries. We believe that we must be careful to put none but "Americans on guard today, that we may have a future tomorrow".

This letter was unanimously approved at the May 11 meeting of Capital City Barracks, No. 461.

'THE GRIST' Ground Out by Dusty Miller

Definition — Aggression: That which another nation commits.

Advice to investors: Now is a good time to invest in U.S. embassies and libraries.

Attention Ray Bliss: A TV figure, on a world tour, reports watching an elephant being cleaned.

If Pall Mall is Pell Mell to particular people, would they insist on wall-to-well carpet?

For the record: The fire at Churchill Downs on Derby Day was in the club house — not in Bold Lad.

From a high school newspaper: "Bill Whatsisname plans to study wild life in college." Classes are pretty crowded.

Mint Julep — A Virginia plantation manor lord visited a Kentucky Colonel and was treated for the first time to mint juleps. Two years later his manservant explained to the colonel who was returning the visit: "He's daid, suh. He got to puttin' that grass in his whisky, and done et hisself to death."

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

THERE'S GOOD IN THE WORLD

This is the age of so-what-ism and the false front. It has been called other things, too: "The age of the gray and murderous creeds" and "The age of the goof-off and the half-done job."

The cynical smirk has replaced the sincere smile. Expediency has shelved integrity. Cruelty has killed compassion. Reputation has been mistaken for character. The fast deal and the hard sell have created suspicion and doubt where once there was mutual trust. Defiance of legitimate authority has become a way of life — and sometimes death.

If only half of these things be true, does it then mean that this is the age, too, of incurable pessimism? Not necessarily. We could mention as many or more good things that millions of wonderful people are doing. Anyone can prove anything any time. It's just a matter of starting from the right premise and selecting the right set of facts.

What, then, is the point, what the reason, why all the concern about who-shot-John? Why worry about evil when there's probably more virtue about than ever before?

Ask the prophet, the priest, the poet. Consult the statesman who is trying to be more than a politician. Observe the millions of children obedient to their elders, and note the millions more of honest adults going about their daily tasks, resisting the sometimes sore temptations to cut too many dark corners when they're not likely to be seen.

Every age is a paradox. Man knows not himself. The human condition is a dichotomy that not even all the powers of perceptive mind and understanding heart can fathom.

It says here . . .

"Man probably can never rebuild Eden. But at least he can clear out enough of the jungle to make it livable.

Can We 'Turn Up The Sound' For The Child Born Deaf?

A WHOLE NEW and wonderful world is opening up to Mike Cassel, 4899 Downing-dr. The spoken word is still largely "way out" for him, but the written word has become meaningful. With almost the entire school day spent developing the language skills which form the basic tool of education, these deaf youngsters outpace their hearing contemporaries in learning to read. Explaining the emphasis on reading, Mrs. Card added that it will be easy for these youngsters to learn that two and two are four, or that four less two is two—but first they must learn the words "and, two, four and less."

More than one generation of mothers have stifled the impluse to shake into attention a defiant youngster, using his index fingers to block from his ears her pearls of wisdom.

The profoundly deaf child has a similar gimmick, and equally exasperating.

He simply shuts out Mother by closing his eyes.

But actually the parent of a youngster resorting to this little trick knows a milestone has been passed. The child has learned to communicate through lip reading, and is no longer living in a world apart.

Life for the child born deaf is no bowl of cherries. It is a struggle that begins at birth and ends only with death. But no longer is this up-hill fight to adjust to a world walled-off by silence a futile one.

A morning spent at Kingswood Elementary recently with a half-dozen tykes eloquently showed that the wall can be scaled. It takes the work of dedicated teachers throughout the school day and of patient and loving families, year in and year out.

From the child it takes courage and plenty of intestinal fortitude, or just plain old - fashioned guts. As one educator said, "No shrinking violet can ever make it."

The pre-schoolers are learning, if not to hear, to understand the spoken word. And they are learning to speak.

Most will never hear their own voices, but they will learn that their unheard words are magic keys which open the door to a world where life is more than a pantomine.

The child never handicapped by muteness, can not realize the thrill of saying for the first time "I'm thirsty" or "Where is Bill?" or "My tummy hurts."

It is a nice "plus" if the parent of a hearing child helps him with his homework, but he will probably get along without the extra coaching. But to profoundlby deaf, the parents' help is vital. The hours spent in a classroom are precious, but when language must be built a word at a time, the learning must go on constantly at home.

Realizing this, the Parents Club of Columbus Day Classes for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing constantly strives to become not just "better parents," but "better parents for the deaf."

This Saturday, May 22, the group is sponsoring the Sixth Annual Parents Conference on the Education of deaf children. The all-day meeting at Brookhaven High School, 4077 Karl-rd, will begin at 8:30 a.m., and will be highlighted by a two-hour presentation of the Verbontal System by Dr. Courtney Stromsta, associated professor of speech at OSU, and his staff.

Dr. Stromsta, with funds provided through the Ohio Vocational Rehabilitation Administration, is attempting to prove or disprove an entirely new concept in the world-wide attack on deafness.

That is, a concept new in this country.

A Yugoslavian professor, Dr. Peter Guberina made the find - formed new interest the problem of the deaf from a new angle.

Hearing aids in use today are based on the principal of amplifying sound in the human sound frequencies.

According to Dr. Guberina such aids are worse than useless, for deprives the communicating of the auditory nerve with sounds which it cannot read is senseless.

He has proceeded upon the theory that in the cases of the profoundly deaf, there is a residium of response to sound waves in the extremely low frequencies. He maintains these sounds are blocked out by the hearing aid which is directed to the middle cycles of audible sound.

As interesting as this theory is, Dr. Stromsta explained that Western research is based on documentation, and Dr. Guberina "has more results than documentation."

"He can produce many trained by his system who speak with a clarity seldom found in our deaf," Stromsta stated," but we have only his word that the subject was congenitally deaf."

"We are hard to convince in this country," the OSU professor stated, "while in Europe, if something works, it is accepted."

Although Dr. Stromsta refuses to either endorse or condemn Verbotonal at this stage, at least Mrs. Shirley Card who conducts one of the classes at Kingswood is less skeptical.

She claims that one of her students who has been training with the OSU research team for two months responded to sound for the first time recently.

Another speaker scheduled for the conference who holds out hope for the deaf child is Uriel S. Jones of Knoxville, Tenn.

Jones is profoundly deaf but has overcome his handicap to become the vocational guidance director at Tennessee School for the Deaf, a teacher, public speaker, humorist and world traveler.

He will discuss the role of the parent in the training of deaf children of all ages.

Neither Stromsta nor Jones seeks to miminize the tragedy of deafness, only to show what is being done today and what promise lies in tomorrow.

For the parent who is determined to be a weapon through which his child can rise above his handicap rather than to be a shield behind which the child can cower with understanding makes a battle half-won.

Mrs. Ronnie Bachtel, general chairman of the conference, urges anyone touched by the problem of deafness to attend. Although there is no registration fee, the box lunch offered for $1.25 is optional.

LITTLE BARBARA Crampton literally can't hear herself talk, but she can feel the vibrations of her voice when her teacher holds the child's palm first to her, and then to her own cheek.

"PUR-PLE, PUR-PLE." The sounds of "p" come relatively easy to those who cannot hear, for the pouting position of the lips is easy to imitate by a reading child. Every school day each pupil of Mrs. Shirley Card jumps astride her lap for individual training in front of the mirror that allows him to see himself talk as he sees others do. It was the turn of Alvin Bowling, 1403 Gault, when this picture was snapped.

DO THE SOUND WAVES created by Mrs. Carter's clapping hands ever reach the ears of these children? Or are they twisting to a rhythm they can only imagine through the sight of her clapping hands? One cannot be sure, but the children always enjoy the music period of their class day. One of the biggest treats is when they are allowed to perch atop the upright piano while Mrs. Carter plays. Two of the most enthusiastic twisters are Scott Messal, 5763 Sandalwood-blvd, and Barbara Crampton, 43 Brevoort-av.

Under Buckeye Skies

By KEN MACK McCREARY

Who's 'WWOO'? . . .

Hot off the presses is Ohio's newest magazine — it's called "The Wonderful World of Ohio" and concerns itself with the outdoors of Buckeye Country. The new publication, tabbed WWOO by the state Natural Resources Department (which is putting it out) is the successor to the long-respected Ohio Conservation Bulletin.

According to Natural Resources boss, Fred Morr "We've incorporated all of the best features of the Bulletin with many new innovations and combined them into a modern, easy-on-the eye format which we firmly believe will appeal to our readers."

McCreary

IT'S ALMOST certain that those readers will number multitudes more than the 29 thousand or so who subscribed to the bulletin—and for several reasons. Of course, all those who had subscriptions to the now-in-the-past Bulletin will receive the monthly WWOO.

In addition, the scope of the new magazine has been greatly expanded to be of interest to those who enjoy reading about more than strictly conservation and resources subjects.

The initial issue (June) carries articles about such topics as the Cleveland Open Golf Tourney, the Delta Queen and "Baseball's First."

OF COURSE, there are still plenty of stories to attract the dyed-in-the fleece outdoorsman, including a real eye-opener on how to "fish for frogs.

Still another point in WWOO's favor — it's colorful. All of the photos are reproduced in full color, which makes them worth far more than the traditional 1000 words.

The editors report they went through 10,000 color slides and pictures before finally selecting those used in the June issue. These photos are a very important part of the magazine, permitting the written stories to be short and concise.

ANOTHER factor which will mean more readers for the new publication is the manner of distribution. In addition to subscriptions, some 50,000 copies (of the first printing of 100,000) will be going on 10,000 newsstands across the state in the next day or so.

And, as an incentive to new subscriptions, the Natural Resources people are offering a year (12 issues) for just $2. After the first of July, the price goes up to $3. .....

"The Wonderful World of Ohio" is the personal brainchild of Governor Rhodes, and he's set some mighty high goals for it. One year from now he optimistically hopes to have a quarter-million subscribers.

WHILE THE first issue contains 32 pages, the June, 1966 issue is planned for 64 pages.

In embarking on the new non-commercial publication, the Natural Resources staff was given a really tough job by Rhodes — he wants WWOO to be the finest magazine of its kind, better than any other comparable publication in the nation, even such magazines as "Arizona Highways."

Perhaps the old Buckeye State doesn't have the spectacular scenery or the wild and wooly history of the great Southwest to depict in print and picture, but from the looks of the first issue of this new publication, we do have plenty to offer right here in "the Wonderful World of Ohio."

Luncheon speaker will be Percy Sutton, attorney and assemblyman, NCY.

In the afternoon, discussion groups will meet to propose alternatives for improving racial balance in Columbus schools.

Russell M. Jones, executive secretary Civil Rights Council, said that background papers would be sent to those registering for the conferenee, for more effective use of the day.

Senior Citizens

Tuesday, May 25, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. members of the Senior Citizens Recreation Center will go by chartered bus to Newark to combine a day of travel, picnicking and history. Part of those attending will have lunch in downtown Newark while the rest have a picnic at the Newark Earthworks and hear a lecture by Mrs. Richard Fatig, director. Following the lecture the group will ride to Flint Ridge before returning to Columbus. Reservations for the trip are Friday, May 21, at the center, 275 McDowell-st.

Planned for June, July and August will be at least two trips a month, one of local interest and the other of some distance, including one overnight trip. In October a trip is being planned for center members to Washington and Williamsburg for six days. Concluding the trip schedule for the year will be an October visit to the Pumpkin Show in Circleville and a fall foliage trip in Southeastern Ohio.

All center members are eligible to go on the trips and further information may be secured from Mrs. Ardath Lynch, recreation leader.

Legionnaires Will March In 'Faith Parade' Sunday

Twenty-four posts of the 12th District American Legion of Ohio (Franklin County) will gather at Southway Post No. 144 at 874 S High-st for a "Parade to Church."

The units will form at 9:30 a.m. at the Southway Post. The parade, beginning at 10 a.m. will proceed north on S. High-st to Sycamore-st, then east to St. Mary's Church at 694 S. Third-st.

The parade this year is recognizing the Catholic faith and in successive years will honor all faiths.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edmund Burkley will greet the procession when it arrives at the church.

With all district Legionnaires invited to participate, more than 300 are expected to to fill the marching ranks which will be led by Commander Haskell E. Brands, of 1498 Efner-dr.

District Chaplain Claire Bishop, 1226 Parsons-av, will lead the group prayer and march in the ranks. Reverently stirring march music will be provided by Franklin Post No. 1 Band.

GREEN THUMBS PAY OFF

SOME OF THE best blooms of spring were in evidence at Northland Shopping Center last week during the first annual "Spring Flower and Garden Show." Henry (Hank) Loeda, secretary-manager of the center congratulates three of the four best show winners, from left, Mrs. Joseph Rector, 585 Catawba-av, Westerville; Mrs. Arthur Morse, 2735 Woodstock and Mrs. Nancy Flowers, 106 Greenmeadows-dr, Gahanna. Not present for the picture was Mrs. Helen Whitlach, 2240 Templeton.

Columbus Motor Speedway Opens Season Tomorrow

There'll be $3 thousand in prize-money for late-model and sportsman drivers this coming weekend at the Columbus Motor Speedway when they open the '65 racing season with Friday and Sunday night programs.

The late-model and sportsman groups will team-up for eight-event programs each night including a feature race in each division.

BOTH FRIDAY and Sunday speedway officials are guaranteeing $1500 in prize-money against 40-percent of the gate whichever is greater.

A minimum of 50 cars is expected for tomorrow night's lid-lifter, with most of the veterans of the South Side oval returning along with [illegible].

The fast third-mile Williams-rd oval has had an additional three-feet of asphalt applied to the inside of the track, which might possibly allow four-abreast, instead of the thrilling three-abreast of past years.

MORA (Mid-Ohio Racing Association), the sanctioning race group, this year has a 1965 Plymouth Barracuda, that will be awarded to the late-model high-point driver of the year.

The South Side raceway's free game of "Total," in which a minimum of $100 in cash is awarded to the fan (or fans) correctly picking the first five finishers, in order, in one of the night's features will be initiated Friday.

Mrs. Freda Botkin, formerly of Tucson, Ariz. and now residing in Columbus, will become WIBC executive secretary-treasurer Aug. 1. Mrs. Botkin has been serving as assistant secretary since last December.

LOCAL 'CAN-DO CREW' STATES CASE FOR ALUM, MILL CREEK JOBS

CHANCES NOW APPEAR EXCELLENT for a start this year on pre-construction planning by the U.S. Corps of Engineers for both the Alum Creek and Mill Creek dam and reservoir projects. Favorable Congressional action is expected on local requests to increase the appropriation already approved for Alum Creek and add initial planning funds for Mill Creek. The President's budget called for $150,000 to begin Alum Creek plans. Local business, civic and government representatives visited Washington May 11 to ask that the Alum Creek appropriation be increased to $200,000, and that $175,000 be added to the President's public works budget for Mill Creek planning. Both figures represent the dollar volume of "capability" listed by the Army Engineers. Pictured above are members of the Ohio delegation which visited Washington. At left, Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner huddles with Ohio Congressman-At-Large Robert E. Sweeney prior to the hearing before the Public Works Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee. Sweeney, elected to office last November, has been instrumental in dealing with Congressional leadership. Sweeney, a Democrat, was supported in his requests by Franklin County Congressman Samuel L. Devine (12th District) and Congressman William H. Harsha (Sixth District), a staunch advocate of flood control projects. The Columbus delegation (at right) represented the city administration, city council, the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, Development Committee for Greater Columbus, League of Women Voters and the Near East Council. They include (back row): Warren J. Cremean, Robert D. Keim, Jack Different, Mayor Sensenbrenner, Devine, Eline L. Roberts and Robert T. Southwick. Front row: Mrs. Sidney Voris, Bernard LaCour, Mrs. David Templeton, Mrs. Robert Platt, Mrs. Sensenbrenner, Sweeney and Dr. James E. Jennings.

Soroptimists Award Grant

Soroptimist Club of Columbus awarded its 12th annual scholarship to Miss Sherry Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Lewis, 1143 Grandview-av. The $500 study grant may be used at any accredited school of her choice.

Miss Lewis will enter Ohio State University this summer in the field of home economics, and her goal is in commercial service. Presentation was made by Mrs. T. Vaugh Bancroft, club president, at the Junior Achievement Dinner May 18.

"CONSTANTLY IMPROVED service with personal attention to the customer's convenience," is the management policy of Avis Truck Rental Service. The firm is updating their fleet with all '65 models, and upgrading service facilities to insure the customer against the inconvenience of mechanical failure and subsequent loss of time.

Avis Rental Co. Stresses 'Customer-First' Policy

Maybe a hint as to why Avis Truck Rental Service at 686 Grandview-av has a wide reputation for its "congenial, dependable rental service" is revealed in a conversation we had recently with Joanna Ankrom, bookkeeper, and Beverly Stein, receptionist, for the firm.

"We're forming a delegation to name Don West 'Boss of the Year,'" they said.

Donald E. West, who lives at 595 S. Wheatland-av with his wife, Kay, and daughters Felicia, six, and Shellie, two, is a smiling, polite manager who expresses a sincere interest in his customers as well as his company.

West

"Why shouldn't I," he said. "Without customers — there wouldn't be an Avis Company."

Aside from satisfied customers and employes, Avis management evidently likes Don, too. He started with them in 1955 as a "combo" man—all-around service man—worked at nearly every job in the organization, and was promoted to city manager in October 1964.

Avis, which bought the U-Drive-It firm here in 1958, is owned by Ray Walker and Bob Battat, the Ford dealer in Newark. Regional manager and Don's direct boss is Bob Betts.

The company is presently engaged in replacing their rentals with all new 1965 trucks. And they have a wide range of these including 10, 12, 16 and 18-ft vans, some with hydraulic tailgates, 16-ft. stake or flat beds, walk-ins and a complete line of Econoline and pickups.

They offer individual or fleet leasing service of new cars and trucks. The customer can specify any make and model equipped only with those accessories he selects. Car leases are handled on a one or two year basis, trucks are set up for two to four year contracts.

"Many times when a person needs a truck," Don says, "time is important. For those who find our address here inconvenient, we can arrange for pickup and return to our place at 179 E. State-st."

Parking on a monthly basis is also available at the E. State-st office. Inside parking is offered, as well as car wash and minor service.

PUBLIC AUCTION

Approximately 100 passenger cars and ranch wagons will be sold at public auction at the Ohio Department of Highways Central Garage located at 1620 W. Broad-st, Saturday, May 22. The sale will start at 10:30 a.m. Inspection of the vehicles can be made starting at 8 a.m.

Solemn Memorial Day Rites Arranged

". . . Your memory hallowed in the land you loved."—Arkwright.

The nation's war dead — whether they lie in cemeteries of bucolic simplicity or in Arlington — will be remembered again this Memorial Day.

Observances in the greater Columbus area will, in effect, extend over three days.

On Saturday, May 29, local veterans organizations will place flags over 15,000 war veterans' graves in Franklin County. Many of the groups will also attend the Sunday memorial services in the churches.

Because Memorial Day falls on Sunday, most programs of tribute will be held Monday.

Highlight of the day will be the annual parade in downtown Columbus sponsored by the General Memorial Day Committee. All veterans organizations in the county will be represented. The parade will start at 9 a.m. at Grant-av and Broad-st and move west over the Broad Street bridge.

The reviewing stand will be the esplanade on the south side of City Hall. Ranking military and civil leaders have been invited to review the parade, together with the honored guests of Gold Star and Blue Star Mothers, Widows of World War I Veterans and Spanish-American War veterans.

The four-division parade will be headed by Grand Marshal Ernest Obert, Chief of Staff Robert Scott and Adjutant Garland McDonald.

Lt. Col. Harold L. Lasley will lead the first division consisting of local active military, reserve and guard units. Division Two, consisting of nine veterans units and their auxiliary will be headed by Otis R. Lowe. Division Three, led by Haskell Brands, will be composed of more veterans' organizations

The fourth division, with Lt. Col. E. A. Nutt as its marshal, will be made up of various patriotic and historic interest groups, Boy and Girl Scouts, Among participating bands will be those from the Army 37th Division, 338th Army Reserve, Charles C. Caldwell Post, VFW, and Franklin Post, American Legion.

Immediately after the parade, Navy-Marine Post, the American Legion, with the aid of Franklin Post Band of the American Legion, will hold their short annual Naval Memorial Day Ceremony on the Broad Street bridge. A floral anchor in memory of deceased sailors and marines will be lowered onto the Scioto River.

The American Legion will hold its ninth memorial service in the Memorial Room on the east side of the New Veterans Memorial building immediately following the Naval ceremony at about 10 a.m. The master of ceremonies will be Judge William C. Bryant. The 37th Infantry Division Band will play and the Senior Choir from Linden-McKinley High School will sing. Two youngsters from each of about 30 organizations will put white carnations on the altar in memory of our departed military men.

The Spectator Says:

By O. C. Hartley

We'll Continue To Call Them As We See Them!

Two weeks ago I stated in this column that if, as, and when I had any news regarding my affiliation with The Spectator Newspapers you would get the story in these papers.

Elsewhere on this page today you get the word — we are merely reorganizing — building what I am sure will be a strengthened organization by bringing Bob Reider and Wes Kreger into The Spectator ownership, management and publishing team.

For the past 35 years of my association with these community papers, I have taken a major portion of the management and publishing responsibility. A staff of about eight has grown to better than 75 full time people. The load has been heavy — yet very interesting and productive.

A progressive business has but one direction it can take —forward.

We are delighted to believe that with the assistance and good aid from our new associates The Spectator will become an ever increasingly important weekly visitor into over 125,000 select area homes each Thursday.

As long as I am publisher of these papers the editorial policy shall remain the same as it has been over these many years. Like the umpire — we'll call them as we see them.

CATV Opponents Get Whitehall Hearing

The likelihood for the introduction of CATV (Community Antenna Television) to the greater Columbus area in Whitehall apparently was delayed but not dimmed following a Tuesday night meeting with critics of the plan.

Representatives of two local, television stations (WTVN and WLW-C) and Radio Station WRFD told Whitehall officials that CATV, a boon to rural areas not adequately served by commercial television, is not needed locally. The Columbus area, they contended, is adequately served.

James Gorrell, attorney for Taft Broadcasting Corp. (WTVN), read a lengthy statement setting forth that company's feelings about CATV. He said that many technical and complex legal questions must yet be answered in the CATV field.

He also listed three other reasons for adopting a "wait and see" attitude concerning CATV franchise agreements. They were:

1. Other legislative and administrative bodies are taking actions to regulate the CATV industry in the public interest.

2. Responsible city organizations have urged that all city councils go slow on granting franchises.

3. Whitehall city and citizens should know full details about any company to which they grant a franchise because "They will have to live with this organization for 20 years."

Gorrell then pointed out that Multi-Channel Cable Co., of Whitehall does not legally exist at this time. He said records at the Ohio Secretary of State's office showed no such firm incorporated in Ohio.

Paul Setters, representing the Multi-Channel group, reported that corporation papers for the firm would be on file this week. He said that information relating to financial backing for the Portsmouth-based company would be revealed at that time.

Richard Reed, general manager of WLW-C (Crosley Broadcasting Co.), echoed Gorrell's opinion that CATV is not needed in the Columbus area. He said such a service would also deter the growth of UHF stations.

Richard Schmidt, attorney for People's Broadcasting Corp. (WRFD), emphasized legal problems and the implications of probable controls by the Federal Communications Commission. He advocated a waiting period to allow for more discussion of the whole CATV question.

WRFD has an application on file for channel 40 (UHF) in Columbus.

Whitehall City Solicitor Paul J. Haytcher said that he would insist on knowing all details about the pending incorporation of Multi-Channel Cable Co., before recommending that council approve a franchise. "I don't want any $500 corporation," Haytcher said. One source indicated that the company is expected to incorporate with $75,000 to $100,000 initial capital.

Haytcher also said that he was still considering modifications in the proposed franchise. He said that the proposed ordinance, as it now stands, contains more safeguards for the City of Whitehall than are carried in a CATV franchise in Toledo.

Members of council expressed unanimous sentiment that the meeting with the local television and radio representatives was most productive. One councilman said that passage of any franchise ordinance should be delayed while council studies information presented at the Tuesday meeting.

He said he felt that the city eventually would execute a franchise agreement. But he said it would be desirable to give further study to "model" franchise agreements before giving a final council reading to the franchise proposed in Whitehall.

Council President Walter Siemer summed up the general feeling of councilmen by saying that the people will "decide in the market place" if CATV will survive. "If people get what they want, CATV will pay," he said.

Haytcher said following the meeting that he, personally, would not subscribe to CATV if and when it is made available locally. "But I think the people should have the right to accept or reject this service on an individual basis," he added.

Bexley Okays Apartments

Bexley Council Tuesday night gave Burkley Showe approval for his plot plan and building plans for Park View Arms apartments on S. Parkview south of the apartment now under construction on the corner of Bryden-rd.

Approval was conditioned on Showe's getting cross easements and access for parking of one and a half cars per apartment unit.

And assurance was given residents of apartments on Mayfield who had been concerned that construction on Livingston-av, only access to the area, would seal them in.

The mayor had earlier said that as soon as the area dried out Bexley would provide a temporary access road from the rear of the apartments north to Astor-av.

However, Mayor Schneider said last night that he had been assured by Columbus that paving on Livingston would be conducted in such a manner that there would always be a lane open for access into the apartments.

Also approved was authorization for ordering sidewalk repairs at 412 homes south of Main-st, and measures prohibiting stopping on the west side of Parkview between Bryden-rd and Main-st, and on the east side of Drexel from Sherwood-rd 45 feet south.

The mayor also reported that six or seven light standards on the southeast corner of E. Broad-st at Drexel-av had been knocked down by interstate trucks making the turn to follow route signs directing them to Main-st.

The problem would be eliminated, he said, if Columbus would install signs directing trucks to E. Main-st instead of taking Broad-st after leaving I-70.

The trucks now follow signs east on Broad-st, south on Drexel and east again on Main.

A permit was approved allowing Baskins-Robbins Ice Cream Co. to erect a sign exceeding the size permitted under city law, because the sign would be flush to the building.

And referred to the service committee for study was a request for a large, double-faced sign for Bexley Theater, with room for changeable copy.

L. Friedman Is President

Leon Friedman, 240 S. Drexel-av, member of the Board of Directors of the Jewish Center, 1125 College-av, for 15 years, has been elected president of the center.

He will succeed Howard R. Schoenbaum, 2808 Fair-av.

He is a member of the Young President's Organization, Industrial Development Committee of Ohio Chamber of Commerce, Development Committee for Greater Columbus, and the Ohio, American and Columbus Bar Associations.

He is also a member of Citizen's Research and the Pacesetter Club, College of Commerce, Ohio State University.

Whitehall Leads County In Sale Of Red Poppies

Whitehall, for the sixth consecutive year, has topped all Franklin County communities, including Columbus, in the sale of poppies.

Jake Brewer, chairman of the sale, disclaims all credit for the enviable record and says, instead, the success was due to the hard work of the Ladies Auxiliary of Whitehall VFW Post 8794, and to the children of the post.

And he acknowledges, with gratitude, the cooperation of area merchants and Whitehall residents who purchased the paper poppies.

'The Spectator' Is Reorganizing

Papers were filed today with the Secretary of State's office requesting the incorporation of a new firm to be known as Spectator Printing and Publishing Co.

The firm will continue to publish the eight Hartley Spectator newspapers now published by Hartley Printing and Publishing Co.

Reorganization of The Spectator group is aimed toward expanded development of the Hilltop, West Side, West Rural, South East Rural, South Side, Eastern, Reynoldsburg and Metro Editions of The Spectator.

Reider and Kreger, well-known Ohio newspapermen, will become actively affiliated with the local papers. Hartley will continue in the capacity of publisher.

Swim Season Starts Soon

Bexley Community Swimming Pool on Jeffrey Mansion grounds will officially open for its third season at noon Saturday, June 12, following an initial "splash" by Bexley High graduates at their party the night of June 10.

Added this year will be a competitive swimming program with a swim team coached by Frank McGraw, who is responsible for the swimming program at Columbus Academy.

Pool membership is restricted to Bexley residents, and those who did not receive application blanks or who have lost them may enroll at the pool from June 7 through June 11.

Mrs. Wayne L. Christiansen will be on hand to accept enrollments from 10 a.m. to noon, and from 1 to 4 p.m. on those days.

The pool will again be under the management of Don DeJong, head football coach at Bexley High. Assisting him will be Jim Click, Bexley's assistant football coach.

The pool will be open to Bexley residents and their guests from 11 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Mondays through Saturday, and noon to 8:30 p.m. on Sundays.

Official Red Cross swimming and water safety instructions will be offered without charge. Special events, including a Fourth of July program, will be announced.

New residents and others who have not purchased loan certificates may do so, and will receive lower membership rates.

Hospital Receives Television Set

Lambda Pi Chapter, Delta Theta Tau, presented a television set to the Children's Psychiatric Hospital, 300 N. Nelson-rd.

MEMORIAL SERVICES SET IN BEXLEY

Bexley Post, American Legion, will conduct memorial service Monday, May 31, 11 a.m. at the Bexley Pylon, E. Broad-st at Drexel-av.

Rabbi Nathan Zellner will give the address, and a firing squad from Capital University will participate.

The community is invited to attend the service.

THEY WON'T FORGET THE BOYS IN GRAY

These unique words will be spoken by a schoolboy during a unique ceremony in a unique spot north of the Mason-Dixon Line at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 6.

The place: A small stone-walled cemetery at 2900 Sullivant-av—burial site of 2,260 Confederate soldiers who died there while prisoners of war at Camp Chase between 1861 and 1864.

Chances are, there'll be some unique guests, too: People from the Deep South, who are blood relatives of several of the men who are interred in Camp Chase Cemetery.

Mrs. William D. Ferguson of Atlanta, Ga., has written to the local Dixie Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, saying that a group from that city hopes to make the pilgrimage. Mary Henrietta Chase of Dallas, Tex., may fly in for the ceremony. She viewed the cemetery for the first time last year. Her great uncle, Darwin G. Seely, is buried there.

The commemorative program is being arranged jointly by the UDC and Camp Chase Post, American Legion. Shortly before the service begins, Chapter 3 of Disabled American Veterans will dedicate a spotlight behind the Confederate soldier statue in the center of the cemetery. The light is being given by Sims Electric Co. in the name of the firm's founder, the late Capt. Ernest A. Sims who served with the U.S. Army in World War I.

A statement will be given by DAV Seventh District National Executive Committeeman H. O. Parke, who is the caretaker of the cemetery.

Legionnaires will open the program by posting the colors, leading the pledge, and placing a wreath at the arch. The 37th Infantry Division ONG Band will play. Boy Scout George Stevens, Jr., 78 N. Parkview-av, will lead the tribute to the Stars and Bars.

Each grave will be marked with U.S. and Confederate flags.

Principal speaker will be Capt. Hugh Eads of the Military Science Dept., Ohio State University. He will be introduced by Mrs. Edmond Notebaert, president of Dixie Chapter. Volunteers in uniforms of the boys in blue and gray will fire the salute, and the bugler will play taps.

Rev. Rene Meyer of St. John Evangelical Lutheran Church will give the invocation and benediction.

Among other guests will be representatives of several veterans' and patriotic groups. The public is invited.

Mrs. Wiley Forman and Mrs. Paul North, co-chairmen, are arranging the program with the assistance of Legionnaires Richard Martin, commander; and Elmer Young, chaplain, of Camp Chase Post.

The cemetery is open seven days a week until Sept. 15. Hours are 1 to 4 p.m. Conducted tours are offered by Caretaker Parke, who may be reached at CA. 4-9990, or by writing to 314 S. Glenwood-av, Columbus.

Whitehall's Recount Shows Tally Was Right

Recount of votes cast in Whitehall's Fourth Ward in the Republican May Primary, requested by council candidate Fred C. Cooley, Jr., showed the tally to be the same—160 to 158.

Cooley had asked for all four precincts to be recounted.

He indicated that since the count remained the same, he would support the winner, Charles Carroll, in the fall election.

EUCHRE TOMORROW

Blendon Grange will sponsor a euchre party Friday, May 28, 8:30 p.m. at the Grange Hall, 393 E. College-av, Westerville.

BANQUET AT CANAAN

Canaan Alumni banquet will be held at the Canaan School, Plain City, Saturday, June 12, 7 p.m. Honored guests will be classes of 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1940. Contact Sam Martin, 663 S. Wayne-av, for reservations, 274-0720, before June 4.

Mary Ferroni Became Mrs. Deibel During Nuptial Mass Last Saturday

A nuptial mass performed by Fr. John Soltis at St. John the Baptist Catholic Church last Saturday, May 22, united Miss Mary Theresa Ferroni and Mr. Stephen A. Deibel. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Samuel J. Ferroni of 262 Carpenter-rd, Gahanna, and the late Samuel Ferroni. Mr. Deibel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Deibel, Sr., 3221 Eastwick.

The bride chose a traditional floor-length gown with a chantilly lace bodice and silk faced peau bell-shaped skirt, featuring seeded pearls and motifs of lace on the skirt and full chapel train.

Her floor-length veil edged in chantilly lace was attached to a Queen's crown of seeded pearls and crystal and she carried a crescent bouquet centered with butterfly orchids and stephanotis.

MR. AND MRS. STEPHEN A. DEIBEL

Mrs. Mark Neely, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore an orchid taffeta sheathed gown styled with floor-length bell-shaped overskirt and watteau train. Her headpiece was a matching ring of taffeta trimmed with a back bow and butterfly veil.

Mrs. Valentine Skunza, Miss Gavina Schintu and Miss Judy Ferroni, honor attendants, wore nile green taffeta gowns identical to that of the matron of honor. All carried bouquets of orchids with garlands of ivy leaves centered with pearls.

Mr. Joseph Deibel, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Those ushering the guests were Mr. David Deibel, brother of the bridegroom; Mr. Nicholas Ferroni, brother of the bride and Mr. Anthony Purpura.

A breakfast immediately followed the ceremony at Desert Inn.

The new Mrs. Deibel is a graduate of Mifflin High School and attended Ohio State University. She is associated with the Skilken Company.

Her husband is a graduate of Rosary High School and Ohio State University. He is assistant secretary-treasurer of Mooney and Moses of Ohio, Inc.

Price To Remain Neutral In Sewer Fuss

By FRANK RYAN

Columbus Auditor John Price has indicated that he will remain neutral in the controversy between the Sensenbrenner Administration and city council over the best method for financing the city's $42.5 million five-year sewer expansion program.

Monday night's council session featured an unveiling by Council President William R. Fornof of figures in support of his plan for the exclusive use of public-voted bonds to finance sewer capital improvements. Council subsequently passed (6-1) an ordinance calling for placing the bond issue on the November ballot.

Mayor Sensenbrenner has promised a veto of the measure. He maintains that the council-endorsed plan would needlessly jeopardize other necessary capital improvements, and would only temporarily postpone a sewer rate increase.

Expect Override Of Veto

But with all six Republican members of council voting for the bond issue ordinance — only Democrat Councilman Bill Hoermle voted against it — it appears council will override any executive veto. The measure was called up at Monday's session to allow enough time to pass the measure over the mayor's veto and still beat the deadline for putting it on the ballot.

When asked to comment on the supporting figures presented by Fornof, Price said:

"All I've agreed to certify so far is the $18 million for (projects) this year. If the voters approve the bonding program it won't be necessary for me to certify availability of funds."

Price explained that certification by him, under the proposed bond issue, would not be needed because voter approval of the issue would pledge the "full faith and credit of the city" to repayment of the bonds.

When asked if this meant he would remain neutral in the battle between council and the administration, he said:

"Yes, I'm going to stay out of it. They (council) didn't use me in their figuring, so they can use (for supporting estimony) the people they did consult.

"I really don't know exactly how they arrived at their figures. I'm going to stay out of the picture until I find out what the voters want to do."

The plan supported by the city administration would combine a rate increase with note and bond financing. Findlay consultant, J. S. Sawvel, issued a report to council calling for rate increases geared to provide 35 percent more revenue for the sewer division. The consultant said the average cost to the homeowner would be one penny per day. Sawvel's plan envisions a 10-year, $62.5-million program.

Finance Director John Stanley has told council that the $42.5-million program can be accomplished with a lesser schedule of rate increases. He said the five-year construction plan could be met with an increase of 24 percent in sewer rental charges.

The Development Committee for Greater Columbus has recommended rate increases to provide "at least 35 percent" more revenue to the sewer division. The Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce has said it favors a combination of a rate increase, bonding and other economies.

Both the administration and Fornof now have supporting figures to back their respective plans. The basic difference is in the projections for sewer service growth, and amounts for operational expenditures. The council plan anticipates a larger rate of growth and a smaller rate of operating expenses.

Nowadays youngsters have to rough it when they go to camp — no electric tooth brushes.

Sol Espie Leads Area Thins Into State Meet

Seven area tracksters earned tickets in eight events to Saturday's state cinder meet in Ohio Stadium after qualifying last weekend at Regional competition.

East sprinter Solomon Espie set the pace, by gaining berths in two events — the 100 and 220 — taking firsts in both (:10.0 in the 100 and :22.3 in the 220).

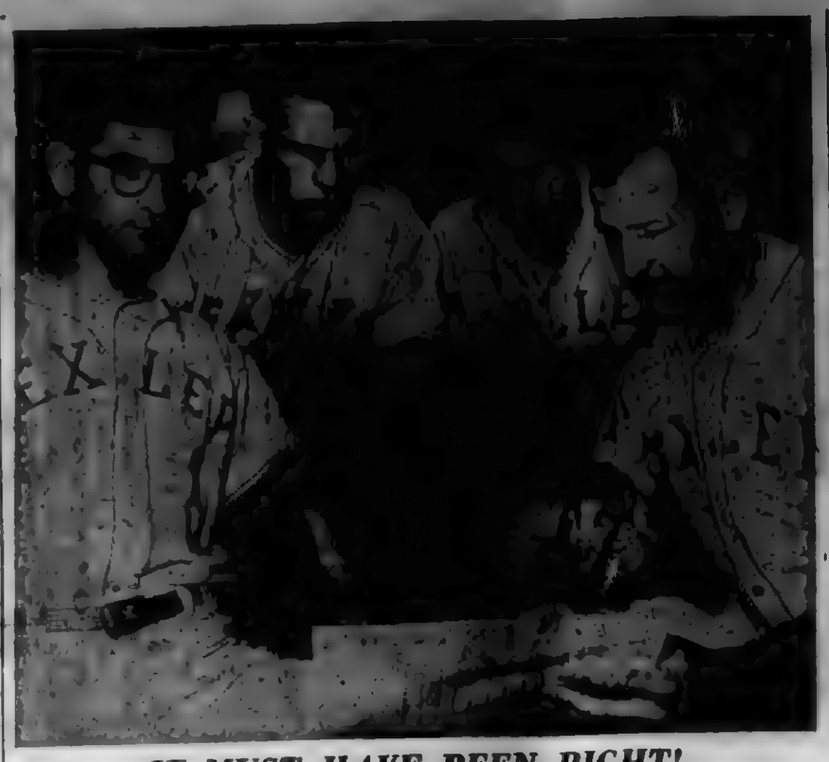
LEE WILLIAMS' Tiger thins also picked up a third first as Don Washington topped all entries in the broad jump with a leap of 23' 3¾".

Eastmoor's Leonard Willis pocketed the other area first by speeding through the 880 in 1:57.2.

Other state qualifiers included Gahanna's Bob Glover (fourth in broad jump, (22' 7¾"). Whitehall's Mike Boyer (fourth in shot, 52' ½"), Walnut Ridge's Ken Schwartz (second in mile, 4:24.7) and Hartley's Dave Thomas (third place tie in high jump, 6'2").

TIMES SET in the Regionals by Espie and Willis are very near state records (see related story in Metro section).

East placed in seven events (including four firsts) to place third (33½) at the City League Meet behind winner Brookhaven (38) and runnerup Whetstone (35).



Solomon Espie again set the pace by sprinting to wins in both the 100 and 220. Grady Bobo (shot) and Don Washington (broad jump) gained other Tiger firsts, the latter setting a new CL mark with a jump of 23'7".

EAST'S OTHER scoring was credited to Washington (second place tie in high jump), Willie Jackson (third in discus) and Galen Bias (third in broad jump).

Walnut Ridge miler Kenny Schwartz established one of the four new marks set at the meet, covering the distance in his event in 4:23 flat — :04.5 better than the old record.

EASTMOOR'S top performance came from half-miler Len Willis, who set a new record in his specialty by stopping the clock at 1:57.7 (bettered by 2 2/10 sec.) to edge runnerup Rick Mettle of Walnut Ridge.

IT MUST HAVE BEEN RIGHT!

E-M'S CITY LEAGUE TENNIS CHAMPS

EASTMOOR'S varsity netmen compiled an impressive 11-3 tennis record this spring, bringing the school the City League tennis championship with a 5-1 loop mark. Most outstanding performer on coach Bill Barr's squad was captain Dennis Leach, who was unbeaten in league competition. The Warriors netters are (kneeling, from left): captain Dennis Leach, Dave Milenthal, Bob Krupnick, Craig Deamead and Ken Smith. Standing: coach Bill Barr, Dave Jones, Jim Bell, Dave Cowall and Alex Bosserman. Missing were Neal Milner and Brian Friedman.

Whitehall Merchants Open Season May 30

The Whitehall Merchants, a semi-pro baseball nine supported by local merchants, hopes to improve on its 8-2 Central Ohio Baseball League record of last season according to manager Don Marcum.

Marcum bases his hope on the addition of seven new players this season.

THE MERCHANTS '65 roster includes returnees pitcher Bill Dildine, catcher Buddy Vaughn, infielders Larry Tedder, Jack Pettorini, Hal Metzger and Don Barry and outfielder Norm Eader.

New faces in the Merchants lineup this season will be: pitchers Chris Scheiderer and Terry Tedder, catcher Wayne Sharron (last year with Allen Milk), infielders Ray Boisvert and P. D. Shannon and outfielders Bob Weber and Bobby Sherman.

HERE IS the Merchants' '65 schedule:

May 30 — at Popes Inn
June 6—at Washington C. H.
June 13—at Shady-Links Ins.
June 20 — Lancaster A-H
June 27—at Arlington
July 4—Popes Inn
July 11—Washington C. H.
July 18—Shay-Link Ins.
July 25—at Lancaster A-H
Aug. 1—Arlington

All home games will be played at Whitehall-Yearling high school diamond at 2 p.m. on Sunday.

Cochran Club Lists Roster

Cochran Drugs entry in the Alum Creek Valley Little League will be shooting to improve on its 46-24 won-loss mark in four seasons of play this summer.

The team, composed of youngsters in the Montrose School District, is Bexley's only Little League entry.

A RYAN-IZED LESSON IN BASEBALL

Ted Georgeff's Whitehall nine—the only nine still flirting with flag hopes—faces a "do or die" situation tomorrow when Arlington comes calling at the Ram diamond.

The Golden Bears are unbeaten in Central Buckeye play and the Ram record has been stained once so a Whitehall victory is mandatory if the Rams have designs on a pennant share.

WHITEHALL came within three outs of not even getting a shot at the title Saturday at Delaware.

The Rams trailed, 1-0, going into the final frame against the Pacers but Tom Barton's bases-loaded homer supplied the story book ending—and the shot at Arlington.

Reb Hiatt and Steve Schafer checked Delaware on three hits, the latter picking up the win in relief.

EASTMOOR strengthened its first-division spot in the City circuit with a pair of wins—4-0 over Linden and 7-1 over Central.

Doug Cromer chilled the Panthers on a single bingle while E-M scored pairs in the second and sixth to win. Cromer, supplied with batting punch from Steve Howell and Jerry Groves, came back with a two-hitter against Central Tuesday.

Busiest of all areas nines last week was Jack Ryan's Hartley crew. The Hawks broke even in four Central Catholic League tilts — topping DeSales, 4-0, losing to Ready, 5-4, and splitting a pair with Newark Catholic by identical 3-1 scores.

BATTERY mates Dave Rogers and Tom Schlager teamed up to down DeSales. Pitcher Dave flipped a two-hitter and catcher Tom smacked a two-run homer to supply the offense.

Both Newark and the Hawks used the same format—three-run innings—to divide the pair Saturday.

SOUTH USED the big inning to down Hartley for the second time this spring, hopping on four Hawk pitchers for a 13-1 verdict.

In another non-league tilt, Scott French spun a three-hitter and put down a late Walnut Ridge rally to down the Scotties, 5-4.

Gahanna closed its Big Eight season on a happy note, sweeping a pair from Marion, 4-2 and 2-1.

DAVE BELLI yielded two first-inning runs and then blanked the Cowpunchers on six hits the rest of the way, fanning 15.

Jack Shoemaker got the Lions off on the right foot in the nightcap with a home run as Gary Hardin went the route on a three-hitter.

Earlier in the week, the Lions split a pair with Hilliard in makeup games. Gahanna placed second in final loop standings. (6-8).

DAN FOUCHE'S two-hitter stymied Bexley bats as Academy won, 6-3, and Gary "Rip" VanWinkle combined with Dennis Anderson for a five-hit 5-3 win over Aquinas for the area's only other win of the week. Dave Walter homered for W-R.

Elsewhere, Walnut Ridge lost to Brookraven, 7-1, East dropped a pair of CL contests to South (9-2) and West (17-0) and St. Charles was set back by DeSales, 10-2, and Ready, 8-0, as Mark Kotlinski's breaking up Pat Ellis' no-hitter with a final-inning single.

Bexley remained in the CBL cellar as Delaware exploded for six runs in the sixth frame in an 8-4 win and Mt. Vernon scored a narrow 3-2 decision, despite a five-hit effort by the loser's Bill Meeks.

Stahl, Sobel Combine To Hurl No-Hitter

Everywhere, Dave Wylie's two-hitter led the Braves over the Athletics 4-0. Wylie's homer also paced the Yankees to a 7-2 win over the Braves later in the week.

THE GIANTS bested the Indians, 12-1, with Mike Koehler's two doubles setting the pace. The Ramblers rolled to a 5-2 win over the T-Birds, thanks to another "stahlwart" effort by the winners' Eddie Stahl who went three-for-three (including a double and triple).

In other Little League action, the Dodgers won a pair, besting the Giants, 6-2, and Athletics, 7-4. Elsewhere, the Hawks did likewise, downing the Indians, 10-6 and Reds, 6-1. Both teams are tied for first place with 4-0 records.

In the only other Little League game, the T-Birds topped the Yankees, 13-7.

Educators Blast Bill To Alter School Finance Formula

By FRANK RYAN

An administration - backed bill aimed at revamping the state's school foundation program has met an almost solid wall of resistence from school administrators throughout the state.

The controversial measure (House Bill 773) calls for drastic changes in the formula used to divide the state's "public education pie" among all school districts. The main organized opposition to the bill comes from the Ohio Education Association and the Ohio School Boards Association.

John Hall, OEA spokesman, said the measure, as it now stands, "would remove the guarantee of stability and balance" consistent with the present foundation formula. Hall said the "real issue" lies in the attempt to shape educational programs to appropriations, rather than allocating sufficient funds to meet educational needs.

Funds Not 'Earmarked'

Hall challenged a statement by Rep. B. A. Broughton, chairman of the House Education Committee, that the bill continues allowances for special programs such as slow learner classes. Hall said that while H.B. 773 does not remove the programs, it does remove the guarantee for them through "earmarked" funds.

Under the present state foundation formula, funds are allocated to special education "units," and are to be used only for the designated purposes. The administration proposal would remove the special program "guarantees," and eliminate the units under which they are now covered.

"Instead, the proposed formula would increase the dollar amount for the reduced number of units, and local districts would decide how the money is to be spent. Hall charged that such a program would kill incentive for continuance of special educational programs.

Another outspoken critic of the plan is Dr. Paul C. Hayes, executive head of South-Western School District. He challenged the contention of bill sponsors that the measure is designed to return more control to the local level. Said Dr. Hayes:

"We think that returning more control to the local level is another way of saying 'if you want anything else, you're going to have to go out and get more local taxes for it.' "

Hayes said that, "beyond any doubt," the state—in the long run—"would be paying less money," proportionately, towards the cost of public education. The state now assumes about 28 percent of the total education cost. Local property taxes account for the remaining 72 percent.

School officials complain that the measure would vest unwarranted authority in the state director of finance by giving him "the power of veto" over appropriations. They also are against the feature of the bill which transfers authority from the elected State Board of Education to the state's superintendent of schools.

House minority leader, A. G. Lancione, reports that "most school people are very bitterly opposed to H.B. 773, and I agree with them.

"It eliminated the programs for exceptional children and special programs on speech and hearing. It gives broad powers to the state's finance director and the state superintendent, and removes virtually all incentive features," Lancione said.

He termed the bill "one of the most sweeping school changes presented in many, many years," and concluded: "I expect the real purpose was to offset the PEP Bill."

If the drafters of H.B. 773 thought to weaken the proponents of the petition-initiated PEP Bill they are wrong, according to PEP sponsors. (The PEP measure is geared to increase state support to public education by about $116 million annually. The bill calls for a hike in the sales tax, from three to four percent.)

Dr. Hayes said he feels the proposed changes in H.B. 173 will serve to spur efforts in behalf of the PEP Bill. He anticipates no difficulty in gaining enough signatures to place the issue on the November ballot.

Cloud Sees Possible Changes

The H.B. 773 proposal which seems to have drawn the most protest from the public is the elimination of the special programs. House Speaker Roger W. Cloud echoed the opinion of most supporters of the measure when he said he feels that some of the programs may be re-instated.

Cloud said the bill must undergo some extensive changes, and that a new bill should be ready in about two weeks. Generally speaking, he said, he "is inclined to the viewpoint that money ought to remain (at present levels) but leave it up to the (local school) board as to which program fits them the best."

He qualified his view by saying that legislators "might want to write a credit allowance for those pupils with discernable defects." He said this could restore to "guarantee" status such programs that deal with speech and hearing problems and slow learners. "But, otherwise," he said, "the extended service programs should be up to the (local) board of education."

In all, there are 10 bills in the House of Representatives dealing with school programs and financing. All are now in subcommittee. Cloud indicated that some major revisions in the administration's measure (773) would be forthcoming. But he said "The basic objectives will remain," and only "the way in which they are accomplished will be changed."

The final outcome of H.B. 773 remains in doubt. But there is little doubt that the Ohio Education Association, the Ohio School Boards Association and other school-related groups will find solace in the legislative approach. These groups are already pointing to November when they will take their case to the people.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Tomatoes, Berries Now At Peak

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits—bananas, watermelons, pineapples, strawberries, lemons, rhubarb.

Vegetables — asparagus, cucumbers, cooking greens, greenhouse tomatoes, onions, radishes, carrots.

This week, two seasonal delicacies are suggested for your menus—a greenhouse tomato salad and luscious strawberry shortcake. The makings for both are at their peak production levels this week and the first part of June.

Mrs. Franks

Greenhouse tomatoes got a late start this spring but they are coloring fast now and quality is excellent. Bill Brooks, horticulturist at the Cooperative Extension Service, OSU, says the recent cool nights have been favorable in enhancing tomato flavor.

To identify tomatoes at the market, remember there are essentially two types — field-grown and greenhouse. Field-grown tomatoes available now are either "vineripes" or "tube."

The vine ripes are grown in the South at this time of year and will have the familiar red color upon arrival at the market. These can usually be identified by the paper sticker on them which says "vine-ripe" or "trellis." Tube tomatoes also come from the Southern States, and generally are picked in the green stage two weeks before ripening. They are artifically ripened and packed in plastic containers—three or four in a tube.

Greenhouse tomatoes are usually labeled at the display. They have little or no waste since they need not be peeled. In making the tomato salad, try some of the fine outdoor Bibb lettuce that's coming from local farms now. It's tender, and the dark green contrasts beautifully with the rich color of greenhouse tomatoes.

Strawberry Time Is Here

This is the season for peak supplies of strawberries. Kentucky and California are the big shippers at present. At this writing quality is improving and prices are probably as low as they will be this year. In California particularly, the labor situation has greatly cut crop expectations — the berries are there but not the pickers. Students, soldiers and housewives have been recruited but still a lot of strawberries are being lost every day.

Ohio berries will start in a light way for the Memorial Day weekend shopping, with peak supplies from nearby patches due about the middle of June, local growers say. The total Ohio crop is believed to be down from last year owing to the cold wet spring. If you plan to freeze strawberries you are wise to engage your supply immediately. Sparkle, Pocahontas, Surecrop and Earlidawn are among the best for freezing.

Sewer Issue Affects All

Perhaps the most important decision of 1965 for the Greater Columbus area will be the method chosen to finance the vast $42.5-million five-year sewer capital improvement program in Columbus. As matters now stand, the voters of Columbus will decide the issue. But the outcome is (or should be) of vital concern to all of Franklin County.

Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner and his top administrative aides feel that the program should be financed by a combination of cash payments and note and bond financing. This approach makes a sewer rate hike mandatory.

Columbus Council President William R. Fornof, backed by at least four of the other five Republicans on council, favors a program of notes and voted bonds to finance the program. Such a program would at least postpone a raise in sewer rates.

Both the Democratic city administration and the Republican council seem to be in complete agreement on the need for the proposed sewer expansion plan, the size of the program and the scheduling of projects. (The only reservation comes from some council members who feel that the administration has scheduled a heavier program than it can accomplish.)

Fornof has used council's legislative authority to take the initiative by placing the council voted-bonds plan on the November ballot. Fornof has said that defeat of the measure would force council to act on an immediate rate increase.

The main problem in placing such a decision before the voters in this: The general public will be asked to decide an issue steeped in the highly technical terms of the professional accountants, auditors and engineers who must supply the supporting testimony for the alternate courses.

Both sides suspect that the public has neither the training nor the patience to lend much weight to the "guesstimate" projections of future income, operational expenditures, and schedules of debt service. Therefore, the battle for public favor will lean to the philosophical approach and emotional appeal.

We have interviewed proponents of each method of financing. In the hope that the public might be better informed on the subject, next week we will present the basic arguments in favor of each plan. Our own thoughts on the matter will follow as developments dictate.

Hooray For Ads!

Advertising, in its various forms, has come in for its share of criticism.

But in the final analysis, advertising is the consumer's best friend. Advertising "delinquency" — like juvenile delinquency — is committed by only a fractional percentage of the total membership.

The housewife who would shop without first reading the food ads is rare, if not non-existent. What man buys a car without first having checked the latest information on the newest models? Who would think of buying a home, or furnishing one, without first "shopping the ads?"

The advertising industry is enormous. It provides many good jobs for many good people. But first and foremost, advertising is the people's best reference bureau for the purchase of the best quality at the most economical cost.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

One Man's Poison Is Another's Investment

One hundred years ago this week, a fugitive bedded down in a swamp, cursing the countryside and the government that owned it. The countryside was Florida. The government was the U.S.A. And the fugitive was a former vice-president of the United States. His name was John C. Breckinridge, Confederate Secretary of War.

The Breckinridge "hegira" is a little-known epilogue of the Civil War. It is a story of courage and desperation, and of a man who walked through acres of diamonds and damned the stones that hurt his feet.

Jones

After the capture of Lee and the surrender of Joe Johnston, the U.S. War Department, infuriated by the assassination of Lincoln, set out to run down the fleeing members of the Confederate Cabinet.

It was rumored that the Confederate officials had $13 million in Treasury gold. (The true figure was $327,000.) It was feared that Jefferson Davis might make good on his determination to recreate the Confederacy in Texas or even Mexico. So the manhunt was pursued with zeal.

During the week of May 10, Davis, Postmaster General John Reagan, Vice-President Alexander H. Stephens and Navy Secretary Stephen Mallory were caught in Georgia. On June 10 Treasury Secretary George Trenholm was taken near Columbia, S.C. Attorney General George Davis, ragged and half-starved, gave himself up at Key West on Oct. 18. Only Secretary of State Judah P. Benjamin and Breckinridge succeeded in escaping.

Breckinridge, having dismissed his military guard of 45 men, arrived in Madison, Fla., on May 15 and conferred with Brig Gen. Joseph Finegan, who had commanded Confederate forces in Florida. Finegan outlined an escape route running from the house of one reliable sympathizer to another as far as Lake George on the St. John's River.

At the St. John's the agony began. On May 26 Breckinridge and six companions started upriver in a 17-foot boat captured from the Federal steamer, Columbine. "Crocodiles" nearly upset it. Navigator for the expedition was Col. John Taylor Wood, grandson of Zachary Taylor and nephew of Robert E. Lee. Years later, recalling those days on the upper St. John's, Colonel Wood said you could "swing a bucket twice around your head and fill it with mosquitoes."

At the headwaters the men found a "cracker" who owned two oxen. For a stiff price the native agreed to haul the boat 18 miles overland to the Indian River on the Atlantic Ocean. It was a nightmare. The blackflies and horseflies had the oxen covered with blood. The men were maddened by chiggers. Exhausted, they reached salt water at a point three miles above the present city of Titusville. Their cornmeal was moldy. They discovered a few trees bearing sour oranges.

General Breckinridge later said, "I never saw such poor people. The crackers barely had rags to cover them. This is awful country."

On June 2 they sneaked past a Federal encampment at night. A few days later Col. James Wilson shot a deer and they lived on a strange diet of venison, coconut and lemons. Finally they ran out of everything and were reduced to hunting turtle eggs.

A Federal gunboat overtook them. But the Breckinridge party was so dirty and ragged that they easily passed as "wreckers," i.e. beachcombers who lived on salvage.

The boat by now was strained and leaky and it was obvious it would never complete an ocean voyage. So a few days later the American ex-vice-president led a piracy expedition and, at pistol point, relieved three men of a larger and stronger boat.

At one point on their journey they were so hungry they begged fish and fried corncakes from a miserable Seminole town. Off a "wreckers" village called Fort Dallas they were chased by five boatloads of tough men. They had to shoot one to drive them off and they camped that night on a sandspit across the bay. The next day they headed out to sea, nearly foundered in a storm, ran out of water, boldly begged some from the brig Neptune out of Bangor, Maine, and on June 11 finally arrived triumphantly at Cardenas, Cuba, where a fiesta was immediately declared in their honor.

The rest of the story is quickly told. Breckinridge stayed in England and Canada for four years until the heat was off. Robert E. Lee offered him a faculty post at Washington College, now Washington and Lee, but he preferred to return to Kentucky where he practiced law successfully until his death at 54 in 1875.

But that's not quite all the story, either. Where Breckinridge and his men ate the poor, sour oranges is now the wonderland of Indian River citrus groves. Where they scratched for turtle eggs is a place called Palm Beach. The Indian village where they begged food became Fort Lauderdale. The pirates' nest of Fort Dallas was where downtown Miami is, and the pirates chased them across Biscayne Bay to the sandspit now known as Miami Beach.

For three weeks seven brave, intelligent men swatted flies, scratched chiggers and cussed a land that now sells, not by the acre, but by the foot.

It was tough enough to lose a war.

But to think that they failed to buy real estate!

'THE GRIST'
Ground Out by Dusty Miller

In the prehistoric age of railroad trains and tall corn, a dining car steward on the Illinois Central's Chicago-to-Omaha "Tall Corn," shared a laugh with me as he served my order of fresh rhubarb.

"Yesterday," he said, "an elderly woman seemed to be having difficulty with the menu card, so I suggested that the rhubarb was freshly prepared and that patrons seemed to like it. She said: 'I'll try some.'

Dusty

"When the waiter served it, she looked at it and said with scorn: 'That ain't nothin' but pieplant'!"

I grinned: "I still call it that. I can't spell 'rhubarb' without giving it a rheumatic twinge. I didn't progress with the sophisticates of my generation who called it 'wineplant.'"

Who among you has noticed that in so many ways the rhubarb of today is merely the pieplant of yesterday?

What I get tiredest of is me —
The chore of dressing and feeding me;
The bore of listening to me.
Not having to comb
My hairless dome
Is all the break I get from me;
The only prayer I pray for me
Is: "Please, O, Lord, save me from me!"

Frosting on the Cake
BY "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

The Communists are not dummies; they are wrong as Judas, but they are not fooling. The main idea is still complete world enslavement and every imaginable subterfuge and hypocrisy is being used all over the world. There can no longer be any doubt that the world is now completely engaged in a war to the death between liberty under law and complete enslavement of all peoples by a Godless and utterly ruthless conspiracy against personal freedom.

How in the world a supposedly educated generation can fail to see this glaring truth remains the inexplicable mystery today. The Communist conspiracy is supplied with unlimited brains and money for the constant exploitation of ignorant masses. It is the same old poisonous seduction of "everything for free" to those who live wholly in the world of wishful thinking.

Now, right here at home we see billions of dollars being squandered in futile pie-in-the-sky boondoggling. Ignorance is going to be outlawed. Professional indigency is going to be made more and more respectable. The "welfare racket" is still the healthiest and most potent political weed in the political swamp.

Capable medical care is still the oldest and most important single social service. But, the present stampede to outlaw the private practice of the healing arts is now so potent that only the disillusionment to come is going to keep medicine from becoming a political racket.

Man still refuses to learn anything except the hard way.

MEMORIAL DAY

The muffled drum's sad roll has beat
The soldier's last tattoo;
No more on Life's parade shall meet
The brave and fallen few.
On Fame's eternal camping ground,
Their silent tents are spread,
And glory guards, with solemn round,
The bivouac of the dead.

Asks Central Market Okay

To the Editor:

I sincerely hope that members of City Council will be civic-minded enough to lay aside politics and vote unanimously to lease the land owned by the city at Fourth and Mound-sts to the Central Market Association for a new market house.

The old market has been one of the city's landmarks, one that has been well patronized over the years by the early settlers of Columbus. There is a lot of sentiment attached to this project, especially among the old-time residents, and if anything is to be perpetuated in the Market-Mohawk area it should be "old Central Market" in a new setting.

Many of the members of the market association are pioneer Columbus residents and councilmen should unite in making their dream for a new market come true.

Councilmen will gain nothing politically by opposing this project which is an asset and a part of this community.

Native Citizen

Against Sewer Rate Hike

To the Editor:

As I understand it the City of Columbus has a contract with the residents of Bexley and other suburbs and therefore their sewer tax cannot be raised.

I suppose when more territory is annexed these will also have contracts with Columbus.

Will the residents of Columbus, especially the older citizens, be obliged to pay the increase when they can ill-afford to eke out an existence now?

All their hard-earned savings accumulated with much self-denial are fast diminishing and they are being reduced to the status of paupers instead of self-respecting, free citizens in this supposedly prosperous country of ours.

It's high time we used common sense and do our duty by these older citizens.

They are forced from the homes they built and lived in and are shifted about in the years when they should feel secure.

They had good home training for life (not always the case today) in their youth—a good foundation to build on for success.

They are not being treated fairly with the respect due them. Many are doing twice as much as many pleasure-loving folks of today. It's time we gave them a break.

Anna Schreiber

TB Work Will Continue

As chairman of the Citizens' Committee to Renew the TB Tax Levy, I wish to thank the voters of Franklin County for renewing this .55-mill reduced levy.

Through your foresight, this levy passed two to one, which means that we are going to continue the fight against tuberculosis and that we will be able to for those in our community who have contracted this dread disease.

Says Thanks For Issue I

To the Editor:

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to the voters of Ohio for approving State Issue Number One—Student Loans.

The bi-partisan "yes" vote making Section 5 of Article VI a part of the Ohio Constitution reassures present day and future college students who may need to borrow money from private lending institutions in order to complete their education that the citizens of Ohio have faith and confidence in our youth.

Passage of this issue will decrease the number of college drop-outs and will enable a qualified student who might never attend college, to obtain a higher education.

On behalf of my colleagues on the OHEAC, I want to also thank your newspaper for its editorial support of Issue One.

ONE MAN'S Opinion . . .

A Sad State Of Justice

Add yet another courtroom folly in that great state of justice, Alabama, with the mistrial of one Collie LeRoy Wilkins, accused of murdering Mrs. Viola Liuzzo. She was the Detroit woman who was gunned down following the Civil Rights march on Montgomery Mar. 25.

Witteameier

The all-white jury could only muster a 10 to 2 guilty tally despite the eyewitness account of the slaying by an FBI undercover man and evidence which showed bullets from Wilkins' gun and those taken from the dead woman's body were identical.

For all practical purposes the verdict might has well been 12-0 for acquittal.

"They'll have to show me a helluva lot more evidence than they did," was the comment of one of the dissenters from a guilty verdict. The man is an avowed white supremist.

I wonder how much evidence would have had to be shown if the accused were black instead of white.

Dr. Sam Sheppard is sweating out another return to prison. He was convicted of murdering his wife in a trial which presented far less evidence than that produced at the Wilkins trial.

But then what kind of justice can you expect when the prosecution's pre-trial contention was one of disgust with any Civil Rights movement—adding, of course, the woman should not have been murdered.

"Innocent until proven guilty, beyond any reasonable doubt," is the way our justice reads. It seems "reasonable doubt" stretches a long way in Alabama.

Since the trial, Wilkins has become a central figure at Ku Klux Klan rallies around the state. At one particular gathering he made a point of signing autographs for "fans."

It's doubtful if Wilkins or any other of his kind will ever be convicted in an Alabama courtroom.

We only wish the state of Alabama would change the signs posted at its borders to read: "Welcome to Alabama, where murder is legal if the assailant is white and the victim is black or a black sympathizer."

How much longer must we endure the South's compromise with justice!

—Jack Witteameier

Guest Pulpit . . .

Memorial Day, commonly known as Decoration Day, is a day set apart in the United States for decorating the graves of its soldiers and for holding commemorative exercises.

This observance originated in the Southern States after the Civil War. Then it was copied in the North. In 1868 General John A. Logan, then commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, issued a general order setting aside the 30th day of May for the purpose of placing flowers upon the graves of soldiers and for such services as local posts might direct. It is now the custom of both the North and the South to decorate the graves of soldiers regardless of the side on which they fought.

Rev. Lane

America! the land of freedom and a great heritage! Those ideals for which our forefathers fought and died will always linger in our minds. Past, present and future America cannot be understood apart from our faith in God, for it has always been identified with God. It cannot be understood apart from a spiritual movement.

In April, Rev. Abkar Haaq spoke to a group of businessmen on the Hilltop and made a timely observation. He said that when he came to America from India he decided to find out for himself what made America so great. And after much investigation he discovered that this nation began with a constitution "Under God." Its leaders and founders believed in God, and they created a constitution under God.

Above the first governmental document in the Mayflower are these memorable words, "In the name of God, Amen." Even the smallest coin in America carries the significant inscription, "In God We Trust."

Our nation has incessantly stressed religious freedom. It began with a sense of spiritual origin and spiritual destiny. And while there are other nations who offer freedom of some fashion, there is only one true freedom—"freedom under God."

James Russell Lowell once was asked, "How long do you think the American Republic will endure?" And he replied quite ably, "As long as the spirit of the writers of the Constitution prevails in America."

While there are disappointing factors existing in America, the bright side of life tells us that there are many who have a tremendous love and faith in America.

We must guard these ramparts of faith with diligence!

A LONG WAY FROM GREENWICH VILLAGE

Columbus' 'New Artists' Aren't Starving

There is nothing as colorful, clean-sweeping and dynamic as the stroke of an artist's brush on new canvas in today's world of art.

Gone are the old cliches — the dirty garret, the Left Bank eccentricities, the grubby hands, the tattered clothes that identified the starving artist and revealed the world's disdain of his miserable profession.

Today is art day, the artist's day, everywhere, and this sudden awareness of the cultural nuances of art is spawning a new generation of future Rembrandts, Titians and van Goghs.

Today, art has donned the neat garb of business. Even art dealers have university degrees, framed and hanging among their paintings.

The artist is no longer starving.

On the side he is a mechanic, a construction worker, a professor or a stock broker.

Locally, the Columbus Art League has more than 400 members. Some of them paint professionally and are widely recognized. But the majority are unheralded students and hobbyists with a job that provides support during their fledging painting efforts.

This is revealed in the list of officers elected May 18 by the Columbus Art League:

The new president is James F. Merkel of the Securities Firm of Sweney Cartwright and Co., 17 S. High-st, where during the daytime he plans investment programs for individuals and handles their stock and bond transactions. On an evening, he may be paintaing a watercolor or working in oils.

Other officers elected were: Richard G. Berry and Mrs. Rosemary Davis, vice-presidents; William Arter and Mrs. Patricia A. Krum, first and second secretaries, respectively and Mrs. Nancy Kuempel, treasurer.

Governors of the league are Hans Rietenbach, Leland McClelland, Mrs. Evelyn Clark and Clara Ebinger.

The roster can scarcely be termed a list of "starving artists." Yet each practices with palette and brush, encourages student artists, and contributes importantly to the cultural art explosion that is sweeping the nation and Columbus.

To some who have recently become "art conscious," there is confusion between the Columbus Art League and the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts.

New League President Merkel said, "League members are 'doers in painting.' They are those who are sufficiently interested in art to go into competition."

The Gallery, he said, is the center of art in Central Ohio, an exceptional place that, among other activities, provides an outlet for the art enthusiasts' efforts.

Currently, the Columbus Art League is holding its May Showing at the Gallery where the works of many members are on exhibit. Among the paintings Columbus art-lovers may find a future "masterpiece," by a yet-unrecognized master.

Gardens And Flowers

By JIM GRUETT

OUTSIDE — Heavy canopies of vivid green leaves have masked the dull buds and branches displayed by our shade trees a few weeks back. Most spring flowering trees and shrubs have produced their picturesque showing and have joined their green-leaved companions. The time has come to plant colorful annuals and perennials.

LAWNS — Seeding grasses will become more wire-like and difficult to mow as June draws near. Weeds of all descriptions are now thriving in many lawns. When buying weed-control chemicals be certain about the specific weed you are attempting to kill. A surprising number of homeowners purchase and apply wrong products each year. If you are in doubt about a specific weed, send a dry sample wrapped in foil and placed inside an envelope to me—Jim Gruett, 113 W. Rich-st, Columbus, O. I will be happy to identify the weed free of charge and suggest the most practical control it one is available.

TREES — Uutil last Sunday's rain many trees displayed wilted leaves and a dull lifeless appearance. When one realizes that a single shade tree is capable of giving off over 500 gallons of water to the atmosphere in a single day, it stands to reason that wilting would occur during long periods of dry weather. Many beautiful thornless Locust trees are available at local garden centers. This is a tree worth considering in your landscape.

SHRUBS — Several varieties of honeysuckle are currently blooming along with some kose of Sharons. Don't forget to feed your shrubs before late summer.

ANNUALS — This will oe the big weekend for homegardeners to select and buy annual plants such as petunias, geraniums and scores of others. Torco Garden Center at 5737 Avery-rd has an outstanding selection of colorful annuals. Remember to pinch the blooms on petunias and geraniums after they have flowered to encourage thicker plants with more blooms.

PERENNIALS — Iris are at their peak right now. Other perennials coming into bloom soon are Delphinums, Sweet Williams, Foxgloves, Day Lilies, Candytuft and Planted Daisy. Still time to plant new varieties.

ROSES — The queen of all flowers in many gardeners' opinions is now in the spot light. Many varieties are already in bloom. Feed roses monthly up until August to stimulate new growth. Buds form on new growth exclusively.

DECORATION DAY — Avery Road Florist, located next door to Torco Garden Center at 5737 Avery-rd, will display many colorful artificial wreaths and cemetery arrangements made of artifical flowers. Many beautiful cut flower bouquet will also be available along with mixed garden pots of striking petunias and geraniums.

Summer Reading Class Set

A summer program to enrich and strengthen reading skills, and to assist pupils who have not learned to read as well as they should will be conducted by the Diocesan Department of Education at St. Agnes School, 2350 W. Mount-st.

Registrations for children in grades one to 10 will be accepted by phone before June 9 at the Diocesan Schools office, 80 S. Sixth-st, 224-5829.

Classes will be held June 21 to July 23.

Since only a limited number of students can be accepted, early contact is suggested.

Instruction will be offered in remedial reading, developmental and programmed reading and in study techniques.

Diocesan Schools point out that reading is not only the most important skill pupils learn in schools, but it is also a very complicated one. And because reading is so vital to school success the pupil cannot afford to take a vacation from it.

Frequent visits to the library or bookmobile, or enrollment in a summer reading program is suggested to prevent "summer slump."

COFFEE BREAK

My 'Batting Average' Or Mom Strikes Out

By ADELINE DALEY

Baseball, as everyone will agree, is a game in which statistics play an important role. Records are kept of everything from batting averages to, presumably, how many shoe-laces are broken.

Wouldn't it upgrade the status of a housewife if statistics were kept on her daily achievements? Shouldn't the world know, for instance, that my "batting average" on cake successes is such that only three out of 10 cakes I bake turn out to be flops? Some other notable records:

Most windows broken in one season — 5. (Those compensated by insurance — 0).

Most times milk spilled during one meal — 4 tumblers. (That's why they call them "tumblers."). Consecutive times milk spilled — 4300.

Most phone calls received in one day — 52. (Number of calls for parents, average—1.8).

Individual record — 17, recorded by Elaine, Nov. 8, 1963; longest call — Kathie to Cindy, 2½ hours, Feb. 12, 1962; shortest call — my husband, 15 seconds, Feb. 12, informing me that phone would be ripped from wall.

Largest attendance while I'm taking a bath — eight, including 3 neighbor kids and a dog, Apr. 12, 1965 (new record).

Most shutouts (from house) in one season — 5, 1957. (Until we got a second key made and tired of hoisting kids through the kitchen window.)

Most putouts one evening—9, Mar. 17, 1962 (4 times for the cat, 3 times for the dog, and 2 for guests).

Most errors, one day — 17, Oct. 10, 1964. (Including—burned another cake, overdrew checking account, purchased present automobile, forgot an aunt's birthday, let water overflow in kitchen while soaking dishes, scorched husband's best shirt, put red sock in laundry and accepted a PTA chairmanship.)

Most HBS (Hit By Sister), one season — Brian, any day, any time.

Most sacrifices, lifetime total — Just being a parent.

Buckeye Boys' Ranch Offers Home For Troubled Boys

THE TWO BUILDINGS at Buckeye Boys' Ranch will be a study in contrast when the new building, in background, is completed. The rustic original building at left was constructed in 1961, and houses living quarters for 12 boys, child-care couple, and offices for the administrative and professional staff. The new building is being built at a cost of $115,000, which is being donated by the Women's Juvenile Service Board.

INFORMAL GROUP SESSIONS are held frequently to coordinate activities for the following day or week, or as group therapy. The ranch life program is based on a structured but flexible and permissive environment. This enables adolescent boys to identify with accepting adults, to become part of a group, and to give free expression to their sometimes hostile and pent-up feelings. Often they can find a way out of their unhappiness.

Respect, Faith, Friendship Solve Emotional Problems

By BILL ORTH

"Here may understanding build self respect, may mutual trust engender faith, may cooperation lead to genuine friendships . . . May all that is done here contribute to a rich and full life."

These are two of five sentences on a dedication plaque in the ranch house at Buckeye Boys' Ranch. They express the purpose of the unique place where selected boys are permitted to live and work out "problems with life."

The Ranch was conceived in 1955 when a women's organization completed an exhaustive study of the unfilled needs of Franklin County and found there was no facility for the rehabilitation of emotionally disturbed boys in or near Columbus.

The board, which had previously directed the Columbus Boys' Choir, reorganized to meet the new self-made obligation, and emerged as the Women's Juvenile Service Board.

The board immediately began a long range program to establish such a facility.

In 1961 the plans jelled and the first building was completed. Situated on an 80-acre tract at 5665 Hoover-rd, southeast of Grove City, the rustic-appearing ranch type building would house offices for administrative and professional staffers, living quarters for 10 boys and a child-care couple.

When the facility was opened four boys were admitted. Within a couple of months, six more were accepted by the Ranch. Leslie A. Bostic, 654 Larosa-dr, Grove City, was named as executive director and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Newburn were hired as the child-care couple.

When a boy is accepted for the Ranch, he generally has come from an environment which has impeded his capacity to mature. Residential treatment is regarded as an interim phase in the boy's life, with a view toward either his return to his own home or to a foster home.

The residential care is always coordinated with other concurrent services to the boy and his family. He needs help in gaining self understanding. His parents often need help in accepting his removal from the home and in recognizing their role in the problems which necessitate his removal.

"Treatment, therefore, consists of a carefully integrated plan of individual counseling sessions with parents and boy, combined with therapeutically directed living experience."

Psychiatrists, physicians, psychologists, social case workers and group workers provide professional services, which are essential in planning and programming and in guiding the treatment of the individual problems.

In addition to individual and group therapy, the boys are given a chance to live a normal life. They attend schools and church, may hold part-time jobs, go shopping and go out on dates in Grove City. There are recreational facilities at the Ranch, as well as a classroom for those who need extra help with school subjects. A work program provides a different kind of association, as do discussion periods (individually and in groups). The boys also have time to get away and do some thinking by themselves.

Boys are admitted to the Ranch at any time of the year as space is available. Two to three years is regarded as a "normal" length of stay. Referrals are accepted primarily from the County Juvenile Court, Child Welfare Center, Juvenile Diagnostic Center and the Youth Commission.

"In considering applications, preference is given those for whom progress is hopeful in terms of treatment offered."

The boys are generally between the ages of 12 and 16, are capable of attending the public school system, are physically sound, are having difficulty because of a troubled home-life and are rebelling against adult authority.

Costs of the care and treatment is shared by funds from the United Appeal and fees from parents or referring social agencies. Tuition is also paid by the parents or social agencies.

On July 1, the second of five planned ranch houses will be ready for occupancy. The $115,000 structure is much like its predecessor, but built on a more modern theme.

It will offer complete living space for 12 more boys and another child-care couple, two classrooms, a recreation area, offices, a modern kitchen and dining area, all in a relaxing atmosphere.

Funds for the building were raised by the WJSB, with help from other groups and community organizations. Additional facilities will be constructed as money becomes available and according to a plan which takes into consideration community need and ability to support increased program costs.

AN AMATEUR GARDENER works hard at dressing up trees and shrubbery around the Ranch. As the personal life of each boy is varied, so is the range of his activities at the Ranch. Some are interested in gardening, some in mechanics, and some just want to be left alone. Each boy is encouraged to participate in some form of activity whenever possible.

HOUSE MOTHER Mrs. Everett Newburn, or "Mom," as she is known to the boys, takes time out from her busy schedule to listen to one of the boys' problems. Or, perhaps she is giving him a few tips for the next "date" he will have in Grove City nearby.

EACH BOY HAS a definite chore he must do during each day. Chores range from cleaning rooms to working in the yard. Here, one of the boys sets the table prior to the evening meal. The dining room is completely informal, and boys and staff eat at a quiet pace. The resident house mother, Mrs. Everett Newburn, cooks all meals in a well-appointed kitchen, and each meal is a "meal at home."

INDIVIDUAL COUNSELING sessions are given each boy in a carefully integrated plan. Residential treatment at the Ranch is regarded as an interim phase in the boy's life, with the view toward either his return to his own home or to a foster home, if the first is impossible. Below, a boy works on homework using one of many books in the Ranch's library. All of the boys attend school in one of the South-Western City schools, and some are given extra instruction in the facility's own classroom.

MRS. MARY SMITH, secretary to the administrative staff of the Ranch, has worked there for more than three years. She first began on a part-time basis, but as work increased, so did her activities. She is usually one of the first to greet a newcomer to the Ranch, and one of the first to wish them well when they leave.

SPORT AND RECREATIONAL facilities at the Ranch are varied. Boys may work out at tumbling or wrestling, as shown here, ping pong, boxing, bicycling and many other activities. Future plans call for the building of a man-made lake in front of the present ranch house where the boys can swim, boat or try their hand at fishing. In the past, camping under supervision has been done in the woods on the Ranch.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR Leslie Bostic, right, and assistant director George Pulliam look over the new ranch building which will be completed about July 1. The building will house an additional 12 boys, rooms for a second child-care couple, recreation facilities and classrooms in the basement, large living room with fireplace and some offices.

Under Buckeye Skies

By KEN MACK McCREARY

Words To The Wise . . .

Are you all set? Well, the long Memorial Day holiday weekend, the first of the big three of summer, is almost upon us. For many folks in Spectatorland, this will be the first really good opportunity for the family to take off and relax outdoors. For many of us it will mark the first splash of the swimming season, while many others will be heading for some relaxation while boating, fishing, camping, water skiing or picnicking.

Mack

Whether you plan to travel to Lake Erie, one of the 54 state park areas or some other favorite haunt, you might as well make up your mind right now — it's probably going to be mighty crowded. This first summer-season weekend will see more Ohioans than ever before out under Buckeye skies, and before you get back home you're liable to feel that most of them are right around you.

Unpleasant as it may be to talk about, this long weekend holiday will be tragically marred with injuries and death —on the streets and highways, on and in the water and in other areas meant for pleasant relaxation.

Before the Memorial Day holiday ends on Monday night we'll be hearing of many people killed in boating accidents. To me this is completely senseless. The rules of safety afloat are not complicated — they're simply a matter of common sense and courtesy. Yet there is an amazing number of people who should know better, but endanger themselves and their passengers.

Perhaps the biggest invitation to disaster is overloading the boat. Already this spring there have been several instances where at least five persons (that's right, at least FIVE) have lost their lives when an unthinking skipper loaded the craft to the gunwales and it swamped. Sure, it's a temptation to load mom, all the kids and the rest of the clan on board for a fast pleasure cruise around the lake — but don't.

Also, when you take the family out, make certain that there are approved boat cushions for all the adults and that they know how to use them. For the kids, provide life jackets, worn at all times on and near the water. In addition, make certain your boat has all the necessary safety equipment, especially fire extinguishers. It's that old story about an ounce of prevention, and when you're boating a good half of that ounce is simply using your head, and not taking chances because you think an accident can't happen to you.

Water skiing is another aquatic fun sport which has inborn danger that is best eliminated by good common sense. One of the tragic sights I'll never forget occurred on a Memorial Day some years ago. As I stood on dock at Lake Cumberland, Ky., a handsome white boat roared up — inside was a pretty teenage girl who had been critically injured while water skiing. When she lost her balance and fell the boat had circled to pick her up, but the pilot didn't see the girl's bobbing head and the powerful prop struck the girl. The girl lived, but she'll never be able to water ski again.

This coming weekend will probably bring tragedy at the ol' swimming hole. Never go swimming in areas where you don't know the water, never swim alone and never try to prove how powerful a swimmer you are. Once again, it's just using plain old horse sense.

Whether it's swimming, boating or any other thing, kids have a special knack of getting into trouble, so make it a point to keep an eye on them.

By now, you're probably thinking that ol' Ken has really gotten up on the soap box and is preaching up a storm — but if the sermon results in just one tragedy being averted, then I'll climb back on the box again come the Fourth of July, Labor Day, and perhaps even when Memorial Day rolls around next year.

Although no area individual seems likely to touch existing records in the "A" competition, the same cannot be said in the "AA".

EAST'S Solomon Espie, in the 100, and South's Jim "Smokey" Wilson, in the high jump, have the best shot at standing marks.

Espie was only one-tenth second off Jesse Owen's long-standing (1933) record in the 100 last weekend in Regional competition and the fleet Tiger sprinter has already bettered Owen's time with a :09.8 earlier this spring.

High jumper Wilson has also bettered the existing mark in his specialty (Perron Dubard, Toledo Libbey, 6'5", 1950) by three-fourths of an inch this season. "Smoke" went 6'4¾" last Saturday at the Regionals.

ALSO TO BE considered Saturday are Eastmoor's Leonard Willis in the 880 and Arlington's 880 relay quartet (Dan Jones, Skeet Hopkins, Dick Fishel and Randy Walker).

Willis, who was clocked at 1:57.2 at the Regionals, is only three-tenths of a second over the standing record, rewritten just last spring by Dayton Jefferson's Rick Poole.

The Arlington foursome finished the 880 relay Saturday in 1:29.9, which is 1 4/10 second off Cleveland Glenville's record 1963 time.

Eyer, Shade Admitted To No-Hit Club

Central's Pete Eyer and Reynoldsburg's Craig Shade were enrolled in The Spectator's exclusive "No-Hit Club" this week for respective whitewash jobs on Aquinas (3-0) and Dublin (7-0).

Eyer's and Shade's admittance to the club, started this spring by The Spectator, raises the total of members to eight.

YMCA Opens Swim Classes

The Columbus Central Branch YMCA begins a series of three adult co-ed beginners only swim classes on Wednesday, June 2. The second class starts June 30 and the third and final class on July 28, 1965.

The course is limited to beginners only, adults (18 or over) and runs four weeks with twice weekly sessions. Class periods are 8 to 10 p.m. on Wednesdays and 6:30 to 8 p.m. on Friday evenings.

Y members and non-members alike may enroll. Members pay a $8 fee and non-YMCA members $10 for the condensed short course.

Further information may be obtained by calling the YMCA (224-1131) either membership or physical office. Advance enrollments are important as the classes are limited as to number of entrants.

OUR REMAINING WILDERNESS

In the state and national forests of Ohio we have a few patches of wilderness uncombed still by the fine tooth of civilization.

Of course no one has the right to invade private property without its owner's consent. This applies to hunters, fishermen, and to those who merely want to be outside in nature's gardens.

But many square miles are being preserved in the public domain for the benefit of present and future generations. These range in size from small properties such as our roadside parks to big forests such as Wayne and Shawnee.

The big forest lands have been bought from private owners. The trees are second or third generation stands, for we know of little if any "virgin" forests left. Most of the forests are in Southern Ohio because that's where the most marginal lands are best adapted to the purpose.

The only "improvements" about these places are parking spaces, pure water, and sanitary facilities needed about picnic areas. The rest of the land, after proper planting, is allowed to become as nature intended it to be.

Prehistoric earthworks have not been neglected. Many mounds have been plowed over and lost, but there are still an estimated 10,000 left in the state. Best known of the preserved ones are at Newark, Marietta, Chillicothe, and the Serpent Mound in Adams County.

This observer has seen properties such as these in more than half of our states. In some of the nation's areas, especially in the West, they are bigger than ours. But we know of no state doing more than Ohio to preserve natural beauty.

It says here. . . . .

All this is obvious, but it's good to repeat it once in a while.

Jets To Host Atlanta, Suns In Home Stand

The Columbus Jets, battling to retain their first division hold in the early International League going, play host to the two clubs they must beat to maintain a "first four" berth in a seven-game home stand opening tomorrow night at the Stadium.

Jacksonville's Suns invade tomorrow night at 8 p.m. to get Larry Shepard's stalwarts off on their fourth home stand of the season.

THE SUNS are scheduled for a Saturday night single game (6:30 p.m.) before concluding their stay with a Sunday doubleheader, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

League-leading Atlanta arrives on Jacksonville's heels, opening with a big Memorial Day twinbill. The twilight pair starts at 5 p.m.

After an open date Tuesday, Columbus concludes the home stand with a single night game with the Crackers (8 p.m.) The finale match will be the second Family Night of the season with men admitted to the grandstand for $1, ladies invited for 50 cents and children under 12 admitted free (if accompanied by parents).

PICNIC facilities will be available on Monday for the Memorial Day doubleheader.

After Wednesday's final game with Atlanta, the Jets depart for Syracuse, then go on to Rochester before returning to the Stadium Thursday, June 10 for a six-day home stand against the same two clubs.

BONNIE NEWMAN AND "HERMAN"
For Spectator photographer, a perfect gentleman.

DISTINCTLY DIFFERENT

Herman's Just Like Any Other Pet But - -

By JACK WITTENMEIER

Bonnie Newman has a pet which is distinctly different from most other people's.

In fact, "Herman" isn't exactly the kind of pet most people picture "cuddling up to."

Herman's loveable enough and a perfect gentleman to boot but he's . . . well, you see — Herman's a skunk.

Named after the equally loveable character on "The Munsters," Herman is a nearly full-grown skunk, seven months old now and doesn't seem to mind the confines of the great indoors, according to Mrs. Newman.

"I always wanted a skunk for a pet and there were plenty of them available in Arizona. But acquiring one there was a 'do it yourself project' so we never did it," Mrs. Newman relates.

Upon return to Columbus, Bonnie had pretty well given up the idea for her unique pet when husband Max brought Herman home one evening from a pet shop.

Since then, a well behaved Herman has made the Newmans' apartment at 783 S. James-rd "home."

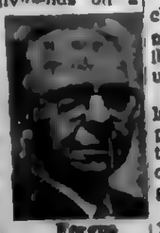
Herman is like just about any other fun-loving pet, plays with a rubber ball and when the mood strikes him, rolls it back to Bonnie.

Herman developed such an affinity for balloons (after the Newmans brought him one from a party), it's becoming a slight problem for the Newmans, keeping their black-and-white buddy well-stocked.

About the only thing that irritates Bonnie is the constant query about Herman "Is he de-fumed?"

Herman enjoys rides in the car and the reception he gets there is usually a pleasant smile from passing motorists.

Diet-wise, Herman is completely sold on Gaines Burgers. "Although milk makes him sick, he loves it," Mrs. Newman says. "We've got to be careful how we ration it out."



Home for Herman is the Newmans' closet where he snoozes away most of the day. Herman doesn't sleep nearly enough to satisfy the Newmans' canaries, which get slightly nervous each time he appears. ("Herman ignores the birds.")

Maybe Herman understood when this reporter told him he was the first skunk he had ever photographed at such close range. He sat very still and didn't even blink once.

But then, like we said before, Herman's a perfect gentleman.

Park Federal Announces Quarterly Savings Dividend

Park Federal Savings and Loan Association today (May 26) became the first savings and loan in Columbus to pay dividends on a quarterly basis.

Fergus

The announcement was made by Carl F. Fergus, president at a press conference at University Club. He said the new divident goes into effect immediately.

Park Federal currently pays four percent interest on savings. The new quarterly dividend will fall due the last day of the month in March, June, September and December. Fergus pointed out that since the final dividend under the previous semi-annual basis falls due June 30, the initial quarterly dividend will be paid Sept. 30.

Although earnings will be slightly higher under the new arrangement, Park Federal said the main reason it is changing to more frequent payment is the increased flexibility it offers depositors for using their savings.

"Now people who accumulate savings for specific purposes can use their money twice as often as before without sacrificing interest," Fergus declared.

At the close of business in 1964, Park Federal, now in its 76th year, reported total assets of $41,135,564.20. The savings and loan downtown office is presently at 20 E. Long-st, but according to Jack W. Chilcote, vice-president and secretary, will be moved to 8 E. Broad-st this summer after remodeling.

Park Federal has branch offices at 1682 Northland Mall, 1885 Northwest-blvd, 4770 W. Broad-st, and 777 High-st, Worthington.

Wit 'N' Wisdom

By JACK WITTENMEIER

Jets 'N' Mets' . . .

It was in 1961, you remember, that the Columbus Jets brought home the International League flag on the strength of tight pitching, good defense and clutch hitting.

THIS YEAR'S version seems to have the same ingredients for the most part. We're still a long way from Sept. 1 (Jets' final game) but those wins count just as much now as then.

Again distressing this spring is the usual lackadaisical support of the Wittenmeier ball club by local fans.

If the Jets continue to play such a brand of exciting baseball and still can't draw, Harold Cooper should have his answer once and for all — Columbus just isn't interested.

AS WMNI'S Jim Martin (radio voice of the Jets this spring) says, "If you're the kind of baseball fans I think you are, I'll be seeing you out at the ball park soon."

We hope Jim's right!

Goodbye South Suburban! Hello Metro!

THAT'S ABOUT the most appropriate message for the demise of the one-year old SSL and the birth of the Metropolitan Athletic League recently.

The new six-team alignment which will open with football in 1966 will contain ex-SSL mates Pleasant View, Franklin Heights, Teays Valley and Hamilton Township plus Reynoldsburg (late of the FCL) and Whitehall, former CCL member.

LATE LAST year in a three-part series we suggested that the SSL could solve some of the league woes around the area ("Can SSL Provide Salvation," Dec. 21, '64) and basically that's just what happened.

Not that we're some kind of a "Houdini," the move was just the most logical one available.

We also pointed out Reynoldsburg's "hot seat" in a crumbling FCL (since then Rosary and St. Marys have announced plans to be "phasing out" between now and 1970, making the FCL's future all the more dim).

THE FORMATION of the Metro League also provided a clearer indication of a probable solid Central Catholic League in the future.

One of the present members of the CCL was voted down by loop members in its proposal to break away and join the Metro alignment.

Apparently, the CCL, which by 1970, will have five full time members (Ready, Hartley, Watterson, DeSales and Wehrle) will anxiously await the arrival of its sixth compadre (high school planned in the Arlington area) to establish the type of parochial league which has proved successful in Cincinnati.

The Wonderful World of ANIMALS

By Frank Miller, D.V.M.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Eddie Cat III is, like his predecessors, a Persian. He has no problems but is just starting to shed out his winter coat. I thought you might like to print this or at least mention the fact that long-haired cats will especially need combing in the next few weeks.

We have known people who complain bitterly about how hard a long-haired cat is to take care of and how the hair gets all matted and impossible to comb.

If those people would just take five minutes a day to comb out the loose hair, it would never get matted in the first place. People who can't be bothered to spend a few minutes a day to take care of their cat should not bother to have a cat.—L.E.

COMMENT: A long-haired cat needs grooming on a year-round basis, but during periods of accelerated hair loss—spring and fall—regular care is essential. If your cat is not used to being combed patience in the beginning is a great virtue. The cat who is taught to enjoy grooming will look forward to daily sessions of caressing, not combat.

• • •

DEAR DR. MILLER: Cricket is a two-year-old cat who belongs to a friend of ours. We are going to take her because they are moving and can't. In the last year, we lost two kittens who died from cat distemper. Is Cricket old enough that she won't catch it? We heard she is a safe age but we want to be sure. —J. C.

DEAR J. C.: At two years of age, Cricket is susceptible to a lot of things, including distemper. True, she would stand a better chance of surviving than those young kittens did if she did come down with the virus. However, it would be foolish to take such a chance. The doctor should definitely vaccinate her for feline distemper, preferable well in advance of her move. Time is required for any vaccine to be effective.

SUPPORT FOR THE BIRDS

Varicose veins are not common in canaries or parakeets. However, these birds may have trouble with circulation in the feet and legs. Organic disease may be a basic cause, but often sluggish circulation is a factor.

The owner is usually unaware of trouble until the condition is well-advanced. The first obvious sign may be ominous darkening of the toes as gangrene develops. The area involved may be small, limited perhaps to the loss of a toenail.

Very often the loss involves several toes, sometimes an entire foot, or even, occasionally the life of the bird. The doctor may save life or limb; and sometimes a bird will even recover spontaneously. But prevention is obviously to be preferred.

One of the most helpful measures is to provide perches of varying diameters. These give the grasping foot of the bird flexibility and improved blood vessel tone.

Ideally, all perches should vary in size from one end to the other. This way, even the lazy bird who sticks mostly to one perch gets some healthy toe-stretching.

The easiest way to add important nutrients to your daily menus is to form the habit of serving a glass of milk with every meal.

Local Realtors Observe National 'Realtor Week'

Two thousand realtor and salesmen members of the Columbus Board of Realtors are celebrating a "Realtor Week" this week, May 23-29.

Using the motto "Pick the Right Home — Through a Realtor" they join 80,000 other realtors across the nation, seeking to emphasize their services and to make clearer the distinction between a realtor and others in the real estate business. Realtors are members of local Boards of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, one of the largest trade and professional organizations in the country.

"A Realtor," Orin Morris, president of the Columbus Board said today, "subscribes to a well-established code of professional ethics enforced through our local board. It obligates us to keep the interests of both buyer and seller uppermost in mind during a transaction."

The term "Realtor" was adopted by NAREB in 1916, and its exclusive right to the ownership of the term for use by its members only has been established by numerous court cases over the years. It is registered as a collective mark in the United States Patent Office.

The parent organization, founded in 1908, has offices in Chicago, Illinois, and Washington, D.C.

It's Week Of Weeks For High School Seniors

The measured cadence of "Pomp And Circumstance" will set the pace next week for hundreds of high school graduates as they complete their so-long, too-short journey started 12 years ago.

And proud, misty-eyed parents viewing the solemn exercises will, for a moment, mentally view their capped and gowned sons and daughters as they were on that momentous, first-day-of-school.

Commencement exercises will be held on the athletic fields, weather permitting. In the event of rain the ceremony will move to the auditoriums.

Bexley High will graduate its seniors on Thursday, June 10; Bishop Hartley High, Monday, June 7; Walnut Ridge and Eastmoor, Tuesday, June 8, and Whitehall-Yearling High, Wednesday, June 9, 8 p.m.

Program plans at individual high schools are:

At Bexley . . .

Congressman Samuel L. Devine will address Bexley High's graduating seniors Thursday, June 10, 8 p.m. on the athletic field. He will be introduced by superintendent of schools, Dr. E. D. Jarvis.

The class will be presented by the principal C. W. Jones, and diplomas by Mrs. Ruth Williamson, president Bexley Board of Education.

Rabbi Stephan Arnold of Temple Israel will give the invocation and benediction, and the school band will play.

Baccalaureate service will be held Sunday, June 6, 4 p.m. at the school.

Rev. David W. Skeen of Broad Street Methodist Church will give the sermon, "The Future Is Yours."

Scripture and prayer will be Rev. Robert E. Leake of St. Alban's Episcopal Church, and the high school choir will sing.

Outstanding seniors were to be honored at the awards assembly Thursday, June 3, 8 a.m.

At Bishop Hartley . . .

Bishop Hartley High will hold its fifth commencement exercise Monday, June 7, 8 p.m. on the athletic field.

Dr. Harold H. Eibling, superintendent Columbus Public Schools, will be speaker. Graduates will be presented by the principal, Fr. Robert G. White and diplomas will be awarded by Msgr. Francis J. Schwendeman.

Representing their class will be Christina Baroody, who will speak on "The World For Christ" and Thomas Wagner, whose topic is, "To Each His Own."

Belleau Woods Detachment, Marine Corps League, will raise the flag.

Graduates will sing, "Milk And Honey" and "Shalom," accompanied by John Botkin on the piano, and Renate Merler on the organ.

Graduation mass will be offered at the school the morning of commencement.

Whitehall-Yearling . . .

State Senator Tenpyson Guyer, "Ohio's Ambassador of Good Will," will be the speaker at Whitehall-Yearling's commencement exercise Wednesday, June 9, 8 p.m.

Robert W. Crabbs, superintendent of Whitehall Schools, will introduce the speaker and Austin Peel, high school principal, will present the graduates.

Diplomas will be awarded by Mrs. Ruth Kosar, board of education member and Wayne Davis, board president.

Carol Sue Hoyda's grade average of 3.697, highest in the class, wins her the honor of valedictorian, and salutatorian is Melissa Marie Hawkins, second highest with 3.636.

Invocation will be by Rev. Philip Ling, Norton Church of Christ, and benediction by Rev. J. Willard Jarvis, Whitehall Baptist.

Baccalaureate service will be held Sunday, June 6, 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Invocation will be by Rev. Donald R. Morris of Fairmoor United Presbyterian, scripture reading by Rev. Kenneth E. Wrightsel of Whitehall Evangelical United Brethren, and benediction by Rev. Clarence W. Broan, Whitehall Church of the Nazarene.

Rev. David E. Risch, Faith Lutheran Church, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon.

Senior dinner, June 8, was followed by the senior party. The prom was held Friday, June 4

At Eastmoor . . .

Eastmoor High will hold commencement exercises on Tuesday, June 8, 7 p.m.

Representing their class as speakers will be Ira Sully, who will discuss "The Challenge Of Freedom," and Terry Patterson, whose topic is "On Cue."

Gordon Harris, principal, will present the graduates, and diplomas will be presented by Dr. Harold Eibling, superintendent of Columbus Schools.

Invocation and benediction will be by Dr. Joseph Belcastro.

The Spectator Says:

By C. C. Hartley

Much Ado About Something!

I recall hearing of a lad down in the hills who aptly described his feelings in the expression, "I ain't had so much fun since the hogs et my little brother."

Speculation and news comments and hashes and rehashes in the past two weeks about the reorganization of The Spectator papers has been downright comical at times.

Some people have been vitriolic in their expressions, far more have been complimentary and a great majority have been just curious. Most everyone has been happy to know that I'm going to be able to get my nose a little farther from the grindstone.

Uncle Doc Ross who writes our "Frosting on the Cake" column kinda thought somebody might be buying me out just to get him shut up. And our old buddy Dusty Miller advised that he has had an elephant tattooed on his chest for some 50 years and wondered if this made any difference.

All of these comments make me feel real good because I know I have a lot of friends and a mighty large number of our readers agree with the kind of job we have been doing.

So again, good people, let's all agree that there is a real place of service in this community for a newspaper like The Spectator that tries very hard to give both sides of every subject we touch, does not editorialize in the news columns and "calls them as we see them."

Relax, sit back and read our papers each week. I'm sure you'll find that none of the flavor is being changed.

We have never been strictly Republican. We have never been strictly Democratic. We never have pleased everyone. We never will please everyone. We intend to continue just being ourselves and publishing a good, serviceable and factual weekly newspaper!

• • •

The Gay Philosopher Says: "Some people are proud that they came up from the gutter but every once in a while they get homesick."

• • •

Observations: A recent pleasant evening in the presence of Mrs. Margaret Poh of Yokahama, Japan, brought out these interesting comments from a resident of the Orient—98 percent of the Japanese people look to Americans as leaders in the world and respect them . . . The Chinese people and the Chinese government are both the same and China itself will never become Communist . . . The U.S. must at all times be strong if China is to respect us.

• • •

Notes and Nubbins: A mighty big "Thank You" to Daisy Whitsell, nurse, who called just to compliment us on our recent awards for photo journalism and to say she knows that the general rule is that people don't go out of their way to be complimentary but always rush in to be critical . . . When Rob Roy Jaynes and wife Phyllis moved to the country recently their daughter became a 4-H Club member and chose as a project the raising of a pig. When the pesky porker escaped recently there was considerable consternation in the ranks as Mama, who is pregnant, had to join in the chase . . . Understand Isabelle Roman has a fine new Hammond organ and maybe someday she will play so loud it can be heard all the way back to good old Turtle Creek, Pa.

SHAVUOS CLOSING

The Jewish Center will close for Shauvos on June 5 at 6 p.m. and re-open Monday, June 7 at 6 p.m.

Revamp Whitehall CATV Proposal

By FRANK RYAN

The story of CATV (cable television) for the Greater Columbus area continues to be spotlighted in Whitehall, where a new CATV "licensing" ordinance was read for the first time, by title only, Tuesday night.

If council continues to treat the matter as "normal" legislation, it will not be ready for a vote until the regular July 6 council meeting. Present indications are that city officials and representatives of Multi-Channel Cable Co., of Portsmouth, O., will use the next month to decide if they have an acceptable agreement.

(Cable television companies offer television programming from stations not locally based. The "free" television signals are "picked" up from the air by use of a central antenna, and are "piped" to the subscriber through the blank channels on his television set.)

Actually, council's Tuesday action meant the abandonment of an ordinance designed to grant a CATV franchise to Multi-Channel Co., of Whitehall. Although the Whitehall-based CATV firm has been incorporated with the state, Whitehall officials apparently have decided they would rather deal with the parent company at Portsmouth.

Service Group Cautious

Meanwhile, a new source of opposition to CATV was expressed by Frank Shannon, owner of F&G TV Service, 2149 Sullivant-av. Shannon said he represents the Associated Radio and Television Service Dealers and the Television Service Association of Ohio.

"The most important point," Shannon said, "is that we are not trying to fight progress. As long as they (CATV companies) don't go into sales, service and paid TV, we are not against it."

Shannon cautioned against any action by municipalities until the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) decides to what extent it will regulate CATV. Of the Whitehall plan to negotiate a CATV contract, he said: "I don't

SENIOR CITY DEDICATION SET FOR JUNE 13

LUTHERAN SENIOR CITY, a beautiful residence with accommodations for 285, will be formally dedicated at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 13. Rev. F. R. Stoneburner, D.D., executive director of the Lutheran Inner Mission League of Dayton, will be the main speaker. The service of dedication will be read by Rev. A. E. Bradow, executive director of Lutheran Welfare League of Central Ohio. There will be an open house and reception after the service, to which the public is invited. This home, located at 977 Parkview-blvd, is open to all senior citizens regardless of race or creed. Senior City is laid out like a city, with numerous neighborhoods comprised of individual rooms and small lounges, all tied together by Main-st. A heated corridor runs the entire length of the building—865 feet. Resident rooms are private, each with bath and communication system. In the center of the facility is a large multi-purpose lounge area, with a chapel at one end. Dining room, kitchen, crafts and recreation areas are all centrally located. Offices are near the main entrance. There is a large nursing and special care area where round-the-clock care is given as needed. Although there is now a waiting list for the special care area, there are still single rooms available for normal residential living and double rooms for couples who wish to share a unit. Lutheran Senior City is about 45 percent filled after one year of operation. On May 18, 1964, the first residents were received at Lutheran Senior City. In its first year of operation 187 residents have called Senior City home. W. L. (Billy) Scott is supervisor and the Lutheran Welfare League of Central Ohio is the sponsoring organization.

WBBA Parade, $5000 Fund Drive Launch Season

There's going to be a parade in Whitehall!

The event on Saturday, June 12, will officially launch the baseball season in the city, preceding the summer's first game Monday, June 14.

More than 600 boys aged eight through 16, enrolled in the city's baseball program, and officers and coaches of the Whitehall Baseball Association will assemble at Whitehall-Yearling High June 12, 10 a.m.

After the parade is formed it will move, under the direction of marshal Bill Martin, south on Yearling to Main-st, east on Main to Ross-rd, north to Langley and east to Orton Davis Memorial Park.

What price a summer of safety and fun while learning the all-important lessons of sportsmanship that come from team play? Dedicated, unpaid men who volunteer their time to serve as officers and coaches, and hundreds of citizens who support the program think $5000 is cheap.

The money is used to supply uniforms, baseballs, caps and catchers' equipment. Boys furnish their own gloves.

"About 66 dozen baseballs are used during the season," explained WBBA president, Charles Evans. "This item costs about $1000 alone. And we spent $90 this year to replace uniforms," he continued.

Major source of revenue is the sale of $1 membership decals to Whitehall residents, and these will be sold during Whitehall Baseball Week, June 5 through 12.

Boys will canvass the city on a house-to-house basis this Saturday, and they will be available from all coaches and WBBA officers.

Anyone missed during the canvass may contact WBBA president, Charles Evans, 729 Bernhard-rd, 235-1649; vice-president, Bill Darnell, at Whitehall Marathon Service Station, Broad-st at Collingwood; Thurrel Thompson, treasurer; Mark Wilson, secretary, or any coach.

Postpone Survey Decision

An area-wide refuse disposal survey of their own or participation in the county plan?

Whitehall councilmen Tuesday night tabled both measures, up for the third and second readings, respectively, to allow further study of the issue.

Committee chairman Loren Mason will meet with county officials this week to discuss certain phases of the county survey, particularly if the county incinerator will handle rubbish as well as garbage.

Whitehall's share of the county study, to be conducted by a Dayton firm, would be $870. The cost for an engineering study of its own would be $12,000, financed by federal funds to be repaid only if Whitehall decided to implement the survey.

Reynoldsburg and Gahanna, as well as Whitehall, have refrained so far from accepting the county contract and have not paid their proportionate share.

Nine municipalities have signed the agreement and paid their share. Five others, including Columbus, have signed the agreement but have not yet paid their proportion of the total $19,300 cost.

An ordinance to abolish the purchasing department, now headed by Service Director Joseph Shannon, was virtually killed by an indefinite tabling action.

In other action, Council approved making permanent the temporary appointment of a secretary for Auditor Walter Helber, and heard the first reading of a measure to hire four additional police officers.

Mayor Vetoes Council Plan For Sewer Voted Bonding

By FRANK RYAN

Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner issued a ringing, stinging veto Wednesday afternoon to council's proposal to place a $42.6 million sewer capital improvement bond issue on the November ballot.

Sensenbrenner issued the veto message from St. Louis, Mo., where he is attending the annual U.S. Conference of Mayors.

He termed the proposal action a "smoke screen to cover council's retreat from an unpopular, but necessary, action on sewer rates," and said the figures used in support of the plan "are more the product of political objectives than rational analysis."

Sensenbrenner listed nine specific points of objection to council's plan to finance the city's sewer program by exclusive use of voted bonds. He said an analysis of figures used in support of council's proposal showed "a minimum of $50 million in errors."

Sensenbrenner said that Council President William R. Fornof, chief architect of the bonding proposal, reversed sound procedures in determining how to finance the sewer program. The mayor said:

"He (Fornof) has made commitments as to what action is or is not required, and then proceeded to develop a financial plan to fit his commitments."

"Check With Auditor"

Sensenbrenner said council's proposal could not be supported without a rate increase; that both future income and expenditure projections are not supported by reliable indices of future growth and expenditure trends, and that the bonding plan would cost a minimum of 96 cents interest for every dollar of bond financing.

In his seven-page veto message, Sensenbrenner challenged council members to "let the city auditor be the judge." He advised council to ask City Auditor John Price to certify the correctness of council's bonding plan, and to certify the availability of all funds shown in supporting testimony.

If Price can certify both areas, Sensenbrenner said, "we will have a simple solution to the sewer problem." He said such a level of (certified) income "would be adequate to finance the $42.5-million sewer improvement program without a public voted bond issue, but (by) using 38-year conventional serial bonds."

Attacks Fornof's Methods

Sensenbrenner accused Fornof of running "for the protective covering of a public voted bond issue" to "avoid a decision he does not want to make — a sewer rate increase." This, said Sensenbrenner, is the same tactic Fornof used in 1964 when he proposed a $9.5-million public voted bond issue to finance construction of a water reservoir by the now-defunct Scioto Conservancy District.

Sensenbrenner pointed to the past successes of most public voted bond issues. He said such success has resulted from the confidence on the part of voters that public-voted bond issues represent real needs, and are free of any political overtures. "We need to retain that confidence so that other bond issues will not be jeopardized," he said. "We can only do this by keeping Mr. Fornof's annual attempts to use bond issues for political advantage off the ballot."

CATV—

Whitehall City Solicitor Paul J. Haytcher said he drew up a new ordinance to give council because of the many changes in the original measure. He said there was some doubt that the city could grant a franchise, and that the new proposed contract would be in the form of a license.

Here are some of the main points of the licensing ordinance now being considered:

1. The license will run for 20 years, but will contain a provision for re-negotiation by either side at the end of four years.

2. Before the license is granted, Multi-Channel must pay the city a $1,000 fee. The city will also gain $2 per year for each installation, or 3.25 percent of the company's gross income — whichever is greater.

3. The license will specifically prohibit the CATV company from entering such fields as sales and service, the providing of any said television outside the basic $5 per month charge, or the sale of any form of advertising.

4. The license will be "non-exclusive," and reportedly would leave the city free to permit more than one CATV operation in the city.

5. Under penalty of forfeiture of their license (and the $1,000 advance fee) Multi-Channel would be required to secure pole rights and agreements within six months, and be in actual service by one year from date of passage of the licensing ordinance. The company must also post a $50,000 performance bond.

A local representative for Multi-Channel said he wanted to discuss the proposed agreement with Portsmouth officials of the firm before making detailed comment. He indicated that there now is substantial agreement between the company and Whitehall officials on the general terms of the agreement.

An agreement in Whitehall, he said, would mean CATV service for Whitehall residents only. He said he believed the Whitehall operation would be capable of serving the Reynoldsburg and Bexley areas. But service outside Whitehall would depend on negotiating agreements with the affected municipalities.

Miffed By Editorials

Whitehall officials have been openly critical of recent television and radio editorials (WTVN) which have taken city council to task for "unseeming haste . . . in trying to ram through a cable television franchise without giving the citizens a chance to even know what was happening." One such editorial said: "The people of Whitehall . . . and the rest of the community . . . have been kept pretty much in the dark as to just what is going on and what the ramifications could be."

Whitehall Councilman Loren F. Mason, a named target of the editorials, was particularly miffed.

"It beats me how we can be accused of keeping people in the dark," he said. "We have been openly working on CATV legislation since March. We have twice delayed action to hear those who want to provide such service and those who oppose such service — including WTVN representatives.

"Now we are delaying any final decision until we determine if we have a good, safe proposition for the city and for the citizens of Whitehall. Nobody has been denied the opportunity to present information, and we have not passed that first ordinance after almost three months of open study and debate.

"Our first and primary concern is to protect the interest of the citizens of Whitehall. And even if we pass a CATV ordinance it will do nothing more than give the people the right to decide on an individual basis if they want such a service."

Stellman Sees Poor Led By Their Peers

By JANE ROBINSON

The eyes of those waging the war on poverty throughout the nation are on Franklin County, according to Dr. Samuel D. Stellman, executive director of the Columbus Metropolitan Area Community Action Organization.

Dr. Stellman has planned a network of seminar discussion groups in eight target areas of the city and three "poverty pockets" in the county.

The groups will be unique in that the attack on poverty will be led by the impoverished. From each area two persons will be employed to identify the poor, help them look at their plight and decide how to help themselves.

Dr. Stellman explains that similar seminars have been initiated previously, however, persons to be benefited "simply won't buy it" when it is conducted by "outsiders."

But Stellman believes he can sell the idea to the people who need it if it is run "by their peers."

Will Be Trained

Those selected for the part-time jobs which will carry a wage of from $1.60 to $2 an hour would be trained by the CAO staff, and would have the assistance of social workers, teachers and ministers at their disposal.

But the show would be primarily theirs, and it would be the poor helping each other.

Asked whether his program parallels that pushed earlier this year by the United Consumers, Stellman emphatically denied any connection between the two.

"This program has been developed within our organization and goes far beyond the scope of consumer education," he stated.

He added that approximately 25 fields of interest have been delineated which include problems of employment, health, adult and student education, legal matters, speech therapy and remedial reading.

Pinpoints Areas

Stellman described the poverty area as circling the heart of the city, and extending just north of the university district and going south to the city limits. In the county, he stated, the largest poverty pockets are in Darbydale, Obetz and Urbancrest.

The director sees the identification of the socio-economic handicapped as the first approach to the problem.

"These people have a tendency to move around," he said, "and aren't too easy to locate."

Although the program will use the $3,000 income as a rough yardstick in determining poverty, he stressed that other factors will be weighed. For example, a family with the father unemployed, a retarded child or a service rejectee usually can be considered a problem family.

Two staff positions remain to be filled in the CAO. One is that of budget and finance director and the other is that of deputy director.

The field of applicants for the former post has been narrowed to three and Stellman expects it to be filled by the end of the week. Interviewing is not yet complete for the latter post.

The director stated that the seminar program should be under way in the next two weeks.

THE WONDER OF CHANGE!
Never say again, "This is the face I was born with; this is the skin I must put up with, all my life." You have heard that your body renews itself every seven years. Now our outlook is even more hopeful. Not long ago the United States Atomic Energy Commission verified through studies with isotrope tracers, that 98% of the atoms that make up the blood and bones and body tissues are replaced in just one year.

BEAUTY IS YOUR HANDS
Dr. Charlotte Wolff, the brilliant London psychiatrist, has an entire book written on the subject of hands. It is fascinating to learn how much the hands themselves and the way they are used can reveal to the trained observer—more even than the face. We can hide our emotions behind a poker face, but our hands give us away every time. At least resolve to use a good hand cream that will restore the normal acid mantle, and guard against picking or biting at cuticle and fingernails. Remember the skin on the hands has fewer oil cells than the skin on the face and requires even more regular care.

STRONG FINGERNAILS
To some extent the sturdiness of nails, like that of teeth and hair, is inherited. In any event those little factories deep in the nail-bed need their full supplies of high-quality protein and calcium for the hardness of your nails. Well-nourished nails are great time-savers. They actually take very little care beyond your weekly manicure, and the manicure itself takes far less time and is more satisfactory.

THREE GIFTS FOR YOUR MAN
In the fairy tales we loved as children, there were always three magic gifts by which the prince made his way through perilous adventures and returned to his princess to live happily ever after. We suggest these three gifts for the man in your life:
Give him a new heart, one that takes him forth with courage every day.
Give him a new waistline. Encourage and prepare for him the food that will restore his youthful looks and vigor.
Give him a new wife—yourself transformed within and without. You can do it if you will. Ask your Cosmentologist for a frank analysis of your needs in that department.

Columbus Family Calls South Viet Nam 'Home'

By JANET MICHAEL

South Viet Nam, the word that makes most Americans shudder, is home to Rev. and Mrs. Richard Pendell and their children, Gwendolyn (Gwen) and Gordon (Zackie.)

As members of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church here in Columbus they first began their home life in Saigon and Vienlang nearly six years ago.

Both Rev. and Mrs. (Marjorie) Pendell taught English to college and high school students in Saigon for a year.

"But it wasn't just English we taught," explained Marjorie. "We told the students that for every hour of English there would also be a half hour of religion . . . and all were eager and willing to go along with us."

Marjorie then related the story of a Buddhist boy who came to them for extra religious sessions. "Richard met with him regularly and answered all his questions. Within a few months the boy announced that he was ready to become a Christian. It wasn't long until the boy's father began to investigate our religion. Christianity is catching," concluded Marjorie.

Learning the Viet Namese language would have taken a long time for the couple had it not been for little Gwen.

"At that time Gwen was just learning the English language and so it was easy for her to learn Viet Namese along with it. I guess you could say Gwen taught us Viet Namese while we taught her English."

Likes Food There

"We have developed a taste for the food served there. Everyone either pours or dunks his food into a special sauce made from fish, rock salt and other seasonings. United States doctors claim the sauce has a high source of vitamins. Mostly we eat fish and rice, since beef, pork and poultry is a luxury," said Marjorie.

"When a family does buy meat, it is cut into bite size pieces by the butcher, so you never know exactly what you're buying. One day, however, we decided we wanted some pork chops. Richard had to draw a picture of a pig indicating where to slice the meat. Even then the butcher couldn't understand what anyone would do with meat that size."

Ready To Return

A love of the people, an ability to adapt and doing the work they love best has made the Pendell lives satisfying ones.

After four and one-half years as missionaries there, the Pendells returned to Columbus last July for 10 months and left again Friday for another five-year assignment. This year Zackie will attend second grade in a missionary boarding school in Bankok, Thailand, while Richard, Marjorie and Gwen will return to Saigon, where they will be assigned to either city or village work.

During their stay in Columbus, Richard, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Pendell, 2495 Harrison, gave numerous talks on his experiences there. Marjorie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Metzger, 414 Siebert-st, also toured and gave talks whenever possible.

Why did they go back?

Marjorie answered it this way, "The Lord knows why we're here. He will protect us."

Hartley High Seniors Stage Art Show

The show will continue through June 12 in the lobby of the bank.

Included in the display will be work by Janice Hendricks, 2920 Bryden-rd, and Carol Badgett, 812 Ross-rd, finalists in a recent Central Ohio art competition sponsored by the arts committee of the Columbus Catholic Diocese.

Janice placed first among all Catholic high school art students in the Columbus, Newark, Lancaster and Zanesville areas. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hendricks and is a senior at Bishop Hartley.

Carol won honorable mention in the Central Ohio competition. She is a senior and the daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Joseph W. Badgett.

The possessor of a college diploma soon finds that experience does not come by degrees.

PACED E-M TO FIRST DIVISION FINISH

AREA Sports

Hawks, Scots Close On Winning Notes

Hartley and Walnut Ridge closed with a flurry to wrap up their respective '65 diamond seasons but two other area nines — Eastmoor and Whitehall—couldn't quite do the same.

Jack Ryan's Hawks earned single wins over Grove City (3-2) and Watterson (7-2) besides earning a split with Teays Valley.

STEVE McLAUGHLIN'S three-run home run blast provided Dave Roger's with all the offense he needed as Hartley scored its win over Grove City in a rain-shortened contest.

Monday, Rogers followed with a four-hit, 7-2 victory over Watterson which moved the Hawks into a second place Central Catholic League tie with DeSales (6-4).

The Hawks, who snapped a two-all deadlock in the third with a five-run barrage, were paced by Gary Plank who had two hits and three RBIs.

TOM FOLEY scattered six hits and weathered a four error Hawk storm to earn Hartley a 4-2 opening game win over Teays Valley.

The Hawks seemed on their way to a sweep on Scott French's three-hit effort in the nightcap but T-V rallied for a pair in the last of the seventh to win, 2-1.

Walnut Ridge just missed the .500 mark in City play (5-6) by sweeping its final two loop encounters with East (12-1) and Whetstone (1-0).

RON REMY picked up the rain-shortened win over the Braves on a three-hitter—the Scotties taking advantage of three Whetstone bobbles to gain victory.

Gary "Rip" VanWinkle, with a relief assist from Chuck Crook, set down East on a single safety as the Highlanders pounded out nine hits and were aided by as many Tiger errors.

Four home runs and the three-hit pitching of Gus Crim supplied Arlington with the steam to cinch the undisputed Central Buckeye League flag with a 7-1 win over Whitehall.

THE BEARS got two of their homers in the first frame as they jumped off to a 5-0 lead. Ram reliefer Steve Schaffer checked UA after the first on a pair of runs but the damage was done.

The loss dropped Whitehall (5-2) into third place in the CBL final standings, behind champ Arlington and runner-up Mt. Vernon.

Eastmoor's finale was no more pleasant as South exploded for a pair of five-run frames en route to a 13-1 verdict over the Warriors.

E-M COULD solve Reb pitcher Keith Bugos for only four hits while South sticks were collecting 10 safeties off four Warrior hurlers.

The loss dropped Eastmoor into a fourth-place tie with South (7-4).

. . . AND TAKE YOUR HAT WITH YOU!

Gregory's Speedway String Ends

The sportsman and late-model cars and drivers, will return to the Columbus Motor Speedway this weekend where they'll combine forces to put on seven-event programs both Friday and Sunday nights with a feature race in each division each night.

This week, they'll be guaranteed another $3500 in prize money.

"Demon Don" Gregory, who blew an engine last Sunday to end his fabulous sportsman win-streak at 16, will be back to try to start another one.

Bob James, of Maple Heights, O., who thought he had his third-feature on the South Side oval in the 50-lap Memorial Day Championship feature Sunday only to have veteran Curt Kraft spurt out front to get the win, vows that he'll be back in the winner's circle this week.

But "Tough Luck" driver, Ralph O'Day, would like to finish a feature and get his first victory of the season so fans can expect some hectic action.

In the speedway's free game of "Total," there hasn't been a winner so far, so the jackpot will have $500 in cash waiting for the fan, or fans, able to pick the first five finishers (in order) in this Friday's sportsman feature.

Time trials, both Friday and Sunday, start at 7 p.m. and the first race will get moving promptly at 8.

Last Friday night, Don Gregory notched his third-straight sportsman headliner of the year and his 16th-straight over two seasons and Carl Smith snapped Bob James win-streak at two in the late-model division.

Only 1383 fans braved the chilly weather Friday, but Sunday night they came out enmasse and 4,064 paid their way into the Williams-rd raceway—the biggest crowd in several years.

ROSEMORE PACESETTER

ROSEMORE track coach Dick Kane reminisces over an undefeated cinder season with his top performer, Mike Gillespie. Gillespie paced Rosemore in scoring (82 points), set new school records in the 440 (:58.3) and high jump (5'4") and combined with three other teammates to establish new marks in the 880 relay and sprint medley.

FISHIN' FACTS

Clothes don't make the fisherman. Or, do they?

If, under identical conditions, two differently attired anglers — possessing equal skill and using similar techniques — end the day with vastly different scores, perhaps there is something to the idea that fishing apparel can be either a help or hindrance.

WHILE no one's concerned about the "Beau Brummell" look, clothing does play a role in fishing success under certain conditions.

Comfort is the primary reason any angler dons his favorite apparel, despite its possible threadbare and faded appearance. This is the way it should be.

But in achieving this aim, one may overlook the attitude and reaction of the fish he seeks.

WATER conditions play an important role in determining whether or not clothing affects fishing. When the water is shallow, fish are extremely wary and frightened by any suspicious movement above the surface.

Likewise, the water's clarity, even at considerable depths, enables the quarry to see the world above its liquid environment.

"See-ability" of clothes, then, is the crucial issue. And certain colors are more visible than others.

THE BRIGHT, light shades attract a great deal more attention than dark ones and should be avoided. Choose darker materials such as soft plaids that blend rather than contrast with the background. The question of hue comes up in other ways:

In some regions where mosquitos are a serious problem, it is believed these pests are attracted to blue clothing. Though the idea is without scientific basis, many outdoorsmen shun this color.

Clothes do make a difference.

Jewish Center Sports Roundup

Opening games in the A.K. Softball League of the Jewish Center were both typical late season thrillers.

Friedman, Cummins, Stern Ins. defeated Len Imke Buick 18-17 in an extra inning game.

FCS pounded out 22 hits including three home-runs, two by Don Levy, one by Sandy Stern. Stern had four hits while Don Levy, Harvey Roth and Jerry Burman had three hits.

In another thrilling ball game B.V.D. tripped Martin's Market 13-12. The score was tied going into the bottom of the seventh inning but a triple by Abraham Cooperman and a single by the winning pitcher—Meyer Kravitz—brought home victory for BVD.

Howard Byer and Corky Meckler had home runs for the winners. Stan Freedberg, Don Erkis, Jack Gaiser and Meyer Kravitz led the winners with three hits each.

SNIPE EISENMAN had a home run for the losers. Hal Block, Aaron Dachner and Ben Weis had three hits each for the losers.

The third game on Diamond No. 3 between Hackman Realty and Ontario was called due to swampy grounds.

Chairman Dr. Mike Stein announced that the Youth Young Adult season will begin Wednesday, June 16. Six teams will be represented with 12 players on each team.

Three sponsors have been secured so far (Dick's Barber Shop, Raybo Vending, and Richfield construction) and three more are needed.

Y.Y.A. WILL practice every Wednesday until the season starts. Any male Center member who will be 17 by June 1 and is not playing for a teenage club will be permitted to play.

The rosters are filling up fast, so register now. For further information contact Bernie Weston (BE. 1-2731).

Merchants Cop Opener

A key double play and the combined low-hit pitching of Bill Hedges and Chris Scheiderer paced the Whitehall Merchants to a tight 5-4 opening game win over Popes Inn Sunday.

Catcher Wayne Sharron tagged out the tying run at the plate in the last of the ninth after Buddy Vaughn pulled down a long fly and rifled the ball to Jack Pettorini whose relay to Sharron was perfect.

HODGES, who was relieved by Schenderer in the ninth, allowed only five hits and one earned run. The Merchants were charged with four errors.

The Merchants, who overcame a 3-2 deficit with a three-run seventh, won it on consecutive singles by Larry Tedder, Pettorini, Hal Metzger and Sharron after two outs.

Pettorini went two-for-two and Sharron had three-for-five to pace the Whitehall offense.

LOSING pitcher for Popes was Jerry Myers, ex-Eastmoor High pitching ace.

The Merchants' next game will be Sunday against the Washington Court House Colts at Washington C.H. First home game will be June 20, at 2 p.m. at the Whitehall-Yearling diamond.

THAT'S E-S-P-I-E!

EAST HIGH sprinter Solomon Espie catches his breath as he gives his name to a field judge Saturday at the state track meet. Espie had finished first in a field of the state's finest in the 100 competition seconds before with a :10 flat. Espie later added a fourth in the 220 to garner eight points for Lee Williams' Tigers.

East's Espie Paces Area Thins At State

Bob did just fine and Kenny was okay—but it was Solomon who was the standout among area entries at Saturday's state track meet in Ohio Stadium.

Solomon is East's sprinting Mr. Espie, who whizzed to a first in the 100 and a fourth in the 220 to earn the Tigers' eight points and a fifth-place tie in the "A" competition last weekend.

Espie covered the 100 in :10 flat and missed a double win in the 220 by a 1/10th second by turning in a speedy :22.4.

Gahanna's Bobby Glover earned the Lions' five points by deadlocking with Cleveland Glenville's Ron Bolden for first place honors in the broad jump (23' 8").

Ken Schwartz of Walnut Ridge covered the mile oval in 4:24 flat but had to settle for fifth place.

ROLLS 288!

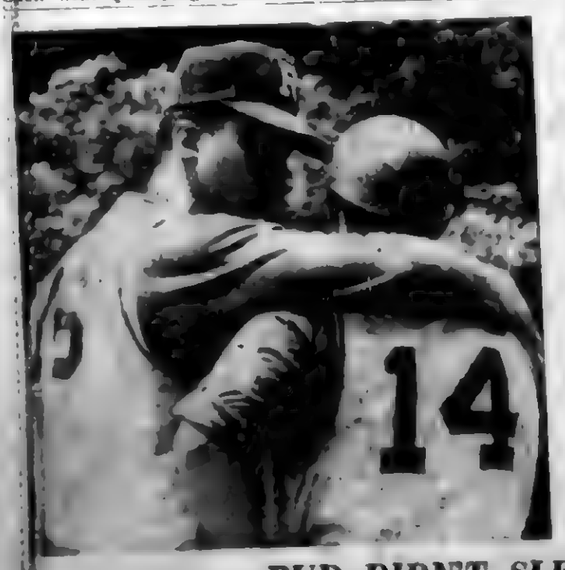
Walters In Top Ten

Capital University hurler Gary Walters has pitched himself into the "top ten" lineup of Ohio Conference pitching leaders.



OC statistics show Walters a 4-2 mark in six outings this spring to 42⅓ innings. Walters has allowed 32 hits and 14 runs (eight earned). His ERA is 1.70.

BUD DIDN'T SLEEP A WINK – THEN WALKED SEVEN MILES!

ANYONE WHO'S attended a Bishop Ready baseball game this spring knows Knight coach Bud Trapp isn't the calmest guy in the world. Bud's boys came through with the school's first-ever sports title Thursday by sweeping a doubleheader with Newark Catholic to nail down the Central Catholic League pennant. Trapp, who didn't sleep a wink Wednesday night, paced off an estimated seven miles in Ready's opener before the Knights won, 3-2. At left, Trapp relates strategy to Bill Scales shortly before the Knights scored their first run. The remaining four sequences, snapped by Spectator photographer Jack Wittemeier, reflect Trapp's reactions as his Knights battled through the doubleheader.

REMEMBERED by a former student as a petite, pretty woman who "sometimes wore a flower in her hair," Miss Isabelle Wallace has been described as "the most influential person in my life" by more than one of those who have experienced her "inspirational" teaching. After 42 years of service at Barrett Junior High, Miss Wallace will retire next week — to enter a new and challenging world.

MISS WALLACE READY TO SAY 'ADIOS, AMIGOS'

It was in a one-room schoolhouse in Miami County and she opened the day with leading the children in the 23rd Psalm.

In the door walked the superintendent of schools and out the window flew Isabelle Wallace's school marm poise.

She completely forgot the words.

Today the veteran Barrett teacher can smile as she recalls desperately shifting over to the Lord's Prayer, but it was no laughing matter to her then.

After all, she was to receive $35 a month (and $3 extra for moonlighting as "janitress") and the superintendent could at least expect her to know "The Lord is my Shepherd."

JUST ANOTHER ROLE

"Shiek" Wallace

It's 'Adios'

Next week Miss Wallace will say "Adios" to the last of almost 10,000 students whom she has helped, according to Leon Loechler, former pupil and past-president of the Columbus Bar Association, find "a fuller life."

One cannot close a chapter of one's life without a note of sadness, but Miss Wallace has too many other fish to fry to look backwards.

She plans to join the Peace Corps.

She believes her fluent Spanish will enable her to help fulfill the need for teachers in Peru, a country which she learned to love when doing graduate work at San Marcos University in Lima.

Her South American trip was only one of the many summer jaunts Miss Wallace has taken throughout the years.

World-wide travel doesn't come easy for a woman earning her livelihood in education but she always remembered the advice of her father, "If you need a tool, buy it." To Miss Wallace, gazing out over the shores of Galilee, exploring the beginnings of Incas civilization, standing under the Arch of Constantine, praying at the Tomb of Christ, haggling in the markets of Morocco and viewing the Great Pyramids from the back of a camel are all "tools of my trade."

Wins Freedom Award

National recognition came to this teacher when she was selected in 1962 by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge as one of those teachers who "beyond and above the call of duty" has instilled in her students the flame of patriotism and an awareness of both the privileges and responsibilities of freedom.

At that time Ken Olbert, principal of Barrett, where she has taught since 1924, brought together a few of her former pupils to pay tribute to her.

Dr. Ray Bethel stated simply "It is you who are greatly responsible for any success that I may have had," while another student of yesteryear exclaimed, "Thank God for this great woman."

A born entertainer, Isabelle Wallace has brought to her classrooms the dramatic flair that enabled her to spellbind thousands with her impersonations and readings.

Delivers the Goods

A graduate of the Wynters School of Expression, Miss Wallace is recognized as "an entertainer of the first rank" and an artist who can always be counted on "to deliver the goods."

One critic summed up her talents by saying, "Her naturalness and ease of manner win her audience immediately. Her patriotic numbers will arouse the fire of patriotism in any heart. She provokes the saddest to mirth in her comedy impersonations and never fails to bring tears in her sad roles."

Dusting off this neglected talent is another "fish" Miss Wallace is planning to fry during her pseudo retirement. Just where she is going to find time is a little uncertain, but she hopes to professionally record her many roles.

A perfectionist, she claims a lesson taught at Wynters has guided her through life.

"When that highfalutin' feelin' gets you in its grasp, why then, just reverse your airship levers and come back to earth again."

Yet Another Talent

Still another talent which Isabelle Wallace might get that "highfalutin' feeling" about is her skill with the pen.

A writer of vivid prose, she has a deep love for poetry. One of her own verses was used by the National Council of Teachers of English in 1944 as the program poem:

God made this world, a beautiful world;
One lovely spot we chose
And planted there some tiny seeds
And the Buckeye Tree
arose.
We viewed the hills, the waving fields,
The sunset-golden glow;
We loved the soil and all it yields;
We named it OHIO.

Am I Worthy?

Isabelle Wallace feels that God has been generous to her but questions her worthiness.

Those whose lives have been touched by the magic of this teacher, who expects and receives the best in everyone, will agree Miss Wallace has been blessed with a full and creative life, but none doubt her worthiness.

It couldn't have happened to a nicer person.

Barrett will never be quite the same with a strange face in Room 207.

ALTHOUGH ISABELLE WALLACE "dresses the part" of the characters she impersonates, the roles come to life through the cock of an eyebrow, the twist of her mouth and the rapid-fire change of dialect. When interviewed recently she lapsed without warning into the role of an Irish colleen as easily as a duck slips into water.

IF IT HAS LEGS and moves, it's a good guess Isabelle Wallace has ridden it. Ostriches, camels and elephants have all been commandeered by the world-traveler who for more than 40 years has brought the world back to her Barrett language and dramatics students. The above snapshot was taken in California in the 40's.

PEP Bill Backers Reject Compromise

Leaders of local education associations throughout Ohio have resolved to fight for enactment this year of the Ohio Council for Education's PEP (Plan for Educational Progress) program either by the legislature or by the citizens at the ballot box.

Attending a special meeting on school finance here May 26, the educators unanimously adopted a resolution pledging their "full and continuing" support of PEP.

The PEP proposal, which would add $116 million a year to the state's share of public school financing, calls for a one percent sales tax increase. It currently is in a House Education subcommittee along with 11 other bills pertaining to the School Foundation Program.

Among those 11 other bills is H.B. 773, an administration-backed proposal which also was the subject of a resolution passed by the teachers at their special meeting, called by Ohio Education Association leaders.

In opposing H.B. 773, the educators said the present School Foundation Program "guarantees state financial support for many critically needed programs" and "recognizes the importance of competent methods of supervision and administration and the necessity for extended service for summertime operation and planning." House Bill 773 "would destroy many of these basic concepts," the resolution said.

OCE Chairman Robert Lucas, Princeton superintendent, said the Council would decide in late July or early August whether or not to put PEP on the November ballot.

"We believe the job of raising money for schools is in the hands of the elected lawmakers and we expect to give them a full opportunity to consider the bill," said Lucas. He added that as far as the Council is concerned, "there are no compromises" on the PEP program.

OCE has been circulating a second group of petitions and expects to obtain considerably more signatures than the 93,518 required to put the issue on the ballot.

Lake Central's new prop-jet NORD 262
The competition to develop a worthy replacement for the old reliable DC-3 went on a good long time. As you can imagine, the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board looked at many a plane before it commended one for its specific capabilities. The winner—by a good long Gallic nose—is the new French prop-jet NORD 262, to be flown first by Lake Central.
Anything the DC-3 does, the NORD does newer. It goes you there faster, and more comfortably. It's air conditioned. Pressurized. Boards on the level. In short, the perfect short-haul carrier to the fifty mid-central U.S. cities Lake Central flies to.

China Discussion Open To Public

"Is Communism in China Legitimate?" is the subject of a talk to be given by Dr. Jerome Grieder in the auditorium of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. 215 N. Front-st, at 8 p.m. Tuesday, June 8.

The meeting is sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Metropolitan Columbus, and is open to the public without charge.

Dr. Grieder, assistant professor of history at OSU, stayed in Shanghai and Canton in 1948-49, when his father took part in the first Fulbright exchange program until the time of the Communist takeover there.

He returned to Taiwan for two years, 1958-60, to study the Chinese language under the auspices of Cornell University and the Ford Foundation.

Tryouts Open To Public

Ohio State's Stadium Theatre has announced tryouts for its production of Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit." This will be the second production of the 1965 season, playing from July 6 to 10. Tryouts will be held on Thursday and Friday, June 3 and 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the Derby Hall Theatre on the campus.

There are roles in "Blithe Spirit" for five women and two men. Director will be Lawrence Kuhl. Reading copies of the play are available for loan in Room 205 Derby Hall from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily.

THERE'S GREASEPAINT IN THEIR BLOOD

THE CAST OF "CHARLEY'S AUNT" is hamming it up for dear old publicity's sake, but a polished performance is promised when Hamilton Township goes on the map next Friday, June 11, with the opening of what "Variety" reports is the only barn theater in the state of Ohio. Barnstock Theater is housed in an old barn on Rt. 665 just west of Lockbourne AFB and is the brain child of Miss Jonnie Cookel, Hamilton Township High School dramatics teacher. The talent is supplied by the youth of the community. "Charley's Aunt," slated for June 11, 12 and 13, is the first of several plays that will be presented during the summer stock program. Clockwise from front center is Janet Windland, enamored by the cement mixer, Janice Richardson, John Powley, Frank Peters, Tom Morgan, Mike Patterson and Cheryl Smith. Cast members not pictured include David Baker, Harvey Allensworth, Priscilla Hallum, Kathy Lehman and Candy Sugarek. Mary Jo Loverette is student director.

Sewer Issue Lines Drawn

It now seems apparent that Columbus voters will decide how the city's $42.5-million five-year sewer expansion program is to be financed. A bond issue is moving toward placement on the November ballot. It calls for financing of the entire program through the exclusive use of bonds. Failure of the bond issue at the polls will result in a sewer rate increase. Presented below are some of the chief points both for and against the use of voted bonds to finance the sewer capital improvements.

Council's Plan:

Boon . . . or . . . Bane?

Those who advocate the exclusive use of voted bonds to finance the sewer expansion program promise that their plan will mean no increase in sewer rates. This compelling appeal to the wallet of the bill-paying public is buttressed by a warning that failure of the bond issue will mean a certain and immediate rate increase.

Council President William R. Fornof is the chief architect of the council-backed plan. He enlisted the aid of Robert T. Dundon, deputy treasurer, and the staff of City Clerk Gordon F. Sarrott in compiling supporting statistical data.

Fornof says that projections of anticipated growth in population and potential sewer users were balanced against the amount anticipated for operating expenses. The results, he says, show that a bonding program can be supported without a raise in sewer rates. Fornof says the calculations were checked by personnel at the state auditor's office.

Fornof also lays heavy stress on the fact that the council plan calls for the use of "staggered" bond financing — a method made available by a state law which became effective in 1962. The staggering of bond payments permits small initial payments, and postpones the bulk of repayment to the later years of bond retirement.

Fornof says such a plan would put the bulk of sewer expansion costs against those who are actually using the new facilities. He has repeatedly said it is unfair to raise rates of present users to finance improvements for future users. A rate increase also is unfair to Columbus residents, he said, because users outside the city can't be assessed the full amount of the increase. (Sewer contracts with the city limit "outside" charges to 150 percent of the city rate.)

The council bonding plan envisions several changes in the uses of revenues paid to the division of sewers. Fornof says he would reclaim for sewer construction use monies now being diverted to the city's general fund. For example: The general fund now gets all funds derived from the investment of unencumbered funds of all city divisions. Fornof feels that such funds should be put back into the division from which the investment funds were obtained.

The council bonding plan lists several areas in the sewer fund where revenues are "diverted" to general fund use. Collectively, it is claimed, these fund sources represent a substantial amount that should be kept within the division to which they were paid. (Fornof says this theory should also apply to the city's other revenue-producing utilities — water and electric service.)

Basically, the council bonding plan backers stress these main points:

1. The voted bonds will avoid a rate increase.
2. Use of staggered bond payment will place the burden of cost against the actual users of the completed sewer facilities.
3. Many internal economy measures will be brought into use, thus effecting a reduced operational cost.

The sewer program financing plan supported by the Sensenbrenner administration includes the difficult proposition of convincing the public that a sewer rate increase is necessary. The task falls mainly on the shoulders of Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner and his director of finance, John P. Stanley.

The first point they make is that the administration did not initiate the idea of a rate increase. The sewer problem was put in the hands of a consultant by the 1961 council, they point out. It was the consultant who brought back to council the recommendation for a rate increase, combined with note and bond financing, as the best method of meeting sewer service expansion needs.

The consultant's basic conclusions, they note, were reviewed by council, the administration, the Development Committee for Greater Columbus, the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce and other interested civic groups and leaders. In all of these reviews, they say, only the Republican members of city council have gone on record against any type of rate increase.

The mayor and his finance director stress these points:

The Development Committee has twice gone on record in favor of a rate increase geared to provide at least 35 percent more revenue for the sewer division. (The consultant made a similar recommendation to council last December.)

The Chamber of Commerce has called for a combination of a rate increase and other methods of financing. (The chamber recommendation did not list a specific rate increase or preference in other methods of financing.)

Stanley says that the figures he has presented to council have come from the most logical, internal sources —the sewer division, the city auditor's office and the finance department. But he charges Fornof with ignoring these sources because they will not tell him what he wants to hear.

Stanley uses the area of sewer division operational cost projections as a case in point. He says that original figures in this area — presented to a group of civic leaders at a meeting called by Fornof — reflected a six percent annual increase.

But, Stanley points out, the information presented less than two weeks later — when council passed the voted-bond ordinance — showed only a four percent annual increase in operational costs. This recalculation, Stanley said, saved the Fornof plan a total of $307 million.

Stanley says that Fornof avoided "historical patterns" in calculating operational expenses, thus lowering the projections for expenses. But, Stanley says, Fornof returned to — and exceeded — historical patterns in projection for growth of service (income) for the sewer division.

Another basic issue presented by Stanley is the amount of interest consistent with the council bonding plan. It will amount to almost $20 million more because of the exclusive use of bonds, he said.

Voted bonds, Stanley maintains, will jeopardize the city's ability to program other needed capital improvements.

In any event, he says, the council-voted bond plan would only postpone and magnify the problems of sewer program financing.

SOCRATES STILL SPEAKS

Socrates asked too many embarrassing questions. He threw too many of the hard stones of fact and reason into the comfortable featherbed of intellectual complacency and emotional self-deception.

Socrates threw challenges.

Socrates questioned not so much the authority of the gods as the validity of man's concepts of their meaning. He shook the tree of reason and used its fruits for seeds of the house of wisdom.

Socrates was one of the few in all the ages to reach the place in the human story where a revelation of a part of the whole truth illuminates the search for the rest.

But the man's contemporaries got tired of seeing him stick his old pug nose into too many dark corners. He made them nervous. He wouldn't let them rest. He just asked too many questions.

Well, that wouldn't have been so bad. But he had answers, too. That was too much. That "took the rag off'n the bush."

So what did his fellow Athenians do? They threw old Soc into the jailhouse, found him guilty of heresy, and made him drink the fatal cup. They shut him up.

But he didn't stay shut up. Now, 25 centuries later, the wise old master speaks louder than ever to all who will listen.

Good and bad, wise and foolish, remembered and forgotten, a lot of water has flowed, all of it downriver, since Athens was a mere village. But who can deny the truth there spoken? Who can prove that the many gods of reason cannot be reconciled with the one true God of faith?

It says here. . .

Truth revealed is only a conditional statement about a part of a greater whole yet hidden.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

I had a friend who once lived in Shanghai and who caught his faithful butler taking a rake-off from the neighborhood grocer.

"Wang," said my friend, "I am not really angry. For some time I have intended to raise your wages, and I see that by my delay and selfishness I have driven you into this dishonest thing. Therefore, tell the grocer your arrangement is at an end, and I will give you 10 yuan more each week."

Jones

"Please," he said, "take back the 10 yuan and let me resume the squeeze. I am having no more fun."

The sad sequel to the story is this: because cynicism, corruption and "the squeeze" were woven into the fabric of Chinese life it was impossible to produce a workable popular government. Chaotic government brought disgust. The Communists promised a new order. So Communism won. There is no squeeze any more. There is also no liberty. And there is very little fun.

The history of China could well be the history of Latin America. Like China, Latin America has had an old civilization with a rich tradition. It has a highly cultured aristocracy. Like China, our southern neighbors are suffering from a population explosion that cancels most social planning. But, unlike China, Latin America has vast resources not only untouched but not even explored. Given efficient government and a high degree of resolution by its citizens, Latin America could move into a golden age of prosperity and progress. The trouble, basically, is the squeeze.

Let's be blunt about it. Latin Americans, generally, are not honest enough to make popular government work. They are usually fired by a fierce, emotional patriotism, but not the patriotism that will give up the short-range snatch for the long-range benefit. The upperdogs are callous to underdogs, and the underdogs, increasingly, dream of the good day when they can rob the upperdogs. This is not the way you build great nations.

In politics, the average Latin country must choose between two evils.

Under constitutional government the candidates of the many parties try to out-promise each other to gain the popular vote. The promises involve social security schemes, early retirement and guaranteed pensions that the gross national product will not support. The result is inflation. Inflation kills the currency. Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil are current examples of this disease.

The second alternative is the orderly dictatorship, of which General Alfredo Stroessner's regime in Paraguay is a classic study. The unschooled peasantry is not permitted to loot the treasury. The budget is balanced. There is investment and growth. A solid foundation is laid for a better future. But there isn't much liberty and among educated youth there is boiling frustration.

Both systems of government breed revolution — the first because it leads to chaos, and the second because it is repressive.

For a long time no one paid much attention to Latin American revolutions. They were considered vaudeville jokes — the Tweedledums ousting the Tweedledees.

But International Communism introduced a new note — the irreversible revolution. Castro crushed his enemies with savage ruthlessness, backed by Russian bluster. If you murder or demoralize your opposition at home, and if you paralyze the world by threatening to plunge it into atomic disaster if anyone dares attack you from abroad, you have a marvelous formula.

For under this formula you can lose nine out of 10 of your attempted revolutions and still win the world. Your setbacks will be reversible but your victories will not be. It's that simple, and the Communists are certain it will work.

It doesn't have to work, of course. Communism's failure to deliver the good life in any nation where it is triumphant becomes more embarrassing each year. It can't seem to win any popular elections, and in most countries the vote for avowed Reds has been going down.

But Communists can win coups. And these one-way coups will occur in Latin America unless honesty — plain, old-fashioned honesty — becomes popular pretty soon.

Call it a crisis of ethics — a crisis of land hogs, tax-dodgers, treasury-looters, business sharps and bribe-takers. Call it a failure of vision, the dash over the precipice in pursuit of the quick peso.

For all their charm, intelligence and energy, millions of Latin Americans may die miserably in a collectivist ant hill unless there is a shift in attitudes which will permit them to have freedom and workable political systems.

The Chinese butler was wrong. In the long view, the squeeze is no fun at all.

Guest Pulpit . . .

"Quo Vadis?" "Where goest thou?"

According to tradition these words were spoken by Peter as he hurried away from the city of Rome to escape martyrdom at the hands of the Roman Emperor Nero. They were spoken by Peter to a vision of Christ who appeared to him on the way.

The vision replied, "Back to Rome to be crucified again in your place."

"Not again, Lord!" Peter cried and turned back re-entering the city to meet a martyr's death.

"Quo Vadis" is a valid question for every honest thinking person. "Where are you going?" "What are you doing with your life?"

For the most part Rev. Bright our lives are filled with an endless procession of small necessities in each day. We are hardly aware of any great design or ultimate end, except that of growing a little older and attempting to find some enjoyment along the way. Indeed most of our planning is just to gain relief from pressure and to enjoy ourselves.

But our reason for living ought to have a much more worthy end than that. Is it possible that God created man in His own image simply to have him squander his time and talents — all the intricate construction of his physical body and its marvelous capacity to sense light, sound, taste, odors and touch and in addition to that the delicate balance between the mind and emotions so that his creation could at last be called a "personality" — a soul? No. God must have had a much greater purpose than that.

We believe that God has put us here for a reason and that reason is wrapped in the ultimate secret of God's creation, the universe itself.

"Quo Vadis?" "Where are you going" is the most important question God asks of all his children. He asks it of you. "What are you doing with your life?" Are you using it to make His kingdom come to pass? Does your life conform to His will? What must be our end if we waste the wonderful powers He has given us without purpose or meaning in His sight?

This is the final question which every person, for himself, must answer before God.

Quo Vadis?

pastor, Glenwood Methodist Church

Public Is Still Boss

The RKO Grand Theatre has now joined the Ohio in cancelling the booking for the motion picture "Kiss Me Stupid." The picture itself isn't worth any more space than we have already devoted to declaring it an insult to those who patronize our "better" theaters.

However, two related points are worthy of comment. Ed McGlone, RKO Grand manager, is to be commended for effectively relaying local public sentiment to his New York superiors. And those who made their feelings known on the subject can take heart in knowing that —in the final analysis — the public is still the boss.

Meanwhile, the Ohio and the RKO Grand have risen a bit in the public esteem.

Frosting on the Cake

BY "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

The "creeping paralysis" of federal government control of everybody and everything is more and more obvious and more and more menacing. One of these days, if a majority of our citizens stay sound asleep about what is actually happening, the time will come when every ordinary activity of business promotion will be either suspect or outright prohibited.

This will not be any result of sane and honest corrective legislation. It will be the enslavement of the entire land by a mushrooming bureaucracy.

Nation after nation of ambitious and progressive peoples have been thus shackled by some government of men, not a real government of laws. We lifelong Jeffersonians know our history and still have a profound respect for the axiom "that government governs best that governs least."

Now what do we see? Farmers who can't grow what they believe the market will seek at a profit to himself. One regulation after another against any and all speculative imagination on the part of good sets of individual business brains. One of the great American rights is to be born a fool and stay that way.

There is no reason, however, in logic or honest philosophy for some "politically sacred" bureaucracy to have its own tin badge "elite" in absolute pre-emptory authority.

Even local units of government are succumbing to this infectious toxin.

Read "The State Is My Enemy" if you can find it among the older books. It still rings true.

COFFEE BREAK

Chalk Up Another For Big Repairman In Sky

By ADELINE DALEY

As it must to all appliances, the end came to our beloved electric oven yesterday. (Oh, if those black, caked walls could only talk, what stories they could tell!)

It was a quiet departure, unlike the fighting, gasping struggles of some of our appliances as they prepared to meet the Big Repairman in the Sky.

It merely failed to respond when I started to prepare dinner. (Incidentally, have you ever tried to cook a leg of lamb on a frying pan?)

Warnings that all was not well were first observed when the buzzer on the electric timer continued to buzz for 48 hours. "I think it's trying to tell us something," I said prophetically.

A specialist called in from Geneva (Geneva avenue, that is) made the familiar but somber diagnosis, "Prognosis negative." Or in his words, "Lady, this oven has had it."

Needless to say, the manufacturer of our particular oven and range has gone out of business, so you can't purchase any parts for it locally.

The company, however, consigned the repair work to an outfit in New Jersey which meant that we ship the oven there by freight, or lease an automobile — an Edsel, probably, — and drive it there ourselves. Either way would be costlier than buying an all-new electric kitchen.

Actually, the oven lasted the longest of all our appliances. According to actuarial tables it should have konked out a year ago when it was seven. Of course, my mother has had the same appliances for some 30 years, when they first came out.

But if appliances have to go, I wish they'd plan their demise with the dignity the oven did, even if we had the rarest lamb since the one that followed Mary to school one day.

Consider the automatic washing machine which chased me around the garage during its last fatal "Spin." Dishwashers always expire when they're loaded with half-dirty dishes and a tubful of sudsy water to be ladled out. They have a habit, too, of going out during holidays when you have extra company and dishes.

The noise made by a dying vacuum cleaner sounds like the final tailspin of an airplane during World War I on the late, late movie, "Wings."

The appliance, of course, whose untimely end causes the most commotion is the television set, which always seems to say "Bye, Bye, Baby" when you're ready to watch a baseball game, or maybe an Academy Award presentation (just ask the guests I invited over that night) or the latest episode of "Peyton Place."

JUN 1965

Port Columbus To Mark 36 Years Of Progress July 8

By CHARLES McDERMOTT

How time flies! And people, too. It's June already, a month recognized by many in Columbus as "Air Month" not only because airline traffic is swelled by many additional vacationers, business trippers, conventioners and honeymooners, but also because it is a month of busy preparations for another Port Columbus birthday.

Speaking of this event, we wonder how many readers remember the day Port Columbus wrote its historic chapter into the annals of flight?

It was 36 years ago July 8, the day Port Columbus was officially opened, and the date which marked the nation's first "air-rail" transcontinental passenger flight.

Thousands of people had clamored for a seat on that first historic flight. Nineteen were selected. These boarded the "Airway Limited" train in New York the evening before. In Los Angeles, Charles Lindbergh pressed a telegraph key as a signal and the train headed for Columbus.

At 7:35 a.m. the next morning, Monday, the 19 "adventurers" stepped off the train and walked across Fifth-av to Port Columbus under a canopy that had been flown in from Coshocton. The canopy was the first air freight shipment received at the new airport.

Among the 19 was Amelia Earhart, famed aviatrix. Manufacturing executives and newspaper men made up most of the others.

Waiting for them were two planes, "City of Columbus," named in honor of the city selected by TAT (now TWA) as its eastern air-rail terminal, and "City of Wichita," one of the stops on the several-stop flight from Columbus to Waynoka, Okla.

The two planes were tri-motor Fords, sometimes called the "Tin Goose." Henry Ford and his son, Edsel, had arrived on a special train from Detroit. They were joined by Gov. Myers Y. Cooper and Harvey Firestone. Reporters and photographers had a field day.

Everyone was wide-eyed at the prospect of crossing the country in 48 hours. Covers on airmail envelopes proclaimed:

"Where Train and Plane Meet — Columbus, Ohio — The Nation's Greatest Air Harbor — Dedication — Port Columbus — July 8, 1929."

Shortly after eight o'clock that morning the City of Columbus roared down the runway into the pages of history. The City of Wichita followed a few minutes later.

At 110 miles per hour they sped to Waynoka where that evening the passengers changed to a Santa Fe pullman. They slept (at least some did) through the night train ride to Clovis, N. Mex., changed again to a plane and completed the journey to Los Angeles, cutting in half the time consumed by trains between the two cities!

Pilots on the City of Columbus' memorable flight were H. J. Zimmerman and Dean W. Burford. Piloting the City of Wichita were Harry McGee and George C. Price.

At 11:53 a.m. (Columbus time) the same morning, Lindbergh took off from Los Angeles on the eastbound run, flying the "City of Los Angeles." Before he departed, Mary Pickford in appropriate prohibition-era style, dashed a bottle of grape juice across the prow of the proud plane.

Fort Columbus had been helped in birth by a "midwife" bond issue of $850,000 passed Nov. 6, 1928, by a 5-1 majority after intensive groundwork by the Metropolitan Columbus Committee. It was headed by George J. Karb.

The city's first airport commission was comprised of Emile E. Watson, Don M. Casto, John Vorys, Floyd F. Green, Edgar T. Wolfe, Clare E. Cooke, Stanley M. Ross, John A. Kelley, B. Gwynne Huntington, Malcoln Jeffrey, Robert Lazarus, Alexander P. Hammond, Kline L. Roberts, Henry W. Worley and Frank C. Karns.

Engineering plans for the airport were worked out by Ernest Stork. The plot was surveyed by Curt Lattimer. W. H. Duffy was service director and the mayor was James J. Thomas.

TAT was then called the "Lindbergh Line," and he had a big voice in selecting Port Columbus as the new harbor for the sky. Other sites which were considered were the fields of Norton, Sullivant, Clickenger and Linden. This certainly has had an effect on the geographic growth of Columbus.

While Columbus on one hand was reading reams of praise about its "new baby" and the economic impact it would have on the city, on the other hand it was reading equal reams about the stock market crash.

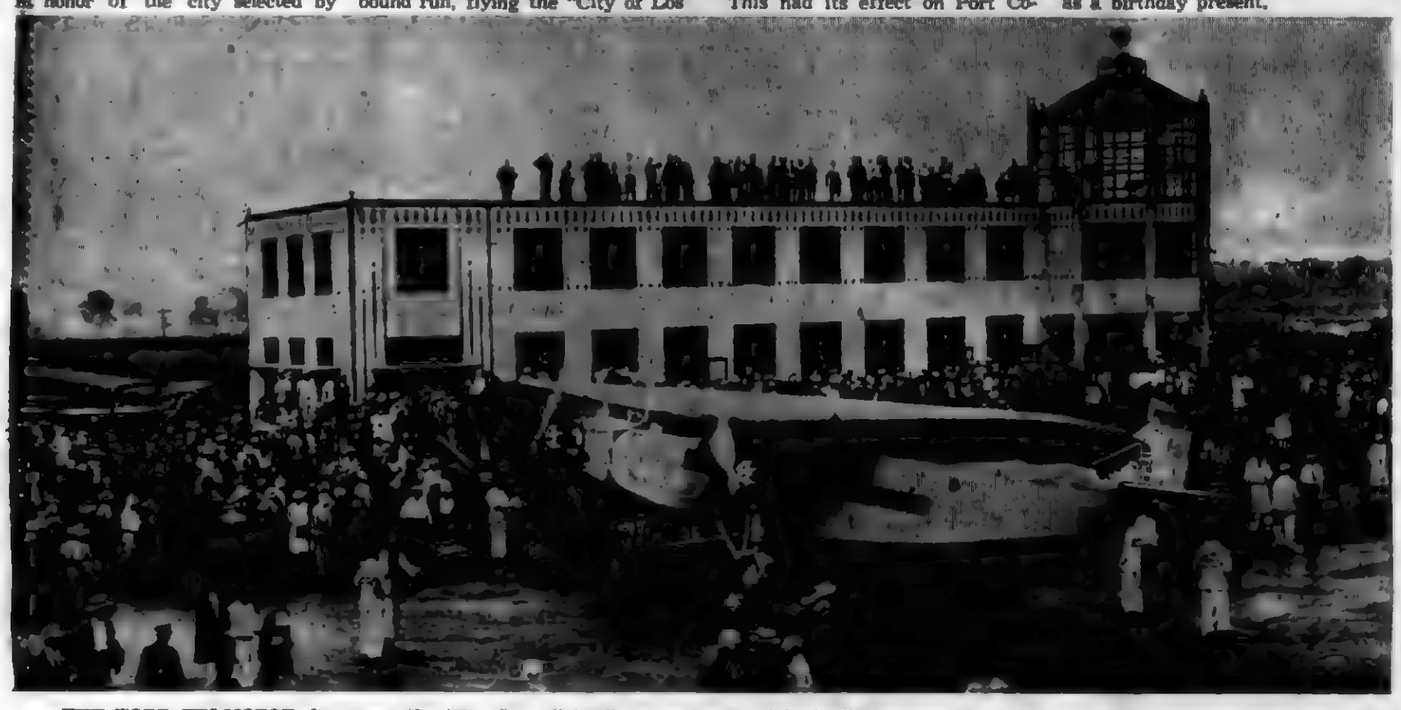
This had its effect on Port Columbus. Reports showed only $3,838 revenue in the first year. Take-offs and landings numbered 3,406 with 11,282 passengers. It was 1944 before black ink replaced red ink in the port's ledgers.

Women were wearing the "straight look" with waistlines where nature never intended. Golf was fast becoming a national pastime, men were wearing "plus fours" while others snickered at knickers.

People were reading Erich Maria Remarque's "All Quiet on the Western Front." Backless dresses intrigued many and so did Rudy Vallee.

How time flies!

But never too fast to bring about its many changes.

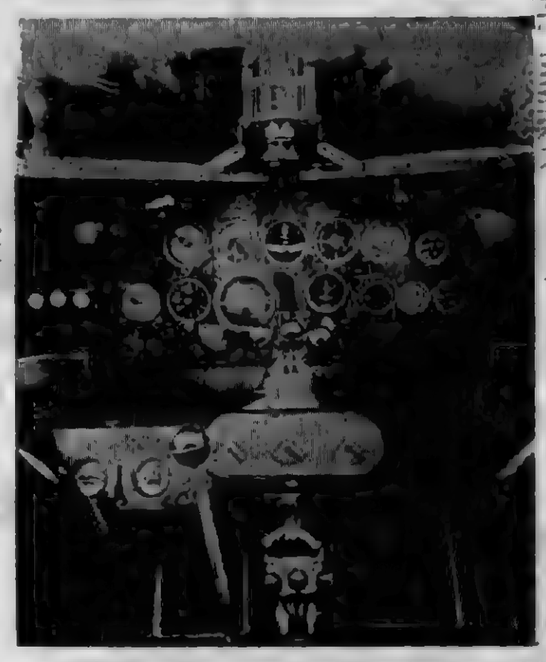


Capt. William F. Centner, a Columbus native and WWI flyer, was Port Columbus' first superintendent. S. O. Nollenberger succeeded to remain through WWII. Francis A. Bolton, just out of the Navy, succeeded him in November 1945. Only 26 at the time, Bolton was the youngest large-city airport manager in the country.

Today, he still manages the busy terminal. If Mayor Sensenbrenner, U.S. Rep. Robert E. Sweeney and others can prevail, Port Columbus will become even busier.

Official soundings indicate Washington's atmosphere is favorable toward designating Port Columbus as an international port. It would be a memorable event if the Treasury Department, which makes final decisions in such matters, handed this to Port Columbus on July 8 as a birthday present.

LUXURY LINER of its day, the Tri-Motor's capacity of 12 passengers was considered ample for the early 1930's. Although comfortable, according to the standards of the time, the Ford cabin was a bit cramped, particularly for tall passengers. Passenger chairs, adjustable to three positions, at first were of plain wicker construction. These were later replaced with aluminum seats covered with leather. There was some soundproofing, but the noise of the Ford's three engines made conversation in the cabin difficult. The windows could be opened for ventilation and there were heat registers in the floor.



THE FORD TRI-MOTOR, known as the "Tin Goose," landing at Port Columbus during one of its first transcontinental flights. The plane was the last word in luxury in air travel in 1929-1930. Capacity, 12 passengers; cruising speed, 110 mph; engines, 400 horsepower each; weight, 18,000 pounds. Take-off time was 8:17 a.m., July 8, 1929, on first commercial air flight out of Port Columbus. Signal for start was given in Washington, D.C., by Secretary of Commerce Lamont, who pushed a button which rang a gong at Port Columbus. The Port Columbus bond issue provided for 640 acres. The airport took over 524, developed 360 initially, sowed 10,000 pounds of grass seed.

We're Gaining Speed!

- First all-air transcontinental all-air passenger service was inaugurated Oct. 25, 1930, cutting time to 36 hours.
- First day-night cross-country passenger air service inaugurated Nov. 5, 1932. Time cut to 25 hours.
- April, 1934, time cut to 17 hours.
- July, 1940, time cut to 14 hours.
- 1946, time cut to eight hours.
- 1965, four hours, 38 minutes (eastbound).
- 1970 — TWA has placed orders for 14 supersonic U. S. and British-French built aircraft. The latter, the Concorde, will fly at Mach 2.2, about 1450 miles an hour compared to present commercial jets cruising speed of Mach .82 or 600 mph.

This will cut trans-Atlantic flying time to three hours, coast-to-coast time to less than two hours.

INSTRUMENTATION on the Ford Tri-Motor consisted of an altimeter, rate of climb indicator, turn and bank indicator, air speed indicator, magnetic compass, gyroscope and clock. The engine group included fuel gauges, tachometer, oil pressure and oil temperature gauges, engine primers and inertia starters. The flight controls were dual and consisted of large auto-type steering wheels for actuating the elevator and ailerons, with stirrups for rudder control. The hydraulic wheel brakes were operated by a single gearshift-type lever located between the two seats.

A tasty sour cream dressing for cole slaw can be made by combining one cup dairy sour cream, two tablespoons vinegar, one tablespoon lemon juice, two tablespoons sugar, one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon celery seed, one pimiento cut in slivers, and pepper, paprika and mustard to taste. Makes one and one-fourth cups dressing.

The Wonderful World of ANIMALS

By Frank Miller, D.V.M.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Being at wit's end, I've decided to ask you about dogs who dig. My problem is a nine-month-old Shepherd - Collie mix. She is eager to obey commands and can be scolded by voice only. My yard looks as if the National Guard had been practicing digging fox holes. Kim has a favorite bone which she hasn't tried to bury. Food and water are plentiful. A friend has offered Kim a Basset hound puppy as a playmate. Would this help?—G.C.

DEAR G.C.: Well, it's true that boredom is Kim's problem, and she would undoubtedly enjoy having the puppy to play with. Unfortunately, this particular pup might be the wrong choice for a companion. Bassets are built for digging and naturally inclined to indulge in this sport. If Kim's present diggings are as impressive as you say, it's awesome to imagine what she could excavate with the aid of a Basset accomplice.

• • •

DEAR DR. MILLER: Our pregnant cat cares for her young, but never has enough milk. Which is a better formula, for kittens, diluted cow's milk or double-diluted canned milk?—B.G.

DEAR B.G.: Whole cow's milk is too low in protein and calories for kittens. Adding water further reduces its value. Canned, evaporated milk, undiluted, is a much better formula.

• • •

DEAR DR. MILLER: Jiffy, my Roller Canary cock is five years old. I got everything all set to breed him with my hen. But I'm having second thoughts about it. He is the only male I've got but is he too old to be a good choice?—L.H.

• • •

DEAR L.H.: Jiffy is only as old as he feels, and therein lies the enigma. The only way to find out how old he really feels is to give him a go at it. Certainly the risk of infertile eggs is higher than if he were half his age. Still, he is your best — and only — choice.

• • •

DEAR DR. MILLER: Potsby, our mutt loves everything, but especially green peas. Are they good for him?—R.R.

DEAR R.R.: Yes, unless Potsby is an older dog with kidney disease. As with most snacks from the table, the amount of peas consumed is small in relation to total food intake. That is the way it should be. Large quantities of a single human-type food in a dog's diet usually result in imbalances and malnutrition.

• • •

DEAR DR. MULLER: I've just gotta have your advice on a big deal I've got coming up. I met this guy over a beer the other night and he's got a three-year-old raccoon boxed up he's going to give me for only five bucks. I figure I can't lose on this one. Why that critter should be worth that for a coonskin cap if he doesn't work out as a pet. What do you think?—G.S.

DEAR G.S.: (copy of earlier reply) Unless a raccoon is raised under extremely congenial surroundings, he tends to become less pettable as he becomes mature. This three-year-older is mature and may make a better bonnet than a buddy.

If you have need for such a headpiece then he could be a bargain — and the poor raccoon may be better off as a coonskin cap than continuing his present existence anyway. (All to often, a wild animal who appears to be "cute" when young develops into an animal entirely unsuitted to human habits and limitation).

They Find Peace In Nature's 'Basement Recreation Room'

By JIM BEUNEY

Are you bothered by the extremes of winter cold and summer heat? Does the combined racket of blaring radios, traffic, and the neighbors' kids get on your nerves?

If you need relief, there's a group of young men on the Hilltop who have the answer — and it's right under your feet.

Members of Boy Scout Explorer Post 33, sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood of Westgate Methodist Church, have a hobby that's the furthest thing from skydiving.

In the caves around Carter County, Ky., there is no light or sound.

A beginner will need to invest $25 or $30 in basic equipment, according to Jim Caynor, quartermaster of the group. This will outfit him in coveralls, crawl-pads, acetylene lamp, helmet, flashlight and other essentials of "caving" gear.

Bob Grabus, 16, another spokesman for the group, says newcomers to the "underground movement" are apprehensive, but "Once the bug bites you, you're hooked."

It all began during Christmas vacation, 1962, when Bill Bisby, advisor to Explorer Post 33 at that time, led an exploration of Bat Cave, in Carter County, Ky. Since then, the group has expanded its membership to 15, and has adopted the methods and equipment of professional explorers. Most exploration to date has taken place in Bat, Canyon, Cow and Jarvie Roakes Caves, all in Carter County.

* * *

Some 220 miles due southwest of Carter County, in Barren County, is a place called Sand Cave. It was there that Floyd Collins was trapped for some time and died, in February, 1925. Headlines concerning that tragedy and others since that time have helped create a general public fear of underground exploration.

The young men of Explorer Post 33 insist that "caving" can be a safe pastime.

A safety program was instituted in the club when it first began. No new member goes into a cave without first familiarizing himself with his equipment in broad-daylight practice sessions. Refresher courses in first aid are given. Expeditions into abandoned mines are strictly forbidden — man-made caves have a tendency to be untrustworthy.

And the program has paid off. In the club's two-and-one-half years of existence, there have been no injuries.

Bat Cave was selected as the training ground for new members, since it is the one with which the older members are most familiar.

After a few trips, the trainee can crawl through narrow spaces and rappel down 40-foot drop-offs with the greatest of ease. He becomes adjusted to waking up in the morning in total darkness, sometimes spending an entire two-day period without benefit of sunlight.

The Explorers go about their business in a very professional manner, keeping records and accurate survey maps of each trip. No one ever gets bored. Regardless of the number of return trips to any one cave, as one member put it, "you never see everything."

The sport of caving is not for the faint-hearted. Spending a weekend in the dark, in the presence of bats, just wouldn't appeal to some.

But there are times, when a jet flies a little too low over the house, or the hi-fi fan next door turns the volume knob a little too far to the right, that being a caveman — even in the 20th Century — doesn't sound like such a bad idea.

ONE JUST DOESN'T "stroll about" from place to place when exploring a cave. Granted, there are level spots, but to get to and from them takes a little practice and know-how. Suppose, for instance, you wish to travel down a "fountain," a vertical tunnel opening in the rock. You would employ a method known as "chimneying," as demonstrated by Danny Burden, in photo at left. It involves the use of the back and both feet, exerting force on the sides of the fountain. By alternating pressure on each of the three points of contact, and using the rope for balance, it is possible to "walk" (backward, of course) down to a lower level. Another method of descent, generally a little more speedy than chimneying, is rappelling. At right, Jim Caynor rappels down into a 45-foot pit in Jarvie Roakes Cave. Rappelling, used extensively by mountain-climbers, controls the rate of descent by application of friction. The rope is threaded through a harness worn by the climber, and is looped in such a manner that he can bring himself from near free-fall speed to a dead stop, by exerting a slight pressure on the rope with his hands. Looks easy enough, doesn't it?

WON'T YOU HELP THEM 'BEAT THE PRO'?

"BEAT THE PRO," oldest golf tourney of its kind in Columbus, will be back again at South Golf Range, June 4 through June 13. Sponsoring Wing 65 of Nightingale Cottage reports that the format will remain the same — an outstanding Central Ohio golf pro setting the target for golfers each night. Numerous prizes will be awarded and the Big Bear Stores will reward any hole-in-one maker with $100. Jack Nicklaus is honorary chairman of this year's tourney. Inviting the public to try to "Beat the Pro" this year are Wing 65 committee members (from left): Jan Schoppelrei, 1059 Sullivant-av; Ann Davis, 1201 Carbone-dr; Jan Miley, 2953 Brownlee-av; Mary Ann Beets, 6351 Livingston-av; Frances Gurley, 1400 Birchwood-dr; Ann Justice, 798 S. Roosevelt-av; Roberta Nixon, 2285 Neil-av; Rose Newton, 2519 Indianola-av; June Sheehan, 250 N. Broadway-av, and Helen Welch, 1858 Harrisburg-pk, Grove City.

'They're Off' Tomorrow At Scioto Downs Opener

Tomorrow night an electrician will push a switch, turning on more than 4000 light bulbs, and the 1965 night harness racing season will be under way at Scioto Downs, "Ohio's Show Place of Racing."

The inaugural event on opening night will be a $8-thousand Invitational Pace, with a $3-thousand Invitational Trot scheduled for Saturday.

HIGHLIGHT of the 88-night season that continues through Sept. 14, is the fourth edition of the successful Scioto Downs Challenge Stakes for two, three and four year olds, and the Scarlet and Gray Cup for three year-olds.

Both series of trotting and pacing events have attracted the top horses and the top drivers in the sport, including Bob Farrington who smashed the single season record of races won with an impressive 312 wins in 1964, and Stanley Dancer, the first harness driver ever to win a million dollars in purses in a single season.

Ohio, long the leading state in the harness horse industry, will provide its share of champion horses and drivers for the summer season at Scioto Downs.

DELAWARE, OHIO'S leading citizen, Wayne "Curly" Smart plans to campaign his stable throughout the year, as will Erv Samples, the veteran reinsman from Rockford, O., who was Scioto's leading driver last year.

Dick Hackett, the 43 year-old sultan from London, has moved his 17-horse stable into the huge barn area at Scioto and is preparing for opening night.

Hackett has a very enviable driving reputation. He has been in the top ten driver list at Scioto Downs since 1960. He won the leading driver title in 1962 and finished second to leading driver, Erv Samples last year by just 48 percentage points.

OTHER TOP Ohio stables ready for combat when the racing wars begin at Scioto Downs are Larry Richard from Washington C.H., leading driver in 1963, Jim Arledge, Jim Mace, Forrest Short, Scioto leading reinsman in 1960, Emmett Ebenhack from Circleville, Bob Cheney from Richwood and Brad Farrington, Bob's brother, who will handle his own 10-horse string plus some twenty head for brother Bob.

Horsemen arriving at Scioto Downs this year will be greeted with a new and expanded barn area. Sixty new stalls bring the total stall space at Scioto to 660, exactly half the number of stall applications that were received by Race Secretary Don Roberts.

Club House patrons will have the advantage of an expanded area in front of the Turf Club. New cement terraces have replaced most of the lawn area which will increase the seating capacity over 100 on the sidewalk cafe.

THE COUNTDOWN has started and blast-off will take place at Scioto Downs tomorrow night, when a field of pacers line up behind Riley Couch's mobile starting gate at 8:20 p.m.

Under Buckeye Skies

By KEN MACK McCREARY

Plush Pup Tent...

A brand-new concept in vacation facilities for outdoor-minded Ohioans will formally become a reality this weekend. On Saturday afternoon, ceremonies will be held dedicating the new Atwood Lake Lodge, in the scenic lake country of eastern Ohio.

Participating in the dedicatory program will be Congressman Wayne Hayes, Governor Rhodes, state officials and high brass of the Muskingum Conservancy District, which is responsible for the plush new layout.

Mack

The impressive new lodge is located on a wooded hill overlooking the shores of Atwood Lake, three miles west of the village of Dellroy, on Carroll County Road 64.

While the resort area is not really in Spectatorland, it is expected to attract many families from the Heart of Ohio to enjoy this rapidly-booming concept in vacationing. What is that concept? Simply stated, many people, while they enjoy outdoor activities such as boating, fishing and hiking, don't want to "rough it" on their vacations; rather than living in a tent and cooking over an open fire, they prefer comfortable accommodations. Atwood Lake will cater to such patrons (as will some seven lodges currently being built and planned by the state).

The rambling lodge complex is the heart of the Atwood Lake facility. Constructed of candlelight range Ohio brick, the lodge features 104 guest rooms, arranged in four wings. Each room has at least one wall of windows overlooking the surrounding woods and lake.

The lodge also features a 400-thousand-gallon heated indoor swimming pool, several convention rooms and (as you'll note by the accompanying photo) a plush, tastefully-decorated public dining room which will seat 270 persons. The dining room is open seven days a week until 8 p.m.

For those vacationers who want comfort but don't desire bunking in a lodge, Atwood Lake also has 17 modern housekeeping cabins, situated on a pine-wooded peninsula extending into the lake from the lodge area. The year-round cottages boast of 4 bedrooms, a bath-and-a-half, large living room and complete kitchen.

How much did all of this Atwood Lake facility cost? — a whopping $2,215,000. The lodge carried a $1.7-million price tag, with furnishings costing another $180,000. The 17 cottages came to $290-thousand, plus another $30,000 for furnishings. The Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District garnered $1.22-million by means of its own bond issue, with an additional $763,000 coming from a federal Accelerated Public Works grant.

From where we sit, the new Atwood Lake Lodge (and accompanying facilities) represents more than just a new resort area. This is the beginning of a new era in vacationing which will attract not just Ohioans but many out-of-state visitors. Our congratulations to the Muskingum Conservancy District for another accomplishment which shows that it is one of the most successful and progressive conservancy organizations in the nation.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

June Food Shopping Tips Given

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

Fruits — watermelons, bananas, pineapples, rhubarb, strawberries

Vegetables — greenhouse tomatoes, locally grown lettuce and cooking greens, asparagus, carrots, cucumbers

Other Foods — milk and dairy products, frozen: orange juice, strawberries and lemonade.

June . . . the time when graduations, weddings, vacations and weekend jaunts keep the shopper hurrying about for foods to fit the occasion.

Balanced meals are almost "in the bag" for shoppers who choose from the foods in seasonal good supply: milk and dairy products, broiler - fryers and fresh vegetables. Watermelons are red, ripe and sweet and the volume bigger than usual for June. And, it's the season for strawberries.

Mrs. Franks

Look for a wide variety of dairy products to be featured during June Dairy Month. The annual spring increase of milk will show up in dairy cases as generous supplies of milk, various creams and cheese, ice cream, butter, and all other dairy products.

June marketings of broiler-fryers are expected to exceed those of a year ago, when prices were a record low. However, broiler prices may stay a little above last year because there is less competition now from red meat and the demand stays up. But there's no question about poultry being an economy meat. Compare featured prices on whole and cup-up birds, split broilers and frozen boneless turkey rolls — all uniquely suited to outdoor meals.

June weather promises to bring increased supplies of fresh vegetables after the long period of relatively light supplies and high prices. You will have two more weeks to enjoy asparagus fresh from local fields, and greenhouse tomatoes are now in heaviest volume for the year. Home-grown lettuce and cooking greens are excellent. Other likely good values include: corn, cucumbers, carrots, snap beans, peppers and cabbage—each depending upon the weather and labor available for harvesting.

California long-white potatoes are moving in bigger volume and prices are slightly weaker; maturity is improving. The crop is about 29 percent bigger than last year, giving a little relief to the general potato shortage.

Strawberry picking is getting nearer home. Harvest begins in Southern Ohio this week, followed by Northern Ohio berries a week later. The Ohio crop is expected to be less than last year, but Michigan—one of the three largest berry producers in the country—expects a good crop with peak harvest about the third week in June. Last year their season continued for six weeks.

Gardens And Flowers

By JIM GRUETT

OUTSIDE — One has to search a bit to find an abundance of color amid the predominance of green that frames our present landscaping picture. Roses, peonies, petunias and wild honeysuckle appear to be the most colorful blooms this week. Watch for the yearly invasion of insect pests which is certain to start soon.

LAWNS — Recent heavy rains brought most lawns out of their brown slump. Lawn grasses grow most actively in spring and late fall. During warm summer months they often enter a semi-dormant stage of growth, especially if dry weather persists. Lawns turn brown and require little mowing during this stage. Beautiful green lawns are possible when a regular feeding program is incorporated with adequate watering. A regular feeding program includes feeding in early spring, late spring, summer and late fall: (Mar. 15, May 15, July 15 and Oct. 15). Spring applications encourage rhizome development. New plants develop from these unique underground stems. Summer feedings are beneficial in promoting color. Fall feeding encourages tillering which is a growth process by which bluegrasses develop young grass blades of the parent plant.

This program of feeding is designed to encourage turf density, not increase mowing. You may wish to substitute a combination product such as Scotts new Turf Builder Plus 2, which kills both types of broad leaved weeds while it feeds for either the late spring or summer feeding.

TREES — It's amusing how much poetic license land developers employ when they advertise "wooded lots." Considering how long it takes for a shade tree to mature, it seems a crime to watch the mass land clearing which all too often results in flat patches of barren soil. New homeowners faced with the above condition, call Gene Leimer at 889-1988. Gene is an expert in landscape design. He knows how to build your patch of barren soil into an interesting and useful landscape that will compliment the design of your new home. You don't need to spend a small fortune either.

ANNUALS AND PERENNIALS — Still plenty of time to plant most of your favorites. Vinca vines make an interesting hanging plant for above-ground planters and hanging baskets. For inexpensive color, consider petunias, coleus, asters, salvia and verbena. A few interesting perennials to look into are: flax, evening primrose and lupine.

FLORISTS — If you don't have the garden space to grow your own cut flowers, stop in and pick up a colorful bouquet of spring cut flowers at your favorite florist. An attractive vase of bright colored flowers does so much to make a cheerful table setting. If you can't get out, call Lulu Bell Florist at 224-6408 and Rollie Freeman will send a beautiful assortment of cut flowers out to your home.

A Letter To A Graduate

Dear Don:

Friday will be a big day for you. I am sure it is a day you have looked forward to with mixed emotion. There is a joy in the knowledge that you now have that high school diploma and perhaps there is sadness at the fact that all you kids who started in the first grade 12 years ago now are going out in very different directions.

We are happy for you — because on the road ahead lies great adventure. Many of us who have traveled similar roads have found the way to be happy is to find adventure in every day. You do this by looking for something new in each task as well as each joy.

It has been an adventure for us to see you grow up. You and I met outside the delivery room at Mt. Carmel Hospital 18 years ago when Dr. Chet Cramer held you up by the legs and gently slapped your little pink setter and caused you to emit your first expression.

It was as if you were saying, "What did you bring me here for?" It soon became apparent that you were finding this old world it be a pretty pleasant place and had made up your mind to make the most of it.

We found quite early that you had a mind of your own —which is as it should be— but likewise you learned that little guys or big guys can't always have things their own way.

I remember the time at Daytona Beach when at age two you got so mad at the ocean because the waves kept coming in higher and higher to wash out your sand palace. Then, and since, you have learned many times that there are many things bigger than ourselves.

Like lots of other youngsters you have learned that your high school years have been your best ones. A contributing factor to this has been your extracurricular activities like Hi-Y, the track team, MYF and, certainly not the least, a high school romance with a very fine and sweet little girl.

As the years roll on you will learn that there is a great satisfaction in assuming your share of extra curricular activities on behalf of your fellow man. This is time that cannot be measured in money values.

Many times I have expressed my disappointment at your failure to put that extra effort into your studies. School at certain times was the least of importance in your thinking. I remember that time at the breakfast table when we were discussing what we would give up for Lent and a fourth grade boy said, "I'll give up school!"

You have learned to commune with God through Nature. Many times in years to come you will take strength and find wisdom in making decisions from the things you have learned in the great outdoors.

As you go out on your new adventure in college you will quickly learn that the world has various ways of separating the men from the boys.

Your greatest strength lies in the fact that you are not afraid of hard work, you are friendly, you like people and you are very much a gentleman.

Your mother and I have every reason to congratulate you and wish you well in the belief that you, our son, will prove yourself to be a man.

Dedication Of Walnut Baptist Church Slated

The service of dedication for the first unit of a proposed three-unit structure of the Walnut Heights Baptist Church, at 1660 Lattimer-dr, will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. on June 13. Dr. Ray E. Roberts, executive secretary of the State Convention of Baptists in Ohio, will be the guest speaker.

Jerry R. DeBell, pastor of the church, revealed that "attendance at all services of the church has increased since the congregation began using the new building on Jan. 31, 1965." Much of the work on the new building was done by members of the church. Within the past nine months this church has received 62 new members into its fellowship.

LOOKING NORTH FROM THE ROAD in Whitehall City Park—an open drainage ditch four to six feet deep, dug Saturday as part of the engineering plan to drain the park, looked like this Sunday after heavy rains filled the ditch to overflowing. Pumps were started Tuesday morning, and by noon the water had been directed to the open area back by the trees. When the drainage plan is completed, Service Director Joseph Shannon explained, water will not stand in the swale.

BASEBALL DIAMONDS in the park, also inundated Sunday, had drained by Tuesday until only a few puddles remained. The area will drain more efficiently, Shannon said, when grading is completed. Large piles of dirt from the grading process now form natural barriers for the water, complicating the problem of an incompleted sewer installation.

Park Water Woe Is 'Temporary,

Perplexed and perturbed Whitehall residents who had expected that a recent storm sewer installation would eliminate the problem of standing water in city park, Sunday found the situation had never been worse.

On the eve of opening of the playground and baseball season in the city, Whitehall councilmen Ray Shipley and Les Ballenger were alarmed at the potential danger to small children of an open drainage ditch beside the road filled with four to six feet of water.

But Service Director Joseph Shannon hastened to explain the situation would be only temporary. "Within two weeks, when the sewer installation is completed," he said, "the problem of standing water will be solved.

"And until then," he continued, "if there are any more heavy rains the water will be pumped from the ditch to the flat land back by the trees." This was done Tuesday.

He likened the present situation to "a bathtub filled with water — when we pull the plug it will run out."

Although the storm sewer in the park is installed, and lateral conduits laid leading into the sewer, the line is plugged where it enters the main sewer at Hamilton-rd.

This can't be opened until the line is approved by state inspectors — expected to happen within two weeks.

Until then, although lines are draining efficiently into the park storm sewer, the water stays there.

Shannon answered alarmed questions, posed in a letter from Shipley, about the safety factors of a deep drainage ditch along the road where small children play, with:

"The ditch, or swale, is needed to put into effect the engineering plan to drain the park — because we had to reverse the grading of the entire park to get water to flow into the lines.

"When completed, the sloping swale will extend to Langley-av, and be seeded, and water will not stand in it.

Two-thirds of the water will flow away through lateral lines to the storm sewer. The balance will be carried away through a pipe at the bend of Langley, to an excavated low area where it will be evaporated."

The ball diamonds will also drain efficiently, Shannon said, when the system is completed. The run-off problem at this time is complicated, he explained, by barriers of dirt from grading of the diamonds.

"We are trying to do in two months," he concluded, "a job that could take as much as 12 months to complete. Graders are working every evening from twilight to dark — these are men working during the day on construction jobs."

Theater's New Sign Is Denied

Bexley Theater Manager G. K. Nitz left Tuesday night's council session with mixed feelings. He said he enjoyed the experience of watching the solons in action, but was disappointed by council's answer to his question.

Nitz asked if he might have a zoning variance to permit placement of a marquee-type sign in front of the E. Main-st motion picture house. Council said "no."

The proposed double-faced sign would have measured 96 square feet. Bexley law governing such signs specifies a maximum of 30 square feet. While present pole signs at the Bexley exceed the legal maximum, they are permitted because they pre-date the restricting ordinance.

Council's refusal of the Nitz request was unanimous and supported the recommendation of the service committee which had studied the request. Committee Chairman J. Roth Crabbe opined that the sign ordinance should either be enforced or scrapped.

He said granting the variance might lead to similar requests from other businesses. The shoe store, he said, might want to advertise a sale, or the ice cream store list its 31 different flavors.

Nitz told council the present signing is inadequate and ugly. He said the sign he planned would replace several existing signs with a combined square footage of more than the single sign requested.

Supporting Nitz was Allen Seipel, of the Art-Glo Sign Co. He told council that adequate signing is essential in attracting patrons for worthwhile films. Seipel said that lack of proper signing could force the theater to forego top features in favor of the

SCHOOL'S OUT! KIDS HAPPILY HEAD FOR PARKS, PLAYGROUNDS

Summer social season for the small-fry and their big brothers and sisters will open Wednesday, June 16, when Columbus Recreation Commission kicks off its planned playground program.

A schedule of fun in the sun—and in the shade when the mercury climbs—includes group games, league play, arts and crafts. Highlights of the season are inter-playground tournaments, pet show, lantern parade and Junior Olympics.

Program will be in effect from noon to 8:15 p.m., Monday through Friday, under the direction of trained supervisors.

Columbus playgrounds operating in the Eastern Spectator area are:

Beatty Center, 247 N. Ohio-av; Courtright School, 1712 Courtright-rd; Eastgate School, 1939 Stratford-wy; Fairmoor School, 3281 Mayfair Park-pl; Franklin Park, 1826 Franklin Park S.

James Road School, 979 S. James-rd; Krumm, Alton at Ninth-av; Leawood School, 1677 S. Hamilton-rd; Pinecrest School, 4025 E. Astor-av; Poindexter Center, 740 Champion-av.

Scottwood School, 3392 Scottwood-rd; Shepard School, 873 Walcutt-av; Willis Park School, 4938 Beatrice-dr, and Woodcrest School, 5321 E. Livingston-av.

In Bexley ...

Supervised fun all summer long will be provided for Bexley small fry beginning next Monday, June 14, according to Joe S. Poetker, Bexley recreational director.

Playgrounds at Montrose, Cassingham and Maryland elementary schools will be open for the rest of the summer, featuring softball, group games, and individual hobbies.

Quiet activities such as checkers, chess, story-telling and crafts are on the docket for those long, unusually hot summer afternoons.

Special activities throughout the summer will include inter-playground softball, Junior Olympics, teen tennis and the annual Fourth of July celebration all day at the high school.

Adult supervisors for the all-day recreational program are Marilyn Kurtz and David Helmick at Montrose, Vicki Howe and James Ort at Cassingham, and Marilyn Ruhling and David Weis at Maryland.

In Whitehall ...

Whitehall playgrounds will open up their gates June 21 to provide summer-long activities for the city small-fry from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day.

Youth will be able to find both fun and friends at all five Whitehall playgrounds. Beechwood, Norton Field, Etna Road, East Main Street and Kay Avenue.

Among coming events sponsored by the recreational department is a junior-senior high dance at the Municipal Building and an adult round and square dance June 19 at the Beechwood Shelter House from 8 to 11 p.m.

Recreational directors at the various playgrounds are Phil Allen and Marjorie Bixler, Beechwood; Don Sapp and Juanita Williams, Norton; Edward Metzger and Glenna Stanger, Etna Road; Jo Ellen Bowen and Kenneth Richards, Kay Avenue; and Peter D. Cooper, East Main Street.

12TH ANNUAL EVENT

C. C. Crabbe Will Stage Flag Day Rite

Flag Day in Bexley, started 12 years ago as an expression of his personal patriotism by C. C. Crabbe, will be observed Monday, June 14, 2:30 p.m. in front of his home, 89 Bullitt Park-pl, just north of Fair-av.

Grown through the years to the proverbial acorn-to-oak tree proportions, the event now not only attracts 400 children and as many adults, but figures of national prominence.

Also participating will be 50 Boy Scouts and 50 Girl Scouts—one of each for every star in the flag. The scouts will conduct a flag-raising ceremony in the yard of Bexley's world-renowned aviatrix, Mrs. Jerrie Mock, Fair-av at Bullitt Park-pl.

And each child present will receive his traditional gifts from Mr. Crabbe—a flag and, after a parade to Broad-st and back, ice cream bars.

And there is a plan, just in case it rains—but nobody believes it really will. The sun has always shone for the program. But just in case—the ceremony will be moved to the auditorium of Bexley Junior High School.

What's So Funny About Makin' Money?

You may think we're clowning, but we're not.

It's just that time of year again, and we want to give something away.

If we were in the circus business, it would probably be baby elephants.

If we were in the automobile business, it would probably be sports cars.

But shucks, kids, we're sorry.

Want some?

It's free and you'll be surprised what it can buy you.

Maybe a summer job, that's just up your alley.

Maybe a pal who'll swap white elephants with you.

Anyway, who not give it a try?

Just run a free want ad with us and see who calls you when the paper comes out next Thursday.

Here are the rules:

1. You must be a boy or girl 16 years or younger.
2. All ads must contain your name, address and phone number, and may not exceed 20 words in length.
3. Want Ads will not be printed unless you include your telephone number.
2. You must deliver your ad in person or mail it to The Spectator, Boys and Girls Want Ad Dept., 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus, Ohio, 43204. No ads will be taken by phone.
5. All Want Ads must be in the newspaper office by Monday, June 14.
6. We reserve the right to edit any ads submitted.

NOW ... PLAY BALL!

"ALL SET, BUDDY?" A cap, just the right size, is the finishing touch to uniform of eight-year-old Rusty Brobst, 4046 Elbern-av, pitcher in the Pee Wee League of Whitehall Baseball Association. Charles H. Evans is president of WBBA. The organization provided 90 new uniforms, at a cost of about $900, for this season, in addition to an expenditure of approximately $1000 for baseballs and the repair of old uniforms. About 600 boys participate in WBBA's four leagues. First game is Monday, June 14. (story inside).

Following the council session, Nitz said he felt council "saw the aesthetic need or the sign," but that his request was weakened "because I'm playing a film which did not appeal to one member."

Current feature at the "art" theater is "The Dirty Girls." During the council session, Councilwoman Ruth Mann asked Nitz about the intended size of lettering on the proposed sign, and commented that the present marquee title "loomed up big" to her.

Another council member reported that Bexley police had requested Nitz to remove two posters advertising the film. He complied with the request.

"Anyone with at theater who doesn't have a marquee is out of business," Nitz said after the council meeting. He said the sign ordinance fails to consider the specific needs of different businesses. For example, he said, council did not consider the display showcases of other businesses in counting advertising space.

Nitz said he has no present plans to purtue the issue any further.

In other action, council approved two requests for the construction of patios.

Lamb feeding in the United States actually started out on a large scale operation around flour mills to use the waste products.

JULY 5 'RAIN DATE'

All Area Amateurs May Enter Jaycees July 4 Talent Show

All amateur entertainers in Whitehall, Bexley, Berwick and the entire East Columbus area are invited to participate in the amateur show planned as part of the July 4 celebration staged by East Columbus Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The event, to be held from 1:30 to 10 p.m. at Robinwood Plaza, E. Broad-st at Robinwood, is planned for Sunday, July 4, and, to insure the community a celebration, it will be postponed to the next day, Monday, July 5, in the event of rain.

The talent show, an innovation this year, will be held at dusk, with no restrictions on the type of acts. Dancing, singing, novelty acts and combos will be welcomed.

Prizes will be awarded for the best.

Anyone interested may call the talent show chariman, Paul Knoblauch, BE. 1-9041.

The day will start with a parade, with all kids invited to decorate their bicycles and join in. There will be prizes for the best-decorated bikes in different age categories.

Dancing will follow the talent show, and the "biggest-best" fireworks display will wind up the day.

"Silly Olympics," with games and contests of all types will be held during the day in the field behind the plaza. The water battle between area fire departments, so popular last year, will also be repeated.

There will be rides, games and entertainment on the plaza. All community organizations interested in operating a concession stand for the affair may contact the chairman, Fred Frank, 797 S. James-rd, Apt. 12, 237-4819, or co-chairman, Dr. Arthur Kelly, 231-0061.

Area Boys May Attend 'Y' Day Camp

Two of the eight weekly periods of the Boys' Branch YMCA Day Camp are open to Whitehall and East Columbus boys. The camp operates in Blendon Woods for boys who have completed first grade through 11 years of age. Under the leadership of qualified male counselors, boys participate in hiking, camping, cookouts, nature study, games, crafts and other out-door activities.

Twenty boys from Whitehall may attend the sixth period, July 26-30, and 80 boys may attend the seventh period, Aug. 2-6, from both Whitehall and East Columbus.

In Whitehall bus stops are at or near all five elementary schools.

In East Columbus, stops are at or near James-rd, Berwick, Scottwood, Courtright, Leawood, Shady Lane and Willis Park School. Campers are picked up and returned to these stops each day.

Brochures and further information can be obtained by calling the Boys' Branch YMCA at 224-1131.

New Fame Heaped On Columbus Town

By CHUCK HARTLE

Whatever the claims to fame of our fair community . . . All-American City, home of championship athletic teams, city of roses, and so on . . . it's a special pleasure to live in a place known for its beautiful gals.

And now Sue Downey has announced our good fortune to the nation by her succession to the throne of Miss USA of 1965. Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Downey, of 610 Old Farm-rd and a junior at OSU, majoring in fine arts.

Her prizes, which include $5,000 in cash and an equal amount in contracts, may seem large. But there are numerous offsetting expenses, including a $1,200 gown worn in the competition.

Sue can expect solid support from this corner come July 15 and the Miss Universe Pageant at Miami Beach.

It's a great time of year for school kids. They're all getting out for summer. And for teachers, too . . . they just got a raise. Some 4,000 Columbus public school teachers will receive bigger paychecks beginning in September. Increases range from $300 to $1,500.

It was almost like political campaign time again yesterday as GOP leaders including Eisenhower, Scranton, Romney, Nixon, Percy, Murphy, Reagan, Morton, Ford and Rhodes attended "Salute to Ray Bliss" dinners throughout the state.

An hour - long television program on a statewide network showed highlights from the various locations, including Columbus where Gov. Rhodes and former vice-president, Richard Nixon, held forth.

New records are expected as the meet is held on Whetstone's springy, new, asphalt-rubber, all-weather track.

Among the favorites are Estelle Baskerville, high jump, and Sandra Knott, 880-yard run, both of Columbus.

The deserted Norwood Amusement Park on Main-st at Alum Creek may be replaced by a 6000-seat football stadium or tennis arena for Capital University if obstacles can be overcome. Woman Dies After Crash In Bexley

Cause of the death Monday of a Brooklyn, N.Y. woman injured June 2 in a traffic accident in front of 2770 E. Main-st, has not yet been determined.

An autopsy performed after death in St. Anthony Hospital failed to disclose the cause. According to Dr. Robert A. Evans, county coroner, further chemical and microscopic studies would be made.

Mrs. Winnie Nicholson, 45, was admitted to the hospital with a windpipe injury after the auto driven by her husband, Arthur, 56, hit a steel pole marking a bus stop.

She was listed in satisfactory condition before her death.

In the event the death is ruled a traffic fatality it will be the first in Bexley since Nov. 21, 1964.

The bridesmaids were identically attired in floor-length gowns of iridescent chiffon lemon-yellow which faded to tones of orange gold at the back waistline. Conserving Uses Of Cropland Are Explained

Owen VanSchoyck, chairman of Franklin ASC County Committee, recently explained the difference between "diverted acres" and "conserving acres" under the government's wheat and feed grain programs.

"Conserving acres," he said, "is the term usually applied to the acreage of legumes, grasses, water impoundments, trees and shrubs planted on cropland, green manure crops and wildlife food plots used to meet the conserving base requirements for the farm. This acreage may be pastured or harvested except sorghumsudan grass hybrids will not count as conserving, if used for silage."

"Diverted acreage" is an acreage of conserving crops equal to the agreed-upon reduction from feed grains and wheat. No hay or other crops are to be harvested from the "diverted acres" during the entire 1965 year and this acreage may not be pastured between Apr. 1 and Oct. 1. The diverted acreage in conserving crops or uses must be in addition to the conserving acreage maintained to meet the conserving base for the farm.

In all, 684 Franklin County farms are participating in the feed grain program and 762 in the wheat program, VanSchoyck said.

Have the mental equipment to do your job, then take the job seriously, yourself not too seriously. — Frances Willis.

AT CAMP CHASE CEMETERY

Special Memorial Services Held

Traditional observance of Confederate Memorial Day was held Sunday, June 6, at the Camp Chase Cemetery, 2900 Sullivant-av, with some 200 people in attendance.

H. O. Parke, DAV Seventh District Executive Committeeman and caretaker of the cemetery, dedicated the new spotlight behind the Confederate soldier statue in memory of the late 1st Lt. E. A. Sims, 83rd Division, Pioneers (WW 1), "to remind each and every one of you that all these men were dedicated to and died for a cause."

Rev. Rene Meyer, St. John Evangelical Lutheran Church, paid tribute to the 2,260 interred there "who gave the last full measure of their manhood."

Principal speaker Capt. Hugh Eads pointed to the cemetery as example of the fact that prison camps are one of the true tragedies of war. The 2,260 all died during the three years of the camp's existence, 1861 to 1864.

Speakers and honored guests were introduced by Mrs. Edmond Notebaert, president of the local Dixie Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The memorial program was arranged jointly by the local UDC and Camp Chase Post, American Legion.

THE CONFEDERATE Stars and Bars are carried in, past the Stars and Stripes, lowered to half-mast, by the Ohio First Cavalry, Troop C, Volunteers, a group of young Civil War enthusiasts from the Hilliard area. They fired a salute over the graves during ceremonies.

AN UNIDENTIFIED woman from Lee, S.C., was one of several southerners present for the memorial service. When photo was taken, she was checking a list of family names against those on the markers.

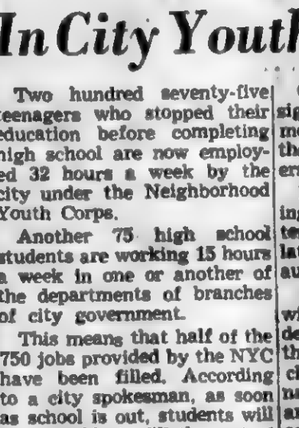
350 Teenagers Hired In City Youth Program

Two hundred seventy-five teenagers who stopped their education before completing high school are now employed 32 hours a week by the city under the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

Another 75 high school students are working 15 hours a week in one or another of the departments of branches of city government.

This means that half of the 750 jobs provided by the NYC have been filled. According to a city spokesman, as soon as school is out, students will be available to fill the rest of the jobs.



The present grant will run through this summer, and application will then be made to expand the program to provide 1,000 jobs. The rate for both work schedules is $1.25 an hour.

Urban Renewal is using the youths for engineering drawing, filing and clerical work, planning for mapwork and compilation of statistics, the Health Center for laboratory and clerical work and the engineering and construction division has set the youth to work surveying and inspecting.

Other youths are erecting signs for the traffic department, planting seedings at the zoo and inspecting sewers and drains.

Experience in data processing is now offered in the water department and will be later in the office of the city auditor.

Some part-time workers will be utilized as police cadets to dispatch and file, and the garages are offering mechanical work and maintenance. All the cabinet offices are using the teenagers as receptionists and file clerks.

The use to which a product is to be put is the prime consideration in determining whether a "special" is a bargain. Canned pineapple slices cost more than chunks. If they are to be cut up for salad, the chunks may be equally satisfactory. Even if the slices are offered as a special well below their usual price, but still above the cost of chunks, the special will result in no savings.

Fornof Criticizes Mayor's Veto Of Sewer Bond Plan

By FRANK RYAN

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner's veto of city council's plan to finance sewer capital improvements by exclusive use of voted bonds has drawn criticism from Council President William R. Fornof.

"It is surprising," Fornof said, "the mayor is attempting to deny the voters of the City of Columbus their right to decide what method of financing is to be used to finance the future sewer system for this city."

Fornof is the chief architect of the bonding plan to finance the city's five-year sewer expansion program. He has repeatedly stressed that the people must choose between exclusive bond financing and a raise in sewer rates.

Fornof says the bonding plan approved by council will permit completion of the $42.5-million program without a rate increase. He says the plan for voted "staggered" bonds would defer payment to a time when actual users of completed facilities would bear the burden of their construction costs.

Fornof criticized the Sensenbrenner administration for not having submitted to council any legislation detailing how the sewer program is to be financed. Sensenbrenner had promised to introduce an ordinance calling for the combination of a rate increase and bond and note financing.

The ordinance was not introduced, administration officials say, because it became apparent that council would not consider any legislation including a rate increase feature.

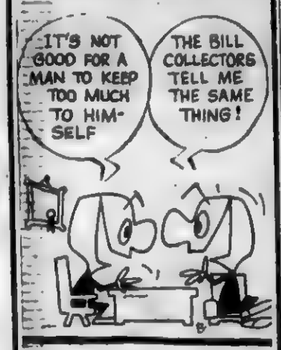
Answering criticism that supporting figures have been altered to fit the council plan, Fornof said:

"Council has had but one plan. Supporting data has been updated from time to time, but at no time has council deviated from the original plan and council never recommended use of income tax or property tax. In fact, council's plan will not increase property taxes.

"It is basically a long range, staggered debt plan for an improvement which has a life of 100 years — putting the dollars and cents burden on the benefactors of the service."

It is expected that council will override the mayor's veto at next Monday's regular meeting.

Hearing Both Sides



In another development of the continuing debate over sewer program financing, the Metropolitan Committee has announced plans to hear both sides of the story. A meeting with city administration officials was held Tuesday, and a subsequent meeting will be scheduled with Fornof and other backers of council's plan.

Paul Gingher, chairman of the Metropolitan Committee, said the meetings would help determine whether or not the civic group will actively support council's bond plan.

In the 20-year experience of the Metropolitan Committee, Gingher said, "this is the first time we have been confronted with the situation where the administration and the council have disagreed on what should be done" relative to a voted bond issue on the ballot.

Gingher said he hoped a meeting would be scheduled with Fornof next week. He said the committee would hold a subsequent meeting to determine what stand, if any, the committee will take.

Whitehall Baseball Leagues Launch 1965 Season Monday

Such a big event shouldn't be launched without fanfare—and in Whitehall it isn't.

Baseball season in the city opens Saturday, June 12, with a parade, and a flag-raising ceremony will mark the official start of league play at City Park, appropriately enough on Flag Day, Monday, June 14.

In preparation for the season, Mayor William Holzhause has proclaimed this week as "Baseball Week" in Whitehall, and citizens are urged to support the program through the purchase of $1 membership decals, available from coaches and officers of Whitehall Baseball Association.

Saturday's parade, including the more than 600 boys age eight through 15 who participate in the program, and officers and members of WBBA, will form at Whitehall-Yearling High.

The parade route is south on Yearling to Main-st, east on Main to Ross-rd, north to Langley, and east to Orton Davis Memorial Park.

Participating in the first-game ceremony Monday will be Boy Scouts from Troop 367—Joe Nelswander, Craig Charlton, Bruce Charlton, Lenny Stayton, J Dentner and Paul Grandinetti, who will raise the flag.

Annual budget of WBBA for financing the leagues is about $5000. Main source of income is the sale of membership decals. Anyone wishing to support the program may contact WBBA president, Charles Evans, 729 Bernhard-rd, 235-1649; vice-president, Mark Wilson, secretary, or Bill Darnell, at Whitehall any coach.

NEW CAMP FIRE SONG:

Where, Oh Where Can Our Little Girls Be?

It's getting close to day camp time, and the telephone isn't ringing like mad.

It should be, because registrations for the first week of camp scheduled to begin Monday, June 28, closes this Monday, June 14.

The week-long program at Camp Moore just south of Canal Winchester is open to girls (you don't have to be a Camp Fire Girl) in grades two through seven who lives in the South End, Bexley, Whitehall, Gahanna, Reynoldsburg, Groveport, Obetz, Canal Winchester or Ashville areas.

Buses will pick up campers at the school closest to their homes about 8 a.m. and return them around 4 p.m. except on Friday evenings. Friday is the day of the overnight before camp breaks up on each Saturday of the four camping periods planned. (June 28, July 12, July 19 and July 26.)

Sack lunches are brought every day except Wednesday when the "makings" for a cook-out are provided. Dinner and breakfast on the overnight are also on the house.

The tab for the week of outdoor camping is $7 for members and $8 for non-members. All but $1 is refundable if someone has to cancel out.

Registrations are also being accepted for girls at least in the eighth grade who are bike-hikers. These wheeled campers will confine themselves to regular camp activities until Wednesdays when they take off, much like hostelers, to return only in time for the Friday overnight.

The bikes will be picked up at the schools by trucks and rental ones are available for $4.

All you need for a wonderful week, according to the staff, is a drinking cup, four sack lunches, the registration fee and a bedroll for Friday night.

The Camp Fire Office number is HI. 3-9713.

Praestantia Awards Given At Capital U.

The eighth and ninth recipients of the Praestantia Award, given annually to outstanding members of Capital University faculty, have been presented to Profs. Allene Montgomery, of the speech department, and to Walemar O. Doescher, chairman, philosophy department.

Miss Montgomery, of 657 Sheridan-av, also head of the Capital drama department, and director of the Masquers, has been associated with the university since 1957. In 1952 she was advanced from assistant professor to the rank of associate, and became a full professor in 1962.

She is a graduate of Muskingum College, holds advanced degrees from the University of Michigan and Boston, and has done graduate work at New York University.

Doescher, 2406 Havenwood-dr, a one-man philosophy department, teaches "Principles of Reflective Thinking," "Ethics," "History of Philosophy," and "Social Philosophy" and holds a seminar on "Contemporary Thought," among other subjects.

He has been associated with Capital for more than half a century, first as a student in 1914, later as a professor. From 1945 to 1962, he was dean of the faculty.

Doescher attended New Washington High School and Capital and Princeton Universities and attained his doctorate from Princeton in 1923.

Doescher will retire at the end of the current school year.

Others named to the coveted award have been Helmar Grimm and William J. Darcy, of the history department; Carl Sievert, in chemistry; George Dell, English; Robert M. Geist, biology; Fred Bernlohr, languages and William S. Bailey, music.

Originally the Praestantia Award was given to a single winner. Last year, however, the award was split among three retiring professors. This year a second award was added at the request of an anonymous donor.

OSU To Hold News Institute

The Ohio State University School of Journalism will hold its second annual Journalism Career Institute for talented high school juniors considering a career in the newspaper field during the week of June 13-19 on the campus.

Each student participating in the program is sponsored by a daily or weekly newspaper in Ohio, which picks up the tab for his expenses.

Courses at the workshop are elective, and include reporting, editing, news copy, newspaper layout, sports writing, columns and public relations.

"A year ago, when we inaugurated the institute, we had an enrollment of 70 Ohio youngsters. It is our hope to exceed the number this year — although we are more interested in quality than quantity," commented Arthur S. Bostwick, director of the institute.

Just A Seasonal Summer-y

We're due for some hot times in the old town. Summertime is all but with us and most of us will make haste to get "with it."

There's much to be done; places to go; things to see —and the password for the 12-week adventure is "FUN." It's vacation time. It's time for picnics, swimming, sports activity and campouts. And — though we're sure you've noticed — most schools are "out" and the rest soon will be.

When all the votes are in, you can't beat summer. But summer sure can beat you if you let it. Here are some suggestions for a safer, more carefree season.

1. Think Ohio when planning that vacation. There is much beauty, fun and heritage within our own borders. An Ohio vacation, properly planned, will guarantee maximum pleasure at minimum cost.

2. Our annual re-introduction to the welcome summer sun is best taken in small doses. Ditto for those sports spectators who decide to become participants. Summer fun — like long-distance racing — is best accomplished through proper pacing.

3. Summertime means a much greater traffic volume. Remember — unless you're changing residence, the best trip is a safe round trip. If you're making a long trip, schedule overnight stops at scenic or historical sites along the way. Make use of roadside parks for safety rest stops.

4. Give the children a safety refresher course. If you don't have a home play yard, see that the children play only in supervised community playgrounds and parks. And exercise a little extra summertime driving caution, particularly when traveling in residential streets.

5. View all safety and health precautions as a type of insurance which doesn't cost you a penny, but may save you untold expense and grief.

This is our way of wishing you a safe, secure, supercalifragilisticexpialidocious summer.

House Should Kill Sunday Liquor Bill

Ohio legislators are nearing final action on two liquor bills which, we believe, would create conflicting affects. One would finance a program of alcoholism research, rehabilitation and education, while the other would tend to increase the number of alcoholics in Ohio.

The House of Representatives has passed HB 465. The proposed law, co-authored by Franklin County Representative Keith McNamara, would use one percent of liquor permit fees to combat alcoholism. The bill is now in the Senate Rules Committee and will be assigned soon for a floor vote.

The McNamara bill would bolster programs of the Alcoholism Unit of the State Department of Health. It was recommended for passage by the Liquor Control Committee of the Senate and appears to have strong support in the Senate.

But the same Senate which seems ready to combat alcoholism has also passed a bill to allow the sale of liquor on Sunday. The measure was modified to the extent that a local option election will be required to permit Sunday liquor sales. The bill is now in the House Liquor Control Committee for public hearings.

Reportedly, the Sunday liquor bill will undergo a further change, limiting its application to Cuyahoga and Hamilton Counties only. These are the areas crying for the measure as an aid to attracting conventions. The bill sponsors, realizing that they have no chance of pushing such a foul proposal on the whole state, have concentrated their efforts where the greed is the greatest.

It is now up to the House of Representatives to junk this proposal which would place economics above human suffering. A bill of this type cannot be good for the citizens of two counties when it is bad for the citizens of the other 86 counties.

FLAG DAY . . . JUNE 14

Behold, its streaming rays unite,
One mingling flood of braided light;
The red that fires the southern rose,
With spotless white from northern snows,
And, spangled o'er its azure, see,
The sister stars of liberty
Then hail the Banner of the Free,
The starry flower of Liberty!

'THE GRIST'
Ground Out by Dusty Miller

Ancients believed the earth is flat. Moderns, worried about the shape it's in, know that its inhabitants are flat.

My seatmate Burch in the boyhood 3-R school, when asked by our teacher to prove that the earth is round, retorted: "I never said it was!"

Bob Farquhar has proved that it is round. He makes globes — trainloads of 'em. He was here from Philadelphia recently to attend the science conference.

Dusty

Guess how Bob takes sample globes here and there, now and then, more or less. Give up? In a hearse! Honest!

He bought a discarded model, detasseled it and personally chauffeurs it on paths of glory that lead not to the grave.

Call it what you wish — churchyard, cemetery or memorial park — a graveyard by any other name is just as skeery.

Equitable's Herb Andrew matches any eerie graveyard-at-midnight-dark-of-the-moon tale with an incident in his boyhood community.

The sunken graves of an abandoned cemetery made it pitifully rough. One fall night when leaves covered the ground, an out-later took a shortcut home through the graveyard.

He stumbled into a leaves-filled hole. A large, economy-size mother Poland China, grunting her displeasure at being disturbed in the form-fitting hollow where she had bedded down for the night, "zoosh-boosh-ed" into the darkness.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones
'One Picture Is Worth 1,000 Words Lies'

In the middle 1930's, when American farmers were hard pressed by drouth and debt, Henry Wallace's Agricultural Adjustment Administration was busy trying to prove that only by massive government controls and outlays could the farms be saved at all.

So the Department of Agriculture began collecting a series of documentary photographs, taken by eager-beaver photographers anxious to please their bosses in the department. One series concerning North Dakota farms showed a number of dust-drifted fields, in each of which there was a whitened cow skull.

Jones

Some suspicious North Dakotans, knowing that it is a feckless farmer who doesn't turn a dead animal over to a rendering plant, began examining these skulls through magnifying glasses. They were amazingly similar. It turned out that the young government photographer had found a skull in a Bad Lands arroyo, and he had been hauling it around in his car trunk to "salt" his pictures.

He entered a forthright defense. It was indeed a North Dakota skull, and "it dramatized a problem."

Photo journalism can be the crookedest form of journalism. If given 100 candid camera views of any man or woman, any good picture editor can produce a five-photo layout "proving" that the subject is stupid, or sly, or brilliant, or dedicated, or crazy. It is done all the time. I don't know any editor, including me, who is not inclined, in the heat of the campaign, to select the day's most flattering photo of the candidate he is supporting, and the most idiotic one of the candidate he's against.

About the time the cow skull was being viewed from every angle, a "documentary" book, "You Have Seen Their Faces," appeared to prove that the textile towns in the American South were cesspools of poverty, ignorance and wage slavery. It was a fine collection of mill-town shacks, noisome privies, disheveled mothers and wan children.

The furious mill owners got up a kitty and produced another "documentary" book under the title "The Faces We See." It was full of neat cottages, eager millhands at company-paid night schools, and their jolly children disporting themselves at mill-owned playgrounds and swimming pools. Both were fine examples of photo journalism. Each was worthless as a description of the South, although both together might have been worth studying.

I have been looking at the cover picture on the May 21 issue of LIFE magazine. It shows Matt Murphy, defense attorney in the Mrs. Liuzzo murder case at Hayneville, Ala., holding up two fingers with a cruel smirk of triumph on his face. There had been a hung jury with two holding out for acquittal. So you look at the picture and you say to yourself, "That son-of-a-gun, why he's boasting that he had two of 'em in the bag!" You have to get over on page 37 to find that Murphy has only two fingers on his right hand. That's photo journalism.

LIFE did do a good job in bringing out the most outrageous highlights of Lawyer Murphy's demagogic and race-baiting plea to the jury. But it would be interesting to know if LIFE editors think that a Harlem jury would go 10 for conviction if a sign-carrying Southern segregationist had been shot while marching down 125th-st.

Birmingham is still seething over the carefully-cropped picture taken at the Birmingham riots apparently showing a maddened police dog leaping at a kneeling Negro. The restraining hand of the cop had been neatly amputated and the dog was, in fact, menacing a second row of demonstrators who were filling the air with bottles and rocks. But the picture went all over the world to "prove" that Birmingham is filled with sub-human white people.

If you take enough shots of any riot, you can, by adroit selection, give the impression that the people on one side are all maniacs and on the other side all martyrs. One of the earliest American atrocity triumphs was Paul Revere's famous engraving of the "Boston massacre." It showed unoffending Americans standing at a respectful distance while being mowed down by an orderly file of British lobster-backs under the command of a sneering officer.

In truth, the mob was all over the troops even while the riot act was being read, and there isn't a modern U.S. Marine lieutenant worth his salt who wouldn't have given the order to fire.

We have moved out of the engraving era into the photo era the motion picture and video tape. These new devices create an impression of genuineness and authenticity that Paul's engraving couldn't. But they are all equally subject to editing.

The difficulty is that the more we distort photo journalism to support our points of view the more we drive our furious opponents into counter attack. And soon we have all ceased to ponder a problem and are waging a war of symbols.

Sacred cows become sacred cow skulls. And pictures not only lie—they lie like hell.

One prize fight I saw cured me for life from such idiocy. That was the Dempsey-Willard battle in Toledo.

Since then I have not seen another one. Nor do I witness such nonsense on radio or TV.

The deluge of scandal about the whole silly business is nauseating and insulting to healthy intelligence. Baseball, football, hockey, horse-racing — all are real vicarious recreation for those who are now too old to participate, that is if they have sense enough to act their age and give the old heart added years.

Trap shooting, skeet and golf are tops for old-timers who play for recreation rather than glory. When a player gets so involved emotionally that the outcome affects his blood pressure, he is decreasing his normal expectancy. The old ticker has a more important job to do: to keep the lifeblood flowing through the body. Those of us who know how right the late Herbert Hoover was about fishing have reached the point of recreational maturity. To sit in complete relaxation in a boat or on a creekbank for hours and match wits with the finny tribe is heaven-sent escape from the crazy world that we now have to endure. Nothing is greater treatment for hypertension than watching for the bobber to go down with a swish, or seeing one of the "big ones" leap in a beautiful arc and take the bait on the fly.

That kind of excitement may be dangerous for older men with a known cardiac history, but in 74 years as a fisherman, I have never heard of anyone getting a "flicker in the ticker" from it.

The sooner this boxing racket dies on the vine of public indifference the better. Baseball will be tops again too, when young gifted kids steer clear of the bonus racket and learn their trade out on the diamond. Too many gifted youngsters have started in fast company, especially pitchers. They ruin a natively endowed good arm in a hurry and then start the physical and psychological downhill journey which ends in oblivion.

I saw that happen to "Schoolboy" Rowe way back in 1934 and 1935.

POOR MAN'S VACATION

As another vacation season approaches, people are looking about for places to see. Among other places and things, we have a suggestion for an easy one-day jaunt for Central Ohioans.

"For nearly three-quarters of a century thousands of people have admired the beautiful murals on corridor walls at the Fayette County court house in Washington Court House, O. But it was not until August, 1956, that identity of the artist who painted them . . . was established . . ."

This is quoted from a pamphlet from the Fayette County Historical Society describing the paintings on the second floor of the court house.

The artist was Archibald M. Willard, who gained fame for his patriotic painting the "Spirit of '76," first exhibited in Philadelphia's centennial celebration in 1876.

Identity of the painter of the Fayette County pictures was confirmed by a letter from Mrs. Max R. Crocker, widow of the contractor who secured Mr. Willard's services. The work was done in the 1880's.

The paintings are on the second floor. The three large ones on the side walls are titled "The Spirit of the U. S. Mail," "The Spirit of Electricity," and "The Spirit of the Telegraph." Each measures about 10 by 14 feet. All are done in brilliant colors, well preserved and lighted.

Smaller paintings decorate the dome and alcoves.

Fayette County commissioners paid "for painting and fresco work, $2445." Today the murals are valued at $100,000.

It says here . . .

So what's wrong with a "poor man's vacation" of short trips? You can see much near home in Ohio.

Guest Pulpit . . .

Did you ever see a peacock without his tail feathers? He's a pretty sad bird.

One of my parishioners told me about raising peacocks on the farm. She said that when the cocks lose their tail fathers it seems as though they are embarrassed, and if they are not penned up they will leave the barnyard and go to the woods to hide. The vainest of birds is also the most embarrassed of birds when his plumage is lost.

Rev. Baxter

I suppose that we could look at this poor creature and say, "Pride goeth before a fall," and figure we had made our point. But this would really be too simple. For after all, a peacock is not to be blamed for having beautiful tail feathers nor is he to be blamed for the fact that he loses them. Maybe he just finds his joy in the wrong place. He has found his enjoyment in something that is too soon lost.

And certainly modern America is continually making the same mistake. You no sooner have your new car paid for than you discover that the tail fins are completely obsolete. That fine automatic washer which eased your work load just a few years ago, now requires that Mom be a mechanic to keep it going. And he who finds his joy in gadgets is not alone in his dismay. The frugal fellow who saves his money for his own security finds that his dollar shrinks about as fast as it can reproduce itself in interest.

And all of it is symbolic of the crumbling of our own bodies, and impending death at the end of our brief life. Nothing seems to offer the genuine security of permanence. We have tried to build our own kind of permanence and have failed.

Sure, it's understandable that Americans should make such a mistake. Because no nation has ever been made more comfortable than we. We ride so much that sidewalks are obsolete. We get our exercise sitting or lying on a vibrator couch. Aspirin calms our headaches and tranquilizers calm our anxieties. New techniques of surgery and powerful drugs prolong our lives and improve our health. Vaccines cage the dread diseases. Life is longer and healthier.

And so we are fooled by it all. But nothing really basic is changed. It's just that a few trinkets of life are improved a little. Tragedies still come. Disease still weakens, love is still alienated, and death still comes to carry us all away.

So where do we turn? There is no easy answer, but there is a satisfactory solution. As St. John says, "He that doeth the will of God, abideth forever." This is it. It may seem as flat to you as oatmeal without salt, but it is still the truth of the ages. "He that doeth the will of God abideth forever."

And if this seems like a dull and tasteless solution, it may be because you've never bothered to find out how winsome, attractive and dependable God really is. But if you will turn your life over to Him He will fill it full of things that will last forever.

Rev. Stuart Baxter

Blasts Holiday Hucksters

To the Editor:

After looking through the Sunday paper, it looks like Memorial Day in Columbus was just one great big bonanza, headed up by giant give-aways, door prizes and bargains galore, not to mention free stamps.

It is beyond the wildest stretch of my imagination how any American could employ clowns and brass bands to lure people from the solemnity of this hallowed day.

I can understand a Jew or an atheist being open for business on Sunday, but for any American to turn his back on a national holiday and his heritage is inexcusable.

It's a pretty safe bet that these same cunning crews of business men will show little or no more respect for Independence Day.

Is it any wonder that there is a lack of patriotism in our country today?

Parade Of Homes Begins Saturday At Walnut Hills

The 1965 Parade of Homes at Walnut Hill Park officially opens Saturday, June 12, at 1 p.m. for a nine day run.

Highlighting the ribbon-cutting ceremony will be noted stage and television entertainer Dick Shawn, who is starring in the Kenley Player's production of "A Funny Thing Happened to Me on the Way to the Forum."

Located on E. Livingston, the Parade at Walnut Hill Park will open new vistas in home building and interior furnishings for Central Ohioans. According to William S. Fannin, chairman of the Parade, 24 local builders constructed the 26 model homes in various designs from split-levels to ranch style, contemporary and Early American.

Ranging from $25,000 to $35,000, these quality built homes have met the rigid standards of the Home Builders Association of Greater Columbus. "Each home plan was studied and approved by a special committee of the Home Builders Association and architects to assure variety and use of new ideas," Fannin explained.

An added attraction at the Parade of Homes, will be a "Parade of Money" which will be awarded at the close of the Parade.

The Parade of Homes, the 14th sponsored by the Home Builders Association of Greater Columbus, runs through Sunday, June 20. Weekend and Wednesday hours are 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. and other weekdays from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m.

COFFEE BREAK

Don't Blame Me For My Hubby's Success

I finally got around to reading the latest Vance Packard critique of modern society, "The Pyramid Climbers," which delineates, in part, the role wives are supposed to play to help their husbands reach the top of their professions.

I've concluded, sadly, that if everything Mr. Packard writes is true, I've just "helped" my husband become an applicant for the next office boy vacancy.

For I've been making some of the same mistakes Mr. Packard warned about in his first book, "The Status Seekers" — I'm always a status symbol or two behind the times. For instance, I thought it would be the "IN" thing for us to spend a vacation at Squaw Valley. But now, I realize, NOT in August.

Then, too, when everybody else was entertaining at barbecues, because, to quote Mr. Packard, "Upper Class people prefer relaxed informality," we were eating inside off linen tablecloths.

But as soon as we bought at $8.95 portable barbecue, two bottles of hickory-flavored sauce and an apron for my husband, emblazoned with "Come and Get It," eveyrbody in the chic set returned inside. "Elegance returns!" advised the women's magazines.

The chapter in "The Pyramid Climbers" which upsets me most, however, is the one "The Wife—Distraction, Detraction or Asset?" Particularly, the part which reveals that many employers pay visits to the homes of their hirelings to find out, "Is this home a peaceful haven where the husband can lick his wounds and recharge his psychic battery?"

I'm afraid the only "psychic battery" which would need recharging would be that of my husband's boss after spending an evening at this house.

But he needn't do that. All my husband's boss has to do is to try to reach my husband by telephone at home and the background noise will convince him he has called the Chicago stockyards by mistake. For our kids always choose to yell, argue, cry, fight and knock over things within hearing range of the phone.

What truly makes me feel even guiltier is to hear that men have been bypassed for big promotions because the president of the company had noticed a stack of dishes piled in the sink. Also big executives frown on wives who can not balance a simple checkbook. But the trouble is, neither can my husband. How now, Mr. Packard?

Monrie-av. Stimpert's talk will be "Speech and Hearing Development and Some of the Problem that are Incurred."

When the National Secretaries Association (International) convened in Toledo, O., recently for their annual state meeting, it was a case of 'lightning striking twice.' A Columbus, secretary was chosen as the Ohio Secretary-of-the-Year, succeeding another Columbus secretary.

Atkinson, area executive, Ohio-West Verginia Area Council of YMCA's, placed the crown on the head of Flora Andrews, secretary to Dr. Richard A. Y-Teens Will Attend Summer Conference

Y-Teens throughout Ohio have been planning for the 1965 Summer Conference to be held at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, June 20-26. Mary Schildknecht, president of the Worthington Junior Y-Teen club, has served on the planning committee and will be a "Big Sister" at the conference.

Representatives of each of the High School Y-Teen clubs will be a part of the 230 member state-wide delegation. They are:

Arlington, Kathy Emery; Bexley, Cynthia Mulbarger; Brookhaven, Gayle Reed; Central, Sandra Whitten; East, Diane Jones; Eastmoor, Christine Shields; Grandview, Ginny Clouse; Linden McKinley, Myra Harven; Marion Franklin, Chris Green; North, Vicki Barnhouse.

"The Turn of a Coin," this year's theme, demonstrates the concern shown by today's teenagers for human rights and values. People, like coins, come in different sizes and colors, have differing values, and where there is a coin shortage we also find a moral shortage among the people.

In addition to sessions on Y-Teens programs and problems, and time out for fun and relaxation, Y-Teens will hear speakers on poverty, morality, world relations, communism, religious through the arts, careers and the YWCA. Among the speakers will be Miss Florence Worrell, executive director of the YWCA; Mrs. Mildred Creager, director of the Florence Crittenton Home, and Mrs. John Dickhaut, all of Columbus.

Miss Mary Jane Patterson, of the Columbus Teen Age staff, will be a Living Group leader, and will conduct the workshops on Race Relations and World Fellowship.

The opening worship service on Sunday evening will be led by members of the Columbus delegation.

Lake Central's new prop-jet NORD 262

The competition to develop a worthy replacement for the old reliable DC-3 went on a good long time. As you can imagine, the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board looked at many a plane before it commended one for its specific capabilities. The winner—by a good long Gallic nose—is the new French prop-jet NORD 262, to be flown first by Lake Central.

Anything the DC-3 does, the NORD does newer. It gets you there faster, and more comfortably. It's air conditioned. Pressurized. Boards on the level. In short, the perfect short-haul carrier to the fifty mid-central U.S.A. cities Lake Central flies to.

Under Buckeye Skies

By KEN MACK McCREARY

17-Year Plan . . .

Most of us who fish have two primary objectives in mind when we head for our favorite lake or stream — catching fish and enjoying the relaxing quiet. This writer's angling expedition of last Saturday, while not a fishless failure, will certainly be remembered as "my noisiest fishing trip."

My watch read 6:45 a.m. as Bob Strohm and I arrived at the launch site on Dillon Reservoir, that scenic flood-control lake between Newark and Zanesville. As I cut the outboard and we drifted toward our favorite "bass haven" shoreline I heard a faint whining hum, like a huge turbine far away.

About then Bob commented: "Those are cicadas — 17-year locusts; if you think that's noisy, wait til the sun gets warmer and they really get tuned up. They were just coming out over here last week, so today they'll be in full swing."

How right he was — by mid-morning the dissonent drone had risen to an almost deafening roar which swept back and forth across the wooded shores of Dillon. Even in my small boat it was necessary to shout to make yourself heard above the din of the insects. The woods were literally alive with the fluttering insects flying back and forth.
